NEWS CONDENSED.

The announcement of Sir. A. T. Galt's return to England is well received there.

The epidemic of cholera increases slowly in Japan.

Sir A. T. Galt sails for England on Saturday next.

Many ship captains have been carried off by the yellow fever at Cuban ports.

Joseph Thebarge was burned to death in his bed whilst drunk, at Montreal on the 13th.

The revolution in Ecuador continues to spread, and the insurgents have met with numerous successes.

It is understood that the contract for the proposed harbour improvements in Toronto was let on Monday.

Specimens of Canadian grasses and soil are attracting much attention at agricultural exhibitions in England.

Hon. John Bright has resigned his seat in the Cabinet because he disapproves of the Government's war policy.

It is rumored that the Northern Railway will pass into the hands of the Grand Trunk about the 16th of August.

Of a family of eight recently attacked by diphtheria on Wolfe Island, four have died and two are in a critical condition.

At Toronto on the 13th a young man married a girl whom he met at the Orange celebration on the 12th for the first time.

Revolutionists captured the town of Todola Chiapas, Mexico, but were afterwards driven out by the gens d'armes.

The Brockville crank who threatened to shoot Hon. C. F. Fraser has been released on promising to go home and behave himself.

The second Rivers and Streams Bill will shortly occupy the attention of the Dominion Ministry. A second disallowance is expected.

The Bill authorizing the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company to lay a transatlantic cable has passed the House of Congress.

During the celebration of funeral services in honour of Garibaldi at Buenos Ayres the wall of the building fell, killing 20 persons and wounding others.

The construction train of the Portage and North-Western Railway has reached the village of Westbourne, about twenty miles from Portage la Prairie.

The electoral districts in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, have been divided into health districts, to facilitate the collection of vital statistics.

The first arrest under the Repression Act was made in Kerry County on Saturday. The Arrears Bill has passed through Committee of the Commons.

The Council of Ministers at Constantinople has finally made up its mind that Arabi is a rebel, and must be treated as such. They took a long time to find it out.

It is understood that the Dominion Government will appeal to the Privy Council in England in the matter of Mr. Doutre's claim for fees as council in the fishery arbitration.

The total output of all kinds of coal in the United States for 1881 amounted in round numbers to 76,122,000 tons, of which Pennsylvania produced 48,500,000 tons, or nearly two thirds.

The body of Earl Crawford and Balcarres, stolen from the family vault some months since, has been found in the grounds of Dunecht House, the family seat.

The Cabinet meetings of the Dominion Government, which are being held this week, has been the signal for an influx of hangers-on, most of them, no doubt, having their little axes to grind.

There is little hope of a speedy settlement of the Peruvian-Chili question. The United States Minister has withdrawn from mediation between the two Powers.

The Labrador and Newfoundland shore fisheries are a total failure. Norwegian fishermen will be compelled to import fish this season, the first time for many years.

The latest rumour regarding Canadian railways on the London Stock Exchange is that the Grand Trunk Railway has formed new alliances giving it a direct route to New York.

Vice-Chancellor Spragge was sworn in Tuesday by Chief Justice Boyd as Administrator-General of the province of Ontario, in the absence of Chief Justice Hagarty.

The Globe's London, England, correspondent cables that the Canadians shot steadily at Wimbledon during the past week. An exciting contest is expected for the Kolapore Challenge Cup, which was shot for on Wednesday.

An officer in the Dominion Police force has just returned to Ottawa from a western constituency, where he has been engaged in hunting up evidence on behalf of the defeated Tory candidate, for the purpose of contesting the election.

The safety of the crops in Ireland is seriously threatened. The News intimates that Earl Spencer will retire from the Presidency of the Council should he retain the Lord Lieutenancy of Ireland.

The Bishop of Moosonee, who resides at Moose Factory, does not speak very hopefully of the feasibility of Hudson Bay navigation. He, however, advises that a Government steamer be sent to make the experiment.

It is announced at Winnipeg, on apparently good authority, that a reorganization of the Department of the Interior will shortly take place, and that a resident Government Board at Winnipeg will manage the North-West lands.

It is not now intended—as was at first proposed on account of the lateness of the meeting this year of the annual camps of instruction—to change the date of the Dominion Rifle Association matches, which will be held, as at first intimated, on the 5th of September.

It is expected that H. R. H. the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne and suite will return to Quebec from their fishing expedition in New Brunswick and Lower Quebec about the middle of next week. It is understood they will not return to Ottawa until late in the fall.

The Tory organ at Quebec announces that it is highly probable that Hon. Mr. Mousseau will retire from the Federal Cabinet to make room for Hon. Mr Chapleau, who will be sworn in immediately. Mr. Mousseau will succeed Mr. Chapleau as Premier of Quebec, and either recall Hon. Dr. Ross to the Cabinet, or invite Hon. Mr. Mercier, (Liberal) to form a coalition.

At a Reform Convention at Rousseau, Mr. Bettes, of Huntsville, was nominated to contest the seat for the District of Muskoka in the Local Legislature, vacated by Mr. J. C. Miller, Reform, who resigned to contest the district for the Commons.

The two O'Flahertys, arrested in county Kerry, Ireland, on suspicion of being concerned in the Phœnix park tragedy, belong to London, Ont; and are brothers. One of them, Matthias, is the proprietor of a London hotel. They left there on the 22nd of May, and so of course are innocent of the crime.

A story of heartless betrayal and desertion of a young English immigrant woman comes from Winnipeg. The unfortunate young woman, trusting in her betrayer, was foolish enough to make the journey from that city to Toronto, there to await his arrival and the performance of the nuptial ceremonies. She was sent back by Toronto ladies who became acquainted with the case, and have now had the base deceiver arrested on a capias for breach of promise. This is but another illustration of the urgent necessity for the passage of a bill similar to that which was introduced by Mr. Charlton, M.P., at the last session of Parliament, making seduction a criminal offence with heavy penalties attached

MILDAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

PORT HOPE.

GOT HIS FOOT CRUSHED.—The Guide says that Michael Curran, a sailor working on the schooner Maria Annette, on Friday, unloading stone for the new pier, had all the toes on his right foot smashed by a large stone falling on it. The big toe was completely flattened. Curran will be laid up for weeks on account of his accident.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Campbellford has produced the man who would steal the pennies off his dead grandmother's eyes. The meanest story on record comes from that place. A new church was being built, and in laying the corner stone a number of coins and other articles were placed therein. During the following night some parties knocked off the top stones and stole the money, Bible, and everything worth taking. Could a thief do a meaner act outside of refusing to pay his subscription to his paper?

BELLEVILLE.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that as the Peterborough excursion train was leaving the Junction last night, on its way to town, a young man named Wm. Fargey stepped between two cars and fell to the ground, between the rails. One car passed over him, but as the train was moving very slowly, he managed to get himself from under the wheels, and he lay alongside the track till the train passed by. He was struck in falling by a brake-beam and was badly injured internally.

Mr. R. P. Rothwell, who is managing the Canada Consolidated Gold Mining Company's affairs in Marmora, was in Belleville on Monday, and says it is untrue that operations have been stopped because there is 5,000 tons of ore ready for milling, but work on the mill and furnaces and other reduction apparatus is proceeding. The reduction works will be in operation next week.

Mr. Thos. Campbell, whilst working on his farm on Monday morning fell from a mowing machine, and one of his feet was badly sliced. It was found necessary to amputate the leg below the knee.

Judge Fralick gave judgment on Monday in favour of the defendants in the case of Irwin v. The Board of Education, in which Mr. Irwin, who was head master of the Public School department of the Central School, claimed $1,000 as five years' salary as head teacher in the Model School. Mr. Irwin will appeal.

SAD ACCIDENT. The Intelligencer says that Mr. Thomas Campbell, of the 6th concession of Thurlow, met with a very severe accident on Monday morning, while reaping on his farm. He fell from the reaper and one of his feet caught in the knives of the machine and was horribly lacerated. Drs. Farley and Tracy were summoned from the city, and on arriving found it necessary to amputate the leg below the knee.

A BRIDEGROOM'S SUICIDE.

On Saturday last, in Toronto, a young married man named Lemuel John Beasaw committed suicide by taking laudanum at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Anderson, 33 Tait street. The deceased, who was only married about ten days ago, was on his wedding tour at the time he committed the rash deed. Mr. Beasaw was employed as a painter in the Nipissing railway carshop at Uxbridge previously. On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock Beasaw complained of being ill and lay down to sleep. His wife on going to the room at 7 o'clock, found him sleeping heavily. Knowing that he had taken a small dose of laudanum, she watched him, and shortly after 7 o'clock he breathed his last. Dr. Ball was summoned and gave it as his opinion that the deceased must have been troubled with heart disease as the quantity of laudanum taken would not have killed him.

THE EGYPTIAN TROUBLE.

After his disgraceful abuse of the flag of truce, after the bombardment of Alexandria, Arabi Bey retreated, and his whereabouts is not known. He has the semblance of an army with him, and is supposed to meditate over hostilities, but his troops are said to be much disaffected. Starvation and misery have taken possession of his camp, and the soldiers threaten to desert him. His cowardice during the bombardment has almost destroyed his prestige. He enlists new troops by promises of unlimited plunder, and keeps his old supporters by declaring that the English will kill all who return to Alexandria. It is stated that during the bombardment the Egyptian gunners, who were so highly prized for their courage, were kept at their guns by being covered by the rifles of infantry stationed under cover. Later despatches state that the Prophet El Mehdi is advancing to Arabi's support, and that he will be able to bring under the rebel standard the whole population along his line of march. Arabi is now reported to be retreating on Cairo, and great fears are entertained for the safety of the Europeans there. The Governor is loyal, but it is more than probable that the troops will not make a very vigorous opposition to Arabi's forces if, indeed, they do not join them in their work of pillage and destruction. Ineffectual attempts have already been made to fire the city. De Freycinet in the French Chambers yesterday enunciated his policy, which includes the maintenance of the English alliance and European concert, speedy restoration of order in Egypt, in which she will assist at the mandate of Europe, and the continued neutrality of the Suez Canal, which she will protect. Gambetta censured the Cabinet for accepting Turkish intervention, but supported the war credit in order to free Egypt from Mussulman fanaticism.

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS.

PORTSMOUTH, July 28.—The tank vessel Chester has sailed for Egypt.

The troopship Euphrates has been ordered to be in readiness within twelve hours. She will probably take two thousand men to Alexandria.

ROME, July 18.—The Government has ordered the men-of-war Barbario, Colonna, and Rapido to hold themselves in readiness to escort Italian merchant vessels through the Suez Canal.

LIMASOL, July 18.—The British men-of-war Inconstant, Tourmaline and Coryfort, of the unattached squadron, arrived here to-day. After coaling they proceed to Egypt.

MALTA, July 18.—The United States steamer Galena has returned from Alexandria, and the British troopship Malabar has arrived from Gibraltar.

MARSEILLES, July 18.—The marines retired from service, who have not served fifty-one months, have been ordered to the navy.

THE CONFERENCE AND THE SUEZ CANAL.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18.—The British and French Ambassadors have been instructed to submit to the Conference the question of the protection of the Suez Canal, and to propose that the execution of its decisions be entrusted to certain Powers.

Dervisch Pasha has been summoned here from Alexandria to give his views on the situation.

PARIS, July 18.—It is stated that De Freycinet has informed the Cabinet that France and England had agreed upon the necessity of the occupation of the canal for three months, but that this convention will not be carried out until the Conference decides thereon.

PRINCE LEOPOLD'S BRIDE.

I met recently a relative of the Princess Helen, who furnished me with many interesting details about her. Prince Leopold's bride is quite a scholar, although a simple, and ladylike country girl. Her greatest pleasure at Arolsen, which is a secluded, picturesque spot, was found in study. The Princess is very spontaneous and open, recites with taste, and is very musical. At Pyrmont there is a theatre in which a fairly good company plays in summer. At Arolsen dramatic entertainments are given in the Schloss, in the grand saloon of which a stage has been erected. The players are amateurs. There used to be special Christmas performances when the three eldest daughters of the Prince, who are all accomplished elocutionists, were unmarried. The last spectacle which came off there was prettily imagined, and had the interest of actuality. The back scene represented Claremont, and the stage was festooned with garlands and true-love knots. The Princess Helen, with the likeness of Prince Leopold suspended from her neck, entered, dressed in a bride's toilet, and sat down under an old tree. The daughters of the Prince's tenants, of the tradespeople of Arolsen, and the girls who attend the public and private schools were introduced in groups. Their hats were decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. They presented little home-made gifts, tokens of respectful affection. The governess of the Princess Ella marshalled them to places reserved for them on the stage, and when the Princess Helen thanked them all, they sang in choral parts a wedding hymn. She kissed all those who had been prepared with her for confirmation, and hoped they would think of her as a sister. The deputations were then conducted to the hall to dine.

CONSIDERATION FOR HIS SUCCESSOR.

Among the stories told of wives whose temper is not the gentlest is this one:

"I give and bequeath to Mary, my wife, the sum of one hunder' pound a year," said an old farmer. "Is that written down, master?"

"Yes," replied the lawyer. "But she is not so old; she may marry again. Won't you make any change in that case? Most people do."

"Aye, do they?" said the farmer. "Well, write again, and say that if my wife marries again I give and bequeath to her the sum of two hunder' pounds a year. That will do, won't it, master?"

"Why, its just doubling the sum she would have if she remained unmarried," said the lawyer. "Its generally the other way—the legacy is lessened if the widow marries again."

"Aye," said the farmer, "but him as gets her'll deserve it."

PETEBBOROUGH, JULY 20, 1882.

Notes of the Day.

THE IRISH SOCIETY has issued a circular authorizing the Rev. James A. Bell, Rector of Banaghe as the Society's representative and advocate in the United States and Canada, and commending him to the clergy and laity. Mr. Bell is to proceed at once with his work. This ancient Society has for its object the diffusion of Scriptural knowledge to the people of Ireland in their native tongue, and Mr. Bell will endeavour to awaken interest in the cause, and obtain subscriptions in aid thereof. Rev. W. Smithett, Omemee, is the Secretary for Canada, and Mr. O'Brien, of Toronto, is Treasuror.

TEMPERANCE, amongst the Presbyterians of the Irish nation is becoming a wonderful power for good. The clergy of that denomination were not formerly noted for their total abstinence principles. In fact it was not very unusual to find among the Ministers a considerable number who were fond of their "wee bit toddy," and who made no secret of it. Now a great change has set in. The Assembly of the Presbyterian Church recently met in Belfast, and among other reports, the Temperance Association presented a statement. The Secretary stated that their Society was formed in 1830, when it had only 20 Ministers. Since that year they had made rapid progress, having last year, 274 members, with 28 added since. This made up nearly half the Ministers in the Assembly. The report further stated that nearly every young Minister ordained since the last meeting was a total abstainer. Further, 41 out of the 46 students in Magee College were total abstainers, and 92 of the students in the Assembly's College, Belfast, had joined the same growing band.

THE INEFFICIENCY of the U. S. navy is now pretty well understood. Indeed some of the vessels on active service in Chinese waters, cannot be ordered home, they are in such a rotten condition. It has been felt that much dishonesty and fraud are attached to the Navy Department, but we question if our readers know a tittle of the bare-faced robbery that has been carried on. A return was lately made to Congress, which gives some interesting details of the condition of the service. The names of 68 vessels are reported, but here is the rub. The Department declares that to make them efficient to enter battle, an expenditure of $22,514,141 will be necessary. Besides, of this number, 15 are reported absolutely worthless and unfit for repairs, so that to put 53 ships in decent shape the above sum is required. This is indeed a condition deplorable enough, yet some of our recent despatches speak of what American vessels could have done at Alexandria! Bah! Such buncombe is insufferable. During eight years in which Robeson was Secretary of the Navy, he contrived to spend $149,000,000. How was this immense sum expended? From one instance we can learn all. The Tennessee cost originally, hull and machinery, $1,799,000, but the repairs of the same vessel amounted to no less a sum than $1,390,000. This is the cost of patching her up for only 15 years, but in the last eight, Robeson spent over one million of it! The report shows that many ships have been repaired at a cost of one-half and two-thirds of the original cost in war times, and yet they are now almost entirely worthless, except for scrap iron. Still the man who is answerable for all this is supported by the Republican party in the position he occupies at present, where his influence is paramount in deciding on all navy estimates and expenditure. Comment on this is unnecessary.

IRISH MANUFACTURERS are by no means as prosperous in these days as they once were. As early as the reign of Henry III., about fifty years after the English occupation of the island, Irish woollen goods were imported into England, and became an important article of dress. In 1327 Irish friezes were also largely imported by the English, and strange to say, considering the then prevailing notion, were admitted duty free. An Italian writer also states that thirty years later, that is, in 1357, the serges of Ireland were exported to Italy, and the manufacture of woollen goods in that country had, at that period, reached a high state of perfection. Further, in the year 1482, not only serges, but other kinds of woollens, and some of the chief fashions among the Irish dames, were held in such high esteem on the continent that an agent of the Pope obtained from Richard II. the privilege of exporting, duty free, mantles made of Irish cloth. This particular dress was very characteristic of the Irish in that day, indeed almost as much so as the toga of the ancient Roman. Spenser, the poet, stated that this distinctly Irish costume should be abolished. He says also that "it was a fit covering for a rebel, and a good cloak for a thief," though why he made such an attack on a harmless and fashionable dress, it is difficult to discover at this late period. Long since the Irish mantle lost its position in the fashionable world, but we are told a form of it is still worn by the peasantry of the South and West.

FEW PEOPLE are aware of the real issue between the public and the railroads of Uncle Sam's domain, which for some time past has agitated Congress and the press. The railroads claim enormous grants of public lands, which they have not earned, the time limited in the Acts of Congress having expired. It appears that Congress granted to several railroad corporations over 185,000 square miles of territory to build certain lines of road. This vast district, if in one block, would comprise 115,500,000 acres of valuable land, which the railroad companies were to receive on condition that the roads would be completed by a certain definite time. These gifts cover an area larger than Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland combined. Under the conditions of the Acts above referred to, these corporations had, when the roads were completed, only earned 18,615,196 acres. Now there remains unearned, but claimed by the companies, 96,800,000 acres, which up to the present date are witheld from settlement. Supposing a 160 acre homestead were given to each adult, this vast territory would give homes to three millions of people, calculating the average family as of five souls. At the minimum price fixed by Government, the territory would be worth over one hundred and twenty millions dollars. The importance of this matter is hereby discovered, and the claims of the corporations are seen to be both unfair and absurd. They have not earned, and should not obtain these lands. These grants should, in the first instance, not have been made, and now that an opportunity offers, Congress should resume them. An effort should be made to preserve, rather than deplete the public domain. Subsidies are wrong in principle and should meet with strong condemnation.

THE IMPORTANCE of the Suez Canal in the interests of English commerce with the East cannot be overestimated, and it is only reasonable that fears should be entertained, in the present condition of affairs, respecting the protection likely to be afforded to vessels en route to India and the Mediterranean. Of course the war with Egypt will obstruct the business of the canal for a time, but it is of the utmost importance that this obstruction should not be permanent, and this short sea passage to India and Australia be kept safe and free at all hazards. From a recently published report, we cull the following facts, which tend to show the immense volume of business that passed through the canal in 1881. The gross receipts in 1881 were 54,676,000 francs (£2,187,210, sterling) and the gross expenditure, including interest of five per cent, and the redemption of shares, was 28,699,000 francs, or £1,147,960 sterling. The net profits of the year were £987,120 The number of vessels which passed through the canal in 1881 was 2,727, with a tonnage of 5,794,000. In 1880 the number was 2,026, tonnage 4,344,000. In 1879 the number was 1,477, with a tonnage of 3,236,000. It will therefore be seen that the traffic is steadily increasing. Last year seven permanent new services for the canal were started—three English, one German, one Dutch, one French and one Chinese, and forty six new vessels were added to existing lines. Last year the number of Australian vessels increased to ninety-eight, as against fifty-one the previous year. In 1881, 43,000 soldiers and 35,000 civilians were carried through the canal.

GOOD NEWS FOR BRAKEMEN.

About a year ago Alexander Anderson an old railway man of Toronto, undertook to devise a plan whereby the dangers to brakemen and yardmen in coupling cars would be avoided. He claims to have succeeded. The invention consists of an iron block which slides backward and forwards in the drawbar or drawhead. This black holds up the pin and the link on the other car is held in its position by a sort of staple which drops after the shunt is made. When the link strikes the iron block inside the drawhead the pin drops into the link and the car is coupled. The invention is a good one and Mr Anderson says his appliance will only cost 50 cents more than the ordinary coupler used on the Grand Trunk and other roads.

WIDEAWAKE WINNIPEG.

The boom in Winnipeg, which the most sanguine fancied would not last, still continues. Allusion has been made to the decadence of this live city by many Canadian and Yankee newspapers. How far they have been or are justifiable may be seen by the following graphic recital of the present condition of Winnipeg, the Chicago of the Northwest, which, indeed, if the present rate of progress continues, will have no prototype on this continent:—

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

It may be safely said that more buildings of every kind are in course of construction, or to be put up, in Winnipeg this year than in all the other cities of Canada put together. It was estimated last winter that building operations this season would amount to four millions, but double that amount would have been nearer the mark, and a good many have abandoned the idea of building at all this year on account of the difficulty of getting lumber and other materials in time, for the want of railway competition. About fifteen hundred dwelling houses are going up now; several large churches, a colossal railway railway station, an immense round house—the largest in the Dominion—and over fifty-five blocks for wholesale warehouses and stores on the principal business streets. I went over the river the other day to a monster brick-yard to buy brick for a private residence, but the proprietor told me I could not get one before next spring for love or money. They need twenty million bricks to fill orders already booked, and their three yards will not turn out enough to do it before Christmas. One builder needs four and a-half million bricks for his own contract. These few facts will give your readers some idea of the progress of the "Hub," in spite of fires, floods, blizzards, blockades, envy, jealousy and detraction. Will it not be overdone at this rate? Not a bit of it. Every house, store, shop and shanty is leased before it is finished—in many cases before the foundation is laid, as thousands are still living in tents all over the city.

THE RUSH OF BUSINESS.

It is hard indeed for an eastern man to realize the rush of business here. I lived several years in Toronto but never saw anything like it there, except at fair times. Main street here is 132 feet wide, fortunately, but part of the traffic has to be done on a parallel street, and the corporation were obliged to open out to the market an intermediate street for this purpose. The slow, sleeping cities of the East would be in the way here, I sat in my office window the other day for twenty minutes and counted no less than 892 of every description passing up and down street at that time. It is almost dangerous to turn off Main into a side street for fear of a jam, and collisions occur every day. The sidewalks are so crowded from morning till night that it is difficult to get along, and the Council seriously contemplate passing an order to prevent baby perambulators from being driven along the thoroughfares, at the risk of the lives of the little ones. No one is idle, and it is a glorious sight to see so many fine, strapping young fellows all busy, hopeful, and happy. It is like an army with banners. The shops cannot get goods enough, and there is not a single store to let for two miles on both sides of main street. A leading merchant told me lately that his retail sales alone this spring were double his whole trade any previous year. And it is such a pleasure to do a cash business without any booking or bantering. One tent even takes in over $200 a day on a $4,000 stock of general goods.

MARRIAGE WITH A DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER.

At the recent meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly in St. John, N. B., an overture on the question of marriage with a deceased wife's sister, signed by John Laing, Alex McKnight, Robert Jardine, Wm. Gregg and D. J. Macdonnell, was presented. Its terms were these:

"Whereas in the Confession of Faith, it is expressly declared that a man may not marry any of his wife's relations nearer than he may of his own, and that such marriges cannot be legitimated by any consent of the parties of the law of man; whereas, the law of the land and of the Church are thus at variance, and difficulties they may be expected to rise from a collision between them, therefore it is respectivly overtured to the venerable the General Assembly to take this committe to investigate the Scriptural grounds on which the marriage referred to is condemned, and report their judgment, with their reason for it, to the next General Assembly."

Principal Grant moved seconded by Dr. Gregg, "That the committee consist of the professors of biblical interpretation in the colleges of the Church, viz., Dr Caven, Professors Mowat, Scrimger, Weir and Currie."

Dr. Caven thought that besides these there should be upon the committee the names of some who had made this subject a special study, and moved, seconded by Mr. Sedgwick, and it was agreed to, "That besides the above named the following be added: Dr. McVicar, Dr. Gregg, Dr. McKnight, Rev. S. G. Laing, D. B. Blair and E. Ross."

MECHANICS' LIENS.

It is not as generally known as it should be, that during the last session of the Ontario Legislature an Act was passed making an important amendment to the Mechanics' Lien Act, chapter 120, R. S. O. The second and third sections of the amending Act stipulate that every mechanic, laborer, or other person, who performs labor for wages upon a building, erection, mine, or machinery, may place a lien for 30 days wages, or for a balance of not more than 30 days wages, which lien shall operate notwithstanding any agreement between the owner and contractor for excluding a lien, and notwithstanding that the building may belong to the wife of the person at whose instance the work is done. In case of a contract the said lien shall, to the extent of 10 per cent. of the contract price, have priority over all other liens and over any claims by the owner against the contractor. To enable the owner to secure himself, in the absence of any stipulation to the contrary he may retain until 30 days after the completion of the contract, 10 per cent. of the price to be paid the contractor. The aforesaid lien must be made and registered within 30 days after the last day's labor for which the wages are payable, or within 30 days from the completion of the building or other work, but in no case later than 60 day's after the last day's labor for which lien is made. Several claims may be included in one statement, forms for which are given in the Act.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

Provide yourselves with a bottle of PAIN-KILLER at this season of the year, when summer complaints are so prevalent; it is a prompt, safe, and sure cure. It may save you days of sickness, and you will find it is more valuable than gold. Be sure you buy the genuine PERRY DAVIS PAIN-KILLER, and take no other mixture.

COBOURG, Ont., March 3, 1880.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first-class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry Davis Pain-Killer will be found in both.

The Post is jubilant over the gas pipes being laid down rapidly on Kent street.

Large numbers of sheep have been purchased for shipment in the vicinity of Lindsay.

The Midland R. R. is so busy that the cars can't be spared for the Lindsay Methodist excursion till August.

Mr. Adam Carruthers, B. A., has retired from the classical mastership of Lindsay High School. He was presented with a writing desk and an address.

BOWMANVILLE.

The anniversary of the P. M. Church, Bowmanville, will be held on Sabbath, July 16.

Prof. T. L. Doyle, of Brooklyn, N. V., has located in Bowmanville for the season.

The pupils and teachers of the High and public Schools, the members of the Board of Education, the ministers and a large number of citizens, met in the Town Hall on Friday night to express in a tangible and public way their appreciation of the services of Mr. W. Oliver, B. A., who has filled, to the satisfaction of all, the responsible position of Principal of Bowmanville High School for the past eight years, and who has recently been appointed to a similar position in the Brantford Collegiate Institute. The present was a handsome silver tea set.

The installation of Rev. Warriner, B. A., as Pastor of Trinity Church in this town, took place on Friday, 23rd ult., and was a season of special interest.

TRENTON.

The Trenton Courier supplies the following in reference to a horse whose accident made him almost equal to the celebrated wooden steed of Troy, and proved him to be as nearly invulnerable as Achilles:—"Mr. Wesley Vanblaricomb had a horse impaled in jumping a fence. He removed a chunk of wood about 5 inches long and 6 or 7 inches round. He sent to Dr. Vandervoort for some medicine as the horse was lame and suffering, stating he had removed the splinter. The Dr. thought he would examine the case and discovered that the splinter pierced the cavity of the breast between the fore legs. He found wood there still and had to cut the horse so as to catch it and with a powerful forcep he drew out a stick of wood 15 inches long and about 6 incher round at the thick end and 4 inches at the small end. He gave some medicine and the horse walked off a little lame."

COBOURG.

Miss Jennie Fowler, formerly of this town, had the honor last week of driving the last spike, in Winnipeg, at the completion of the Canada Pacific Railway line to that city.

A Cobourg paper says that it is generally understood that the military camp will be held there sometime in September, and that about 1,500 men will be under canvas.

The Beaver lacrosse club of this town went to Bowmanville on Saturday last and played the Independents, and were defeated by three straight games.

FIRE AT HARWOOD.—On Saturday evening last an alarm of fire was sounded, and upon making enquiries as to the cause, it was found that some of the piles of lumber at the mills in Harwood were on fire, and Cobourg had been telegraphed for an engine. The fire was got under control, and the order was countermanded. About four piles of lumber was burned, containing some fifty thousand feet.

The number of candidates at the entrance examination was 78. Of these, 53 have been provisionally passed by the local board.

W. Riddell, Esq., Reeve of Hamilton township, has been made the recipient of a gold medal and diploma for a superior grist exhibit of Clawson Fall Wheat at the Paris Universal Exposition of 1878.

The World congratulates Mr. Fred. H. Smith on his accession to a capital position in the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Mr. Justice Mallory, of Haldimand, turned about 25 sheep into a bush pasture. On going after a few days to see how they fared, he discovered that the entire flock had been killed and partially devoured by dogs.

The induction ceremonies at the Presbyterian church, Cobourg, on Wednesday afternoon were very interesting. Rev. Messrs. Ross, Cleland, Bennett and Beattie assisting. Rev. Mr. Torrance, Moderator of the Presbytery, presided.

LINDSAY.

At the late session of the Victoria County Council, at Lindsay, a vote was passed giving $20 to each volunteer company to encourage rifle shooting.

A couple living in the east ward for some time have had disagreements more or less serious on points of connubial economy. Matters culminated on Saturday by the better half of the erring head delivering a charge of buckshot at him as a wifely welcome. A badly shattered arm and a pellet or two located around the ribs seem to be the damages inflicted.

We hear, says the Post, that a sort of remorseful feeling has taken hold of some of our townsmen and that they are going to make an effort to get up and ensure support to a town band. Within the last few weeks several occasions have turned up when the presence of a band would have had an exhilarating effect; and the Saturday evening blowouts of last season are missed.

Mr. N. H. Cowdry retires next week from the management of the Lindsay branch of the Dominion Bank. By his courteous and affable conduct, Mr. Cowdry has made many friends here, and has done exceedingly well for the bank.

An energetic effort is being made to get up a cricket club in town. Several responsible gentlemen have the preliminary matters connected with the scheme in hand and are making a canvas for eligible members. The game is a good one and should have a hearty support.

On Saturday afternoon last during one of the strong blasts of wind which swept over this vicinity, two young lads, William Boothe and Samuel McDonald, were upset from the canoe in which they were sailing on Sturgeon Lake and perished.

CAMPBELLFORD.

The Peterborough correspondent of the Herald points out that there are only two church steeples in Peterborough.

Mr. Cochrane's true majority in the late election was 273.

On Saturday, Dominion Day, the corner stone of the new C. M. Church which was recently commenced, was laid with fitting ceremonies by Rev. Dr. Jeffers, of Port Hope, and Rev. John Shaw, of Peterborough.

A survey, says the Herald, is being made in connection with the Trent Valley Canal, from a point on the River Trent, some two miles below Hastings village, through Campbellford down to Percy Boom, four miles south of here.

Some members of the Campbellford band have been supplied with new instruments. The band now numbers fifteen members.

The Herald says the crop prospects in its vicinity are "really gladdening."

American horse buyers recently bought and shipped from this neighborhood 15 head of horses.

Messrs. Keeler & Cornell, paper mills, have dissolved partnership, Mr. Cornell retiring. Increased facilities are being added to the mills.

Mr. G. H. Ogilvie, of Cambellford, passed his final examinations, and received the rank of Lieutenant in the militia, at the recent examinations of the Kingston Military College. He intends going to Manitoba.

A few days ago the residence of Mr. Joseph Cassan, Seymour, took fire in the cookhouse and was destroyed. Insured.

The Council of the Township of Brock have passed a wise by-law, with the object of preventing bush fires. No one shall put out fires during the month of July or August at all, nor at any other time, without giving 8 days' notice to the owner of adjoining property.

Frog-fishing is a thriving industry, on the river Trent this summer. About forty thousand frogs have been caught and shipped to Albany, N.Y., and the Thousand Islands, this season. The price is 39 cents per lb—four frogs to the pound.

There were thirty-eight candidates and sixteen admissions to the Campbellford High School.

BOBCAYGEON

A drive of logs has passed through here for Irwin at Peterborough.

A large excursion of Oddfellows visited Sturgeon Point on Saturday. Fourteen hundred tickets were sold in Toronto. Capt. Bottum conveyed 900 from Lindsay to the Point.

The Summer visitors are arriving. The Forest House and the Commercial House have each a number of guests, and the Rockland House has several, with no end of engagements.

The Bobcaygeon Cheese Factory is now fully established, and is giving every satisfaction. There are about forty-five patrons, and the daily product of milk is 5,000 lbs. Mr. Wilson, the manager of the Factory, converts this milk into cheese by the Cheddar process.

The Rockland House was formally opened on Wednesday. Excursion parties were brought from Peterborough and Lindsay. A capital dinner was served which every one appeared to thoroughly enjoy. The greatest admiration was expressed for the new House, and every encouragement given for its ultimate success.

The Independent says the water in the streams and lakes is falling rapidly and that timber driving will have to be prompt to avoid delay.

The Independent reports a great rush of traffic passing through the canal at present.

Mr. Latouche Tupper, a former resident of Bobcaygeon, figures as a bloated capitalist in a North-West Land Company.

The factory is turning out a large quantity of cheese, that is sent to Lindsay.

Bobcaygeon has got a park—a new one of course; a band-stand is to be erected; and the band will play once a week. This is more than Peterborough can boast of.

PORT HOPE.

Rev. Mr. Jeffers narrowly escaped being drowned at Burlington beach on Tuesday.

The Port Hope cricket club defeated the Kingston club by seven wickets and two runs on Dominion Day.

A new cross nearly 20 feet high is to be erected on St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Carveth has resigned the Science Mastership of the High School, and Mr. Burns, late of England, has been appointed to the vacancy.

A distressing accident occurred at the race course on Dominion Day, whereby Mr. Glendennon, of Trenton, lost a valuable horse, well known in sporting circles of this district as "Bob Marshall."

Messrs. Salter, McCabe & Beamish lately purchased 10,000 bushels No. 2 fall wheat at Toronto, for milling purposes, being unable to procure wheat in this district at Toronto prices.

Wednesday was Speech Day at Trinity College School, the usual closing formalities being carried out with great eclat. The majority of the students started for their homes on Thursday morning. The students' ball on Monday evening will be long remembered as one of the most successful social gatherings ever held at Trinity College School.

Mr. W. R. Wadsworth acted as groomsman at the marriage of a daughter of Hon John Carling, Postmaster-general, on Wednesday last, at London.

Mr. F. M. Beamish will shut down his mill on the first of August for extensive repairs. He does not intend that his business will be interferred with for more than a month.

In the Cricket match played at Port Hope, between the home team and an eleven from the towns on the line of the Northern and Midland Railway, resulted in victory for the former by one innings and 36 runs.

Rev. Mr. Jeffrey assumed the pastorate of the Methodist Church last Sunday. The reverend gentleman is decidedly practical in his application of the gospel, and he tells some homely truths in a homely way.

NOT EXPECTED TO KNOW.

A certain clerk in a Western village recently made the following comment on Pocahontas. Said he:

"Pocahontas was a great man; Pocahontas was a kind-hearted man."

"Hold!" cried his companion. "Pocahontas was a woman."

"She was, eh?" said the other. "Well, that's just my luck. How am I expected to know? I never read the Bible."

THE DOCTOR'S OPINION.

"Oh, doctor do you think my little darling will live?" inquired an anxious mother of the family physician, who had called for the seventh time with his bill.

"Live! Why there isn't anything the matter with him, is there?

"Well, no, not just now; but you know, doctor, there are so many children's diseases going around."

"Humph! If the child takes after his father, he'll live where an honest man would starve to death. Good morning."

SCIENTIFIC ITEM.

"That man is a phrenologist," said an Eastside citizen to a son of Erin, in reply to an inquiry regarding a long-haired individual who was just closing the door behind him, a man that can tell by feeling of the bumps on your head, what kind of a man you are."

"Bumps on me head?" exclaimed Pat, "I should think it would give more ov an oidea phat kind ov a woman my wife is!"

And then the much-abused Hibernian changed his pipe to the other corner of his mouth and walked out.

IT WASN'T SWEARING.

A little five-year-old boy was being instructed in morals by his grandmother. The old lady told him that all such terms as "by golly," "by jingo," "by thunder," etc., were only little oaths, and but little better than other profanities. In fact, she said, he could tell a profane oath by the prefix "by." All such were oaths.

"Well, then, grandmother," said the little hopeful, "is 'by telegraph,' which I see in the papers, swearing?"

"No," said the old lady, "that's only lying."

"The celebrated Vegetable Compound for females, which, within a few years, has made the name of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham known in every part of the civilized world, relieves suffering by the safe and sure method of equalizing the vital forces and thus regulating the organic functions. It is only by such a method that disease is ever arrested and removed.

A celebrated preacher once gave us a rule for acquiring a perfectly distinct utterance, "Take care of the vowels, and the consonants will take care of themselves," meaning that, if the vowels were sounded clearly and sharply, the speech will be rendered distinct.

FORTUNES FOR FARMERS AND MECHANICS.—Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are bilious, have sallow complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment, but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for the trifling sum of fifty cents.—Tribune. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald at 50c.

A Parisian lady called on her milliner the other day to "take up the character of a servant. The respectable appearance of the latter was beyond questioning. "But is she honest?" asked the lady. "I am not so sure about that," replied the milliner; "I have sent her to you with my bill a dozen times, and she has never yet given me the money."

BAD BLOOD.—The blood is the true essence of vitality, without pure blood there can be no healthy action in the system. Boils, blotches, pimples and the various humors and blemishes of the skin are only symptomatic of bad blood—that needs purifying as its fountain head, to render its tributaries pure. Burdock Blood Bitters effectually cleanse the blood from all humors, obtain a healthy action of the liver, bowels, kidneys, skin, etc, and strengthening while they regulate and purify. 28-2t

When an Austin schoolmaster entered his temple of learning a few mornings ago, he read on the blackboard the touching legend, "Our teacher is a donkey." The pupils expected there would be a combined cyclone and earthquake, but the philosophic pedagogue contented himself with adding the word "driver" to the legend, and opened the school with a prayer as usual.

THE DOCTOR'S LAST HAPPY RESORT.—Evansville, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882. I recently had a very difficult case of consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to use a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—Leading M. D., Evansville. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.
Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 20, 1882

The Battle of the Trent.

The Peterborough Review and the Lindsay Post are indulging in vigorous journalistic fisticuffs, because the latter has dared to lay profane hands on the sacred persons of the Dominion ministers, by whom the Review swears. It appears that the Post presumed to hint that the Government were not sincere in their promise to construct the Trent Valley Canal. Not being stone blind, the Post could not avoid seeing as it did, and the Review criticises the utterances of its Lindsay contemporary in its usual polite and respectful style. The Post makes the following rejoinder:—

"The poor old Peterborough Review cannot 'abide' any reference to the Trent Valley Canal that seems to imply the least doubt in the perfect sincerity of the Government, or hints in the remotest way that the grant was made for political purposes. It says the recent article in the Post on this subject is a 'foul charge,' a repetition of the 'dirty work of abusing and insulting ministers,' as well as 'unscrupulous assaults,' and 'language that might be applied to a pickpocket and thimble-rigger.' The Review, after employing these choice and gentlemanly epithets, wants to know if the Post thinks it 'can elevate the press of Canada 'or the country itself in the eyes of 'foreigners by such disgraceful treatment 'of our leading statesmen.' We calmly await the verdict of any one—even a jury of Peterborough Tories—on the question as to which was 'more elevating' and more respectable: the article in the Post or the article in the Review. Nay, the Review can select the jury and submit the two papers. Come, now, Mr. Review, accept this challenge or retract and make the amende honorable."

With this it appears the matter as far as these two are concerned ends. It is a standing rule of our local contemporary, when it cannot overcome an enemy by argument, to assail with abuse, and when bullying fails to subdue, to subside into silence and quietly retire from the arena. The Post shouldn't be too hard on its "brother chip"; it can't be positive of its position; it has to judge from the exercise of common sense and by the observation of the extraordinary fidelity with which the present Government party fulfils its election promises; while the Review is within the inner circles and has access to the secrets of the Government. As for ourselves, we have faith in the building of the canal, and we have reason to believe that the date of its completion has been fixed for the next recurrence of the "Greek Kalends."

Hope for the Future.

Now that the smoke of the electoral battle of last June has rolled away, it is found that many who were supposed to be entirely hors du combat have been resuscitated by the application of the stimulus of a recount. Another Reform gain gives additional emphasis to the victory in Prince Edward Island. Mr. Dobbs, a supporter of the Opposition, has been seated in Queen's county on a recount, and Mr. Brecken, who represented the riding in the last Parliament, remains a private citizen. By the time the field has been gone over the defeat of the Reform party will be considerably toned down. If the veil could be lifted and the secret revealed of how many Reformers were defeated, not by the unbiassed expression of the electors through the ballot, but by the thousand and one crooked influences of the Government and its supporters, no doubt the fact would be revealed that the triumph of the Conservatives was not so much due to the principles composing its platform, as to the cunning and unscrupulous use of all the illicit influences and appliances that could be safely—in view of the election Courts — employed. Battles won by the bribery of the troops, do not represent a permanent victory. And the day is sure to come when the glamour will pass from the eyes of the electors of Canada, and they will see that they have a higher duty than bolstering in power a party whose principles, policy and practices all resolve themselves into an unseemly struggle to retain power by the most questionable means. The Reform party is struggling for principle, not spoils. The triumph of tricken can be only temporary, but the principle must eventually gain the victory.

Rev Styleman Herring and Mr. J. J. Jones, both of England, are in Canada now enquiring into the welfare of emigrants sent to the Dominion through their instrumentality. During the past 14 years Mr. Herring has been instrumental in sending out 4,500 persons.

Editorial Notes.

Mr. Goldwin Smith, or rather Dr. Goldwin Smith, after a year's absence has returned to Canada. His return can have no political significance, his politics being too advanced for him to meet with many disciples.

It would appear that the Civil Service reform of the present Government consists in filling vacancies as fast as they occur, or can be made to occur, with good Bleu Frenchmen. Quebec doesn't go Tory for nothing.

The Reformers of West Northumberland are taking time by the forelock. They hold a convention for electing a candidate for the "approaching election for the Ontario Legislature," on July 22nd at Cobourg.

There are seventy-five members of the new Dominion Parliament who have not had seats there before, and there are seven members who were not in the last House, but had been in the House of Commons previously.

A Lennox young lady has christened her maiden musical composition "The Sir John A. McDonald Waltz." It is not known whether the gifted authoress intended it as a publican figurative exposition of the mazy mysteriousness of Sir John's political practices.

He is to be made a dried Plumb. The sweet singer of Niagara is to be devoted to the only earthly use in politics that can be made of him. Hon J. C. Aiken is to be made Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and Josiah Burr Plumb is to take his place in that venerable coterie of trousered old women, the Senate. It is to be hoped that he will be kept there.

Sir John, the wily, is trimming his sails. He knows that a tidal wave of commercial depression is sure to come, and he is twisting his elastic policy to meet it safely. In his Cornwall speech he says:—"It would be folly to attribute to the Reform party the whole responsibility for that depression. It extended to the United States and to England, and we suffered from the same cause." He had not the honesty to admit as much before the elections.

The amount of the clip of coarse wool in the province of Ontario for the season of 1882 is 4,640,617 lbs, and that of fine wool is only 877,674, or over one fifth less. If the National Policy party—so called—had, when they framed their tariff, shown themselves as anxious to serve the interests of the farmer, as those of the more profitable—to them—manufacturer, they would have imposed a duty on fine wools, which are largely imported, and thus have stimulated the breeding of fine wool sheep. But the farmers are not the favorites of the N. P. party. They are too honest to be valuable assistants to the party in questionable election tactics.

The Toronto World, generally "level-headed," doesn't seem to know how we, in this section feel on the subject, when it makes the subjoined remarks, in reference to the Trent Valley Canal:—"A correspondent writes to us advocating the construction of the Trent Valley canal. Intelligent travellers through all the country traversed by the Trent and the Otonabee tell us that the precipitous and unnavigable waters of the Trent, would make the cost of the necessary canals and locks enormous. Railways cost much less, and the railways centreing at Peterborough and Lindsay are already doing the work of developing that section of the province.

Manitoba does not furnish the first instance in which the Tories have gained glory by adopting the policy of Reformers—but, be it said to the credit of their consistency, not from any desire to benefit the country, but simply to help themselves to retain that ever glittering goal of Tory ambition—office. Premier Norquay, in his anxiety to retain power, has adopted in its entirety the policy on which the Reformers won the elections in the Province of Manitoba. The local Tory organ announces the Premier's flop-over—it is worthy of no more dignified title—on the land question, and insists that the administration of public lands should be carried on in Winnipeg rather than in Ottawa.

THE BRAMPTON KISSING CASE.

The alleged indulgence of Rev Mr. Willoughby in the labial license of kissing a maiden member of his flock, promises to be a notorious matter before the conclusion is reached of the church trial arising therefrom is reached.

A telegraphic despatch of last Tuesday week says that the investigation concerning the charges preferred by Mr. George Graham against Rev. N. R. Willoughby of Brampton, was again adjourned until Thursday morning at the request of Mr. Graham. As the investigation proceeds the incongruities in the charges become more and more apparent and as witness after witness gives his or her testimony the confidence of the Rev. gentleman's friends that the Committee will see the untruthfulness of the complaint, steadily increases. A full acquittal is confidently expected.

A despatch on Thursday asserts that the Graham v. Willoughby Church trial continues to be the all absorbing topic, particularly in the Methodist circles. Several witnesses testified to-day that the Rev. Mr. Willoughby was not in Mr. Graham's house at all when the alleged kissing occurred. The commission will likely conclude their labours to-night, and to-morrow sum up and deliver their verdict.

Another dispatch of last Saturday says that the trial of Rev. Mr. Willoughby for five kisses ended that day at noon. The Committee have reserved the right of decision until next week. The bulk of the evidence went to show that the whole thing was a conspiracy by the clique to drive Mr. Willoughby away from the Church. His friends feel confident that a verdict of clear acquittal will be given.

DARING ABDUCTION.

ROBBERS STEAL A WEALTHY MONTREALER'S CHILD—AND DEMAND £10,000 RANSOM.

On Monday night at an early hour some robbers effected an entrance to the residence of Mr. Melvin Smith, a wealthy gentleman, residing on Mountain Street, Montreal, and carried off a child aged about two years. There were three children sleeping in the room. Mr. Smith was down town and Mrs. Smith was entertaining some friends in another room. About half-past ten o'clock she visited the children's room to find her little son gone, and a note on the pillow stating that he would be returned for a ransom of £10,000 in gold. Unless this amount is at once forthcoming the abductors state that they will make mincemeat of the child, and also of Mr. Smith himself. About a year ago Mr. Smith lost some very valuable diamonds, which were returned after payment of $1,200 blackmail. All the efforts of the detective force to capture the robbers at that time were unavailing, and the handwriting of the note left on the child's pillow appears to be the same as that in which the negotiations respecting the diamond robbery was carried on in behalf of the thieves. It is believed that the child is still in the city.

DOMINION DAY AT SEA.

Celebration on Board the Steamship Polynesian.

A correspondent of the Belleville Intelligencer gives a pleasing account of how Dominion Day was spent on board the steamer Polynesian. Preparations had been made previously and the day opened with queen's weather. At noon the firing of two guns was the signal for the commencement of the programme. The first event was a rifle match, the shooting being done from a distance of twelve yards, with a spring gun at a target, made by the ship's carpenter, and placed on the quarter deck. The ship was rolling and the marksmen had to make it on the fly. The target was the regulation pattern, but on the diminutive scale, and Wimbledon rules were followed.

The first match was between a team of Englishmen and a team of Canada. The English scores were:—English.—Duke of Manchester, 4; Lord Mandeville, 11; Mr. Phillips, 15; Major Dent, 5; Major Chaplin, 14; Major Campbell, 12; Capt. Millburn, 11; Mr. Manners, 17; Mr. H. C. Organ, 17; Dr. Mason, 14; total 120. Canadian.—Lieut.-Gov. Robinson, 15; J. W. Johnson, 16; McNachtan, 11; Small, 8; Wilson, 15; Ellis, 15; Mickleboro, 22; Geddes, 12; Foy, 11; Plumb, 16; total 141.

The match in which the greatest interest was taken was that between six ladies and six of the Wimbledon team, in which the ladies proved victorious by sixteen points. Curling, shuffle board and other games were enjoyed and loyal toasts were drunk and suitably responded to.

BRAN BEDS FOR THE BABIES.

A French doctor has invented a new bed for babies, which holds them safe in its custody and prevents them from ever giving any trouble at night to their attendants. This gentleman has subjected his system to the most trying of all tests, for he has applied it to all his own children, and considers that the life of one of them is entirely owing to its use. The idea is to fill the greater part of the cradle with bran and immerse the legs and part of the body of the child in this nest, covering them over in the usual way, but fastening down the counterpane tight, so as to keep him firm in his place. Why this change of tactics should have the effect of taking away from the infant his usual desire to howl during a part of every night is a question which we leave nurses to explain for themselves after they have tried the system. In the meantime, until that trial has been made it is only civil to believe the testimony of Drs. Bourgeois and Vigoreaux, who in two French papers of some authority, declare that such is the invariable result. This is not, however, the only advantage to be expected from the system. The bran is supposed to have a warming and stimulating influence, superior to any sort of cotton or cloth, and to allow the children of the more sickly kind to develop more quickly and to be sooner able to use their limbs. The inventor of the system declares that they delight in their bran beds, and always "quit them with regret," when removed at the age of 2 to one of a different kind.

The twenty-five foot channel from Montreal to the sea is about an accompliished fact, and towards the end of the present month, when the river will have attained its normal summer level, an effectual test will be made of the channel, by loading a steamship down to the draught required and sailing her to the sea.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

UNTIDY GIRLS.

Many girls who are in the evening genuine ornaments to the parlor, tastefully dressed and "neat as a new pin," are little better than slatterns when performing domestic duties. I have no patience with this untidiness. It has always seemed to me as if Cinderella herself might have kept out of the ashes even if she was obliged to stay in the kitchen and work. To look well while about housework is worth while A neat calico dress, short enough to clear the floor, smoothly brushed hair, a clean collar, and a plentiful supply of aprons, are all within the reach of any woman, and I maintain that she will do her work better and feel more like doing it if prepared for it. The moral influence of dress is undoubted.

GOOD HUMOR.

Good humor is right reckoned a most valuable aid to happy home life. An equally good and useful faculty is a sense of humor, or the capacity to have a little fun along with the hundrum cares and works of life. We all know how it brightens up things generally to have a lively, witty companion, who sees the ridiculous points of things, and can turn an annoyance into an occasion for laughter. It does a great deal better to laugh over some domestic mishaps than to cry or scold about them. Many homes and lives are dull because they are allowed to be come too deeply impressed with the cares and responsibilities of life to recognize its bright, and especially its mirthful side. In such a household, good, but dull, the advent of a witty, humorous friend is like sunshine on a cloudy day. While it is oppressive to hear persons constantly striving to say funny things it is comfortable, seeing what a brightener a little fun is, to make an effort to make some at home. It is well to turn off an impatient question sometimes and to regard it from a humorous point instead of being irritated by it. Some people have a peculiar faculty for giving a humorous turn to things when they are reproved. It does just as well oftentimes to laugh things off as to scold them. Let us have a little more of it at home.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

THE CHARGE DISMISSED.

The Police Magistrate Delivers His Decision—His Remarks and Suggestions on the Subject.

On Tuesday Police Magistrate Hatton delivered his decision in the case of John McGhee, Police Constable, complainant, vs. Wm. Bowen, Wm. Mallock, Frederick Frost and Marshall Ruttan, defendants, in which the latter were charged with running a Midland Railway train on Sunday, June 25th. The case was tried on the 27th June, and judgment reserved.

Mr. Hatton, Police Magistrate, in delivering judgment in the case, remarked that the information charged the defendants, who were servants and employees of the Midland Railway, with having on Sunday the 25th day of June, 1882, at the town of Peterborough, exercised their ordinary calling contrary to the Statute. The defendants, by Mr. Hall, their counsel, had admitted that they were servants of the Midland Railway, and that on the day named they had been ordered to bring and had brought up from Belleville to Peterborough an empty train. Mr. Hall had contended that this was not exercising the ordinary calling of defendants, and that what work they did was a work of necessity. Mr. Ferguson, Superintendent, had testified that the work of bringing the empty train on Sunday was a work of necessity. It did not reach Belleville till late on Saturday evening, and as it was necessary to start on Monday morning from Peterborough to Lakefield about 5:30 a.m., the defendants being the only persons in charge of the train, would have had, had they waited till after 12 o'clock on Sunday night before leaving Belleville, about 36 hours train duty on Monday, which they could not have performed with safety to themselves or the passengers they had to carry from Lakefield to Belleville, and back to Lakefield on that day.

Several cases had been cited by Mr. Dumble, counsel for complainant, and Mr. Hall for defendants. He, (Mr. Hatton) however, could not find that any of them met the circumstances as set forth in the case. The defendants were the hands in charge of the train referred to. Their ordinary calling was to run that train on week days from Belleville to Peterborough and return, and they were not pursuing their ordinary calling in running an empty train to meet a special emergency, as the one in question was shown to have been.

He did not think it was such a case as had been intended by the defendants to be a desecration of the Sabbath, or that they thought they were doing anything but a work of necessity in conveying or running a train as they did. The necessities of life, society and business now required that broader views should be taken of what is or is not a work of necessity. He thought it would be wise if some such amendment as that existing in England were added to the present Statute. By the English Act no prosecution shall take place unless the information is laid by the chief of police of the police district in which the alleged offence was committed, or with the consent, in writing, of two justices of the peace or a stipendiary magistrate. This provision or a somewhat similar one would prevent the laying of informations by irresponsible persons. He did not, by these remarks, intend to convey an impression that the complainant did anything but his duty in laying the information in the case, but he could easily see where malicious persons might put persons and corporations to loss and serious annoyance, as the Statute now is, whereas were some such a provision as he had suggested, in the Act, the person really setting on foot the prosecution might be made responsible. Holding these views and keeping before him the very full judgment of his Lordship, C.J.C.P., recently delivered, he found defendants not guilty. In so doing he desired to be understood that he only did so in the present case, because he believed Mr. Ferguson that the work was an actual necessity, but the repetition of such an act would likely lead him to take a very different view of subsequent cases. P. C. McGhee being a peace officer and acting in the discharge of his duties, he would give his decision without costs.

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT COMPANY.

A Flourishing Financial Institution.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company was held in their rooms on Water street, last Friday. Major-General Haultain, President, occupied the chair, and the following gentlemen were present:—Messrs. John Walton, Vice-President, Col. Haultain, Richard Hall, John Hall, Jas. Reid, A. P. Poussette and G. M. Roger, the two latter being the solicitors of the Company.

After motion the President read

THE DIRECTORS' ANNUAL REPORT, of operations for the year 1882, as under:—

FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT of the Directors of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company (Limited), for the year ending 31st May, 1882.

The Directors beg leave to report that during the year just ended, the Company's business has continued to increase, and the repayments on loans indicate the satisfactory nature of its investments.

The new loans made during the year amount to the sum of $198,282.23 (£39,765.13.9) and the repayments of Principal amount to the sum of $76,755.26 (£15,771.12.7) leaving a net increase of $116,771.05 (£23,994.1.2), as against $51,713.08 (£10,625.19.6) for the previous year. The renewals of previous loans amount to the sum of $7,709 (£1,582.3.10).

All the loans and renewals have been made at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, and the average rate of interest now borne by the Company's investments is 7½ per cent.

The profits for the year, after deducting costs of management and managers' salary, have been sufficient to enable the Company to pay two half-yearly dividends at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, and to add a small sum to the amount already standing at the credit of the profit and loss account, but it would be more satisfactory if a larger sum could be appropriated to a Reserve and there is every probability that from the nature of the earning power of the Company, this will be gradually effected.

Whilst the Directors have kept before them the desirableness of a Reserve fairly proportionate to the paid up capital, they have been so satisfied with the nature and security of the Company's investments, that they have deemed it only reasonable that the shareholders should have the full benefit of this security, and they have consequently not thought it necessary at the present to reduce the dividend for the purpose of creating a Reserve.

The Chief Agents of the Company in Great Britain have continued to supply the Company's demands for money, the Debentures bearing 4½ and 5 per cent. per annum having been readily disposed of at par.

The accounts have been duly audited as usual and the proper statements certified by the auditors are submitted herewith.

F. M. HAULTAIN,
President.

Peterborough, 31st May, 1882.

To the Directors of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, (Limited):—

GENTLEMEN,—We have audited the books and accounts of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, (Limited) for the year ending 31st May, 1882. The above statement of Assets and Liabilities and Profit and Loss account agree with the Ledger and are certified as correct. We have also inspected the mortgages, and find the aggregate thereof agrees with the amount under the head of Mortgage Securities.

EDG. PEARSE,
CHAS. D. MACDONALD, } Auditors.

The reports were adopted and ordered to be printed for circulation.

CHANGE OF DATE.

On motion, the date of the annual meeting was changed to the first Tuesday in October, in each year.

EVIDENCES OF SUCCESS.

Col. Haultain referred in complimentary terms to the services of the members of the investment committee, and hoped that it would not be long before circumstances would make a handsome remuneration warrantable. Messrs. Poussette & Rogers, the managers, were entitled to special praise. During the four years the company had been in active existence not a single loss had occurred. His motion, seconded by Mr. John Hall,—That the thanks of the meeting be tendered the investment committee, was carried unanimously.

MORE THANKS.

A motion of Mr. Poussette, seconded by Mr. R. Hall.—That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Glasgow Board of Reference, for their great attention to the interests of the company in Great Britain, was unanimously agreed to.

THE MANAGERS RECOGNIZED.

On motion of Gen. Haultain, seconded by Col. Haultain, the thanks of the meeting were tendered the managers of the company, Messrs. Poussette & Rogers, for continued labour and unflagging interest in the working of the company, and the names of the Glasgow agents, Messrs. Finlayson and Auld, were also included in the vote of thanks, for the great value of their connection with the company.

The meeting of stockholders adjourned, and the Directors held a meeting and elected the following OFFICERS:

PRESIDENT.—Gen. F. M. Haultain.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. Jno. Walton.
INVESTMENT COMMITTEE.—Gen. Haultain, Messrs. Jno. Walton and Richard Hall.

RAILWAY NOTES.

LOCAL

Extensive improvements are being made in the interior of the Midland railway station, Belleville.

Work has already been begun on the extension (120 feet) of the freight sheds at the Midland Station yards.

The Norwood Register is informed that Mr. Bray, C. E., started on Monday last to hand over to the contractors the sections of the O. & Q. between Marmora and this village. Work, it is said, will be commenced at once.

Last Saturday the steam shovel on the Missing Link broke down. the mast that supports the crane, breaking off in the socket at its foot. The mast was shipped to Toledo on Monday for repairs, and will probably be at work on Friday.

Messrs. McDermid & Hendrie, contractors for a local section of the Ontario & Quebec Railway have opened an office in the market block, Simcoe Street, next door to the Toronto Bank, in the premises formerly occupied by the Grand Junction.

The Madoc Review says that good progress is being made with the Central Ontario Railway at Eldorado. A large force of men and teams are at work. Between the Central Ontario, Toronto and Ottawa, and Ontario and Quebec lines, railway matters are booming in this neighbourhood.

The Orillia Packet is authority for the statement that the Midland Railway is being re-ballasted from Port Hope to Midland. When this work is completed, the run from Toronto to Orillia will occupy an hour less time than at present.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—The excursion to Peterborough on the 12th was probably the largest railway excursion that ever left Belleville. When the immense train, consisting of 21 cars drawn by two engines, arrived in Peterborough there were 2,070 people on board. The excursion did not arrive in Belleville until after 11 o'clock.

A small gang of men are at work grading on the Missing Link at the Protestant Home. The line will take off a corner of the bluff at that point passing through the garden of Mr. Peter Connal diagonally, likely sacrificing one of his fine row of shade trees on Brock Street, joining the main line of the Midland about the junction of Brock and Bethune Streets.

A report from Kingston says that work on the Toronto and Ottawa Railway has begun on the farm of Mr. John Woods, near the village of Arden. Operations are being conducted both east and west. The whole line has been located, and the rock cutting and grading is now being done. Between 60 and 70 navvies are engaged at this work, principally French Canadians.

Steel rails to replace the iron, now in use on the main line of the Midland, are distributed along the track from above Beaverton almost up to Orillia. On several pieces of trestle work on this section of the line, the most thorough repairs have been made, and a large quantity of new timber worked in to replace sticks which were of doubtful strength.

GENERAL.

The freight traffic on the Grand Trunk is briak at present. One day this week no less than forty-two cars of freight arrived in Belleville for local merchants and other parties along the Grand Junction.

The project of a loop line through Yorkville, which has hung fire for nine years since Mr. Turner obtained a charter to build it, has been put in marching order by the Midland railway. This will be an advantage to Yorkville, as it will direct through traffic from the Esplanade to the northern part of the city.

"The act relating to the sale of railway passenger tickets in Canada" is now in force throughout the Dominion. Under the new law no person, unless he is authorized by the railway company, can sell a passenger ticket without being liable to fine or imprisonment. This, if carried out, puts an end to all second-hand ticket-selling. Those who travel only a portion of the journey on a ticket can demand the return of that portion of his money representing the unused distance, within thirty days.

The Monetary Times says:—"The remark has been made with truth that the Ontario and Quebec road will change the position of Toronto with respect to its railway accommodation. This is the first line to run north of the city all the others being on the south. The effect is to give the city a dual front. What has hitherto been the rear will henceforth become a front to divide traffic with the old front along the lake. The most distant points in the city from railways will soon be among the nearest. The old centre of population is not likely to be disturbed, but a new centre will be created; and the effect cannot but be very marked, in more ways than one."

MILLBROOK.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

The 12th of July was a fatal celebration to a young man named Haggart, living in the country about three miles from Millbrook. It appears that he was of that unfortunate class who think they require the stimulus of whisky to enable them to do justice to extraordinary occasions. He had been drinking freely and must have laid down on the track and fallen asleep, and a special freight going north, about four o'clock Thursday morning, ran over him, cutting off both legs close to the body. He died on Friday. His pot companion had laid down outside the rail and was only grazed by the wheels.

Peterborough Markets.

PETERBOROUGH, July 19th, 1882.

Nothing doing in grain. Hardly anything offering. Wheat may be quoted as follows: Spring, $1.23 to $1.25. Fall, $1.20 to $1.22. Goose wheat $1.02. Barley, out of the market. Peas, nothing doing, none offering. Oats, less offering worth about 50c.

ON THE MARKET.

Butter is firm and not so plentiful selling in rolls at 17 to 20c. Eggs are getting scarcer, price from 15 to 16c. Spring chickens, 35 to 40c, a good few offering. Old ones sell from 50 to 60c, rather slow. Lamb in fair demand; a limited quantity offering, not enough to supply the demand; 10c for fore quarter, 12½ for hind. The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR

A NEW DISCOVERY.

For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It

Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

If you cannot get the "Improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (87)

MATIE AND HER DUST-PAN.

I've sung my love in many a rhyme:
I've wound her life in many a story—
What boy's worth had poet's pipe
Thus adding to his mistress' glory?
I've sung her dainty morning dress;
I've sung the needle in her hand;
I've written verses to her caris,
And strewn them broadcast o'er the land.
But there's one weapon she can wield,
One before which I ever yield;
To her it is both sword and shield—
Her dainty little dust-pan.

Ah! dust's a thing you might suppose
That never could be made romantic,
And placed before a poet's nose,
Would have effect to drive him frantic.
But poet's still must eat and drink
However far they like to roam;
Ah! Dante's self had smiled, I think,
To find his Beatrice at home—
A cottage in Italian land,
A jolly dinner neatly planned,
And in his lovely lady's hand
A dainty little dust-pan.

Ah! Matie knows the poet soul
Is not sustained by fairy dishes—
At breakfast time it wants a roll,
And has some fixed idea on fishes;
That ecstacies are very very well,
But cleanliness must have a place;
That heavenly raptures as they swell,
Will not support our fallen race.
And so at morn she comes in sight,
Armed with the symbol of her might
To put my troubled room to right—
Her dainty little dust-pan.

Farm, Garden and Household.

The Crops of Ontario.

SUMMARY FROM THE BUREAU OF INDUSTRIES FOR THE MONTH OF JULY.

The July reports of the bureau of industries gives a summary of the condition of the grain, hay and fruit crop in Ontario, together with statistics of acreage of grain crops and estimates of produce, and of the year's clip of fine and coarse wools.

The condition of the crops is compiled from the reports of five hundred correspondents, made on the 1st of July, and covering nearly every township in the Province. The statistics of acreage and of estimates of produce were collected with the assistance of public and separate school teachers on the 1st of May, schedules having been distributed to farmers through the schools, and, when filled and tabulated, returned to the bureau. It is not claimed that the figures are strictly accurate, but it is believed that if they err at all it is not on the side of excess. The estimates of produce are, of course, good only for the time at which they were made by farmers; they are too great or too small in the proportion that the crops have since been modified by conditions. It is intended to verify them when the threshing season begins.

It will be noticed in the summary of acreages given below that the area under fall wheat is nearly double the area under spring wheat. This is a great relative change since 1870, when the crops were of nearly equal area. In that year the total area under wheat was 1,365,872 acres, and the product 14,233,389 bushels. This year the total area is 1,762,876 acres, and the estimated produce 30,783,683 bushels. The increase and the change have taken place chiefly in the West Midland, Georgian Bay, and Lake Huron counties.

The fall wheat is reported very good throughout the western half of the Province. It has recovered admirably from the effects of spring frosts, and if the weather continues favourable until the harvesting, the yield will be better than an average. In the eastern half the reports are less favourable. In the St. Lawrence and Ottawa counties it will not be more than half a crop. It must be remarked, however, that eastward of York county a much greater area of spring wheat is sown than of fall wheat, and the condition of spring wheat is reported excellent. The indications are, indeed, that the estimated produce of the returns for wheat will be exceeded. But assuming that it is fairly realized, and that the crop is safely harvested, Ontario will have a surplus for outside markets of fully 20,000,000 bushels.

Oats promise to be an excellent crop in all sections of the province, and barley and peas fairly good. The heavy rains of May and June, while favourable to the former grain, were somewhat injurious to the latter; but the warm days of the last two weeks of June caused all crops to thrive wonderfully. It is a season of slow maturity for cereals, and harvest time will be fully two weeks later than usual. Corn seems destined to be a failure; the temperature has been too low for it.

The clover crop will be short in consequence of the crop having been heaved by frosts. Timothy meadows had a late start as the result of a cold May, but they picked up finely throughout June, and the crop will not be far short of an average.

The fruit crop has suffered severely throughout the western counties, the cold weather and east winds which followed the blossoming season, having blighted it. In the eastern counties the trees came later into bloom, and apples especially promise to be a large crop. There will be a scarcity of plums, but small fruit is abundant.

The following table gives the returns of acreage and estimate of produce for the whole Province:—

Cereals.	The Province.
	Acres in Crop.	Estimated Produce Bush.
Fall Wheat	1,179,284	21,737,341
Spring Wheat	591,592	9,046,343
Barley	835,466	20,141,502
Oats	1,425,948	41,650,764
Rye	182,968	2,649,750
Peas	554,464	10,649,567
Corn	210,080
Wool.	No of Fleeces.	Pounds.
Coarse Wool	916,433	4,740,617
Fine Wool	174,174	877,074

The August report of the bureau will give statistics of the live stock of the country.

Canning Fruit and Vegetables.

Having the cans, or jars, the operation is simple. The fruit, whatever it may be, in a syrup just strong enough to properly sweeten it, is brought to the boiling point, and when the air has been all expelled from it, it is at once placed in the jars, previously warmed with hot water, and when these are well filled, the cover is screwed down tight. Good jars, well filled with boiling fruit, and promptly covered by screwing down the caps, will insure success. Many years ago, when canning was not so general as it is now, we showed how any common wide-mouthed bottle could be used, but at present, jars made up for the purpose are so cheap, that it is not necessary to resort to any make-shifts. Among the first things to be put up in this manner is rhubarb. This, as shown in April last, can be readily canned, and green gooseberries may be treated in the same manner. Strawberries and raspberries come next, and are better preserved in the same manner than by any other, but these, especially the strawberry, while vastly better when preserved thus than in any other manner, come far short of retaining their original flavor. Peaches are easily preserved thus, and are nearly perfect, as are pears, especially the Bartlett, apples and quinces. One who has put up the quince in this manner will never preserve it according to the old pound to pound method. All the highly flavored apples, preserved by canning, make a finer apple sauce than can be produced in any other manner. The usual process is, to cook the fruit, of whatever kind, in a syrup made with four ounces of sugar to a pint of water. When the fruit is cooked tender, transfer it at once to the jar, and add the syrup to fill up crevices, if there are bubbles of air, aid them to escape by the use of a spoon; see that the jar is solid full of fruit and syrup, and up to the top before the cap is screwed on. While fruits are easily preserved in the family, vegetables are more difficult. We have many inquires about preserving green peas, green corn and tomatoes. Those who make a business of canning, find green peas and green corn among the most difficult things to preserve. They can only be put up in tin cans by long boiling processes, not practicable in families. If any of our readers have found a method by which either corn or peas can be preserved by any process practicable in the family, we ask them to communicate it, for the benefit of others. Last autumn we made an experiment with tomatoes. Thoroughly ripe fruit fruit was cooked as for the table, omitting butter and all other seasoning, and put up in ordinary fruit jars. About 3 out of 12 failed, but those which succeeded were vastly better than the tomatoes purchased in tin cans.

Ready Recipes.

CANNED STRAWBERRIES.—Hull and weigh the berries, and to each pound put a third of a pound of sugar, place fruit and sugar together in a kettle with enough water to keep them from burning, cook as for stewing. Have your glass jars warming, and when the fruit is ready fill the jars and seal immediately, when cold, tighten the rings or the fruit may ferment. Raspberries are done in the same way, only allowed ¼ pound of sugar to each pound of fruit.

COTTAGE PUDDING.—1 cup of sugar, butter the size of an egg, 2 eggs, 1 cup of sweet milk, a large cup and a half of flour with three teaspoonsful of baking powder or 1 teaspoonful of soda and two of cream of tartar, a little salt; bake in a loaf in a moderately hot oven, eat hot with sweet sauce. The same rule, only not as stiff, makes a very nice tea cake baked in a sheet.

A SURE WAY TO REMOVE TEA STAINS.—Mix thoroughly soft soap and salt—say a tablespoonful to a tea-cup of soap—rub on the spots and spread the cloth on the grass where the sun will shine on it. Let it lay two or three days, then wash. If the stain is not all out it will disappear in the second washing. If the spots are wet occasionally while lying on the grass, it will hasten the bleaching.

RASPBERRY JAM.—For each pound of fruit, red or black, allow one pound of sugar. Crush the fruit in the kettle, boil 15 minutes, add the sugar and boil five minutes longer.

FROZEN RASPBERRIES.—Two quarts of ripe berries, one pint of sugar and one quart of water; boil the sugar and water together 20 minutes, then add the fruit, and cook 15 minutes longer. Let it get cold, then freeze. When almost frozen add a pint of whipped cream.

SOFT MOLASSES CAKE.—One cupful of butter, two eggs, three cupsful of molasses, one cupful of cream, six cupsful of flour, one teaspoonful of saleratus and two of ginger.

RASPBERRY ICE CREAM.—One quart of sweet cream, one quart of fruit, and not quite a pint of sugar. Crush the fruit and add the sugar. Let stand two hours, add the cream, put through a strainer and freeze.

PICKLED BEETS.—Boil very tender in quite salt water, skin, slice and place in an earthen pot or any convenient dish. For every good-sized beet allow a thin slice of onion, a tablespoonful of grated horse radish and half a dozen cloves. Cover with cold vinegar. They will not keep over a week.

COOKING PEAS.—Boil until tender in a very little water. Drain off the water and for every quart add two tablespoonsful of butter, half a tablespoonful of flour rubbed into the butter, half a teaspoonful of sugar and one of salt. Mix thoroughly, simmer a few minutes, add a cup of cream or rich milk to each quart, heat and serve. This will be found very fine if the peas are not too old.

BROILED LIVER.—Slice thin, dip into melted butter, sprinkle with craker dust and broil over a quick fire. Garnish with parsley.

THE REASON HE WROTE IT.

"I write this," says Mr. Nelson De Pew, of Napiersville, Quebec, Canada, "to say that, after suffering six years with rheumatism—accompanied with the most intense pain with which any one could be afflicted—I have been completely cured by the use of St. Jacobs Oil. I thus write because I consider it my duty so to do, and because I wish to publish to suffering humanity the wonderful efficacy of the Great German Remedy. When I remember that during the six years in which I was bedridden with this awful disease, I tried all kinds of remedies, and expended a very large amount of money with doctors of all schools, and underwent all kinds of treatment, the feeling of gratitude at my marvelous recovery impresses me to give the widest publicity to my case."

"Rough on Rats."

Clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, ants, bed-bugs, skunks, chipmunks, gophers. 15c. Druggists.

"Sweet Curing Seeds" was the translation of the name given to Ayer's Pills by a high mandarin of China, in his letter of acknowledgment and thanks to Dr. Ayer for having introduced them into the Celestial Empire—a very appropriate name! They are sweet, they cure, and are, therefore, the most profitable "seeds" a sick man can invest in.

 "Necessity is the mother of invention." Diseases of the liver, kidneys and bowels brought forth that sovereign remedy, Kidney-Wort, which is nature's normal curative for all those dire complaints. In either liquid or dry form it is a perfect remedy for those terrible diseases that cause so many deaths.

Thousands bear witness to the positive curative powers of the GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR, the only remedy that has proved itself a SPECIFIC for general debility, seminal weakness, impotency, etc., and all diseases that arise from self-abuse or overtaxed brain, finally ending in consumption, insanity and a premature grave. Sold by all druggists, or will be sent free on receipt of $2.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00. Address F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for the United States. Send for circular and testimonials of genuine cures. 28-2t

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of Mrs. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

MRS. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free. 25

AT ALL SEASONS, but particularly during the winter, persons whose lungs and chests are weak should take every precaution against a cough or cold, as the breathing organs if naturally feeble speedily succumb to its ravages. In spite of sanitary precautions, however, coughs are very apt to fasten themselves upon weak lungs. In such a case ordinary prudence dictates the prompt use of a reliable specific. The ordinary cough remedies are too often insufficient. The best substitute for them is the highly sanctioned, long recognized remedy, Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of lime and soda. As is well known, the action of Cod Liver Oil is particularly marked in lung, rheumatic and strumous diseases. In this preparation it is characterized by peculiar purity. The phosphorus in the hypophosphites furnishes a vital element of the blood, brain and nervous tissues, and the lime and soda supply their strengthening properties to the bones of which they are natural constituents. This emulsion promotes expectoration, enables the bronchiæ to throw off the irritating mucus which obstructs and distresses them; renders the vitiated secretions healthy and heals the lungs. This remedy has also been used with the most beneficial effects in cases of scrofula. As it is exceedingly dangerous to permit a cough to gain headway, the early use of the medicine is urged upon those whose throat or lungs are affected. Look for the fac simile of our signature on the packages and the firm's name blown in the bottles.

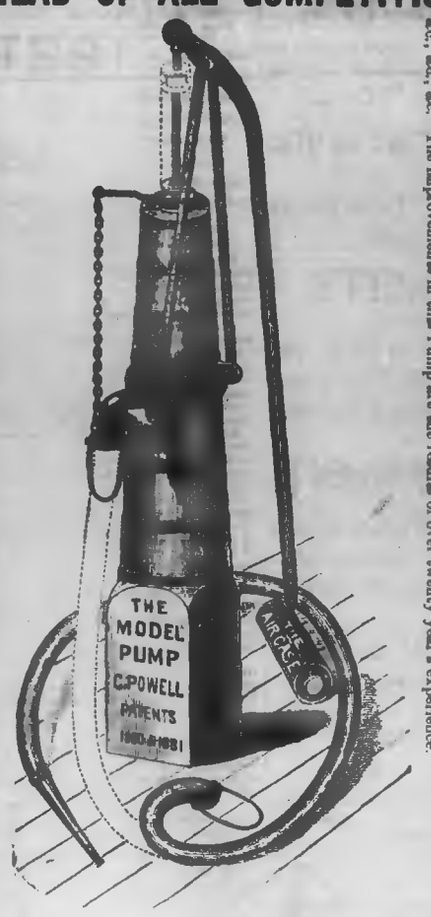
New Patent Force Pumps!

AHEAD OF ALL COMPETITION.



In again presenting the claims of my justly Celebrated Pumps to the attention of my numerous friends in the Town and County of Peterborough, I beg to return my sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage accorded to me during the fourteen years that I have conducted the Pump business in their midst. After such a long experience I feel convinced that I know what constitutes a (Good Pump, and as long as I remain in the business, I am determined to furnish an article unsurpassed by any in the Dominion.

During my long residence in Peterborough, my business has continued to grow, and I have been able to extend it to other localities. I wish to call special attention to my NEW PATENT MODEL FORCE PUMP, of which the above cut is a representation. This Pump, I can confidently claim is the best Combined, Lift and Force Pump made. It is adapted to all the uses to which an ordinary Lift Pump may be applied, and is frequently of inestimable value in case of Fire, and is just what is wanted for washing Buggies and Windows, Watering Gardens, Lawns, &c., &c., &c. The improvements in this Pump are the results of over twenty year's experience.

A DAY.

Sunrise fresh, and the daisies small
Silver the lawn with their starlets fair;
But the blossoms of noon shall be stately and tall,
Tropical, luscious, of odors rare:
Ah well!
Noon shall be gorgeous beyond compare.

Noon, and the sky is a blinding glare,
The flowers have fainted while we have strayed;
We wandered too far to tend them there,
And they drooped for lack of dew and shade:
Ah well!
Evening shall right the mistake we made.

Evening, 'tis chilly in meadow and glade,
The last pale rose has died in the west;
The happy hour is long decayed,
Our wandering is but a long unrest;
Ah well!
We will home to the fireside. Home is best.

Nothing but ashes grey! No blast
Faint glimmer of light on roof or wall?
A weary search was this day-long quest,
And on empty hands the shadows fall;
Ah well!
Let us creep to bed and forget it all.

A DOUBLE MISTAKE.

A letter for you, Aunt Thankful.'

A bright young face, like a gleam of sunshine, flashed into the room where Miss Thankful Smith sat knitting—a pretty girlish face, with a saucy dimple on either cheek, and a merry sparkle in the laughing eyes. A mammoth blue checked apron much too large for her quite enveloped her slender form, and both sleeves were fastened up above the elbows, displaying two plump snowy arms, the sight of which would send thrills of blood to the heart of any ball-room belle.

"Lay it on the table, child, and go to your morning work.'

"Who do you suppose it's from?" questioned the girl, turning the letter over, and viewing the superscription curiously.

"I'll see soon's ever I knit to the seam needle. I make it a point never to lay things aside in a muddle, no matter what happens."

The girl coloured unconsciously.

"Oh, that everlasting seam needle! I believe sometimes you knit past it just to keep me waiting."

"Harriet!"

Miss Thankful never used this name in addressing her neice except when extremely displeased. Slowly and carefully she folded her work, sticking the needle firmly and securely into the ball, then wiping her spectacles an unnecessary length of time on her spotless apron, she adjusted them in their proper place across her nose, and took up the letter.

Meanwhile Harriet had flown back to the kitchen, where she gave vent to her impatience by making a great clatter with the breakfast dishes.

"She's just the dearest old auntie in the world!" she said, "but she does try me so with her awful precision. She'd like to have me spend the rest of my life in the unvarying routine of the old family clock on the mantel yonder. But I can't. I'm too full of life and activity. I want something new, and dearly as I love her, I'd like a change once in a while. Aunt Thankful and the old clock are exactly alike. The tick, tick, tick of the clock, and the click, click, click, of the knitting needles are almost the only sounds I hear, except the occasional racket I make just by way of variation. The clock is a perfect model of accuracy and promptness; so is she. They never make a mistake or go wrong."

In the next room Miss Thankful Smith had taken the letter from the envelope, and had read it through twice before commenting upon it. Then dropping it into her lap, her face assumed a thoughtful expression, her eyes took on a dreamy look; and no wonder for she was gazing far back into the past—full forty years.

"Strange, strange!" she murmured meditatively, that Mehetable should have written to me after all these years. She's moved to Brambleyville quite lately and wants to renew our acquaintance she says. Only twenty-five miles from here, and the cars run right past her house and mine, too. Seems most like bein' neighbors. She's a widow, poor thing! And her children are all dead and gone but Nell. Well, well! I have not been called on to pass through them afflictions, an' I reckon, on the hull, as how I am about as contented as most o' women o' my age. I'm right glad she hasn't any boys. Her Nell must be a quiet girl. Mehetable's every bit as old as I am, an' Nell's her youngest, she said. I wouldn't wonder if she's about Harrie's age. Dear me! how that girl does fret. She's so lonesome. I don't know as I blame her either, I was young and chipper once myself. Mehetable's writ an invite for me to come and spend a week or two with her. I couldn't think of leaving home for so long a time. Things would go to rack and ruin if I did. But it would be a real treat for Harrie, and I could run down and stay a couple of days when she's ready to come home. If Mehetable's as glib a talker as she used to be, we can talk up the past forty years in two days and not half try. It's a blessed thing she's only got a daughter. If she had grown up sons, I'd never think of lettin' Harrie go, for she is pretty, there's no denying that. Yes, I'll answer Mehetable's letter right away, and ask her if Harrie may come for a week or two. It'll be a change for her, and like as not, she'll be more contented after she gets home again.

"A letter for you mother, and the very superscription as good as a photo of the writer. I can imagine a prim, dignified spinster of uncertain age, to whom the least shadow of indecorum is an unpardonable sin. Mrs. Mehetable Morton! Why, little mother, your very name looks unnatural; it's so painfully precise. I wonder if she accepted your invitation to pay us a visit. I hope not, for we'll have to drop all our pet names while she's here. She'll Mehetable you and Nelson me. I wouldn't wonder but she considers it altogether too familiar to address people by their given names, and we will at once be promoted to Mr. and Mrs."

"Do let me take the letter Nell, I am so anxious to read what she has written. She used to be my dearest friend, years ago, when we were both children. I have not seen her for a great many years. Ah, just as I thought, she can't leave home for any length of time; but she writes that Peter's child—Peter was her brother, two or three years younger than herself—is with her. She thinks that the child is lonely, and needs a change quite badly. If it will not be a bother to us she will send Harrie down for a week or two, and she will come at the end of that time and make us a short visit."

Nell puckered up his mouth and gave vent to a low, expressive whistle.

"A little boy is the next thing to an old maid. What shall we do with the small tornado, mother.

"Oh, Nell you will have to amuse him in some way! As for, me I rather like the idea of having a child about me once more. I've lost my little boy, you know," with a fond, upward glance.

"Speaking of that lost boy of yours reminds me that I have an old chest of tools in the garret, and I'll win his everlasting friendship and bring the condemnation of Aunt Thankful down on my devoted head, by presenting them to him on the very day of his arrival."

"I'll have Bridget fix up the little room next to yours for Harrie. She can make it cosy and pleasant; and you must take him out in your sail boat occasionally," said Mrs. Morton, whose kind heart was instantly filled with plans for the comfort and pleasure of the expected guest.

"What a pity the depot isn't nearer!" said Nell reflectively. "I guess I'll take the horses instead of the carriage when I go to meet him. The little fellow will be delighted with a horseback ride. Who ever saw a boy that wasn't?"

"Of course he will, poor little dear. I expect he's had rather a sorry time of it, with only Thankful for company. He shall make all the noise he likes for the next two weeks."

Mrs. Morton instantly answered Miss Smith's letter, setting an early day for Harrie's visit.

The day arrived, and Nell, with one of the carriage ponies and his own handsome horse, started for the depot. In a few moments the train came thundering in, and the usual hurry and bustle ensued.

Nell vainly searched among the new arrivals for his little charge. There was a little boy with his nurse, and a big boy with his father; but no boy answering to the description of the one that Nell was in search of.

"Bear me!" he said in perplexity, "I do hope he hasn't been taken on with the train."

At that moment he espied a young lady whose wide open blue eyes wore a very anxious expression, as she searched the faces of those about her, in a vain attempt to find the one for whom she was looking.

Stepping up to her side, Nell lifted his hat politely, and asked if he could assist her in any way.

"I expected a young lady to meet me at this train, but I fear something has occurred to detain her," she said, with tears of vexation in her eyes.

And I came to escort a little boy, who has failed to put in an appearance, to my home," he said smiling. "If you will tell me the young lady's name, perhaps I may assist you in finding her residence."

"Her name is Miss Nell Morton," she answered.

"And the little boy I was to meet at the train was Harrie Smith!" exclaimed Nell, while his features went through a series of comical contortions, in a vain attempt to conceal the merriment which the ludicrous mistake stirred up within him.

"Are—you—Nell?"

Harrie looked up at the tall, handsome, broad shouldered young man in bewildered surprise, scarcely knowing whether to laugh or cry at the mistake.

"My name is Nelson, but mother always calls me Nell," he explained, pitying her evident embarrassment, "and you must be Harrie, whom mother sent me to meet. I shall have to take you into the ladies' waiting-room while I make some changes in my arrangements for conveying you home."

Procuring a hack, he placed her in it, and after giving the directions to the driver, he mounted his horse, and, taking the pony's bridle, he rode by the side of the hack, so that he might reach home in time to introduce Harrie to his mother, and relieve her of further embarrassment.

"It is all on account of the names," said kind Mrs. Morton, laughing heartily, as she kissed Harrie's flushed cheeks; "but I am ever so glad you are not a little boy, dear. I shall enjoy your society so much better.

"I shall break my heart over the disappointment," thought Nell as he cast admiring glances at the bright, animated face opposite.

"What would Aunt Thankful say if she knew?" said Harrie, as she stood before the mirror, letting down her long, golden brown hair, in the lovely guest chamber, where Mrs. Morton had left her, with a good night kiss still warm on her lips.

The room fitted up for the little boy's comfort stood unoccupied, and Harrie knew nothing of it, or of the chest of tools with which Nell had planned to purchase her affections.

"Such a lovely tie, and I bought it for Nell," she said, viewing the dainty article of lace and embroidery admiringly, "Just imagine this ornamenting his shirt front! Oh, dear, it is too funny." She laughed merrily. "I wanted it myself when I bought it, only I could not afford two, and now I have it," she added tying it about her white throat, and smiling at the pleasant effect. "I shall not write one word to Aunt Thankful about the mistake. I mean for once to enjoy myself. Mrs. Morton is such a darling old lady, and Nell is just splendid, if he is a man!"

The next two weeks were the brightest, happiest weeks of all Harrie's experience. There were such nice long talks with Mrs. Morton, while Nell was at his office, which I am sorry to say he neglected shamefully during these two joyful weeks.

There were carriage rides and boat rides, pic-nics and music, until Harrie's foolish little head was nearly turned with the pleasures she enjoyed; but the two weeks drew to a close at last, bringing a letter from Aunt Thankful, stating that she would be with them on the fifth.

Mrs. Morton and Harrie rode over to the depot in the carriage to meet her, and brought her back in the carriage between them.

"There's no use askin' how you've enjoyed your visit," said Aunt Thankful, glancing at Harrie's bright, happy face.

"I'm only afraid you'll never be contented with me again."

"Oh, yes, I shall,' said Harrie; "for I know that you are the dearest friend I ever had."

"Where is Nell!" asked Aunt Thankful after they had entered the parlor, and Mrs. Morton had seated her guest in a large easy chair.

"Nell was obliged to be absent this afternoon, and will not be home until tea-time," said Mrs. Morton, sending a mute despatch across to Harrie, who was obliged to leave the room instantly, while a convulsive tremor shook her entire form.

Harrie was coming down the stairs as Nell opened the front door, and their voices came floating down the long hall, and in through the back parlor door, which stood ajar, to where Aunt Thankful was sitting.

"Mehetable, who is that man talking to my Harrie?" asked she anxiously

At that moment Nell and Harrie entered the room together.

"Oh!" exclaimed Mrs. Morton, smiling complacently, "it's only Nell; Miss Smith, allow me to make you acquainted with my son Nelson. You didn't know I had such a great boy did you?"

"The mischief's done!" cried aunt Thankful, sinking helplessly into a chair, "but then, what can't be cured must be endured," she added, philosophically, while Harrie blushed rosy, and Nell laughed merrily.

"You thought I was a young lady, didn't you Miss Smith?" he said, coming over and seating himself beside her, and entering into a conversation in an easy and attractive way that quite won her lonely heart.

Aunt Thankful proved a true prophet in regard to the mischief which those two happy weeks had accomplished; but she often remarks that since Harrie must marry somebody (and pretty girls generally do) she is awfully glad that she chose a sensible young man like Nell.

VARIETIES.

"I feel for you deeply," said the hungry man, probing about in his soup bowl for a stray oyster.

Thousands are being cured of Catarrh every year with Hall's Catarrh Cure, that the doctors had given up and said could not be cured. 75 cents a bottle. Sold by J. McKee, Druggist, Peterborough. 28-2

A little girl, nine years old, having attended a soiree, being asked by her mother on returning how she enjoyed herself, answered—"I am full of happiness; I couldn't be any happier unless I could grow."

NEVER BE WITHOUT IT.—Tourists and all who are subjected to a change of climate, water, diet, &c., should never be without Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, the infallible for all Summer complaints. 28-2t

A patent has been taken out in St. John N. B., for cleaning fish by giving them snuff, when they sneeze their scales off.

O. E. Comstock, Caledonia; Minn. writes I was suffering the most excruciating pains from inflammatory rheumatism. One application of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil afforded almost instant relief, and two bottles effected a permanent cure.

An anti-beer drinking society has been formed in Denver. Over the entrance to their hall is inscribed, "Who enters here leaves hope behind."

M. Sheehan, of Oscoda,, Mich., writes: I have used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on horses for different diseases, and found it to be just as you recommended. It has done justice to me every time, and it is the best oil for horses I ever used,

A country editor who has been elected a measurer of bark, calls upon everybody owning dogs to bring them to his office and have their barks measured.

Mr. R. W. Carmichael, Chemist and Druggist of Belleville, under date of May 31st 1882, Writes as follows: "Your Burdock Blood Bitters have a steady sale, are patronized by the best families here and surrounding country, and all attest to its virtues with unqualified satisfaction. 28-2t

A young lady who didn't admire the custom in vogue among her sisters of writing a letter and then cross-writing it to illegibility, said she would prefer her epistles "without an overskirt."

Mr. H. McCaw, Custom House Toronto, writes: "My wife was troubled with Dyspepsia and Rheumatism for a long time; she tried many different medicines, but did not get any relief until she used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. She has taken two bottles of it, and now finds herself in better health than she has been for years."

Wouldst thou discover nature's true path to happiness? Listen to her first command—Labor! The hours fly swiftly to him who has daily occupation; a lifetime creeps slowly away with the idle.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the Summer and Fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaint, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required. 28-2t

All the virtues and joys of life grow up in labor; only through labor does a human being become truly man. Work and love—these are the body and soul of human being; happy is he with whom they are one.

The well known drug firm of N. C. Polson & Co., of Kingston, writes that Dr. Fowler's Extract of wild Strawberry has long been considered the best remedy for summer complaints in the market, and adds that their customers speak for the highest terms of its merits. Wild Strawberry is the best known remedy in Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and all Bowel Complaints. 28-2t

Wives have not invariably been courteously treated in life, but epitaphs are seldom quite as wanting in flattering unction as the following:

Here lies my dear wife, a sad slattern and shrew,
If I said I regretted her, I should lie too.

FUNCTIONAL HEART troubles are commonly the outcome of impaired general health from depraved nutrition, and are peculiar to nervous, irritable temperaments. Palpitation, intermitting, or irregular pulse, difficulty of breathing, and head symptoms are reflex or sympathetic from stomach derangements, especially that form of dyspepsia with acidity or heartburn, flatulence, irregularity of bowels, high-colored urine and brick dust deposit. Many of these cases have been entirely relieved by the prolonged use of WHEELER'S PHOSPHATES and CALISAYA, fortifying the nervous system and restoring the digestive apparatus to its normal activity.

A GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY

Is the Loss of

MANHOOD

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Local News Record.

REMEMBER the Baptist excursion to the Summit on Friday. Train starts at 10 o'clock.

AFTER three months of persistent neglect, that shameful Hunter Street crossing has been repaired.

REPAIRS and improvements are being made to Stevenson's storehouse, leased for this season by W. D. Matthews, Toronto, preparatory for the fall grain trade.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.—Rev. D. Tully, D. D., of Oswego, N. Y., a native of this county, his brothers now residing in Monaghan, filled the pulpit of St. Paul's church morning and evening last Sunday.

AMONG the letters patent, incorporating various North-West land colonization companies, are those incorporating Messrs. R. Jaffray, Toronto; G. A. Cox, of Peterborough; J. Preston, of Hamilton, and others as the "Hamilton Land Company."

THE MISSION SCHOOL.—Last Sunday, School services, in connection with St. John's Church, were held for the first time in the Mission School building, on Dalhousie Street. This will be a great convenience to very many living in the vicinity, who were prevented, by distance, from attending the church Sunday School.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The Traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending July 8th, 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and Mails, $7,090.16; Freight $16,075.67; Total, $23,165.83, as compared with $16,285.64, for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $6,880.19; and the aggregate traffic to date is $502,804.81, being an increase of $136,154.69 over 1881.

A Peterborough fleet of canoeists, consisting of Messrs. R. J. Kidd, J. C. Moffatt, J. H. Stevenson, W. H. Hill, A. Salter and John Miller, arrived in Kingston on Saturday. They left town on Tuesday and proceeded by way of the Otonabee, Rice Lake, Trent river and bay of Quinte. After a few days in the Limestone city they proceeded to the Thousand Islands. They took their canoes with them, and will pass about a month or six weeks in the terraqueous paradise of the St. Lawrence.

MIDLAND LOAN.—From a cable despatch to the Globe, we learn that "the Midland Railway Company of Canada invited subscriptions for £610,800 sterling consolidated mortgage bonds, bearing interest at 5 per cent., the principal being repayable in January, 1912. The purpose for which the loan is raised, as set forth, is to redeem the bonded debt of the original companies, and pay for the construction of thirty miles of the Toronto and Ottawa line." We are informed that the loan has been successfully floated.

LACROSSE CLUB EXCURSION.—The Lacrosse Club have chartered the Golden-Eye for an excursion down the river to Idyl Wild, on Thursday, August the 3rd. This will be the outing of the season. Two palace scows will be prepared for dancing, a good orchestra is engaged and everything arranged in the first class style, characteristic of the boys. The club have also in contemplation a more prolonged excursion at some future date, but arrangements are not yet completed.

THE FRUGAL NAVVY.—Those not acquainted with their thrifty, industrious and saving habits are doubtless surprised at the facility with which they amass wealth and become bloated aristocrats, and ornaments to society. To illustrate: Last Saturday was pay day on the Missing Link. At once the money was handed over, five gangs of men struck work and started for a holiday. They dropped their tools as suddenly as if they were uncomfortably hot, and marched away, singing:—

Throw down the shovel and the hoe
Take up the bottle and the bow!
There is no more work for the poor navees
Till the pile is spent or the bobbies seize.

A FORMER PETERBOROUGH FIRM.—Last week Mr. A. R. Clarke, of Toronto, brother of Dr. Clarke of this town, was here on a visit, and we were pleased to learn of his prosperity in business in Toronto. He is the senior partner of the firm of A. R. Clarke & Co., 23 Francis St., Toronto, tanners of fine leathers, etc., (late Clarke & Johnston, of Peterborough and Ashburnham.) They now employ in their continually expanding business, about twenty hands, of which about a dozen went them to Toronto from Peterborough. The manufacture includes all manner of fine leathers for book-binders, hatters, etc., and their trade is rapidly growing. The Journal of Commerce speaks of the firm and its business in high terms of praise.

THE GRIP SACK.—Our thanks are due the publishers, Grip Publishing Company, Toronto, for a copy of their new and promising venture "The Grip Sack." It is a most creditable production, its typography is of the first order and its literary and artistic features are far ahead of most of the current humorous publications. It is thickly studded with the artistic laughabilities of Grip. Its leading literary feature is a clever burlesque of that matchless monument of mendacity, the celebrated Baron. Munchausen, entitled "Baron Munchausen, Jr., in Manitoba," is most mirth moving. In fine, the Grip Sack is crammed as full as a woman's satchel of the best of good things in woodcut, witticism or cynicism. To be had at any bookstore for 25 cents.

ONE DAY LAST WEEK a lad named Jones fell from a shed in the southern part of the town and broke his arm.

STREET INSPECTOR Johnston's pay sheet for work done on streets amounted to only $228.94 for the fortnight ending last Thursday.

LAW ABIDING.—To show the peaceable condition of Peterborough, it may be stated that for the fortnight ending last Friday, there was not a single arrest made by our conservators of the peace, though both were industriously prowling around the town seeking whom they might arrest.

UNJUST BALANCES.—On Saturday, Mr. Cahill, Inspector of Weights and Measures, made seizures of several weights and measures that were not up to the legal standard. They were confiscated. With the present high prices, it is adding insult to injury to sell articles that are deficient in weight and measure.

GOING INTO CAMP.—The 57th has been notified that it will be required to go into camp of instruction on the 11th of September. The site of the Brigade Camp has not been made known, but it is likely to be Kingston. The 57th consists of six companies, including Capt. Howard's Hastings company, about which, however, there is some uncertainty, the arms of the company having been destroyed during the recent fire at that place.

MASONIC.—At the recent communication of the Grand Lodge of Canada in London, there were present from this district: Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, representing Corinthian Lodge No. 101; W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood Lodge 223, and J. Hull, Lakefield. Clementi Lodge 313. Mr. Hull was elected D.D.G.M. of the Ontario district. Mr. C. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk, is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Grand Chapter.

TEMPERANCE STRAWBERRIES.—Last Friday night Carswell Lodge of Good Templars held a festival at which the luscious strawberry was supposed to be the chief attraction. But those less gastronomic, derived equal, if not greater pleasure from the excellent literary and musical programme presented. Mr. Esterbrooke, W.C.T., occupied the chair, and gave a brief address, and dialogues, readings and recitations were contributed by Messrs. Russell, Tebb and Alles. Singing were supplied by Misses Bates, Garlick and Jeffrey, and Mr. Bates.

WEST RIDING AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—At a meeting of the West Riding Agricultural Society held a few days ago, the date of the exhibition was fixed for Tuesday and Wednesday, October 3d and 4th. The prize list was readjusted and the rules changed so as to admit of outside competition in the ladies' and fine arts departments. All membership fees not paid before the 15th of September will entail an extra fifty cents to entitle to exhibition. The grant of $50 made by the County Council towards a plowing match, was supplemented by a similar grant by the society.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PIC-NIC.—The excursion and pic-nic of the George Street Sunday School that took place last Friday was in every way a most gratifying success. There were between four and five hundred on the train which left the Midland station about seven o'clock. A delightful day was spent in a grove on the banks of the Trent, near Hastings, in the usual manner. With the exception of a lad named Joseph Metherell, who, while at play, sprained his ankle, all the excursionists reached home in safety in a good season, well satisfied with the success of the annual pic-nic.

QUADRUPEDAL CHICKEN.—Mr. Wm. Best, of Emily, is the owner of a phenomenal specimen of poultry. A brood of chickens, hatched the other day, contained one which is the proud possessor of four well developed legs. The legs are in a row from side to side. The chicken, which uses chiefly the outside pair, is lively and well. It should be killed at once. If it is allowed to grow up and become the father of a race of four-legged fowls, the amount of garden-scratching capacity thus developed, will raise the price of "garden sass" above even its present exorbitant figures.

PROMENADE BAND CONCERT.—The band concert held in the drill shed last Friday evening was, as far as music goes, a splendid success. The different numbers of the programme were rendered with an excellent effect, highly creditable to all the members of the band. But, unfortunately, there was not as good attendance as might have been expected. The public is generally willing and eager, even, to listen to the fine music of the Fire Brigade band, but which seems they are not willing, figuratively speaking, "to pay the piper." However, there were a large number of tickets sold that were not presented at the door, and the boys will realize for the instrument fund something substantial.

PROMPT.—On Wednesday the officers of Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters paid over to Mrs. Carlisle, widow of the late David Carlisle, the sum of $1,000, being the amount due her in respect of the endowment of Mr. Carlisle who was a member of the order, and also the sum of $30 as funeral expenses. This promptness of action speaks well for the excellence of this order as a beneficiary institution. Mr. Carlisle died on the 28th of June. Some delay was caused in getting proper official information of the death from Harwood, the matter had to pass through the usual routine of the High Court, yet the draft for the $1,000 left the High Treasurer's office on July 14th and arrived here on Monday last, but owing to the absence from town of the Chief Ranger of the local court, the money could not be paid over before Wednesday. Nothing earthly can compensate Mrs. Carlisle for the loss of her husband, but such prompt and practical sympathy will do much to lighten the burden of her bereavement.

ASSOCIATION CRICKET MATCH.—The match played on the Ashburnham grounds for the Association Cup, resulted in a rather bad defeat for the home team, which went first to the bat, and retired with a score of 15 only. Port Hope followed with a score of 89, without a single "round O" to their credit. The second innings of Peterborough was a great improvement, the total score reaching 61, leaving them, however, beaten in an innings and 13 runs. Their want of success is greatly due to the fact that four of the best players were not in the team—the relief bowlers and the best bat in the club. Perhaps want of hard, concerted practice might justly bear part of the blame. The club have a busy season's work before them. The matches for the cup must be played before the 10th of August, therefore the home club will have to play within that time the return match with Port Hope and two with Cobourg, one of which will be played here. Our boys only want a good deal of steady, systematic, all-round practice to enable them to give a good account of themselves. One of the team of last Tuesday said he hadn't had a bat in his hand for ten years. The best cricketer, without being in practice, cannot depend on himself.

The pensioneers of Peterborough were paid off on Friday last.

CRICKET.—The return cricket match between Peterborough and Lakefield took place on the village grounds on last Saturday. The home team scored an easy victory—in one innings, with 13 runs to spare. The first innings netted Lakefield only ten runs, Hartley's bowling downing two stumps before the scorer sharpened his pencil. The Peterborough's made a total of 82 to which Montgomery contributed fourteen and Hamilton twenty-one, with the honor of carrying his willow out. The second innings Lakefield totaled 59, of which the two Watsons' run up 47—31 and 16.

EXTENSIVE AUCTION SALE.—A large comprehensive sale of farm stock and implements, crops in the ground and household furniture will be held by Charles Stapleton on the estate farm of the late Patrick Doris, lot 17, 10th concession of Otonabee, on Friday next July 28th. The stock comprises four good horses, nine milch cows, one well bred bull, and other horned cattle, as well as sheep hogs and poultry. The farm implements comprise reapers and mowers, seed drills, horse rakes, land rollers, and all the other implements generally found on a well furnished farm. Other items of sale are, about forty-four acres of spring wheat, 9 acres of peas, and 20 acres of barley. Sale at 10 A. M.; luncheon at noon. Terms, cash for sums under $10; over that, 3 month's credit on good approved paper. A liberal discount for cash on sums over $10.

'A LANDMARK OF SMITH REMOVED.

THE LATE EDWARD FITZGERALD, SEN.

On Monday last, July 17th, the death of Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, sr., made a blank in the ranks of the pioneers of the township of Smith, the deceased having been a continuous resident of the township for over 50 years. He was born on the 7th of February, 1807, in the County of Limerick, Ireland, and came to Canada in the year 1825, and settled in the Township of Smith on the farm, lot 21 in the 5th concession, where he passed the remainder of his life, and where death found him last Monday. In 1831 he was married to Miss Jane Switzer, of Emily, Victoria County. The family that sprang from this union consisted of ten children, of whom all are living except one. The eldest, Gideon Fitzgerald, is living in Kansas. The next, T. E. Fitzgerald, J.P., is Deputy Reeve of Smith. Tobias, is the well-known carriage-builder of Peterborough. John is a farmer in the Township of Smith. William, of this town, is a builder, and was a partner in that business with the late David Carlisle. Martha Jane, the daughter, is wife of Mr. Matthew Sanderson, of Lindsay. Samuel, just home from Kansas for the summer. Robert is a carriage builder in Peterborough. James C., the youngest, is a photographer in South Carolina. In the matter of a family, deceased was singularly fortunate. He lived to see all his children grow up, respected, and in thriving circumstances; some of them filling positions of public trust. As, before stated, he lived his life on the homestead, and never had a day's sickness till his last illness, which can hardly be called such, for the vital forces seemed simply to collapse under the weight of years, and the weary wheels of life stood still. Deceased was an adherent of the church of England. His funeral, which took place on Wednesday, from the homestead, "Poplar Grove," to the Little Lake cemetery, was largely attended by friends and neighbors.

CENTRAL IRON WORKS.

NEW BLOOD—NEW VITALITY.

The infusion of new blood into the firm of McLean & Brayshaw, has resulted in the increased vitality of this now essentially live establishment. The advent of Mr. W. H. Law, a civil and mechanical engineer of extensive experience, gained in England, the United States, Asia and Africa, and his bringing to bear his scientific and practical knowledge and experience on the business of the Central Iron works has given this business an impetus, pleasing, not only to the firm, but to the town, which is deeply interested in the prosperity of local industries. The attention of the Central Iron Works will be devoted to general mechanical and engineering work and the manufacture of all kinds of machinery, including saw mill, saw gummers, iron bridges, bridge bolts and castings, locomotive turntables, architectural iron work, etc. To accomplish this aim, have been made to the machinery, and more are being added as fast as is consistent with filling the long list of orders the firm have on hand. They have now on file orders enough to keep them busy for six months, with their present staff, working, as they are now doing, 12 hours per day, and they are advertising for machinists and moulders. Their present orders include the machinery for the pulp mills, work for the Midland R. R., etc. They have contracted to build pumps for private water-works to be erected at Bobcaygeon, and also pumps for the pulp mills. It is the aim of the firm to extend their business beyond a merely local trade, and put themselves in a position to fill orders from every part of the Dominion. It is a to the town of Peterborough, that Mr. Law, who has had the opportunity of such extensive observation, should have selected Peterborough as the town possessing the best manufacturing facilities, and we trust the day is not far distant when others, seeing us in the same light, will, by the generous co-operation of local capitalists, be induced to establish the many other manufacturing industries for which we have abundant room and water power. With the necessarily inevitable decline of our lumbering business through exhaustion of forests, Peterborough must look to the establishment of manufactories to enable her to maintain the proud position of the premier town of the Dominion, which she is already possessed of.

PERSONAL.

Mr. John Carnegie left on Wednesday for a trip to the "Land o' cakes."

Mr. Richard Cluxton, of Emerson, Man., is home for a visit to Peterborough.

Mr. P. R. Randall, Mayor of Port Hope, was in town on Tuesday, the guest of the Choate House.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons in London Ont, last week, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, Peterborough, was elected D. D. G. M., for the Peterborough District.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, President of the Midland, who is now in England, will reach home about the 20th of August. He has secured passage for himself and family in a steamer that leaves Liverpool on the 10th of August.

BIRTHS.

KING.—In Peterborough, on July 16th, 1882, the wife of R. King M.D., of a son.

TATE.—At Lakefield, on Sunday July 9th, 1882, the wife of Mr. F. J. Tate, of a daughter.

DEATHS.

MORROW.—At Mount Pleasant, Cavan, on Saturday, July, 15th 1882, Archibald Morrow, aged 67 years.

FITZGERALD.—In the Township of Smith on Monday July 17th 1882, Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, Sr., aged 77 years and 7 months.

CALCUTT.—In Winnipeg, on the 9th inst., Louisa, daughter of Edward Calcutt, aged twelve years.

LANE.—On the 9th inst., at her residence 123 Donald St., Winnipeg, Euretta Amelia, wife of Charles Lane.

Remains taken to Syracuse N. Y., for interment.

HATTON.—At Harriston, Ont., on the 17th instant, John Arthur Wellesley Hatton, Barrister, brother of D. G. Hatton, Esq., of this town, aged 34 years. The funeral will leave St. John's Church, Peterborough, on Thursday, 20th, at 3 o'clock, p.m., and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

ORDERED

The Herald says that on Friday last, while Mr. Geo. McWilliams was working around a band saw, in Mr. Kincaid's mill, he met with a painful accident by his right hand coming in contact with the saw while in motion, cutting across the second joint in an angular shape, making an ugly wound.

On Saturday last Mr. Robert Ford, of Emily, had the thumb of his right hand severely cut while working around a mower. The wound was of such a nature that it was found necessary to have several stitches put in.

One day last week, as Mrs. Henry English, who lives on the North Road, was coming out of Mr. Ivory's store, in this village, she received a bad sprain of one of her ankles. She was taken into Mr. Ivory's, where she remained since the accident.

The Contented Man, Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

PROTECTION!

The undersigned would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Norwood and surrounding country that he has leased for a number of years, the Grist Mill belonging to Mr. N. H. Gould, on Colborne Street, Norwood, and is now prepared to carry on the

in all its various branches. The mill has just been enlarged and additions made to the premises that will add materially to its capacity and convenience. A large amount of new machinery, of the very latest improvements, has also been added to meet the requirements of the mill, which has received such a thorough renewing and refitting as the public may rely in future on all kinds of Gristing and Milling being performed in such a manner as to give entire satifaction in all its departments. Having had a large and varied experience in the gristing business in different parts of Canada, and having always been patronized with a large amount of Custom Gristing in in all its different branches, as has been a convincing proof of the quality of the work performed by him, he can confidently ask the patronage of the people of Norwood and vicinity. Flour and Mill Feed of all kinds kept constantly on hand. Farmers may rely upon having their Gristing home with them on the day brought to the mill. ☞A Call Respectfully Solicited.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

RAILROAD HUM.

The railroad hum which is now so vigorously humming in our midst is about the sole topic now engaging serious attention in our village. The fall of Alexandria, the wonderful work performed by Britain's fleet, the advance of the British troops to flay the Egyptians, or, to come nearer home, the dee discussions and considerable consideration of railway matters in our neighbouring village of Hastings, are topics totally eclipsed by the great interest taken in our railway by our villagers. A large staff of railway engineers and assistants are now quartered here to direct the work of construction of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, and on Saturday last Mr. F. S. McDonald, a contractor on the Canada Pacific Railway, and Mr. R. A. Sims, formerly a contractor on the Canada Atlantic Railway, were in Norwood making arrangements to go on with the construction of two sections of the former railway. Mr. McDonald has a five mile section commenced a couple of miles east of Norwood, extending through the village and about two miles beyond it. On Monday next he will commence work here with thirty men, and engage others as they become more plentiful. He is also renting buildings here for a residence and lodging his men in, so that Norwood, for some time to come, will be the centre of considerable business and activity. Quite a number of teamsters and other parties in the village are also realizing the benefits of the railroad hum. Mr. Sims inspected the five mile section extending from Mr. McDonald's, and will probably commence work in about a week or ten days. Both gentlemen state that the road will be easy of construction, and having had a lengthened and varied experience in railroad building on other important lines, their work on this road will no doubt be satisfactorily performed. We are glad that Norwood will shortly be in a position to reciprocate the kindness shewn them by our neighboring village Hastings, for the past year, in giving to our people railway transit, though only for a few miles; while on this line they will be provided with railway carriage from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The contracts so far let must be completed so that the road will be in complete running order by the first of August, 1883.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Henry Thistlethwaite, of Asphodel, met with a serious accident on Sunday week last. While the family were on the road driving to church, the tongue of the carriage became detached from the horses, and the vehicle coming suddenly to a stand-still, she was violently thrown out. Her left arm was seriously fractured at the elbow, and also dislocated at the shoulder, several of her ribs being broken too. Dr. Ford promptly rendered her medical assistance, and under his care, considering Mrs. Thistlethwaite's advanced age, she is recovering from the complicated injuries she sustained.

CHANGED HANDS.

Mr. J. Riseboro, tailor, has purchased from Mr. Bristow Moffatt the shop on Colborne street, now occupied by Mr. R. Wilson as a harness shop, and intends moving his tailor shop there, his present premises being too small to accomodate his increasing trade. This is another evidence of the growth of business in our village.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Brennan, of the Norwood House, owing to the pressing demands made of late upon his hotel accommodation, has been compelled to have a large addition made to his premises, and is making a renovation of the hotel generally. Large and commodious commercial rooms are being added to the south end of the building, as well as bedrooms and other rooms for the comfort of the travelling public. The whole building will be topped by a mansard roof, which will give the hotel a very attractive appearance, and altogether will reflect the highest credit on the enterprise of the proprietor of the place, Mr. M. Mullins.

HARVESTING.

Harvesting has pretty generally commenced in this vicinity, and will without doubt give the husbandman the largest and most profitable yield obtained for many years. Some fields of grain in our neighborhood attract particular attention by their thick and heavy growth. Several fields of barley and fall wheat, on the farm of Mr. E. Cronk, of Asphodel, have been specially praised by many old farmers on account of their splendid appearance and luxuriant growth, and he has been informed that crops of the same kinds of grain could hardly be found to beat them. The different crops ripening almost the same time has caused a great demand for harvest help, which is really very hard to obtain. As high as $40 per month and board has been offered to good hands, while some farmers have offered as high as $1 an acre for cutting grain. What with the demand for this kind of labor and the demand now for railway navvies, there is really a bright look out for the future for all classes of our people.

ACCIDENT.

Mr. Jacob Williams, of Belmont, met with a serious accident on Monday last. While on the top of a load of hay, he made an attempt to rescue a little child about to fall off the load, and in doing so lost his balance and fell to the ground himself breaking his arm below the elbow. Dr. Ford skilfully set the broken limb.

The Directors of the Toronto & Ottawa railway intend connecting with the Canada Atlantic at the Chaudiere, Ottawa, instead of running more direct Montrealwards. The Canada Atlantic is nearly completed from Coteau, on the St. Lawrence to Ottawa.

The mast for the steam shovel arrived from Toledo, where it has been for repairs, on Wednesday morning.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

ONEIDA.

On Wednesday last Mr. W. Redmond had one of his fingers badly bruised, and had a narrow escape of having his arm broken, while working around some machinery in Mr. Evans' foundry.

Mr. H. W. Sherwood, long and favourably known here for his good musical abilities on the cornet, is at present one of the performers on that instrument in the celebrated Gilmour's Band of New York city, the best on the continent.

COLBORNE.

The hay crop in this vicinity is reported light.

The new Baptist Church here has been formally opened. It is of brick well and substantially built. The total cost is $3,000, all of which is provided for, except $750.

Dugald Campbell, one of the oldest residents of this neighborhood, died the other day at the age of 86 years.

EMILY.

On the 11th of July Mr. John Wilkinson who lives on the 8th Concession had a span of horses taken from his place and locked up in a barn where they remained till the following Saturday without any thing to eat or drink, and on the morning of the 12th he found three of his sheep dead in a field. The perpetrator of this dastardly crime is deserving of an introduction to a "cat o' nine tails." We hope the guilty ones will be discovered and severely punished.

WARKWORTH.

A very sad accident occured in this vicinity last Friday night. A farmer named Foster Vanblaricome, while drawing in hay was knocked from the load while going into the barn. A scaffold, which was erected for the purpose of storing hay, gave way at the same time, falling upon the unfortunate man, crushing in his head. Up to a late hour Vanblaricame was alive, but the reports of Dr. Mallory, who is attending him, are that he will not recover, and has since died.

BOBCAYGEON.

Mr. Smiff has an eloquent tribute, in the last issue of the Independent, to the marvellous beauties and fine fishing of beautiful Bobcaygeon. As a summer resort "there are few places on the American continent that can equal it." If a girl desires to wear a fine dress it will find admirers, or if a man wishes to slosh about in his shirt sleeves, no loss of dignity is thereby sustained.

At the cricket match played here last week, between Lindsay and the home team, the latter distanced the visitors, the total scores standing, Bobcaygeon, 158; Lindsay, 78, a clean beat of eighty runs.

BELLEVILLE.

Mr. N. W. Brown, formerly of Brown & Patterson, agricultural manufacturers, has secured premises for a similar establishment, to be opened at once.

One day last week a single horse drew a ton and a half of cheese from Foxboro cheese factory to the Grank Trunk depot on one of the new iron wagons recently introduced into this county by Mr. Harford Ashley.

A woman named Barney, who was drunk, was badly outraged on Wednesday night by several roughs. The police are looking into the matter.

The Belleville Police force costs $3,300 per year.

FENELON FALLS.

Denison, Westcott & Co's private banking house, which commenced business in Fenelon Falls on the 1st of November, was closed last week.

Potato bugs have been so numerous that the Fenelon Falls' druggists' stock of paris green gave out the other day, and a farmer patiently waited in the village for a fresh supply, expected on the next train.

On Monday last there arrived at this village two thorough-bred Berkshire pigs, 3 months old, one for Mr. Archibald McArthur, of Fenelon, and the other for Mr. Jas. Gallagher, of Verulam. As proof that the little animals are first-class, it is only neccessary to state that they were purchased of Mr. John Millar, of Markham, the celebrated breeder of all kinds of farm stock, whose reputation extends from one end of this Province to the other.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Campbellford is exporting bones.

Mr. Keeler has added a "straw beater" to the machinery of his paper mill.

It is the intention of the Standard Bank to erect a new brick building for the bank here at an early day. A site has been selected, and the contract will be made immediately.

Diptheria is doing its deadly work in this village extensively.

The æsthetic female operatives of the Trent Valley Woollen Mills have filled the windows of the factory with flowering plants, which certainly cannot furnish much incentive to industry, seeing that the latter toil not, neither do they spin. Thus it seems that the most arduous toil and commonplace surroundings cannot destroy woman's love for the beautiful. The nature that can retain this love amidst the unconvenial surroundings of a dingy factory, has a greater capacity for good than many a heart that beats beneath a silken boddice.

After the completion of the new Presbyterian church, efforts will be made to have a minister stationed in Campbellford.

NORWOOD.

The good people of Alnwick carry out the law with Draconian severity. The other day a hen was impounded, and its owner failing to redeem it, the fowl was sold at auction, and the impounder awarded fifty cents for the damage committed by the predatory hen.

Six out of the ten pupils prepared by Mr. Dutton passed the entrance examinations.

Under the management of Mr. Askey the woollen mills are flourishing.

The Register says that as Mr. and Mrs. Thistlethwaite were driving to church last Sunday morning, the latter sustained probably fatal injuries. It appears that while driving along, the tongue of the carriage by some means became detached from the harness, and that Mr. T. turned the team into the fence to prevent them from running away; but, before reaching the fence, the tongue dropped, which brought the vehicle to such a sudden standstill that the occupants were thrown out. Mrs. Thistlethwaite had her shoulder dislocated and collar bone broken. She lies in a very precarious condition.

PORT HOPE.

The Port Hope cricket club will, on the 31st July and 1st of August, play a match with a picked team from Manitoba.

The Port Hope harbour commissioners have made a reduction of harbour dues on coal from 25 to 15 cents per ton.

Mr. Balderson, mathematical master of Port Hope High School, has resigned. He gave no reason for resigning, but it is surmised that he has received some government appointment.

An interesting case was, last Wednesday, tried in the police court here, which excited a great deal of comment. The Rev. Mr. McDermid, the esteemed pastor of the Baptist Church of this town, was summoned before the magistrate on a charge of abuse, preferred against him by an employee of Ambrose's brewery. Last Sunday the rev. gentleman from his pulpit spoke in deprecatory terms of circuses, horse-races, etc., and referred to the action of a councillor, (the plaintiff) who, at a meeting of the council recently, assailed several of the members for voting against the appropriation of a sum of money for horse-racing. After hearing the evidence, the magistrate promptly dismissed the case with costs to the plaintiff. A great deal of sympathy is expressed for Mr. McDermid.

Mr. Charles Rathburn, of Centerville, received $900 arrears of pension from the United States Government on Monday. He is to receive $1,000 more within two months, and has also been placed on the regular list. He was wounded at "Bulls-Run."

Port Hope has a night policeman to watch rowdies.

COBOURG.

The schooner Nellie Hunter cleared for Ashtabula on Saturday night with about 400 tons of iron ore. This is the first shipment from this port for several years.

On Sunday morning, Mr. William Sayers, a well known resident of this town, a gardner, died after a short illness. He was a brother of Tom Sayers, the once celebrated English pugilist.

There will be two excursions from Cobourg to Rochester, by stermer Norseman, under the auspices of Fountain Hose Company No. 1. These will take place on the evening of August 16th, and the morning of August 17th,—the latter being the Cobourg Civic Holiday; and they will furnish an opportunity of witnessing the grand Firemen's Demonstration in Rochester on the 17th. Remember, these excursions will leave Cobourg harbour, and the return fare will be only $1.50.

The Oddfellows have got their room furnished, and it is as pretty as a picture. The seats are spring, and all upholstered in crimson rep, while the woodwork is appropriately decorated with emblematic designs af the order. The principal chairs are very gorgeous ones, and the thought of occupying them, will no doubt, tend to make many aspirants for the N. G. and V. G. The chandelier is a very beautiful one, costing nearly a hundred dollars, and was supplied by Bro. Gillard. The furniture was supplied by Mr. Gawans, and its beauty, and general excellence, does him much credit.

THE CAR WORKS.—The Sentinel-Star says that Mr. Crossen is turning out a large number of superior passenger cars. He has just completed one for the Canada Pacific Railway, which is a model.

On Friday morning the flour and plaster mill of Mr. Poe, situated in the extreme western section of the town was discovered to be on fire; and although the firemen did all in their power and had plenty of water from the dam, the fire had gained too much headway before the fire brigade arrived, and the whole was consumed. The fire is supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion of mill dust. There was an insurance of $13,000 on the property destroyed; $8,000 on the building and $5,000 on contents.

LINDSAY

Mr. John T. Beach of lot 12, 5th con. of Somerville, had all the outbuildings attached to his dwelling house destroyed by fire Saturday night last. Tramps. Insurance $150.

A petition is in circulation to have Lindsay's civic holiday on the 10th Aug.

Plate glass will shortly replace the present windows of Spratt & Killen's store. Workmen are taking out the old sash.

The material has been purchased and arrangements made by the Midland authorities to have a large and convenient platform erected at Hutton's grove, adjoining the railway track. This will be a great convenience for pleasure parties leaving the train at that spot.

The "new process" or Hungarian method of grinding in Needler & Sadler's mill has become so popular that farmers for miles around—from as far off as Carden and Somerville—are coming in to get their gristing done. Several more new process rollers will have to be put in.

A party of young fellows from Port Hope passed through town Thursday afternoon. They go by canoe through the chain of lakes down to Lakefield, serving an apprenticeship to the paddle on the placid Scugog of the first twelve miles. The certainty of a pleasant trip is before them.

The $5,000 cut to shorten the water route between here and Sturgeon lake is getting along speedily. The advantage to the boats towing timber will be very great. As it now is the water stretch around the bend is the worst on the river and during a breeze of any strength both vessel and timber generally go aground. Then when the winds go down much work with rising barometer and bad language over that region.

A fire was discovered Sunday morning in the woods on Tulley's farm, on the upper end of Lindsay street. Twenty-five cords of hardwood were burned and much damage done otherwise. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The carrying capacity of the new palace scow recently built by Capt. Bottum to run between Lindsay and Bobcaygeon, was fully tested on Wednesday the 12th, by bringing the large number of 425 passengers thereon.

PETEBBOROUGH, JULY 27, 1882.

Notes of the Day.

Sir Rowland Hill has been honored by the erection of a statue to his memory which was lately unveiled by the Prince of Wales. It stands at the east corner of the Royal Exchange, London, and was erected by public subscription. The statue is bronze, nine feet in height, the pedestal being granite, and the height nearly the same. The artist was Mr. Onslow Ford, and the cost was $9,000. The inscription is as follows:—"Rowland Hill, He founded uniform Penny Postage, 1840." Such a man is certainly worthy of lasting remembrance, for he has rendered inestimable benefit to the whole British Empire.

Complaint is made that the aristocratic denizens of Pimlico, London, are finding their houses scarcely habitable owing to excessive vibration from the passing trains on the underground railway. It appears that the use of the continuous brake produces this constant vibration, and as the houses are of the flimsiest and most unsubstantial character possible, there is no little danger or fear that they may fall. Few parts of London are free from vibration. Tramcars, chimes, even the rumble of the market carts causes many a tremor like a small earthquake, and creates confusion and dismay among unaccustomed visitors. The builders alone can remedy this, and their duty is to do so. This vibration is one of the penalties of a great city and nothing but substantial structures can lessen it.

The channel tunnel has caused not a little discussion among the savants and military celebrities of England. Newspaper articles and strictures in periodicals of all kinds have been frequent enough during the last few months. It has not always been very sensible we must admit. On the contrary, much that has been said against the tunnel is absurd in the highest degree. A common-sense view of the matter has been taken at last. The workingmen's conference of London recently adopted resolutions declaring that the tunnel would be the means of increasing the trade and promoting good feeling between France and England, that fears of invasion were groundless, and that the Government should be called upon to remove any impediment to its completion. The question is to be kept alive by public discussion, and a series of meetings for the purpose is announced.

Cremation is not meeting with much favor among the general public. Even Garibaldi's fervent wish, that his body should be cremated, could not be carried out. Practical difficulties, it is said, stood in the way of the Italian patriot's last will and testament being fulfilled. From a sanitary point of view certainly there is little question as to the superiority of cremation over burial. The cost, which hitherto has been a difficulty, seems likely to be settled shortly also. M. Keller, of the Milan Monumental Crematory, states that from fifteen to twenty-five francs only are charged for consuming a body at the "institution" over which he presides. The operation, he states, only lasts an hour and can be watched through glazed openings in the furnace by the mourners, who can afterwards carry away the ashes of their deceased relatives. Popular dislike and unreflecting prejudice must yield to a wider knowledge of the advantages of cremation versus burial, in days to come.

The Examiner recently gave some statistical returns respecting the census in a few Irish counties. Since their publication we have further returns to hand, from which we glean the following particulars about the County of Antrim. The population of the entire county in 1881 was 421,943, being an increase of 17,928 over the previous census, or an increase of 4.4 per cent. The number of families in the county at that date was 83,615, made up of 196,774 males, and 225,169 females. The religious returns are as follows:—Roman Catholics, 108,344; Church of Ireland, 98,161; Presbyterians, 183,940; Methodists, 11,842; all other denominations, 10,447; information refused, 179. The percentage of total population at the time was, Roman Catholics, 25.7; Church of Ireland, 23.3; Presbyterians, 43.6; Methodists 2.8; all others, 4.6. There was a decrease in the number of Roman Catholics, and an increase in all the other religious bodies, the rate for the Church of Ireland being 10.4; Presbyterians, 1.2; Methodists, 20.4. The percentage of illiterate persons fell from 26.5 in 1871, to 22.6, in 1881. The number of emigrants from the county for the previous decade was 59,431, while in the ten years ending in 1881, the number was 54,670. The number of births recorded in the county for the ten years preceding March, 1881, was 125,189, and the deaths 86,592, showing a natural increase of 38,597, which, however, fails to equal the loss by emigration. The present population of Belfast is 208,122. In 1871 it was 174,412. In the town there are 59,975 Roman Catholics; 58,410 Irish Church members, and 9,141 Methodists.

The Syrian Colonization Fund is the latest effort on foot for the amelioration of the distressed and persecuted Russian Jews. The Earl of Shaftesbury is President, and the Viscountess Strangford, Lady President. It is not in any way to interfere with the Mansion House fund, (which is merely eleemosynary in act and purpose) but is to be managed entirely by Christians, and its object is to aid the Russian Jews to settle in Syria. The promoters also purpose to assist with loans those Jews who may be desirous of settling in Syria, enabling them to purchase land, buildings, agricultural implements, &c. It is said that many of the Russian Jews are possessed of capital and that numbers of them are intensely anxious to settle in Palestine. In north Syria they will, while subject to the laws of the country, be absolutely free to enjoy, uninfluenced, their own laws and regulations, civil and religious, and so will have sufficient opportunity to exhibit their ancient capacity for steady industry and sobriety and active business habits. Not less than 100,000 families among the Jews in Russia, have lost all and are homeless, and these, it is calculated, would require not less than a million of money to feed, clothe and succour them in the present distress. Pillage, torture, death and dishonor have been inflicted on Jews—men, women and children, by professing Christians. It seems only right that under such circumstances their appeal to Christians should not only evoke moral sympathy but active and generous help. And such as that proposed by this organization is the best, because it is not indiscriminate and gratuitous relief.

In many respects Russia is supposed to be, and is, very far behind the age. In fact it is a country which, in the general estimation, is only emerging from barbarism. But in one particular we fancy it leads the way, and older countres might well profit from its example. We refer to the mode in which the liquor traffic is there regulated. Instead of experimenting with prohibition as they do both in the States and Canada, they have a plan which meets the difficulties in the way of checking intemperance exceedingly well. Their law is that there must only be one liquor shop in a village, and where two or three villages are contiguous, this one shop must suffice for their combined inhabitants. In addition to this wise restriction, the shop keeper must be a native of the village, must be appointed and paid by the Common Council, and must provide meals as required, in addition to the lighter and more refreshing beverages. If he allows any person to get intoxicated on his premises he is not only liable to instant dismissal but to fine and imprisonment. If any village is reported to the authorities to be addicted to drunkenness, the sale of liquors may be interdicted for as long a period as may seem necessary.

Our Northwest.

Every day furnishes additional and gratifying evidence that Canada, in purchasing the immense possessions of the Hudson Bay Company for a comparatively mere song, got the big end of the bargain. Its fertility and the extent of the cultivable area far surpasses the most sanguine of the expectations formed at the time of the purchase, in 1870. The intense cold of the winters has been somewhat of a bugbear, but experience has proven that they are not so formidable as tradition and report would have us believe. That they are not so severe as to interfere with the successful prosecution of agricultural and stock-breeding pursuits has been abundantly proved. The Canadian Pacific Railway company has prepared a full report of the crop prospects in Manitoba and the Northwest the present season. The report as published, shows a largely increased area of land under cultivation, and indicates that the harvest will be exceedingly bountiful. The immense emigration of the past spring has gone mostly west of Winnipeg, but their arrivals have been too late to accomplish anything considerable in the way of farming. From the month of January to July there have been added to the population of the Northwest over thirty thousand persons, and of these the majority is largely Canadian. This is gratifying. If the solid yeomanry of Ontario are the pioneers in settlement and get a firm footing in the country, they are a class that will mould the community after the pattern of enterprise and solid and steady go-aheadativeness of Ontario. The settlement of the country will be greatly retarded, it is to be feared, by the unwisdom of the Governmental land policy, whereby immense tracts are locked up in the hands of private individuals and corporations, thus restricting the choice of the settler or compelling him to pay for his farm a high price, instead of permitting him to devote the extra outlay to the more speedy improvement and development of his property. The only proper way of facilitating the settlement of the great Northwest is by the adoption of Mr. Blake's motto, "the land for the settler, and the price for the people."

NEWS CONDENSED.

The Canadian Press Association will visit Manitoba in August.

An earthquake at Yantepren, Mexico, destroyed a church, killing forty-four persons.

Viscount Monck, formerly Governor-General of Canada, will be the fourth Land Commissioner under the Arrears Bill.

Mr. John White, the well-known ex-official assignee, of Montreal died suddenly on the 20th, at the residence of Mr. Graham, Huntington.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ranks first as a curitave agent in all complaints peculiar to women. Cures Kidney trouble of either sex.

The two Belanger children, of St. Julie, who were missing, were on Thursday found in the woods, almost dead from thirst. They were gone four days and four nights.

The first passenger train in Ottawa over the line of the Canada Atlantic Railway reached Ottawa on the 20th. The whistle of the locomotive can now be heard in the city.

A young lady at Riverside Suburb, Toronto, was badly stung about the head and neck, by bees which were attracted by the profuse trimmings of artificial flowers on her hat.

An American despatch says that the business men of Buffalo are becoming seriously alarmed at the increasing diversion of the traffic from the American route to that via Montreal.

Rev. Father de Carnfel, of Mount Carmel, Quebec, shot a bear on Tuesday last. The bear showed fight, and was about to close with the Rev. gentleman, when a ball from his gun laid it low.

A propeller has arrived at Montreal with the first cargo of new American wheat of this season. The cargo consists of some sixteen thousand bushels of red winter, which is of excellent quality, weighing 62 pounds to the bushel.

A project is on foot to construct a canal connecting Lake Superior with the rivers of the Canadian Northwest. Forty miles of canal, it is claimed, will give connection with the Red, the Assiniboine and the Saskatchewan Rivers.

For the past four or five years the Thomson steamship Company has run a steamship from the Mediterannean, direct to Montreal with a cargo of fruit. The trade has increased to such an extent that the Company will have to put two of their largest vessels on the route this fall.

The published statement of the receipts of railways for the six months ending June 30th shows that the Grand Trunk receipts in that time fell off $44,310 as compared with the same period last year. In the same time the Great Western receipts fell off $171,446 as compared with the same period last year.

The Grand Trunk Company intend opening, on Monday next, another portion of their Georgian Bay and Lake Erie division from Tara to Wiarton, the latter station being on Colpoy's Bay out of which a line of steamers will run to the Sault and Lake Superior. The new stations are Tara, Allenford, Hepworth and Wiarton.

The latest addition to the Montreal fleet, the steamship Cornwall, of the Great Western Steamship Company's line between Montreal and Bristol, arrived in port on the 21st. The Cornwall is 2,200 tons register, is fitted up with all the latest appliances for handling cargo, and specially fitted up for the cattle and perishable goods export trade.

The navigation of the Gulf is as yet far from being free from danger through the the ice. Captain Battersby, of the Ross Line SS, Ocean King, which arrived in Montreal on the 20th, states that he saw a great deal of heavy ice off the eastern edge of the Newfoundland Bank. He encountered a number of icebergs about Cape Race, and saw several between Cape Race and Cape St. Mary about 12 miles off the coast.

The reaction that set in early in the spring in Winnipeg real estate has again given way. A brisk demand exists for eligible lots for building purposes at legitimate figures. Parties who bought in December and January on six months-time are making the payments promptly. No such "boom" as existed last fall and winter will ever be seen again, as property now has reached a price beyond which no prudent investor will dare to venture.

The Muskoka election perplexity is not yet set at rest, although it has been before the Judge of this County for three days past for settlement. The recount has resulted in a tie between the candidates, with the reserved decision of the Judge upon certain written and disfigured ballots. The rejection of the written ballots will give Mr. Miller a majority of fifteen, but their acceptance, and the rejection of the disfigured ballots will elect Mr. O'Brien by a still larger majority. The election law very clearly points out, however, that the ballots must be printed.

SUDDENLY SEIZED.

Mr. Arthur Fisher, of the Toronto Globe observes: "On my last trip to the States, I caught a very bad cold from a severe wetting I received one night in the city of Philadelphia, which settled into a very bad cease of rheumatism, and made me most miserable. I did not know what to do for it, and could not think for a long time, until I bethought me, that on previous visits to that side, I had always bought Mr. Gay, of our paper, a couple of bottles of St. Jacobs Oil. I remembered also fortunately, that the last two bottles had cured that gentleman of the rheumatism and so I resolved to purchase St. Jacobs Oil for my own use. I went at once to a drug store and made the purchase; that very night I began applying the Oil, and in two weeks time I was as well as ever"

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as many of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Brampton Kissing Carnival.

THE CASE COLLAPSES.

Rev. Mr. Willoughby Innocent of Ordinary Indiscretions—A Passage with his Front Gir—Curious Charges and Counter-charges by Pastors and Their Wives—"Pa and Ma are Away: Come and We'll Have a Heavenly Time."

The celebrated church scandal at Brampton has made considerable excitement all over the province and the following from the Mail of Thursday furnishes the closing chapter of this extraordinary ecclesiastical starchamber matter.

On Wednesday the committee appointed to try the charges against the Rev. Mr. Willoughby, Methodist minister, of Brampton, gave judgment, declaring that the charge had not been sustained.

The following are some particulars of the evidence given at the trial :—

THE CHARGE.

The specific charge laid against Mr. Willoughby was that he had been guilty of improper conduct towards Miss Georgie Graham by kissing her on several occasions against her will. The chief witnesses for the prosecution were Mrs. Star, formerly Miss Georgie Graham, and her husband, the Rev. J. E. Star, of Winnipeg.

THE COMPLAINANT'S CASE.

Mrs. Star testified that Mr. Willoughby was staying in her father's house on Sunday, the 11th. of July, 1880, and that in the afternoon he took her by the wrists and kissed her forcibly against her will, whereupon she fled from the room and would not see him until the next day. On the following afternoon, when they were in the room together, he repeated the offence. The next day she telegraphed for Mr. Star, who arrived on the following day. That night, after Mr. Willoughby had retired, she told Mr. Star what he had done. Mr. Star was very angry, and but for her entreaties would have put him out of the house. On the following evening, while Mr. Star was closing the shutters, he looked round and saw Mr. Willoughby again kiss the young lady. But he (Mr. Star) was so disgusted that he said nothing about it, but allowed Mr. Willoughby to go up stairs, which he did quickly. She also testified that the offence was repeated on two occasions afterwards.

MR. STAR'S TESTIMONY

was to the like effect. He said that Mr. Willoughby left the room so quickly on the occasion when he was present that he did not speak to him, and nothing was said between Mr. Willoughby and Mr. Star about the occurrence to this day.

THE DEFENCE.

Evidence was given to show that one member of the congregation who, it was said, was taking an active part in the prosecution, was prompted by animus against Mr. Willoughby. It was alleged that when the minister first went to Brampton George Graham was his friend. He and his family pressed Mr. Willoughby to remain at their home, while he would have preferred staying elsewhere. After a few months the member of the congregation referred to gained Mr. Graham over to his side, and at the closing quarterly meeting of the year they both treated the minister very unkindly. At the commencement of the second year that gentleman told different people that he knew of something wrong in the minister's conduct, but would not tell them what it was just now but would tell them by-and-bye. This the defendant believed to have been held back to the close of the year, when it was used as a force to send the minister from the circuit. In March last Mr. Graham sent Mr. Willoughby a letter

ACCUSING HIM OF IMPROPER CONDUCT

while staying in the writer's house a year and eight months before, and calling upon him to leave the circuit or he would expose him. The minister refused to leave the circuit under those circumstances, challenged Mr. Graham to an investigation, and told him the means by which an investigation could be had. The people, learning that such an attempt was being made to remove him from the circuit, circulated a petition for his retention, which was signed by almost the entire congregation, although they generally knew the charges that Mr. Graham had made against him. Mr. Graham, it was affirmed by the defence, during the conference used these charges as a threat, and endeavored to get Mr. Willoughby to remove. The latter, however, said he would not remove, and that he would prefer to have and his character cleared in the place where the accusations had been made.

Another point pressed by the defence was, Mrs. Star's continued intimacy with Mr. Willoughby after the time when the offence was said to have been committed. It was shown that on the Saturday and Sabbath subsequent to the time when those offences were said to have been committed she was in the parsonage, and treated Mr. Willoughby as her most intimate friend. It was shown by a young minister, who was an inmate of the parsonage for six weeks soon after the occurrence, that between 20 and 50 times in those six weeks, that subsequently in Mrs. Willoughby's absence Miss Graham visited the parsonage at least nine times in less than a month. This was sought to be substantiated by records in the diary of one of the inmates. In special services subsequently held in the church Miss Graham was one of the minister's and showed entire confidence in him. She continued a member of his class. In the house of a friend of Mr. Willoughby she declared that there never had been a minister in Brampton whom she esteemed as she did Mr. Willoughby, both as a man and a minister. Much more testimony was given in the same direction. Another part of the defence was directed to showing that the young lady's word was unreliable.

Evidence was given to prove

AN ALIBI.

Mrs. Star stated that the first offence was committed on Sabbath, the 11th July, 1880. By many witnesses the minister's whereabouts was shown from half-past ten in the morning until half-past ten at night on that day, and the only opportunity for such an offence to have been committed was between half-past five and half-past six in the evening, part of which time he was said to have been in the parsonage, and another part he was occupied in going from the parsonage to the church. It was also stated that on that evening he took no tea, and therefore did not require to be in Mr. Graham's house. The service commenced at 6.30, and at its close Miss Graham was declared to have been waiting for the minister at the door of the church to accompany him home, and to two witnesses she was said to have testified her regret that he had gone home with another family instead of with her. This evidence was adduced to show that he could not have given her any grievous insult on the afternoon of that day. The second offence was placed by the complainant as on Monday afternoon, 12th July. Testimony was brought forward to show that the minister was in the company of Mr. Sutliffe or members of his family from eleven in the morning until eight in the evening of that day; before which time the Rev. Mr. Star had come to visit the lady, and was in her company during the evening. This testimony was strengthened by correspondence which was found previous to the trial, showing Mr. Willoughby's whereabouts during the hours of that entire day, and showing that Mr. Sutliffe was introducing him to members of his congregation during that day. For the prosecution, Mr. Star testified that on Wednesday evening, 14th July, 1880, he and Miss Graham and Mr. Willoughby were in the room together; that he went to close the shutters, and looking over his shoulder he saw Mr. Willoughby kiss Miss Graham, and then quickly run upstairs to retire for the night.

MRS. WILLOUGHBY TESTIFIED that either on Wednesday or Thursday evening she was in company with these three persons in a room in Mr. Graham's house. Mr. Star was closing the shutters, and Mr. Willoughby and Miss Graham were engaged in some act of familiarity in her presence, but not kissing; Mr. Star turned round and said, jocularly, "Take your hands off that lady," or something to that effect; and the conversation continued as free and pleasant as before. It was further stated by Mrs. Willoughby and members of her family that Mr. Willoughby did not go upstairs in Mr. Graham's house at all that evening, and did not remain in the house, but that Mrs. Willoughby and her daughter slept together there, and Mr. Willoughby slept in the parsonage with his son.

ANOTHER WITNESS

testified that on the Saturday previous to Miss Graham's marriage she told the witness that Mr. Star never saw Mr. Willoughby kiss her; but that he did see some act of familiarity which led him to make use of such words as those stated by Mrs. Willoughby. The defence also laid stress upon

DISCREPANCIES IN THE COMPLAINANT'S TESTIMONY.

Three witnesses testified that she had told them the offence was committed only once, whereas in her testimony she charged Mr. Willoughby with having committed it five times. Three witnesses testified that she had told them that no one ever saw Mr. Willoughby kiss her. One witness testified that more than a year ago Mrs. Star told her of the occurrence, and said that she had at the time told her father, who for it, but witness affirmed that her father never had heard of the occurrence till a few weeks before the trial; about the time he sent Mr. Willoughby the letter before mentioned. The complainant stated to two witnesses before the trial that when the first offence was given she had telegraphed to Peterboro' for Star to come and protect her. It was proved that this telegram was sent previous to the Sabbath on which the first offence was said to have been committed.

"COME AND HAVE A HEAVENLY TIME."

Mr. Willoughby challenged the complainant to bring forward the telegraph books, saying they would substantiate his statement. It was declared by the defendant that the telegram was as follows :—

"Pa and ma are away; come quickly, we will have a heavenly time."

The defence argued that this showed that the lady's desire was to have Mr. Star's company. In describing the time when Star was said to have seen the occurrence, Mrs. Star said that she was lounging on a sofa, and Mr. Star was at the window, and Mr. Willoughby rose from a chair and came and KISSED HER QUICKLY.

On the other hand, Mr. Star said that Mr. Willoughby was on the sofa, and Miss Graham in a rocking chair, and that Mr. Willoughby rose from the sofa and went to the rocking chair and kissed her. The discrepancy was pointed out for the defence. There had been between Miss Graham and Mr. Willoughby; one in December, 1880, the other in March, 1881. These alienations the complainant attributed entirely to the acts stated in the charge. For the defendant witnesses were called who were conversant with the causes of those alienations, and by those to whom she had previously related the facts, to show that this charge had nothing whatever to do with the alienations.

It was alleged that she had told at least two persons previous to the trial that Mr. Willoughby had never kissed her at all.

This closed the defence, and the case was then considered by the committee, with the result that Mr. Willoughby was acquitted on the charges.

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint culminating in jaundice, is literally "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act, is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this symptom there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache, impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade, dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaint are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers humours, female weakness, jaundice, and lumbago. It tones the stomach, rouses the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price, $100. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Liver Complaint.

Is rather an indefinite term. As commonly understood it consists of a torpid, sluggish state of the liver, a deficiency or a superabundance of bile, or an alteration from its proper character. All disturbed action of the liver and biliary organs giving rise to pain in the side, or under the shoulder blade, headache, weariness, dizziness, sick stomach, loss of appetite, bad bowels, &c., are promptly cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. 30-2t

THE NEW NORTH-WEST.

Under this heading appears an article, very complimentary to the fertility and prospects of our great North-West, in the August number of Harper's Monthly. Considering the hostility of the Harpers to anything British, the complimentary nature of the article is particularly valuable :—

Far away in the North-West, as far beyond St. Paul as St. Paul is beyond Chicago, stands Winnipeg, the capital of Manitoba, and the gateway of a new realm about to jump from its present state of trackless prairies, as yet almost devoid of settlement, to the condition of our most prosperous Western States. Here, bounded on the south by Dakota and Montana, west by the Rocky Mountains, north and east by the great Peace River and the chain of lakes and rivers that stretch from Lake Athabasca to Winnipeg, lies a vast extent of country, estimated to contain 300,000,000 acres, or enough to make eight such States as Iowa or Illinois. Not all of it is fertile, it is true, yet it may be safely said that two-thirds of it are available for settlement and cultivation.

In fact, the extent of available land in these new countries is apt to be underestimated, for if the traveller does not see prairies waist deep in the richest grass, he is apt to set them down as barren lands; and if he crosses a marsh he at once stamps it as land too wet for cultivation. Those, however, who remember the early days of Illinois and Iowa have seen lands then passed by as worthless swamps now held at high prices as the best of meadow-land. This is a land of rolling prairies and table-lands watered by navigable rivers, and not devoid of timber.

Its climate is hardly such as one would select for a lazy man's paradise, for the winters are long and cold, and the summers short and fiercely hot, though their shortness is in some measure compensated for by the great length of the midsummer days. Nevertheless, it is a land where wheat and many other grains and root crops attain their fullest perfection, and is well fitted to be the home of a vigorous and healthy race. Manitoba, of which we hear so much now, is but the merest fraction of this territory, and, lying in the south-east corner, is as yet the only part accessible by rail. * * *

Over this vast region, and indeed all that lies between it and the Arctic Ocean, for two hundred years the Hudson Bay Company exercised territorial rights. Till within a few years it was practically unknown except as a preserve of fur-bearing animals; and prior to 1870 it was hard to find any information as to its material resources or its value. The Company discouraged every attempt that threatened to interfere with the fur-bearing animals or the Indians who trapped them; still it became known that some of this vast region was not utterly worthless for other purposes; the soil looked deep and rich in many places, and in the western part the buffalo found a winter subsistence, for the snow was seldom deep, and in the pure dry air and hot autumnal sun, the grasses, instead of withering, dried into natural hay. The early explorers, too, had brought back reports of noble rivers, of fertile prairies, of great beds of coal, of belts of fine timber. But what cared the company for these? The rivers, it is true, were valuable as being the homes of the otter, the mink, and other fur-bearing animals, and furnished fish for their employees, and highways for their canoes. For the rest they had no use. At last, in 1870, seeing that they could no longer exclude the world from these fertile regions, the Hudson Bay Company sold their territorial rights to Canada, which now began to see its way to a railroad across the continent, to link the colonies from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. * * *

Now it is evident that the growth of this region will be rapid, probably more rapid, indeed, than that of our own Western States that lie beyond the lakes; for in them there had been a slow but steady increase of population from a comparatively early day, and when the railroads began to gridiron the country from the great lakes to the Rocky Mountains, the States east of the Missouri already possessed a considerable population.

In the new North-West, however, we see a land that has remained isolated from the rest of the world, untrodden except by the Indian or the trapper, suddenly thrown open for settlement, and on terms as liberal(?)as those offered by our government or land-grant railroads.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is already completed 150 miles west of Winnipeg, which is already connected with our North-Western railroads, and it is hoped, not without reason, that another 500 miles will be completed toward the mountains the present year. To build two or even three miles a day across such a country as this division traverses would be no extraordinary feat in modern railroading. Branches too, north and south, will be rapidly constructed, not to accommodate existing traffic, but to create it. Now it seems as if nothing short of some financial panic, some gross blundering or stupidity, could delay the construction of the railroad, or check the flood of immigration that must surely pour in.

Can it be that, with the government Canada enjoys, one as free and fully as democratic as our own, the shadow of monarchy will delay the occupation of this land by other races than that of the Briton?

Here we shall have a chance to see how Canadian enterprise compares with our own. The Northern Pacific Railway has its agents far and wide trying to induce settlers to purchase its lands and furnish traffic for its lines. The two railroads are not far apart, and the Canadians have quite as good, if not better, lands to offer. Will they be as energetic, as successful, as their cousins across the line?

The climate of this region is far from what one would expect from its northern latitude. While it cannot be said to be entirely safe from frosts as far north as Dunvegan, in latitude 56°, there is seldom any from the middle of May till September, and even the tender cucumber attains maturity. Wheat, barley, and vegetables ripen every season at the various posts along the Pearl River. Wheat ripens even as far north as Fort Simpson, in latitude 62°, while wheat and barley from the Lake Athabasca district took a medal at the Centennial. These crops, it is true, have been raised on the bottom-lands along the river; and though the table-lands on each side are several hundred feet higher, they are protected by that very elevation from those late and early frosts everywhere prevalent on low-lying bottom-lands.

A Scold from the Organ.

Respecting an article that appeared in a late issue of the home organ of the Tory government, the expression, "it makes a great difference whose ox is gored," might aptly be varied into "it makes a great difference who does the goring." If any Reform journal had presumed to read a lecture to the Dominion Government, similar to that appearing in the Review as alluded to, that mild-mannered sheet would have broken forth with one of the tirades of select hard names, for which it has evidently a copyright. No word of the Review's strong language would have been strong enough to characterize the "villainous baseness' and unparalleled impudence" of the Grit sheet that would presume to "open the sluces of its filth repository" on the sacred heads of "insulted and vilified" ministers. But the Review is, it seems, ex-officio monitor to the Dominion Government and it is all right for it to arraign them for their broken election promises, respecting the speedy completion of the Trent Valley Canal. Of course the language is mild and respectful enough—as becomes that of a vassal to his liege lord—but looking between the lines one may see the glare of the irrate eye of the local forger of Tory thunderbolts, and that the respectful demeanor is more from policy than feeling. Our contemporary is grievously annoyed and justly so. Now that the canal, with the elections over and won has served its purpose as a vote producer, the Review will have to begin the unpalatable and nauseating task of eating its own words, uttered so positively respecting the certainty of the government completing the undertaking. The government paraded the bait of the Trent Valley Canal and our contemporary was frantic in its attempts to make the electors believe that they meant what they said, and now that a second postponement is inevitably certain our down town friend takes the "d——d sharp curve," of a certain newspaper man, and is prompted to call attention to the neglect. It appears that though the time is long past for the production of the plans and specifications, none have, in compliance with the terms of the advertisement, made their appearance in Peterborough, nor—it is reasonable to infer—elsewhere. This is the second time they have failed to be on hand at the specified time. Our contemporary is forced to the unwelcome conclusion that this important enterprise is being trifled with. But it should not be surprised at a result which we foretold a month ago. It needed very little foresight to predict that a petty grant made to a work—that requires millions for its completion—just on the eve of a general election, meant nothing outside of political results. The Review abused us roundly for daring to insinuate such a thing.

We greatly regret that we had ground for arriving at such a conclusion. While our judgment prompted the opinion that the grant of $299,000 was an electioneering dodge, hope suggested that perhaps the judgment was harsh, and that the miracle might be made manifest of the Government being sincere in the matter. The wish was, no doubt, father to the hope, for the accomplishment of this great undertaking is a matter of immense moment to this district and town, and every resident of these two ridings would not only reap a direct benefit from the expenditure on the construction of the canal, but also from the increased prosperity that would result to the community from its operations. It is too vitally important a work to be used merely as a catspaw to pull Government chestnuts out of the fire. If even the local Tory organ is becoming disgusted with the shilly-shally style of "chucking" the Trent Valley Canal matter from one pigeon-hole to another, (keeping it forever on paper) what must be the feelings of those who, by a mighty effort of will, overlooked the sins of the Government, on general matters, and supported them solely because they promised us this important waterway?

Editorial Notes.

The local Tory Government of Nova Scotia has resigned. Mr. Gayton will form a Reform Ministry. To the Tories, giving up office was like parting with their eye teeth; they did not resign till all hope of buying or coaxing the Liberal members into some sort of compromise had failed.

A perfect system of protection should be general, not system of class favouritism, yet the latter seems to be the nature of our present protective tariff, which pretends and really does considerably benefit some manufacturing interests. As a wealth-producing factor, manufactures are very low in the scale. The chief wealth of the country consists in the products of our fisheries, forests, and fields. To the export trade of the country, manufactures contribute only 4½ per cent, that is out of every $100 exported, only $4.50 are manufactured goods. Is the manufacturing interest so important, then, that most other industries must be sacrificed for its benefit?

During election time the Cobourg carworks were cited as a shining example of the glorious results of protection. The hum resulted from large orders from the Syndicate, therefore the Syndicate bargain was good, and the N. P. was a big boon. Lo! after the elections the tenders for twelve hundred flat cars were opened, and a Detroit firm is the lowest tender and the contract goes to that city, and it is said a hundred men are discharged from the Cobourg car works. The beautiful Pacific bargain permits the company to bring in their cars duty free. Thus Canadian car and locomotive works have their throats cut on both sides at once. Their biggest customer is not only allowed to import cars, etc., duty free, but a burdensome tax is put on the raw material of manufacturers of railroad supplies.

The Review pounces upon and denounces THE EXAMINER for its alleged crying down of the Trent Valley Canal and abusing the Government. It is out on both counts. We never have opposed the canal, and in connection with it have not abused the Government, unless holding them to their promises in reference to the canal may be called abuse. During the elections there was nothing the Government had so much at heart as this great work. After the 20th of June it was dropped like a live ember, and nothing done in the matter till a deputation of local members, including our worshipful Mayor, went down to Ottawa and stirred up the officials, when they got another promise. According to the Review Sir Charles Tupper said the delay was caused "in preparing plans and specifications." He had ordered all expedition in pushing forward the plans and (momentous circumstance) he was "cute" enough to renew these instructions (not at all in a patronizing way of course) to the secretary, in the presence of the deputation, which was not allowed to see the official wink with which the "great strategist" perhaps accompanied the renewed instructions. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:—

The late Judge Hall once told me that he could give good advice to others, but was unable to give it to himself. There are more people of the same way of thinking. Whatever good they may do for themselves, they nevertheless know how to lecture others, and they would fain persuade them that they do not know how to take care of what they have got, If they want to know how to do this the Water works and the Review can tell them. The property owners of the town will be surprised to hear of their want of judgment, and of their incapacity. They will be surprised to hear that they are going to be consumed and utterly destroyed if they do not pay tribute to the Water Works Company. They are told terrible stories about what dreadful things the insurance companies are going to do if they do not patronize the water works and how much they will save if they will only pay a few thousand dollars a year to the Water Works Company. All this advice may sound very wise, and is, of course very disinterested, but however that may be, there is this fact that the Water Works Company want our money. Well, our answer to all this talk is that of the old, canny Scotchman, who, when told that he must do a certain thing said, "I dinna ken," which meant that he could not see the point. So with us. We cannot see the point when this Company tell us that our safety lies in using their water, but we can see it when we know they want our money. A few years ago, when Mr. Romaine was endeavouring to force upon the town his grand scheme of waterworks, he told us the same thing, that we would be ruined if we did not give him our money. And he got a certain M. D. to tell us that unless we used the water of the Otonabee river for domestic purposes we would surely all die. And in proof of this he said that since he came among us he found sickness greatly on the increase. The people probably differed from the Doctor as to the cause of this increase, if there was any; but the doctor wanted us to believe that it was because we used good well water, and did not use the water of the river Otonabee. Well, notwithstanding these direful predictions, the people did not help on the water-works and they still live and the town still exists, and some of the people now among us, have lived and thrived on this well water from forty to fifty years. So they say they "dinna ken," when they are told the water is poisoning them. We, in this respect, are something like the man eating a piece of cheese, whose son, having just returned from college, and wishing to frighten his father, asked him if he knew what he was eating. The father said he thought he did. The son asked him to look at the cheese through a magnifying glass, which showed him the cheese full of skippers. The old man took another good bite of the cheese, saying as he did so, that if they could stand it he guessed he could. So we think we can stand our well water a while longer. The freeholders and property owners of the town, now that they have got their property, think they know how to take care of it, and when they want advice on this point they will most probably ask for it. In the meantime, all they ask is to be left alone. If the Company want to build the water works they can do so, but when they ask us to pay for them, that is another thing, and we most decidedly say no. The Review may urge our councillors to place themselves and us at the mercy of this needy company, but our councillors know their duty to the people and they will, most assuredly, not sacrifice the people, merely to help this company, and to do the bidding of the Review. We think we know just as well how to manage our own business as the Review does, and we intend to continue to manage it in the way our own judgment tells us how best to do it. And now that we have a law, (passed during the last session of the legislature) enabling a portion of the town to construct water works and pay for them by a local tax, if this company will withdraw their operations, those local works will be built. But this is not the law under which this company is working, and under their Act, if the Council only orders one hydrant, the whole property of the town will be taxed to pay for it. There is no local option there.

ONE OF THE SMALL RATEPAYERS.

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

THE NEWS FROM DAY TO DAY.

The bulk of the news from the "seat of war" are merely a batch of speculative surmises. The real state of affairs admitting of description by brief paragraphs, below we give a summary of each day's news, which contains all that is in anyway reliable:

FRIDAY, JULY 21ST.

Having determined upon taking the restoration of order in Egypt upon herself, England's preparations are being hurried forward with feverish haste. A Cabinet Council was hurriedly summoned yesterday, when it is thought final arrangements were made for military operations on a large scale. It has been definitely decided that Sir Garnet Wolseley will command an expedition of 20,000 men. Several Irish militia regiments have volunteered for service in Egypt, and the feeling at the London clubs is very warlike. Colonel Laurie has also offered to raise a regiment in Nova Scotia for service in Egypt. A reconnoitring party has discovered that Arabi has fortified himself at Aboukir and cut and diverted the fresh water canal which supplies Alexandria. Although there is a sufficient supply to last for ten days, the population, taking the alarm, are fleeing before a water famine commences. Advices from Cairo report a critical state of affairs, and an outbreak of fanaticism may be expected at any moment. The Europeans at Port Said are also in a perilous position, and Admiral Seymour has found it necessary to despatch a force for their protection.

SATURDAY.

Rumours from the interior of Egypt that a general European massacre has commenced has caused great alarm and uneasiness, and will, doubtless, serve to hasten the British preparation to subdue Arabi and his troops. The obstruction in the fresh water canal has caused the flooding of the surrounding territory. A British force will advance to-day and endeavour to blow up the obstruction. The Chamber of Notables, at a meeting at Cairo, decreed the deposition of the Khedive as a traitor, and proclaimed war against England. All good Moslems are called upon to join Arabi's standard. The Commander-in-Chief, Sir Garnet Wolseley, and members of the Cabinet were in consultation yesterday making final preparations. The Government will ask for a war credit, which the Conservatives will not oppose.

MONDAY.

The confidence in himself which Arabi Pasha possesses is really wonderful. He has presented an ultimatum to the Sultan, threatening him with deposition and the appointment of a member of a rival race as Caliph of the Moslems if Turkish troops intervene in Egypt. The Khedive has yielded to the pressure brought to bear by Admiral Seymour, and proclaimed Arabi a rebel, deposed him from office, and summoned the army to the defence of their Sovereign, at the same time assuring them that English and French intervention is merely to restore order. In reply to this proclamation Arabi has formed a Ministry at Cairo, and is rapidly recruiting his forces. An advance was made by a small force of British on Saturday, and a portion of Arabi's line, which afforded him a means of advance on Alexandria, blown up. He is now able to advance only at one point and that opposite the strongest position of the defences of the city. Reports from the interior convey news of horrible atrocities committed upon Europeans and Copts, as the native Christians are called. At Port Said measures have been taken for the protection of the Europeans there. The water supply in the Mahmoudieh Canal is carefully husbanded, and, supplemented by the condensers of the fleet, will probably hold out for a considerable period A spy and messenger of Arabi has been captured on a steamer from Constantinople and important documents secured. He has confessed and given much useful information. The organization of the British expedition is being hurried forward, but offensive operations will not probably be commenced for three weeks.

TUESDAY.

The British troops had another brush with Arabi, their object being to occupy Ramleh, which they succeeded in doing without the loss of any men. Arabi's position at Kaffr-el-Dwar is now untenable, being commanded by British guns. In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Gladstone moved for a vote of credit to defray the expenses of the British expedition. He defended the action of his Cabinet, and pointed out the necessity which existed for restoring order in Egypt and maintaining the neutrality of the Suez canal In the last named operations he is in complete unison with France, which supplies a force of 6,000 marines for the protection of the canal. Further than this, however, the French Cabinet will not participate in the operations. It is known that two of the Khedive's Ministers are in constant communication with Arabi, and their deposition and arrest has been recommended by Admiral Seymour. Her Majesty has sanctioned the appointment of the staff of the British expedition The Duke of Connaught (Prince Arthur) will command the Household Brigade.

WEDNESDAY.

There is no appreciable change in the affairs at Alexandria. The British troops are keeping a close watch upon Arabi's movements and holding him in check. At Aboukir, under cover of a flag of truce, Aarabi is making desperate efforts to strengthen his already strong position in the hopes of being able to withstand the British troops. The Khedive has at last summoned courage sufficient to appoint Oman Supti Minister of War in place of the rebel Arabi. An amnesty to all rebels who return to their loyalty has also been issued with a promise that officers shall retain their rank. This will probably increase the already numerous desertions and cause additional discontent in the rebel camp. In the French Chamber, deputies yesterday opposed the war credit, and several deprecated French intervention in any capacity. The feeling in England is one of impatience at the necessary delay in embarking troops. The Queen's Message calling out the reserves was read in the Commons yesterday, and the debate on the vote of credit for warlike purposes was resumed. Italy has been invited to join France and England in their intervention, but her policy is not yet definitely known.

Mr. Geo. Graham Gives the Other Side of the Question.

The Charges not Used as a Threat.

Convinced of the Worthlessness of a Church Trial.

Legal Forms and Axioms Disregarded.

"Never Attempt Anything of the Kind Again."

WHAT CLERICAL WITNESSES WERE READY TO PROVE.

Mr. George Graham, of Brampton, father of the young lady whose name has been mentioned in connection with what is now known as "The Kissing Case," has forwarded the following for publication. The writer is of the opinion that the article which appeared in the Mail of Thursday last is hardly a fair statement, therefore his communication, which is rather long, is given a place in our columns:—

To the Editor of The Mail:

SIR,—As this case has acquired considerable notoriety, and as the comments of the press have mainly been derived from the defendant's standpoint, I think it only just that the other side of the matter should be given to the public, who may then have an opportunity of judging more impartially the facts of the case. While the matter was sub judice I took particular care to furnish the press with no particulars, although a reporter of the Mail requested my views. Mr. Willoughby's friends, however, have not seen fit to pursue the same course, but while the trial was in progress had no hesitation in giving their views to the public. The matter is now decided, and as in your issue of Thursday last a considerable space is given to it, in which the defendant's case is set out very fully, I beg the liberty of giving the facts from my standpoint. In the first place, Mrs. Starr never said that Mr. Willoughby kissed her more than three times. Her testimony, as given before the committee of investigation, was, that on Sunday, July 11th, 1880, while Mr. Willoughby was a guest at my house, and in the absence of myself and my wife, against her will. She then threatened to tell her affianced, whom she expected up that week from Peterboro'; but Willoughby expressed so much contrition and regret, besides threatening her that as President of the Conference, he could do Mr. Starr injury, that she consented to say nothing about the matter. On that Monday following, she told Willoughby that she had thought the matter over and had determined to tell Mr. Starr, when he again beseeched her not to do so, using his former threats. She finally consented, when he again seized her and succeeded in brushing her cheek with his lips. Mr. Starr arrived that night and she told him what had happened. They, after considering the matter, resolved for the present not to say anything about it. On the next Tuesday evening he kissed her again while Starr was closing the French shutters. Willoughby, as soon as he had committed the act, rushed out of the room and to bed. She also stated that upon two subsequent occasions, the latter of which was during the revival services then being held by Mr. Willoughby here, he attempted to kiss her, and since that last attempt she has not spoken to him, nor been in his house—a space of over sixteen months.

HE KISSED HER IN THE HALL,

This story was fully corroborated by Mr. Starr, with the exception that when first giving his evidence he made a mistake in the day he arrived in Brampton, fixing it on Tuesday instead of Monday, and thus thinking that it was on Tuesday night he was told, and that on Wednesday night while he was closing the shutters. This mistake excepted, he gave a clear and comprehensive account of how every evening in that week was spent. Now, in reference to the evidence for the defence, of which the greater part of your article of Thursday consists:—When Mr. Willoughby first came to Brampton I was his friend, and continued to be so for some time, until various matters connected with his conduct caused somewhat of an estrangement. This, however, was all made right and I worked in harmony with him again, and when I first heard of his having kissed my daughter, which was in March last, I was up to that time on good terms with him. As soon as I learned the story of his having kissed my daughter, I wrote to him telling him of my knowledge of the matter, and said that under the circumstances I could not attend his church, and did not wish any exposure if it could be avoided; and that if he would leave the circuit at the end of the year I would say nothing about it. He visited me after receiving the letter, and asserted in the most positive manner that the whole story was a lie, and that he had never kissed my daughter; but I deny that he challenged an investigation, or told me how an investigation could be had. I knew perfectly well how to proceed if I wished an investigation. He, however, expressed a wish to see my daughter, but except in my presence; but an arrangement was subsequently made that my daughter and myself, accompanied by two laymen, should meet Willoughby and two clergymen, but the arrangement subsequently fell through.

HE SAW WILLOUGHBY KISS HER

In reference to the member of the congregation mentioned who is alleged to have been prompted by an animus against Mr. Willoughby, the gentleman himself gave evidence before the committee, and denied having done anything towards publishing this story, which he had heard long before, and asserted that had always been anxious to keep it quiet, and would never have spoken of it had it not come out without any action of his. The unkind conduct towards Mr. Willoughby at the closing quarterly meeting of the first year consisted in resisting being bullied by some members of the quarterly board into handing over to Mr. Willoughby a surplus of two hundred dollars on the year's receipts. This we believed to be illegal and also injudicious, considering that we had already paid Mr. Willoughby a good salary and the church was in debt. I also deny most positively that I used the charges as a threat against Mr. Willoughby during the conference, or endeavoured to get him to remove. In reference to Mrs. Starr's continued intimacy with Mr. Willoughby, she gave a sufficient reason in that Mr. Willoughby came to her and

and promised that he would never attempt anything of the kind again. She, relying upon this apology, and being very intimate with his family, did continue to visit at the parsonage, though she did not, as alleged, visit there on the Saturday and Sunday succeeding the kissing, as was proved by two witnesses as to the Saturday and three as to the Sunday. White, the "young minister," who was an inmate of the parsonage for six weeks, neglected to state, until cross examined, that during three of these six weeks my daughter was not in Brampton at all. So that if she visited the parsonage during his stay here from thirty to fifty times she would have been there on an average twice a day. A most remarkable intimacy! To show the animus of this young gentleman, I might say that in his direct examination he repeated a remark made to him by Mrs. Starr at a picnic, in such a way as to leave the impression upon the minds of the committee that they were alone together, and that she was endeavouring to but on cross-examination he admitted that other members of the pic-nic party were all around and close at hand at the time, and that they were not alone together for any length of time. The evidence that she visited the parsonage several times in the absence of Mrs. Willoughby was given by a member of Mr. Willoughby's family, and was denied by my daughter, who stated in her evidence that she visited the house only once, and that on business. In corroboration of the evidence that she was there frequently a diary of about two inches square, with only one date, was produced. This diary was in pencil, nearly obliterated. The date was the day of the month only, and no year mentioned, and alterations in the diary had been made confessedly since the charge was known, but as alleged, not in reference to Mrs. Starr's visits. It was also given in evidence that Mrs. Starr took no active part in the revival services until after Mr. Willoughby had come to her in the meeting, and in the presence of others had asked her that everything be forgotten between them.

Evidence was given by a few of Mr. Willoughby's friends to prove that Mrs. Starr's word was unreliable, chiefly by those with whom she had not been intimate; but in reply to this, half a dozen or more of those who had known her longest, and some of the most respected and influential men of the church, testified that they had NEVER KNOWN HER TO BE UNTRUTHFUL.

That they had the fullest confidence in her veracity, and had never heard it impeached until after this trouble arose in the church, and any number of witnesses to the same effect could have been produced if necessary. The partisans of Mr. Willoughby even went about the town from man to man, from woman to woman, and from house to house endeavouring to glean anything they could that would injure Mrs. Starr's character. But all such attempts were futile. One of the party—a reverend gentleman, a man who had professed himself for years a strong and firm friend of Mrs. Starr—evidently piqued at the fact that he could obtain nothing in his research that would redound to the injury of Mrs. Starr's character, when he gave his evidence asserted that a person in Brampton had told him that Mrs. Starr was a liar. This person's name was demanded and reluctantly given by the witness, and on this said person being interviewed he positively denied having said any such a thing to anyone, and further stated there and then that he knew of nothing that could injure Mrs. Starr's character. This he certified in writing, as also did another gentleman, who was present when this "reverend gentleman" called. (This certificate is at present in the hands of the committee.) Something, however, which does not appear in your article of Thursday is worthy of mention, and that is that three prominent members of a church of which Mr. Willoughby was formerly pastor, travelled many miles to testify before the committee that they

in a matter of this kind, as he had been guilty of kissing members of his congregation before, and then repeatedly denied it.

Now, in reference to the alibi attempted to be proved by Mr. Willoughby:—The principal evidence upon this point was the "beliefs" and "impressions" of witnesses that Mr. Willoughby could not have been at my house on the Sunday and Monday when he was alleged to have kissed my daughter; but in opposition to this was the direct testimony of my daughter and a witness who had no interest in the matter whatever. Strange to say, Mr. Willoughby himself, who gave evidence, and who, if he had not kissed her on the Sunday and Monday, as alleged, could easily have said in rebuttal that he did not, and was not in the house at that time, refrained from denying the charge, and thus did not give the only direct evidence in reply possible.

As to the discrepancies alleged in the evidence of Mrs. Starr, the only reply I have to make to what is said in your article of Thursday is that the evidence was that of persons, some of whom admitted that they with the intention of finding out whatever they could to help Mr. Willoughby's case, and that if the witnesses for the defendant did not tell deliberate falsehoods, they strongly garbled conversation, placed improper and constrained construction on actions, and gave their testimony in such a way as to lead an impartial hearer to believe that they were determined to aid the defendant by their evidence at all risks. Your informant has neglected to tell you that in the evidence in rebuttal all these discrepancies were denied and explained.

I would just mention concerning the telegram sent Mr. Starr, about which so much was said in your article, that it was Mr. Willoughby raised any point about it. Mrs. Starr never quoted the contents of the telegram, and stated that she did not even remember what it contained. Mr. Willoughby did not to be brought. It was he who, if anyone, should have produced the original, for he brought the point up himself. So little was thought of the matter on the trial, as having a bearing on the charge, that it was dropped altogether in rebuttal.

In conclusion, I would say that the whole investigation has taught me the worthlessness of a church trial conducted as this was. The committee laid down the proposition that they were bound by no legal forms or axioms, and that the rules of evidence did not apply to such a trial at all. Three-fourths of the evidence given by the defence would have been ruled out as entirely irrelevant in any court of law. Hearsay evidence was admitted as matter of course, and the defendant and myself also allowed to lead witnesses as we liked, while a great deal of the evidence given by the defendant's witnesses consisted of their "beliefs," "impressions," and "opinions."

And I hereby challenge Mr. Willoughby to prove that any statement I have made in this communication is untrue, by a publication of the evidence taken at the trial.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space afforded.

Yours, &c.,
GEO. GRAHAM.

A TORONTO TRAGEDY.

A County Constable Shoots and Kills a Boy.

TORONTO, July 23rd.—Andrew Young, aged seventeen, was on Sunday afternoon shot and killed by County Constable John Albert. The affair took place at the Grenadier Pond, distant from Toronto about three miles. The facts gleaned from an eye-witness, are as follows:—Young, with two companions, were paddling around the pond on a rudely constructed raft. Their presence seemed to annoy Mr. Ellis, the owner of the place, and it is said they made use of insulting remarks to that person. He despatched a messenger for a county constable named Albert, a German, who lives close by. On the latter's arrival the young men endeavoured to elude capture by running through a building used for storing ice. The officer, however, managed to seize hold of Young, who struggled violently, when Albert, who during the pursuit had his revolver in his hand, shot him. The ball entered below the left eye, and Young expired in a few minutes. It is said that Albert was exasperated with the chase the boys gave him, and fired the shot without having any occasion to do so. On the other hand, the constable makes two statements as to the cause of the shooting. First, that the revolver was a self-cocking one and was discharged without his knowledge. Second, that the boy attempted to assault him with a piece of wood and he fired at him to protect himself. As the news of the shooting spread large crowds visited the scene, and great indignation was expressed at the action of the constable. The body was not removed until three hours after the shooting, when it was taken in charge by a coroner, who will open an inquest to-morrow. Albert, who did not appear greatly concerned over the affair, walked into the city and surrendered himself to the authorities, and he was remanded to jail. The parents of the boy live in Parkdale.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of "wilful murder" against the constable, Albert.

ALL RIGHT AGAIN.

Our readers will be glad to learn that Hon. Alexander Mackenzie has almost fully recovered from his recent illness. On Saturday he attended a meeting of the East York Reform Association, at Markham village, and took an active part in the proceedings. The business disposed of, Mr. Mackenzie addressed the meeting.

He thanked his friends in the riding for the very unanimous nomination they had given him, and for the very hearty manner in which they had followed it up by carrying him triumphantly at the head of the poll on the day of the election. He expressed extreme regret at being unable on account of illness to attend meetings and conduct the campaign during the last two weeks prior to the election, as he had intended, and in humorous terms referred to some of the reports which came to his ears, and which had been circulated by the opposite party as to his physical health. At first he was ill well nigh unto death, and then he heard he had not been ill at all, but had only been "foxing." Then again he had been very ill, but was rapidly recovering, and a little later that he had been dead for a day or two before. (Laughter.) After hearing all he had that day and before, as to the methods adopted by Conservatives, and of the strenuous efforts made by his old political opponent, Sir John himself, who for some days had taken up his residence in the riding, as well as addressing several meetings in the riding, he became aware the contest had been one of no ordinary character, and the majority they had given him of over 100 was creditable to them and was highly satisfactory to himself. He had been glad to hear the news come in of the victory they had won here, redeeming the riding, and also of the two Lambtons, which together had formed his old constituency, returning two Liberals by very large majorities, but had deeply to regret the loss of several seats of old particular friends. There had been a Liberal gain, however, upon the whole, but not such as he would have like to have seen, or such as he thought they had deserved. He would not now say anything further, but on a future occasion, when the banquet of which they had spoken should be held, he would take the opportunity of speaking upon the situation at some length. The hon. gentleman then took his seat amid applause.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR
A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

MANHOOD
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE FARM.

Facts About Cattle Fattening.

In these days of dear meat and the related matter of profit to the farmer, it is necessary that the latter should be supplied with the latest and most reliable information on this increasingly important subject. Therefore, we extract from the Advance Report of the Experimental Department of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Farm, at Guelph, the following valuable summary of the 101 conclusions, and results arrived at from actual experiment:—

THE PURPOSE OF CATTLE FATTENING.

1. Is to obtain the largest quantity of the best quality of beef, at the least cost, under three years of age.
2. To aim at breeding, raising, and fattening one cattle beast from every ten cultivated acres of the Province.
3. To grow all the food required for these purposes within ourselves.
4. The animals to weigh alive not less than 1,500 pounds each.
5. The net cost of production, giving credit for manure, not to exceed five cents per pound, live weight.
6. To obtain one ton of manure per month, from each cattle beast over two years old, when stabled to finish the fattening process.
7. The value of such manure, under the best management, to be made worth $2.50 per ton.

THE ANIMAL IN CATTLE FATTENING.

In any class it is desirable to have,—

8. Purity of sire;
9. A certain age and sex;
10. A quiet disposition;
11. Quality, as indicated by fine head and ears, fine bone, horn, tail, and a medium thick skin, having plenty of fine, soft silky hair, with mellowness;
12. A weight-carrying frame;
13. Such a breed as will mature, or premature, from two to three years of age;
14. Having the character of doing best upon Ontario pastures;
15. Giving the best quality of flesh, with the least offal;
16. Sure breeders and good nurses;
17. The Shorthorn Grade is best for weight, early maturity and stall feeding;
18. The Hereford Grade is best for hardiness, and grazing disposition;
19. The Aberdeen Poll Grade is best for an even average of all requirements;
20. The Galloway Grade is best for extreme hardiness and quality of flesh;
21. The Devon Grade is best for good nursing and sure breeding.

THE FOOD OF FATTENING CATTLE.

Its use is to,—

22. Keep up animal heat, or life;
23. Repair the waste;
24. Increase growth;
25. Produce flesh and fat.

Its value is affected by,

26. The particular breed;
27. Age of the animal;
28. Individual character;
29. Conditions of life—such as temperature;
30. Management.

31. In growing our own cattle food, the first question should be:—How much beef can we get per acre? the second, How much manure are we able to return?

32. The amount of increase that may be calculated upon as the produce of certain quantities and kinds of food, depends upon paragraphs 8 to 30.

33. Chemically, we can calculate upon getting one pound of flesh from any food that has ten parts of dry substances in its composition: thus, 100 pounds of swede turnips, having as much as ninety parts of water, will only give the pound of flesh while 100 pounds or corn, having only thirteen parts of water, will give ten pounds of flesh.

34. Practically, foods give results according to their chemical analysis, when combined, or mixed, to suit the particular animal system.

35. For example, a mixture of corn, peas and oats, will give better results than corn alone, although seven per cent. lower in nutritive properties.

36. Never forget the difference between "life" food and "fattening" food: starch and sugar keep up heat and life, and unless they are supplied, along with fats and oils, the fattening process will be slower, because heat and life would have to be supplied from the fats and oils; if given in excess, starch and sugar will produce fat on animals.

37. A young animal, building its bone and muscle, requires different kinds and quantities of food from the more mature one. Hay, straw, and other fodders are best for the immature animal; they are also heat and fat makers, and would fatten alone, though slowly.

38. Rapid growth and much fat are opposed to each other; so, to grow carcass, and also fatten early, requires bone-forming and fat-forming materials—they must go together.

39. A maturing animal—cattle from two to three years old—having built the most of its frame, requires less fodder, and more flesh and fat formers. Grain in many forms is therefore best for finishing fattening cattle.

40. From birth to the time a cattle beast is ripe, the daily rate of increase on an average should be not less than one and one-half pound,—thus, a three-year-old should weigh 1,600 pounds; and a two and one half-year old, 1,360; and a two-year-old, 1,100 pounds alive.

41. But, in fact, the daily rate of increase is more up to two years, than at any time afterwards. A two-year-old, well done to, will weigh 1,400, and if carried on to three years will not scale less than 1,800 pounds. This may be called pre-maturing.

42. Very much then of the success of obtaining big weights in a short time, lies in a knowledge of individual character, and the proper proportions and kinds of food.

43. The best kind of permanent pasture—a mixture of certain grasses and clovers—under favourable conditions, will give a greater daily increase than any other form of food.

44. A two-year-old cattle beast put to such pasture on 15th May, when it weighs 1,100 pounds, will stand 1,400 on 1st October following. The addition of grain under such circumstances does not add correspondingly to weight, though it does so on comparatively poor pasture.

45. Proper shelter and water on pasture means forty per cent. on the increase.

46. Where no first-class permanent pasture is kept, it is desirable to provide for short commons by having a regular supply of green fodders; feed these either upon the fields or by "soiling."

47. Soiling fattening cattle in Ontario implies the production of one animal per acres in place of three acres of ordinary pasture maintaining one; the principal soiling crops are corn, lucerne, red clover, tares and oats, rye and rape.

48. When it is desired to prepare for exhibitions, or for extra condition at Christmas, soiling, in a loose box all summer, in addition to grain, cannot be surpassed by any other form of feeding.

49. Straw cut and slightly fermented is one-fourth more valuable for fattening.

50. Green oat-straw and pea-straw together are about equal in value to hay.

51. Thirty-five pounds swede turnips, six pounds clover hay, and two and one-half pounds oilcake will produce one pound of beef.

52. One ton of fermented cut straw and two hundred pounds oilcake are each equal to one ton of hay.

53. Six pounds hay, one pound bran, twenty pounds turnips, and five pounds cornmeal will add one pound to the weight of a good two-year-old steer.

54. Six pounds hay, one pound bran, twenty pounds turnips, and six pounds peameal will do the same thing.

55. The like quantities of hay, bran, turnips, and seven and a half-pounds crushed oats will do the same thing.

56. Corn, pease, oats and barley, will pay to fatten cattle when not over one cent per pound in the market.

57. Barley-meal gives a fine finish, and sleek, mellow handling.

58. In soiling, green fodder is safer when cut and mixed with cut straw or hay, allowed to slightly ferment and sprinkled with meal.

59. It is still an unsettled question whether cooked food or raw food is best for cattle fattening.

60. All animals fatten cheaper and faster on prepared raw food, as against whole or uncut hay and roots.

61. Every animal that chews the cud must have bulk; it is not enough to give sufficient nutritive value in small quantities,—the stomach must be filled to give material for ruminating.

62. Most foods are better in combination than alone.

63. Combine so as to have little or no waste.

64. Fat-producing and flesh-producing food together will give sixty per cent. more increase than when given singly.

65. For young cattle give 1 of flesh to 8 of heat-producing substance, and to older ones give 1 to 6.

66. Most food of young cattle goes to make up bone and muscle, leaving third-class manure.

67. Most food of half-grown animals goes to make flesh, leaving second-class manure.

68. Most food of mature animals goes to make fat and support life, the excess becoming first-class manure.

69. Exclusive of water chemically, animals coming to maturity will eat about one-fiftieth of their own weight per day.

THE MANAGEMENT OF FATTENING CATTLE.

70. Most animals eat in proportion to their weight, under average conditions of age, temperature and fatness.

71. All animals increase in weight in proportiton the quantity and character of the food consumed, if fed exactly according to breed, size, and condition of surroundings.

72. Give fattening cattle as much as they will eat, and often—five times a dry.

73. Never give rapid changes of food, but change often.

74. A good guide for a safe quantity of grain per day to maturing cattle is one pound to every hundred of their weight; thus an animal weighing 1,000 may receive ten pounds grain.

75. Early stall feeding in the fall will make the winter's progress more certain by thirty per cent.

76. Give as much water and salt at all times as they will take.

77. In using roots, it is one guide to give just so much, in association with other things, so that the animal will not take any water.

78. In buildings, have warmth with complete ventilation, without currents,—never under 40°, nor over 70° Fah.

79. A cold, damp, airy temperature causes animals to consume more food without corresponding results in bone, muscle, flesh, or fat; much being used as fuel to keep up warmth.

80. Stall-feeding is better for fat making than box or yard management, irrespective of health.

81. The growing animal, intended for beef, requires a little exercise daily, to promote muscle and strength of constitution; when ripe, only so much as to be able to walk to market.

82. Carrying daily is equal to seven per cent. of the increase.

83. Keep the temperature of the body about 100°, not under 95°, nor over 105° Fah.

84. Don't forget that one animal's meat may be another animal's poison.

85. It takes three days' good feed to make up for one bad one.

86. The faster the fattening the more the profit: less food, earlier returns, and better flesh.

87. Get rid of every fattening cattle beast before it is three years old.

88. Every day an animal is kept, after being prime, there is loss, exclusive of manure.

89. The external evidence of primeness are full rumps, flanks, twist, purse, shoulder, vein, and eye.

90. A good cattleman means a difference of one-fourth. He should know the likes and dislikes of every animal.

91. It pays to keep one man in constant attendance on thirty head of fattening cattle.

92. Immediately an animal begins to fret for food, immediately it begins to lose flesh: never check the fattening process.

93. Never begin fattening without a definite plan.

94. A steady, frosty winter is better than an open one for cattle fattening in Ontario.

95. There is no loss in feeding a cattle beast well for the sake of the manure alone.

96. No cattle beast whatever will pay for the direct increase to its weight from the consumption of any kind or quantity of food—the manure must be properly valued.

97. On an average it costs, on charging every possible item, twelve cents for every additional pound added to the weight of a two or three-year-old fattening cattle beast.

98. In this country the market value of store cattle can be increased thirty-six per cent. during six months of the fattening finish.

99. In order to secure a sure profit, no store cattle beast, of the right stamp and well do to, can be sold at less than four and a half cents per pound, live weight.

100. In the finishing of a two-year old beef, during the last six months of winter its financial history consists of three things of nearly proportionate values:—

(1)	Value of animal previous to entry for finishing, 1,200 pounds at 5c	$60 00
(2)	Cost (not value) of food for six months	35 00
(3)	Total value of fattened animal, 1,500 pounds, at 7c	105 00
	Cash profit	10 00
(4)	Value of manure produced	30 00
	Total profit	$40 00

FINISHING.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of MRS. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

MRS. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis. JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montteal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free. 25

A PETRIFIED BODY.

A WOMAN TURNS INTO STONE IN HER GRAVE.

J. R. Johnston, of Gananoque, was last week on a visit to friends in the village of Crogan, Lewis County, N. Y. A Catholic cemetery in the village was about being used for other purposes, and the bodies were being removed. On Saturday the workman came to the grave of a German woman buried twenty-eight years ago. The coffin was in a good state of preservation, and the body had turned into stone. The features were so perfect and life-like that the husband would have recognized her anywhere. The body was of a bluish marble color, and so solid that on being struck with a spade produced the same sound as if the spade had been struck on a rock. The body was viewed by hundreds. It was buried in the new cemetary in the coffin used twenty-eight years ago. The soil where the petrifaction occurred was a dry, light sand, with no water in the vicinity nor any extraordinary mineral condition.

Imitators vs. Substitutors.

Good points are worth remembering, for the reason that they assist us in avoiding many discomforts, and protect us against the cupidity of overreaching people. When you learn from friends that PUTNAM'S CORN EXTRACTOR is safe, prompt and effectual, don't allow druggists to palm off a worthless and perhaps poisonous substitute. His object is quite patent. He wishes to make a few cents difference between a good article and a cheap imitation or substitute. Putnam's Corn Extractor, Sold everywhere.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

SANDERSON'S

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Mr. Meredith, the leader of the Local Opposition has had an interview with several members of the Dominion Government.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau states that there is no truth in the rumor that he is shortly to enter the Dominion Cabinet.

The Governor General and Princess Louise visit British Columbia in September, and remain there for several weeks.

The whirligig of time brings strange revenges. Of the 206 members elected to the Dominion Parliament in 1878 only 55 are now able to write M. P. after their names.

An Ottawa paper speaks of Mr. D. B. Woodworth, M.P., as the next representative of Nova Scotia in the Cabinet, and the only man from that Province capable of taking Sir Charles Tupper's place.

At the Reform Convention at Pembroke Tuesday afternoon, Thos. Murray, who resigned his seat in the Local Legislature to oppose Peter White, M.P. for North Renfrew, was nominated for the vacancy and accepted.

The Globe suggests that the Imperial Government should send a ship to cruise in Hudson's Bay and ascertain how long a season of navigation can be expected there. Why should not the Canadian Government send the Charybdis. It might solve two problems, the Hudson's Bay navigation question and how to get rid of the Charybdis.

England has now committed herself to settle the complications of Egyptian politics. The Sultan is out of the question by his own default, and because he has no force to spare from his own immediate domain. The Khedive is a puppet, which England may endeavor to remount, and engage to pull the strings that shall give him again the semblance of life. But she can only accomplish this by occupying the country in force. Whatever else may be uncertain, it is plain that the Turk is no more welcome than the European, and that the position of Arabi is one of uncompromising hostility to both.

In regard to this Province, it may well be that Sir John Macdonald much regrets some of the steps which he took to ensure success. He would have had a sufficient majority without the Gerrymandering Bill, and the appointment of, in many cases doubtless, the nominees of the Conservative candidates as Returning Officers. Curious stories are told of the conduct of many of the deputies appointed by these. Already three duly elected members have been counted out, and another was very nearly being so, for the fault of the deputies appointed by these partizan Returning Officers, unused to their duties. It is also said that Mr. Blake would have been counted out if his real majority had not been nearly two hundred, as first reported.

THE BRITISH ARMY.

The gallant tars, who did such effective work and displayed their usual bravery at Alexandria, having been bepraised sufficiently and, the wonderful ships and their wonderful guns having been fully described, it is now an appropriate time to take a glance at the army, which is about to take part in the subjection of the Egyptians who have rebelled under Arabi Bey.

According to the general annual return of the British army for the year, 1880, which was issued in December last, the average strength of the regular forces, officers and men, during the year, was 188,986. Of these 7,817 were officers, 12,431 sergeants and farriers, 3,472 trumpeters, drummers and buglers, and 165,266 rank and file. On the 1st of January, 1880, the number of the rank and file was 167,909, or 3,794 over the establishment; on the 1st of January, 1881, it was 165,320, or 397 over the establishment. At this last date the number we had of each arm of the service was as follows: Household cavalry, 1,020; cavalry of the line, 13,592; Royal horse artillery, 4,827; Royal Engineers, 4,053; Royal Artillery, 25,473; Foot Guards, 5,250; Infantry of the line, 104,460; Colonial corps, 2,146. The remainder consisted of the departmental army services and hospital corps. Some of these were short, some in excess of their fixed strength—the deficiency, however, where it occurred being infinitesimal, except in the case of Royal Artillery and the Colonial corps. These were, the former 765, and the latter 134, below their respective establishments A comparison of the returns of a number of years has brought out the fact that, while in the year preceding the short service system, there was generally a substantial deficiency in the strength of the army, of the years in which it has been in force six have shown an excess and two only a trifling diminution. The average British soldier is found to be about twenty-three years old, about five feet seven inches in height and about thirty-seven inches round the chest. Slight if any, ground has been discovered for the complaint that the physique of our soldiers of to day was inferior to what it used to be. As to the complaint of immaturity, the statistics indicate a perceptible decrease in the proportion of the very young, a slight decrease in that of the old and a steady increase of those between twenty and thirty—which is the best age for military service.

SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE.—Mrs. Helen Pharviz, No. 331 Dayton Street, Chicago, Ill., is now in her sixty-eighth year, and states that she has suffered with Consumption for about ten years, was treated by nine physicians, all of them pronouncing her case hopeless. She had given up all hopes of ever recovering. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal and satisfy yourselves. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

VARIETIES.

Almost anybody can run into debt; but nearly everybody has to crawl out of it.

Explicit directions for every use are given with the Diamond Dyes. For dyeing Mosses, Grasses, Eggs, Ivory, Hair, &c.

Mr. T. E. Wells, chemist and druggist, Port Colborne, Ont., writes: "Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery sells well, and gives the best of satisfaction for all diseases of the blood."

What is that which we wish for, and when obtained we never know we have it?—Sleep.

Now that the reaping and mowing season is coming on, farmers should remember that "Kaiser" Machine Oil is the best reaper and mower oil in the market. For sale by all dealers. 5-28t

Joseph Ruaan, Percy, writes: I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me.

Lucy Rothschild had a dowry of $25,000,000, and yet she isn't much happier than a Canadian bride with her first pair of striped hose.

One of our best citizens would say to the public that he has tried Hall's Catarrh Cure, and it is all that is claimed for it. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by John McKee, druggist, Peterborough. 30-2t

"Profanity is the masculine of tears," says the Boston Post, which is just as true as that hysterics are the feminine of argument.

Catarrh is the seed of Consumption, and unless taken in time is a very dangerous disease. Hall's Catarrh Cure never fails to cure. Price 75 cents. Sold by John McKee, druggist, Peterborough. 30-2t

V. Edmanson, of Bradford, writes:—Burdock Blood Bitters is an excellent preparation, gives entire satisfaction, and sales increasing every day, it sells now on its merits. Burdock Blood Bitters cures Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and Kidney complaints, in their worst form. 30-2t

Literary—Young Lady—"Mr. L., don't you admire 'Lockaley Hall?'" Mr. L.—"Well'er—I don't know as I ever saw that building."

"A coward can be a hero at a distance; presence of danger tests presence of mind." Presence of disease tests the value of a curative. Kidney-Wort challenges this test always and everywhere, so far as all complaints of the bowels, liver and kidneys are concerned. It cures all, nor asks any odds.

Student (not very clear as to his lesson—"That's what the author says, anyway." Professor—"I don't want the author; I want you." Student (despairingly)—"Well, you've got me."

If mothers and nurses would cease giving opiates in the guise of Paregoric, and Cordials, and for children teething and subject to bowel complaint, give instead Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, the lives of many infants might be saved that are sacrificed to deadly drugs. 30-2t

We can vouch for it that Hall's Hair Renewer restores gray hair to its youthful color, prevents baldness, makes the hair soft and glossy, does not stain the skin, and is altogether the best known remedy for all hair and scalp diseases. We, therefore, take great pleasure in recommending Hall's Hair Renewer to our readers.

A Quack Doctor heads his advertisement, "Ho all ye dyspeptics!" That's just what dyspeptics won't do. If they would hoe vigorously they might not need any medicine.

Among the most prevalant, fatal and sudden attacks of diseases, are those incident to the summer and fall, such as cholera morbus, bilious colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, etc., that often prove fatal in a few hours. That ever reliable remedy, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, should be at hand, for use in emergency. 30-2t

There is one very disagreeable class of men living in this world of ours. They are the cavillers, carpers, scoffers, mockers. They are sometimes morose, oftenest jocular, but in either mood can find nothing just right.

An honest medicine is the noblest work of man, and we can assure our readers that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only reliable, but is almost infallable to cure Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Canker of the Stomach and bowels, and the various Summer Complaints, whose attacks are often sudden and fatal. 30-2t

"And so you love June better than any other month?" she said gazing at the young farmer from the blue abysses of her soft dreamy eyes. "Beautiful leafy June, with its roses and its song-birds and its fragrance-laden zephyrs?" "Yes," he replied, nonchalantly, "it's the best month to wean calves."

L. F. Smith, druggist, of Dunville, under date of June 1st, writes of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry:—"It sells immensely, in fact has the largest sales during the summer of any patent medicine in stock," and adds that he can heartily recommend it to the public. The above named remedy is nature's grand cure for Cholera, Dysentery, and all summer complaints. 30-2t

Mrs. W. J. Lang, Bethany, Ont., writes: I was one of the greatest sufferers for about fifteen months with a disease of my ear similar to ulcers, causing entire deafness. I tried everything that could be done through medical skill, but without relief. As a last resort, I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and in ten minutes found relief. I continued using it, and in a short time my ear was cured and hearing completely restored. I have used this wonderful healer successfully in cases of inflammation of the lungs, sore throat, coughs and colds, cuts and bruises, &c., in fact it is our family medicine.

A Shakesperian was reading "Midsummer Night's Dream" to the sailors of a ship in which he was crossing the Atlantic, and they listened with pleasure till he came to a passage which describes "a mermaid sitting on a dolphin's back," when an old salt burst out, "That's nonsense! Adolphin's back! it is as sharp as a razor, and no mermaid could ride one till she'd saddled him.

THE SUPERIORITY of phosphates to hypophosphites can be demonstrated easily by the invalid taking alternately any standard preparation of each for one or two months. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calsaya will radically benefit seventy per cent. of consumptive and scrofulous cases, while only thirty per cent. will tolerate any form of hypophosphites, owing to their deranging the stomach. The phosphates in our food are derived from the phosphatic deposits in the earth, now so extensively used as fertilizers, their function in both the animal and vegetable kingdoms being to determine growth and development.

THE "RULING PASSION."

A pointed example of the influence of the "ruling passion" is recorded of one of the toll-keepers in Scotland. These toll's are gradually disappearing off the face of—if not the earth, at any rate of Scotland. Many and varied are the recollections that linger around these toll-houses. In the case in question, the lessee's wife had been taken sick nigh unto death. The services and sympathies of the clergyman were called in. The reverend gentleman was asked to engage in prayer at the bedside. He did so, and began, "O Lord—"

"Whist!" interrupted the feeble woman, "I think I hear a cart."

New Life for Functions Weakened by Disease, Debility and Dissipation.

The GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR is the only specific for impotency, nervous debility, universal lassitude, forgetfulness, pain in the back or sides. No matter how shattered the system may be from excesses of any kind, the Great German Remedy will restore the lost functions and secure health and happiness. $1.00 per box, six boxes for $5.00. Sold by all druggists. Sent on receipt of price, postage paid, by F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for the United States. Circulars and testimonials sent free. 30-2t

NEVER GIVE UP.—If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & Macdonald.

The Contented Man,

Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

PROTECTION!

The undersigned would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Norwood and surrounding country that he has leased for a number of years, the Grist Mill belonging to Mr. N. H. Gould, on Colborne Street, Norwood, and is now prepared to carry on the

in all its various branches. The mill has just been enlarged and additions made to the premises that will add materially to its capacity and convenience. A large amount of new machinery, of the very latest improvements, has also been added to meet the requirements of the mill, which has received such a thorough renewing and refitting as the public may rely in future on all kinds of Gristing and Milling being performed in such a manner as to give entire satifaction in all its departments. Having had a large and varied experience in the gristing business in different parts of Canada, and having always been patronized with a large amount of Custom Gristing in in all its different branches, as has been a convincing proof of the quality of the work performed by him, he can confidently ask the patronage of the people of Norwood and vicinity. Flour and Mill Feed of all kinds kept constantly on hand. Farmers may rely upon having their Gristing home with them on the day brought to the mill. A Call Respectfully Solicited.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

Local News Record.

THE TENDERS for the repairs to St. Paul's Church exceeded the estimates, and no contract was awarded.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Thos. Pratt, a carpenter of Simcoe Street, fell from a pier on which he was working at the Pulp Mills, Dickson's dam, and dislocated his shoulder.

THE VOTERS' LIST for the town for the year 1882 will contain far more names than that of last year. The frequent occurrence of new names indicates a decided increase of our population.

A SHORT TIME since the expansion of business caused Mr. Wm. Hamilton to enlarge his moulding shop. Now the blacksmith shop is too small and work on the building of an addition has been begun.

TO IDYL-WILD.—Within the fortnight there will be three excursions to this delightful retreat. The Bible Christian pic-nic next Tuesday, the Lacrosse Club next Thursday, and the True Blues on the 14th of August.

IMPROVEMENT.—A decided improvement is being made in the Oriental Hotel. About thirty or thirty-five feet of the front wall of the first story is being taken out to provide for a recessed porch about five and a half feet broad, which will make a very pleasant sitting room these moonlight evenings.

RUFFIANISM.—On Monday night some miserable miscreants wrenched off and tumbled into the river about twelve feet of the railing of the Hunter Street Bridge on the north side and at the west end, where it joins the wooden railing. The railing should be renewed and accidents prevented.

APPOINTMENTS.—E. B. Edwards, Esq., barrister, etc., has been appointed a Notary Public for the Province of Ontario. Mr. Roswell Chapins, of Lakefield, has been appointed bailiff of the Fourth Division Court of the County of Peterborough, in the place of J. H. Davis, resigned.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.—On Monday at about 2.35, a brakeman named Gott, of Port Hope, had one thigh crushed off and the other injured, while helping shunt a train on the Midland Railway at Midland. Amputation was performed, but he did not survive the operation, dying in a few hours.

A BIG CAST.—On Friday afternoon next, the largest casting ever made in Peterborough will be run at Wm. Hamilton's foundry. It will be a fly wheel for the Craig Mill, in Winnipeg, for which the boilers were shipped on Tuesday. It will be 12 feet in diameter, and require nearly five tons of molten metal. It will be cast entire, polished, and then be divided into two segments for transportation.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The traffic of the Midland railway for the week ending July 15th, 1882, were as follows:—Passengers and mails, $8,901.73; freight, $13,214.84; total, $22,116.57, as compared with $17,732.39 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $4.384.18; and the aggregate traffic to date is $524,921.38. being an increase of $140,538.87 over 1881.

THE EXTRA DEMAND for repairs arising from the harvesting and threshing season, makes busy times at the machine shops. The workmen, who have to work overtime, say the farmers wait till the last minute before they bring their work in, making a rush and long hours in hot weather, and repairs hurriedly and consequently not so well done. The good farmer doesn't wait until the very day he wants to use a machine before he sees it is ready for work.

A FINE TEAM.—Mr. D. Belleghem, undertaker, has purchased a splendid team of black horses from Mr. Geo. Berube, of Lakefield. The figure was $400. These fine animals are intended to be used as a hearse team. It is hardly the thing to wish Mr. B. increased success in this branch of his business, but we are sure the public will appreciate the enterprise, which will admit of the last earthly stage of the journey to the unknown, being taken in a becoming style of respectability, if not splendor.

BAPTIST EXCURSION.—About four hundred took the train at ten o'clock last Friday. The party arrived safely and pic-nicked at the Summit. There were two sharp showers of rain, but they were but slight drawbacks to the day's enjoyment. Not because of the predilection of this denomination for water, but because the coaches were left beside the grounds and the scampering crowds took safe refuge therein. The excursion returned home—all safe—in good season. Everybody charmed with the success of the annual outing.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—On Wednesday night, August 2d, a grand excursion under the management of the 57th Battalion Peterborough Rangers, the Peterborough Fire Brigade and the Band, will take place. The steamer Golden-Eye will leave the wharf at 8 o'clock sharp, and go down the Otonabee as far as Hale's bridge and return. On the palace barge, attached for dancing, a first-class quadrille band will be found, and the Fire Brigade Band will play selections on the steamer. Tickets only 25 cents each.

THANKS.—Mr. E. C. Hill will kindly accept our thanks for copies of Philadelphia papers.

THE WALK on the east side of George Street is suffering renewal in very deliberate instalments.

THE ST. ANDREWS' Church excursion, from Belleville to Peterborough will take place on August 3rd.

NEW POST OFFICE.—A new Post Office, Clanricarde, Anstruther township, county of Peterborough, has been opened. Alex Graham, Post-master.

CIVIC HOLIDAY.—In case the council concur in the day nominated by His Worship the mayor, Monday, the 14th of August will be Peterborough's civic holiday.

THE SPLENDID PROGRAMME performed by the band on the market square on Friday night was highly appreciated by a large number of promenaders. A first-class programme for next Friday night.

THE MARKET these days is gorgeous with displays of green vegetables, ripe fruits, and beastly high prices. The supply in any of the lines is not abundant, the most plentiful commodity being the price.

THE EXPEDITIOUS MANNER in which Charlotte Street was cleaned and the filth removed, was a credit to the corps de shovel. If the work didn't permanently cure this busy thoroughfare of dust, it greatly discouraged it.

THE WAY THE WHEAT GOES.—The other day Mr. Robert Goodfellow, of Monaghan, shot a "chipmunk" returning from a plundering excursion to his granary. On examination it was found that the little robber's loot consisted of 270 grains of wheat, stowed away in his capacious "chops." Two or three dozen trips per day, with a similar cargo would soon amount to a sensible diminution of the contents of the granary.

NEW BUSINESS FIRM.—The commodious and excellent business stand in the market block, corner of George and Simcoe streets, last occupied by Mr. John Garvey, has wakened from the solitude of the last few months and is now the scene of busy preparation for the reception of a new business. Mr. Macfarlane Wilson has leased the premises and it is being fitted up in genuine city style, for an extensive crockery, china and glassware establishment. Mr. Wilson comes from St. Thomas, with excellent recommendations as to square dealing, energy and enterprise, and we have no doubt that "China Hall" will be an important and flourishing addition to the mercantile interests of Peterborough. We commend "China Hall" and its proprietor, Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, to the good will of the public.

STEVENSON'S STOREHOUSE.—In our issue of last week we published a brief notice of the repairs being made to Stevenson's storehouse, corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets. But the improvements are more extensive than at that time appeared. Workmen are now busily engaged in raising the roof bodily about five and a half feet, which will increase the storage capacity twenty thousand bushels, making the total capacity sixty thousand bushels. In addition two elevators are to be erected in the centre line of the building about twenty feet from each end. Power will be supplied these by a seven or eight horse power gas engine. The grain will be weighed and dumped into the receiving hopper on the ground floor, elevated into the two cupolas, which will rise about eight feet above the main roof, and thence be distributed by chutes to the bins on either side on the different floors as desired.

A PONDEROUS CARLOAD.—On Tuesday, Mr. Wm. Hamilton shipped for Manitoba a carload containing two forty horse power boilers with furnaces and grate bars and a smoke stack over 100 feet long. They are part of an order for machinery for a large mill in Manitoba. The boilers, which weighed nearly 5 tons each, were drawn from the foundary by Mr. Michael O'Donnell's street watering team. These elephantine animals ambled along with their heavy load as easily as a girl would push an empty baby-barrow. The truck on which the boilers were hauled would, when empty, make a good draw for a common team. The Ontario and Quebec Railway are negotiating for the purchase of Mr. O'D's team. The smoke stack above referred to is three feet in diameter and weighs nearly a ton. It is high praise of the excellence of Peterborough work of this kind, when places nearer to Winnipeg than we are, are passed over and the extra freight from Peterborough paid for the sake of getting a first-class article.

TO THE THOUSAND ISLANDS.—Our readers and the public generally will be pleased to learn that arrangements have been completed for two grand holiday excursions to Brockville and return, over the Midland Railway by regular morning trains to Port Hope, on Friday, August 11th, and thence by steamer Norseman; and on Saturday, the 12th, to Belleville and down the Bay of Quinte by steamer Hero. These excursions visit the great American camp grounds—situated in the heart of the Thousand Islands—Alexandria Bay, St. Lawrence Park, (where the Methodist Sunday School Parliament will be in session) and the beautiful town of Brockville. Tourists patronizing these excursions can remain three days or a week; can go one route and return another, or stay and visit such places of interest as they desire, including the Penetentiary and Asylum, Kingston. Such an opportunity does not often occur and we advise our readers who wish a delightful trip over one of the most magnificent and beautiful water-stretches on the continent to take advantage of it. For particulars see small bills.

CAMPING OUT.—The season of outings has begun and there is as general a return as possible to the nomadic habits of our remote ancestors. Every body who can is or is preparing to spend a few days or weeks in "camping out," to substitute the pure air of the wilderness for the dusty and stifling environments of urban existence in the "dog days;" to substitute for the turmoil and worry of business and trade the delightful do-nothing luxury of camp life. But the pleasure of the change is, perhaps, more a matter of sentiment than fact; the improvement likely, really consisting in a variation of the forms of annoyance that seem to fall so patly in the pathway of the race of life. No doubt

'Tis sweet to the depths of the wildwood to hie,
And all worry and flurry to veto;

but, perhaps, after all, it will be found on experience it will only, in effect be,

To exchange the blithe hum of the cheerful house-fly
For the prod of the tuneful mosquito.

Yet they all will do it, and for the next month at least, all who can command—or coax or beg or borrow the luxury, will be enjoying the in-tents pleasure of camp life among our beautiful back lakes. The begira from town has already began. On Thursday last, two or three parties of several each and some from the surrounding country, all well provided with the paraphernalia necessary to make roughing it delightful and romantically pleasant, started out.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2nd, IS THE DAY FIXED FOR THE GRAND OPENING OF THE CHINA HALL

MACFARLANE WILSON.

RAILWAY NOTES.

A neat station has been built at Keene, and an extra siding laid down.

Sunday schools with their excursions contribute largely to the incidental traffic returns of the railroads.

Work has begun at another spot on the Toronto & Ottawa, in town, east of the main Midland track.

Messrs. McDermid and Hendrie began work with 150 men in Cavan near Bethany on the O. & Q. R'y.

The swing bridge at Lindsay, crossing the river above the station, has been repaired and strengthened by additional tie rods.

Owing to the recent heavy traffic on the Midland a special train has been running between Toronto and Midland for the past few days.

The Register says that surveyors have been engaged, during this and the past week, in re-surveying the line of the Ontario and Quebec through Norwood.

A large gang of men have commenced construction on the Toronto and Ottawa Railway near the village of Arden. The wages paid are from $1.25 to $1.40 a day.

After completing the grading, on the Toronto and Ottawa, between Townsend and Rink streets, between which the Ontario & Quebec crosses the former, the gangs have gone elsewhere to work.

Mr. Bray, C. E., started on Monday last to hand over to the contractors the sections of the Ontario & Quebec railway between Marmora and Norwood. Work, it is said, will be commenced at once.

The Intelligencer says that it does not seem possible that the proposed railway elevator at Belleville can now be erected this year. The material is nearly all ready, but the site has not yet been chosen

The Ontario says that a brakeman named George Chambers, while coupling cars in the Grand Junction yard at Belleville on Thursday afternoon, was caught just above the hips and badly injured. It is feared some of his ribs are broken.

The whole of the five mile contracts on the Ontario and Quebec Railway between Sharbot Lake and Toronto have been let. The company build the line themselves, from Perth to the Kingston and Pembroke Railway crossing.

The Post says that the Midland railway Company are putting up a new telegraph wire along the line of the road from Port Hope to Midland. The general business of the road has grown to such dimensions that one wire does not give anything like the accommodation demanded. The new line will be used for business, and the old one altogether for train despatching and matters connected with the motive power and mechanical departments. The wire is now up as far north as Cambray station. The crossing at Lindsay is made by a cable underneath the river.

The locomotive, No. 32, which was rebuilt in the shops of the Midland in Lindsay, has been on the road for the past two weeks and gives the greatest satisfaction. The engine was so thoroughly repaired that it is practically a new one. The work reflects great credit on the ability of the men in charge at this point to do a thing of this kind, only second in importance to building the engine in the first place. Advantage has been taken of a slack spell to make several improvements in the shops which will give more room and a better arrangement of the tools.

In connection with work on the Toronto & Ottawa (the Midland) it might be stated that 400 men are now at work between Peterborough and Omemee, and about 450 men between Bridgewater and Perth. The piece between Madoc and Bridgewater has just been completed. The contractors are Messrs, Parr & Wood, of Brockville. The section between Wick and Manilla, which is under contract to Mr. George Wheeler, M.P., is just being completed. Mr. Beemer has twelve months to finish his contract between Bridgewater and Perth, and if he can obtain all the labor he requires he will be able to complete it within that time.

The Globe says that Mr. Lumsden, Chief Engineer of the Quebec and Ontario railway, and Mr. James Ross, Consulting Engineer, went to Perth on Saturday for the purpose of inspecting the work in progress there. On this line there are some thirty-eight sections of five miles each most of which are now under contract. From Perth to Kingston & Pembroke crossing the work is being done by the company. Messrs Hugh and Patrick Ryan have the four succeeding sections of twenty miles. Mr. Carroll follows with three sections, or fifteen miles. On this last contract work was commenced on Monday last, and some thirty or forty men are now at work. Mr. Carroll is at present in Ottawa for the purpose of engaging more men. Among the contractors for the other section are Messrs. Gibson & Dickson, Booth & Cosgrove, and J. David and Angus McDonald. The first named firm are building in Pickering, and the second sections east of Yorkville. Sections 21, 22 and 23 are likely to be awarded to Mr. McMahon, of St. Catharines. First-class contractors have been secured for all the sections.

POLICE COURT.

The Culprits and the Cadi.

THURSDAY.

John Sullivan, a veteran vagrant was sent up for three months at hard labor—hoeing potatoes or sprawling on the grass in the Court House park.

A charge of drunkenness was also proven against the sinful Sullivan, and lest he should injudiciously squander the money made while working out his three months sentence for vagrancy, he was fined $1.00 to be paid on the expiration of his first sentence.

FRIDAY.

The fine in the case of McGhee vs. Chamberlain charged with obstructing the streets on the 12th of July, which was admitted, was imposed—$1,00, and $2.00 costs.

John Sullivan, Louis Drake, Michael Cardiff, and David Lacy were charged with breech of the peace on the previous Monday night. There was whiskey and fighting, Lacey being pretty well thumped. Each fined $5.00 and costs or an equivalent of time in jail,

SATURDAY.

Wm Hoosack, a farm laborer, was arrested for being drunk on Tuesday. Being arraigned he was too drunk to plead and kept over till this morning. He acknowledged the corn—juice, and was fined $1.00 which he promptly paid, and then struck out for the harvest field.

MONDAY.

James Bird was found in the corridors of the halls of justice, at the door of the Police Court, on Saturday morning. Jerked before the Cadi on Monday and $1.00 was collected.

TUESDAY.

This day's record was a blank. There was a spirited discussion between the Cadi and his subordinates as to whom was responsible for the absence of business, but no decision arrived at.

WEDNESDAY.

There was a clean slate this morning, but the gap was filled by an afternoon session on Tuesday before Mayor Smith. James Smith and William Walsh were arraigned for being drunk and disorderly, and drunk, respectively, and fined $3.00 and $2.00.

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

BOBCAYGEON.

The park is being cleared up by the help of "bees," one of which raked the surface and built the band stand on Friday.

The hay crop in this neighborhood says the Independent, is quite an average. Mr. Fairbairn has cut Timothy grass measuring 7 ft. 3 in. This is pretty tall grass but we were told this by Mr. Fairbairn himself, and it should be remembered that Mr. Fairbairn is a regular attendant at the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Smiff has an attack of a monomania on the subject of moonlight excursions. The gravity of the case is indicated by his calling out for "more pop."

The Rockland House bus upset the other morning with a load of children and Percy Edwards received a severe cut on the head.

COBOURG.

About twenty-five candidates were confirmed by the Bishop of Toronto at St. Pauls, Church on Sunday.

On Wednesday night an attempt was made to burglarize the residence of Mr. W. H. Floyd, Town Clerk, in the west end of the town by forcing an entrance through the window, but while in the act of entering, the party were frightened away by the discharge of the occupant's revolver.

The Sentinel-Star claims to be one of the oldest newspapers in the Dominion. Its Toryism is certainly of the most antique office-at-any price, variety.

NORWOOD.

Mr. W. Searight is fitting up a bake shop on Peterborough Street. The other bakers say "the more the merrier"

Good men are being offered from $2.00 to $2.50 per day, to work in the harvest field. One man residing near this village, offered $3.00 per day.

Mr. S. Brown has purchased Mr. Eddy's steam saw-mill. He intends, we believe, overhauling and refitting the mill.

Mr. W. Foster took from his garden, 3 weeks ago potatoes suitable for table use. The farmers in this neighborhood report the crop unusually heavy.

Mr. J. S. Patterson, while adjusting a belt on a circular saw in the Hub & Spoke Factory on Tuesday last, had the misfortune to have one of his hands badly fractured.

OMEMEE.

On Monday last Mr. S. Sandy, head sawyer in Kincaid's mill, met with a slight accident while filing a saw. By some means one of the teeth was driven into the back of his hand from which the blood flowed quite freely, making an ugly wound.

The Emily Branch Agricultural Society has a membership for the year 1882 of 112.

Mr. A. Williamson was thrown from a buggy while on his way from Lindsay, and had his collar-bone fractured.

On Sunday morning a vacant house, owned by Mr. Wm. Matchett of Lindsay, was set on fire by an incendiary and destroyed.

HASTINGS.

According to the Star Hastings is bothered with drunken Norwooders.

The Star regrets the removal of one of its citizens in the person of Mr. Mackay who is about engaging in business in his old home, Campbellford. We are informed that he will open a large dry goods store in the Irwin and Fletcher Block. We trust friend Mack will be successful in his venture. Mr. M., and family left our village on Saturday morning and carry with them the good wishes of numerous friends.

The steamer Dora brought to the village on Monday last a party of distinguished visitors consistng of Mrs. General Sherman and daughter, Col. Montgomery and lady, Washington, D. C., Mr. Hunt, London England; Mrs. Wilson and a number of pupils from Mr. Barnes private school, Gore's Landing.

LINDSAY.

Wm. Begley, son of Mr. John Begley, met with an accident while adjusting a belt in his father's cabinet shop that deprived him of the ends of all the fingers of the left hand.

The Lindsay drill shed is, this summer, occupied as a store house for agricultural machinery.

On Monday a wrestling match between Mulcahy, of the township of Emily, and Hunson, of the Midland Railway, came off at Lindsay. The former winning by two out of three falls. There was a large attendance to witness the contest.

A bold attempt at burglary was made on the residence of Mr. G. H. Fox a few nights ago, the would-be thieves gaining an entrance through the cellar.

Lindsay, according to the Post, is so troubled with petty thieves that it isn't safe to leave a pump handle out over night; and even baby carriages are stolen.

The Post makes grevious complainsts of the ravages made by vagrant cows and pigs in this harassed hamlet.

According to the notice of the Canada Gazette, the following gentlemen compose the Lindsay Paper Mills Company (limited): Col. A. A. Stevenson, W. D. O'Brien, Richard Jellyman, Richard White, of the Gazette, A. A. Brown' Senator A. W. O'Gilvie, Henry Dobell, Peter A. Paterson, Henry J. Tiffin, A. H. Plimsoll, A. H. Sims, Chas. R. Hosmer, Robt. Campbell, George W. Craig, Miss Emily C. S. Bagg, and Chas T. Gibbs, all of Montreal, and S. A. McMurtry, banker, Lindsay. The notice states that the company is formed for the purpose of manufacturing and dealing in rice grass and other material used in connection with the manufacture of paper or paper stock or combination of paper and other material. The capital is $80,000, in six hundred shares of $100.

Mr. W. Macdonnell, of Lindsay, the Canadian author, has written and composed an opera in three acts, entitled "The Fisherman's Daughter," which will be ready for the stage before long. Experienced critics, says the Globe, "have pronounced a very favorable judgment upon the production. A desire has been expressed that the opera should have its first performance in Toronto, with one of the local opera companies supplying the chorus. As British Grenadiers appear in two of the acts, the service of a company of the Tenth Royal Grenadiers will be requested from the commanding officers. Mr. Macdonnell has also written another novel, which is now in the press."

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

The News from day to Day.

THURSDAY, JULY 27th.

One of the most important items of news conveyed by the latest despatches regarding the Eastern position is that Germany is stated on good authority to favour England's policy so long as she holds to her "police" duties, Germany reserving to herself the right to intervene in the final settlement of the question.

The policy of calling out the reserves has been approved by the British House of Commons, but the Chamber adjourned before voting on the war credit asked for by the Ministry. In the meantime the preparations against the rebels in Egypt are being hurried forward.

The question of questions—what shall be done in Egypt?—threatens to wreck the French Ministry, as, if the next vote—on the war credit—is adverse to De Freycinet, dissolution is said to be unavoidable.

At the seat of war the British have moved their position closer to that of Arabi. The rebel leader is not pushing forward his operation swith the steadiness which has hitherto characterized his actions—owing probably, to dissensions in his camp. He has sent to the Khedive a statement of the terms on which he will surrender. His offence must be condoned and he allowed to retain command of a portion of these troops now participating with him in the rebellion. The terms have been of course rejected. It is said that Arabi has sent a half-threatening note to the Sultan warning that ruler not to send troops to Egypt nor to proclaim him (Arabi) as a rebel.

A night attack was made by the Egyptians on the British force, but the attacking party were repulsed without much difficulty.

FRIDAY.

To-day's war news is brief Arabi is reported to have made peace overtures, on condition that he and his staff get free pardons. The proposal, which is as yet indirect may come to nothing, and may be a mere subterfuge to gain time. Aboukir fort is not to be bombarded meanwhile, but preparations for the attack of the rebel forces will go on with as much expedition as possible. Turkey signifies her intention to send troops to Egypt at once. The Sultan would now like to take the settlement of the dispute into his own hands, but Mr. Gladstone says the time for that has passed, and Turkish troops can only co-operate with the British forces.

SATURDAY.

Arabi Bey is said to be sueing for peace, his terms being immunity from punishment and retention of rank and pay by himself and friends, he and they to go into voluntary retirement. Arabi says he would not oppose Turkish troops if they acted by themselves, but still sticks to his original claim that the British desire to conquer the country. A deputation from Arabi waited upon the Khedive, representing the justice of the rebels' case, but Tewfik declined to receive them as from the insurgent party, holding their visit to be an act of homage. Arabi's peaceful overtures hardly coincide with his boasts made that he had founded a temporary Government, with its head at Cairo, and that he alone is in command in the rebel camp. His offer is held by the British to be only a ruse for gaining time, and the warlike preparations are being pushed on as before. The forts at Aboukir are covered by the Inflexible, which rides at present out of range, and it is expected that she will bombard the place. Except for a few shots fired at a railway train on the line covered by Arabi's force, there has been no fighting, but an important engagement is expected to day. Stern measures of repression are still necessary to uphold the law in Alexandria, but order is being gradually restored. A report comes among the latest despatches that Turkey has made overtures to Britain to take Egypt on the same terms as those on which Cyprus was taken over.

MONDAY.

The despatches concerning the war show that the influence of the trouble is extending wider every day, and that all the European nations are keenly on the watch that their respective interests may not be injuriously affected. De Freycinet's Cabinet, which has for so short time held office in France, has resigned on the vote for an Egyptian war credit, and it is said that Leon Say will form a Cabinet. The result is looked upon favourably in Germany as a sign that France favours a policy of non-intervention. In England the preparations to push the rebel chief to the wall are being actively continued. It is expected that Sir Garnet Wolseley, who has been suffering from an attack of Cyprus fever, will start for Egypt at the end of the week. The Turkish intervention, it is feared, will end in embroiling England with the Porte, as a religious war is being openly preached, and the Sultan's demeanour to Lord Dufferin has been cold and distant, not to say insolent. Russia is watching her opportunity and has, it is thought retired from the Conference. Germany continues to support England. The Aboukir forts will probably not be bombarded for the present.

TUESDAY.

The European Conference has been broken up by the virtual withdrawal of Russia, for reasons best known to herself, from the deliberations. The Sultan has partially shown his hand in informing England that the demand for Arabi's proclamation as a rebel concerns the Conference, hoping doubtless to gain time by this means in the hope of something favourable turning up. The British Ambassador before the Conference broke up signified England's intention of performing the duty of restoring order in Egypt, which has been forced on her by Turkey's inactivity. De Lesseps continues his fanatical course, and succeeded in doing much harm by his rash and senseless utterances. It is probably chiefly through his instrumentality that the French Government has been prevailed upon to ingloriously retreat, without firing a shot, after many of its subjects have been massacred and are still in danger. The French residents of Port Said have protested against the proposed withdrawal of their fleet, and will seek the protection of the United States fleet. Yesterday the Grenadier Guards embarked for the seat of war, the wild enthusiasm which was displayed on the occasion demonstrating the feeling of the British public on this question. The motion for the despatch of India troops to Egypt was carried in the Commons by an overwhelming majority. Sir Garnet Wolseley has recovered from his sickness, and will start for the seat of war on Friday. Meanwhile Arabi is doing his best to strengthen his position and excite and encourage his followers.

WEDNESDAY.

The straits to which the Porte has found himself reduced has caused him to somewhat soften the tone of his communications to Lord Dufferin. He has indicated his willingness to declare Arabi a rebel on certain conditions, which were not accepted. Negotiations on the subject are progressing. The first detachment of Turkish troops have embarked for Egypt, but England will not allow them to land unless they agree to remain subordinate to General Wolseley and obey his orders. Arabi, who is kept constantly informed upon all negotiations at Constantinople, probably perceiving indications of the Sultan's early submission to England's demands, has adopted the desperate resolution of marching upon Alexandria, and at 8 p. m. last night firing had commenced between the British outposts and his advance guard. He has a large body of troops, and appears from his movements to contemplate surrounding the city and driving out the British. To-day the Mex forts, near which Bedouins have been observed hovering, will be occupied, and a vigorous defence will be made. Russia has joined the Conference, but her action in drawing from the deliberations has excited suspicion, and her future action will be closely watched. It is now proposed that a collective occupation of the Suez Canal be undertaken by the Powers, but it is doubtful whether this will de accepted by all the Powers interested. Troops are leaving England daily for the scene of action, and are loudly cheered by crowds who witness their departure.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

On Thursday night last, about 10 o'clock, during the prevalence of a heavy rain and thunder storm, the barn of Mr. George Lipsett, of Asphodel, (residing about a mile north of Norwood) was struck by lightning, and totally destroyed. Mr. Lipsett had just completed the drawing in of his hay, about 12 tons, which, together with a few farming utensils, were burned. A few neighbors, seeing the fire, rendered valuable assistance, and saved quite a number of farming implements. The barn was a very fine one and was constructed in such a manner as to afford the utmost convenience for all farming purposes. Fortunately Mr. Lipsett is well insured, having been insured in the London Mutual for $400 on buildings and $400 on contents. The barn will soon be replaced, as the morning after the fire Mr. Lipsett commenced the construction of another one.

ANOTHER BARN BURNED.

A large barn situated on the farm of Mr. Coughlan, a short distance from Norwood, was destroyed by fire on Monday morning last. It was quite empty at the time, but the building was comparatively a new one, and will be a serious loss to Mr. C., as it was now required for the stowage of the products of the fields surrounding it. It is said that on the previous Sunday night, some boys were seen at the barn serenely enjoying a consoling evening smoke from pipes and cigars, and it is supposed that they left embers from their smoking materials that caused the fire. No insurance.

OBITUARY.

The sad intelligence was received here on Friday last of the death of Mrs. Fotheringham, wife of the Rev. T. F. Fotheringham, a few years ago resident Presbyterian minister of this village. Both had left here some time ago for more temperate climes for the improvement of their health, and had only returned to Toronto a short time, where she expired on Friday afternoon last. Her demise is deeply regretted in this village and community, where she was well known, and highly esteemed by all classes. Mr. W. E. Roxborough of Norwood, attended her funeral, which took place at Toronto on Monday afternoon last.

CHANGED HANDS.

The stage route between here and Peterborough has again changed hands, Mr. Bristow Moffat purchasing the goodwill, vehicles, &c., of the line from Mr. Patterson. Mr. Moffat has, by his energy and good business tact, made the Norwood and Marmora stage line a successful venture, and he no doubt will make the west end stage route a profitable investment.

THE SURVEY.

Mr. John Manion, of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, has just about completed the purchase of the rights of way for this line from the farmers through whose land it will run in Asphodel. The prices range from $35 to $110. He says he experienced no trouble at all with the farmers he had to deal with, and all, so anxious were they for the construction of the road, were desirous of dealing equitably with them. Mr. Wm. Wilson, makes the peculiar though straightforward offers of giving the company, if they change the course of the line, the land they require through his farm for the nominal sum of one dollar; $1000 if they do not touch his property; or to accept $1000 if they must have the land surveyed for the line. It is expected the company, rather than change the line, will give the $1000.

A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Hicken's flour mill, Water and Pike streets was burned to-day. The flames spread with great rapidity and 500 workmen were obliged to run for their lives. Nobody was reported missing. The loss will be heavy. Several other buildings caught fire. A fireman had his leg broken; two others were overcome by the heat. The firemen were not able to approach within three hundred feet of the burning building on account of the intense heat. Several tenements were gutted. The inmates escaped with their lives, but many lost all their furniture. The loss to Hecker is half a million. The building of the seamen's association on Cherry street was only saved by the strenuous exertions of the firemen. It included the seamen's exchange and the east side of the savings bank. The Hudson mills, owned by Sanger, Beers & Fisher, were completely gutted. The fire is still raging, though partially under control. Thirty engines and hook and ladder companies are present. The total loss will be over a million.

The Holiday Season.

The enervating influence of the heated term is upon all of us or perhaps to speak more strictly, all are subjected to it, but all are not in a position to take advantage of that delightful period of relaxation, involved in the general term of taking a holiday. To the fortunate few this season means in reality much. They, whose life is one perpetual holiday, whose only business is pleasure seeking, can only regard the season as a variation in the means employed by them for killing time. But to the plodding and indefatigably industrious business man and his long-suffering employees the term holiday is pregnant with meaning. During the past year, the days and the performance of the duties of their positions have gone on with treadmill regularity, till the weary round has become almost a second nature, and life instead of yielding a brisk spontaniety to the demands of duty, becomes a mere matter of routine.

The hot weather comes sweltering on and completes the conditions that render a holiday an imperative necessity. The holiday is taken and the taker at the end of it, may return bronzed, weather beaten, fly bitten, and blistered as to his hands and peeled as to the tip of his nose and perhaps for the moment, tired, but for all that a new man, with new feelings, new promptings and new fitness to meet the toils that day after day may bring.

The man in business who thinks the vacation a waste of time and acts accordingly is making exhausting drafts on his most important capital, his health, and impaired health betogs his brain and weakens his bargain-making powers and there results not only a loss of material wealth but of physical vitality. The same applies to those in his employ. He makes a great mistake, if he debars them from an opportunity of recruiting their exhausted energies and fitting themselves for doing him double service. Not only will they be physically strengthened, but gratitude for the gift of a holiday cooperating with an increased elasticity of spirit, will prompt them to render him a much more efficient service. And so on through the whole of business and professional circles, in which, workers toil with brain or hand. Rest and relaxation are a law of nature.

The tree whose boughs bear up the emerald burden of leafy June, and by autumn lays down its burden and rests through the holiday time of winter, in the spring takes on a fresher garb of more glorious and vigorous green.

Everybody that can find the leisure and means to do so, steps out of harness and takes a holiday. Still there are those whose life is a hand-to-hand and from day to day against want with the weapons of toil. When one thinks of these, and that they have only one day in seven and that hedged round with legal restraints both ecclesiastical and lay, he is tempted to believe that there is scant sin in the children of toil and poverty making, in a decorous way, the Sabbath a day of holidaying and pleasure-seeking.

Will not He who is Lord of the Sabbath, He who rebuked the hollow Pharisee and the stern Saducee for finding fault with his disciples for plucking corn on the Sabbath day, deal indulgently with His poor whose sin is but in seeking to make Sunday a day of rest. Preachers may prose from the pulpit the rest of the year about the sin of Sabbath-breaking, but when the heated term comes the most of them must have their "purse" presented and take their play spell, while the slumbering echoes of their previous platitudes are the only gospel message that represents their vacant pulpits. Charity is often more excellent than the letter of the law.

The Dominion Civil Service Board of Examiners has been nominated. The names of the examiners are Dr. Thorburn A. D. DeCelles and Peter Le Sueur.

Notes of the Day.

Forty years ago Milwaukee had a population of 275 all told. In four years it advanced to 1,100. In 1850 it had 20,000 inhabitants; in 1860, 45,000; and at the end of 1881, 120,000. The city, strange to say, has passed from the influence of one nationality to that of another. Its founder was a Frenchman and he peopled it with French colonists. Soon a German followed and brought in his train a cohort of his own patriots, and the Teutonic element has since remained predominant. In wealth, in importance, and in population the prosperity of the city illustrates both the excellence of the Germans as colonists and their proverbial exclusiveness. Germany claims 55 per cent.; Anglo-America, 25; Ireland, 10 per cent. of the total population. The Germans may point with pride to a state of development and civilization attained here by few other cities of the Union, and so exclusively by the labor of one nationality.

At San Francisco the desertions of seamen during the past year from British ships have increased considerably. The total number of crews belonging to ships of Britain in the harbour during that period was 10,241, and the desertions, excluding officers, amounted to over 32 per cent. The causes assigned for such a rapid increase over previous years are that great numbers of seamen are employed at high wages in the construction of railroads in the States and British Columbia, and the active steps taken by the Seamen's Boarding Masters' Association in decoying men from their ships. The police force is utterly inadequate to prevent boarding-house runners from decoying seamen before the ships are safely anchored and the sails furled. A bonus of 20 to 30 dollars is frequently paid to these unscrupulous agents to secure a man. British ships have often been detained for weeks waiting for crews.

Where is the coldest and where the hottest places in the world? This is a query, the answer to which has not always been the same. We think Peterborough at times quite cold and also quite hot enough, but it is pleasant to think there are regions not so happily situated as our own lively town. Yakutsk, in Siberia, has often been cited as the coldest place on the earth. But a distinguished traveller claims this honour for Werkhogausk, in North-east Siberia; its longitude being 134° east from Greenwich, and latitude 67° N. Here the thermometer has actually registered 81° below zero. The hottest spot in the world is believed to have been discovered in the interior of Australia. A thermometer graduated to 127° Fah., and sheltered from both sun and wind rose until the mercury burst the tube. The thermometer must, therefore, have been at least 128°, the highest ever recorded on the globe.

Amongst the most prevalent of vices in Canada, we would be inclined to give a foremost place to the use of tobacco by juveniles. A walk in any Canadian town and a careful observation of the habits of boys would demonstrate most clearly the terrible height to which this disgusting habit of smoking and chewing has extended. When we remember that tobacco most certainly poisons the system, it is astonishing that so many take kindly to the weed. Youths under ten years of age are often seen smoking cigarettes, and mere boys with the greatest nonchalance whiff their pipes in the faces of men and women on our most public thoroughfares. It is considered a mark of manhood and a distinguished accomplishment to smoke or chew. England suffers less in this way than we do, yet, recently a national society for the suppression of juvenile smoking was founded there. Tobacco smoking was condemned as an unnecessary and grave evil—a habit which deranged the system and proved destructive to mind and body. We shall watch the steps this association may take in furtherance of the useful work they have in view.

The ever-varying yet constant excuses offered by non-paying newspaper subscribers, when dunned for these small sums, which are rarely promptly paid, and sometimes not at all, are thus humorously described by an exchange. We believe the Examiner, could add to the list of replies received, but we forbear for the present, hoping that this gentle reminder willl cause many whose subscriptions are long past due to come forward with "the ready rhino" without further delay:—

"Last week a man stepped up to us and said he would pay every cent he owed us if he lived until Saturday night. We presume the man died. Another said he would pay us in a day or two as sure as we were born. Query: Did the man lie or were we never born? Another said he would settle as sure as shooting. We are led to the conclusion that shooting is uncertain. Another said he hoped to go to the devil if he did not pay us in three days. Haven't seen him since, suppose he has gone, but we trust he has hoped in vain. Quite a number said they would see us to-morrow. These have been stricken blind, or else to-morrow has not come. One man told us six months ago that he would pay us as soon as he got some money. The man would not lie, so of course he has not got a cent since."

Referring to the progress of Methodism a speaker recently said that there was an increase of 160 per cent, during the first 25 years of its work in Canada and the United States. For the next quarter of a century the increase was 50 per cent, while for the last five years there has actually been a decrease of members amounting to about six per cent. In all the various divisions of Methodism throughout the world there are about 120,000 preachers, 600,000 Sunday School teachers, five million Sunday School scholars, and an equal number of Church members. Their churches number 100,000, which shows an increase of two every day for the last 140 years. From this it would appear that while the progress has been something marvellous, the maximum has been reached.

The growth of Farming in the United States is one great source of strength to the Republic. A vast number of immigrants have established themselves on lands in the Northwest and South during the last ten years. In 1870, there were but 2,660,000 farms, while in 1880, there were no less than 4,000,000 farms. This is an increase of 51 per cent, while the increase of population has been but thirty per cent. Dakota has had the largest increase, but in Florida and Alabama the increase has been remarkable also. This shows that the old plantations in the latter State have been subdivided into small holdings In fact the growth of the landlord class in the States is somewhat surprising. One would fancy in a new country every man would want to be his own landlord. In the Southern States, however, there is a surprising increase of landlordism. Even in the West, where we would hardly expect it, the same change is rapidly being made. In Indiana one fourth, in Illinois one third, in Iowa one fourth, and in Missouri one third of the farms are rented. Twenty years ago the lands in Illinois were farmed by freeholders. Now out of a total of 255,741 farms in the State, 80,244 are rented. This state of affairs means bad farming and poor crops, and presupposes the exhaustion of the public lands. We are rapidly approaching a similar condition of affairs in Canada, and the evil is coming more quickly upon us owing to the stupid and irrational policy of the Government as respects the Northwest in the allotment of large grants to speculators and colonization companies.

The Society for the propagation of the Gospel recently held its one hundred and eighty first annual meeting. This "venerable" society, as it is very worthily called, has done an immense work in extending the knowledge of the gospel among the heathen nations of the earth, and in caring spiritually for the wants of millions of British colonists in all parts of the earth. At present the number of ordained missionaries on their list is 594; of these 163 are laboring in Asia, 130 in Africa, 48 in Australia, 252 in America and the West Indies, and one in Europe, There are also in the various stations, mostly natives, 183 catechists and lay teachers and about 300 students in foreign colleges. The total receipts for the year 1881 were $674,890 as against $691,440 for 1880, the falling off being chiefly in special funds which have been turned into a different channel. This Society has been chiefly instrumental in forming some 140 dioceses and numerous mission stations in all parts of the world. It has done much as we have shown, but considering the wealth of England and the small number of parishes that contribute to its funds, and the importance of the work to be done, only a tithe of what might be accomplished by earnest, zealous and faithful effort in missionary labours has been done. Claims at home which are numerous enough and very pressing, will absolve some of us from obedience to the parting command, "go, teach all nations." A church's existence and her state in the sight of the Most High are determined precisely by the spirit and zeal she evinces in missionary labours. The Canadian churches have as yet done comparatively little in the foreign field. We believe they will never prosper as they ought at home until they obey in some measure the Macedonian cry—"come over and help us."

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Mr. Bedard, Reform, is contesting the return of Hon. A. P. Caron, Minister of Militia, in Quebec County.

Quebec Tory papers do not like the ballot. They advocate its speedy abolition.

The flesh pots of Egypt may not be empty, but they will not afford much nourishment after Arabi Bey has got done with them.

Wire-pulling is being done to secure the superannuation of the Collector of Customs at Quebec. Lieutenant-Governor Robitaille and ex-Speaker Blanchet are anxiously waiting for the vacancy.

The compromise offered by the Reformers of North Renfrew has been accepted by the Tories, and Mr. W B. McAllister, Independent, will be elected by acclamation to represent the riding in the Local Legislature.

Returns from British Columbia show that the Local Government has been defeated by an overwhelming majority. So far twelve Oppositions, four Governments, and one Independent have been elected. Four constituencies have yet to be heard from.

After the frequent and direct denials of rumours which have been made the announcement yesterday that Hon J. A. Chapleau had resigned the Premiership of Quebec and entered the Dominion Cabinet probably as Secretary of State was somewhat unexpected. Mr. Chapleau will be succeeded by Hon. Mr. Mousseau, who retires from Sir John's Cabinet. The Presidency of the Council will probably be accepted by Hon. Frank Smith. A Cabinet meeting will be held to-day at Quebec, when the distribution of portfolios will probably be discussed.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purpose. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Some Excellent Recipes.

CUCUMBER SALAD.—Slice the cucumbers an hour before they are needed, and sprinkle the slices plentifully with salt; set them on ice. Just before dinner drain away the salt liquor from the cucumbers and mix them, first with oil, and then with vinegar and pepper. They should be served very cold.

SUMMER MINCE PIE.—Four crackers rolled fine, one and one half cups sugar, one cup molasses, one cup vinegar, one cup water, two-thirds cup butter, one cup chopped raisins, two eggs, beaten and stirred in last thing, and spice to taste. Put some whole raisins on top of the pie before putting on the crust.

SCOTCH CAKE.—This is a genuine Scotch recipe, and is a great favorite with Scotch-Canadian families. Beat to a cream half a pound of butter, three quarters of a pound of granulated sugar, the whites of six eggs, half a teacup of cream, and one pound of Bermuda arrowroot. Add the beaten yolks of two of the eggs and a very little salt. Bake in a mould one hour or more.

PICKLED APPLES.—To ten pounds of fruit take seven pounds of sugar, three and one-half quarts of vinegar, three ounces of cinnamon, two ounces of cloves, whole. Pare and core the apples, then boil in syrup till soft.

SPICED PLUMS.—Seven pounds of plums, four pounds of sugar, one tablespoonful of cinnamon, cloves, one quart of vinegar. Boil thirty minutes.

ORANGE PIE.—Grate the peel of one fresh orange, take the juice and pulp of two large oranges; add to them one cup of sugar and the beaten yolks of three eggs. Mix one cup of sweet milk with the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Bake in puff paste.

WALNUT CATSUP.—Take young, tender walnuts, prick them in several places and lay them in a pan with a handful of salt to every twenty-five and water enough to cover them. Break them with a potato masher, and let them remain in this pickle one week, stirring them every day. Drain off the liquor and then cover the shells with boiling vinegar, crush them to a pulp and strain through a colander. To every quart add an ounce each of cloves, black pepper, ginger and nutmeg. Take a half teaspoonful of red pepper, one spoonful of celery seed and tie in a muslin bag and throw in; boil for one hour; when cool bottle.

The simplest and most effectual way of keeping out moths is red cedar chips. Keep them in drawers, wardrobes, closets, trunks, etc. They will also keep away the troublesome ant.

A cooling and healthful drink for warm weather will be found in a glass of oat-meal and ice-water. It is far better than either lemonade or soda-water, can be procured more easily at home, and is perfectly harmless.

Clovering for Thistles.

The veteran editor of the Rural Canadian is an enthusiastic advocate of clovering, and in the following sentences tells how to eradicate Canadian thistles by clovering, which he claims is far better than summer-fallowing and hoeing: "Sow clover, without a grain crop, on thistley land, well prepared by late fall ploughing; run the mowing machine over the ground before the thistles bloom; let the aftermath grow, which it will do faster than the thistles; mow again in due time; repeat the process the second year, and you may say 'good-bye' to the thistles. Is not this a far easier plan than 'early and often ploughing during the entire summer?' The field thus worked yields no crop, whereas on the clover method there is a crop of hay to pay for the labor, while the land which has been two seasons in clover is left in prime condition for a wheat or any other grain crop. Summer-fallowing is a relic of old fogy farming. It is a fight with nature, which aims to carpet the surface with some kind of a green growth. Let that green growth be clover, and the double work of cleaning and enriching the land will be most satisfactorily and thoroughly done."

GOODS.

HOW THE NAMES OF VARIOUS KINDS ARE DERIVED.

Many kinds of dry goods possess names whose origin is of much interest. An English authority states that damask is so named from the City of Damascus; satin from Zaytown, in China; calico from Calicut, and muslin from Mosul. Buckram derived its name from Bokhara; fustian comes from Fostat, a city of the Middle Ages, from which the modern Cario is descended. Taffeta and Tabby from a street in Bagdad. Cambric is from Cambrai. Gauze has its name from Gaza; braize from Bafae; dimity from Damietta, and jeans from Jaen. Drugget is derived from a city in Ireland, Drogheda. Duck, from which Tucker street in Bristol is named, comes from Torque, in Normandy. Diaper is not from D'Ypres, but from the Greek diapron, figured. Velvet is from the Italian velluto, wolly. Shawl is from the Sancrit sala, floor, for shawls were first used as carpets and tapestry. Bandanna is from an Indian word, meaning to bind or tie, because they are tied in knots before dyeing. Chintz comes from the Hindo word chett. Delaine is the French for "of wool."

HOW TO AVOID FAMILY QUARRELS.

Here is a recipt for avoiding family quarrels which may fairly claim credit for good sense and originality. It was given us by an old man, as invented and practised by a couple whom he used to know, "You see," he said, "they agreed between themselves that whenever he came home a little 'contrary' and out of temper, he wore his hat on the back of his head, and then he never said a word; and if she came in a little cross and crooked, she threw her shawl over her left shoulder, and then he never said a word." If similar danger signals could be pretty largely used, how many unnecessary collisions would be avoided, and how many a long train of evil consequences would be safely shunted till the line was clear again.

Flies and Bugs.

Flies, roaches, ants, bed-bugs, rats, mice, gophers, chipmunks, cleared out by "Rough on Rats." 15c.

When the young man stepped up to the soda fountain engineer with his country cousin he said he would take the usual thing, giving the engineer a peculiar wink. You can bet the engineer was dazed when the country girl said: "Well, that's good 'nough for me; I'll take the same," and gave him the same kind of a wink.

Messrs. Parken & Laird, of Hillsdale, writes: Our Mr. Laird having occasion to visit Scotland' and knowing the excellent qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, concluded to take some with him, and the result has been very astonishing. We may say that in several instances it has effected cures when ailments had been pronounced incurable by eminent practitioners.

DAKOTA LETTER.

From a former Peterborough Farmer.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:—

DEAR SIR.—Recently several prominent farmers for whom I have a warm affection, have written to me asking about the Red River country in north Dakota. However much I would like to write to each an individual letter, my time is so fully preoccupied that I cannot do so, and instead I write you for publication a short letter, which may, in some measure, give the information sought for by the parties above referred to.

The Red River valley is an enormous deposit of rich black loam, treeless, and free from stones or obstructions to the husbandman. No richer or finer soil can exist on all nature's broad green earth. The grain is sown late in the spring, as soon as the warm suns of the northern latitude have cleared away the snows of winter. The grain grows with marvellous rapidity. In August it is fully matured. All the farm work is done by machinery. The plowman rides his sulky plow; he rides and sows his grain with his seed drill or broadcast seeder; he rides upon his reaping machine and leaves his sheaves nicely bound upon the ground without touching a stem of it with his own hands, he wears his kid gloves and guides his team with as much comfort as the man who takes his pleasure drive in his pheaton. The threshing is done in the fields by steam threshers, driven by steam engines, using straw for fuel.

When threshing is done, if he has a granary he stores it there. If he has not been able to provide a granary he draws it to the elevator company's warehouse at the nearest town or railway depot, and there sells it, or by paying from one to three cents a bushel he stores it there until the market suits him to sell it. He takes from the warehouse men a storage ticket, and is entitled to draw it out or sell it to them at pleasure when he will. A good farm, well attended, properly seen and cared for will yield a net profit of from $9 to $15 an acre. I hold a man can sell wheat here at 55 cents a bushel and make more than he can make from it in Peterborough county at $1.10. I have sold no wheat here less than $1.00. While a crop of wheat may yield to a man here 30 or 35 bushels to the acre, there are others who do not obtain 15 bushels to the acre, but the fault is not in the soil or the climate.

Poor husbandry has many devotees here as well as elsewhere, but sobriety, and industry, well directed here, seldom if ever fail in accomplishing a respectable competence in a surprisingly short time, but here, as elsewhere, all are not successful. The ne'er-do-wells come here also. Physical strength, intelligence, industry and pluck, combined with capital, march right on to success in any line of business. An eastern man who would come here and bury himself up in his eastern notions will find himself amazed, will call the people excited, while business and time move by. If he has nerve and pluck to "catch on" he too will move, but if he looks on waiting for a chance, the world will soon leave him behind and he is lost sight of and disappears, and slides down to his eastern groove.

Many of your readers have heard of blizzards in winter. The Dacota blizzard usually blows three days from the north or south. It drives the dry snow with such resistless force that I have seen it so dense I could not see through it one rod distant. The particles of snow striking the face will blind, sting and smart like a shower of needles; this condition produces confusion, and hence it is, cases have occurred of farmers losing their way between their dwellings and stables or wells, and perishing. We seldom have more than one or two blizzards during the winter. This winter the only one we had was in March. The cold season is the Dakotian's pleasure time. No blizzards then, when the mercury is at 20 or 40 below zero, he marches out with his buffalo coat which is below his knee, with his cloth boots and arctics, fur mittens and cap he goes forth and laughs at the cold. All the rivers and streams are heavily fringed with timber and form a beautiful landscape. Towns and cities spring up as if by magic. We are here midway between the Atlantic and the Pacific coast, 1800 feet above the Gulf of Mexico, with all to the west of us yet to fill up. Railway construction is being pushed rapidly forward in advance of settlement, at the rate of 200 miles per annum. The average Dakotian predicts that within the next 25 years Dakota will be the centre of civilization of the American continent, having the great Winnipeg of the North West and the Hudson's Bay as a background. Railway connection west of this point is now made at Miles City, in Montana, 550 miles distant, and west of that point, in Wyoming, we can see the snow capped mountains of the Big Horn, like pyrimids piercing the blue heavens, 150 miles distant, while the smiling valleys below are dotted with the dwellings of the ranchmen. Far out in that distant space, I am told, a Peterborough man can count his herd and flocks by thousands. I have met many Peterborough men here; they have their own story to tell. I like the east well, but I nevermore care to return to remain. God bless Peterborough. He has blessed me here in greater abundance and I will here remain.

Excuse haste, more anon.

Very respectfully.

$11,500 FOR A JUG.

At the Hamilton sale in London there was sold a small jug carved out of solid jasper. The jug is variegated with brilliant reds, greens and grays, dotted with tiny gold specks. It must have been highly appreciated in France, for about the year 1745 it was artistically mounted in gold by Meissonier, a famous jeweller of the reign of Louis XV., probably to hide the edges of the jasper, which had been chipped. At the British Museum there is a platter or shallow basin which matches the ewer in every respect, save that it is unmounted. This came from the collection of Sir William Hamilton (no relation of the Duke) in 1772. The two articles were compared last week side by side. Mr. Mertheimer, who gave $11,500 for the jug, is of opinion that both were originally carved out of the same block. Possibly they formed a portion of the toilet service of some Byzantine noble.

Whenever coughs, colds and consumption exist, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral ought to be known and used. There never existed a sentiment so universal among all classes in favor of any other medicine as is entertained the world over in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The humblest patient in the pioneer's cabin, and the proudest dame in the metropolis alike use it, appreciate it, and speak its praises.

MRS. LINCOLN'S PREDICTION.

The story of Mrs. Lincoln writing, when a young girl, a letter in which she expressed a determination to become the wife of a president is confirmed by the production of the document, now in the possession of Gen. Preston of Lexington, Ky. It was addressed to a daughter of Gov. Wickliffe and contained a playful description of the gawky young Lincoln, to whom she was betrothed. Said she; "But I mean to make him president of the United States all the same. You will see that, as I always told you, I will yet be the president's wife."

A GRANDMOTHER'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

At Detroit, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, aged 73, had taken the notion that herself and a little 2-year-old grandchild, a son of Mr. Smith, were burdens and better out of the way, and prepared the fatal potion for herself and little grandson, and about 9 o'clock administered the poison. She immediately announced the facts stated above, that she would be better out of the way, saying, "I am tired of living, and want to take baby with me." About half an hour after the poison was taken, both were dead. The mother of the poisoned child died last February.

PARLIAMENTARY.

He was a member of the Ontario Legislature and had been sweet towards an Oakville girl all winter, and had taken her to attend the sessions until she was well posted in the rules.

On the last day of the session, as they came near the peanut stand at the door, he said to her:

"May I offer you my handful of peanuts?" She responded promptly:

"I move to amend by omitting all after the word "hand."

He blushingly accepted the amendment, and they adopted it unanimously.

It was a hand some wedding that followed.

A SOLVED PROBLEM.

"Jack," said an affectionate mother the other morning, "you really must come home earlier nights. Do you suppose Esmeralda likes to have you stay so late?"

"I'll tell you how it was," replied Jack. "You see, she was sitting on my hat, and I felt a little delicate about mentioning the fact."

"Very well, I'll give you a bit of advice. The next time don't hold your hat in your lap."

THE ARAB.

The Arab is a born gossip, rivalling in his ability to manufacture news at short notice a New England sewing circle. If you ask him what is happening, he looks at you with a scrutinizing glance, makes up his mind what kind of news you want and then coolly starts to tell you a quantity of stuff which he makes up as he goes along. The Aarb is a gifted man in many other respects. He can kiss your feet if you are able to do him a service, and after you have done it he will set fire to your house, or brain you with a piece of your own furniture, in sweet forgetfulness that you have been his friend in time of need. He can cheat in trade almost as deftly as a Christian, and exhibit a great many other vices which belong to a high state of civilization. Arabi has himself shown powers of deception of a high order, and if he would only resign and emigrate to America he could become a first-class politician, or a splendid railroad president, or a defaulting cashier of a rich corporation, and it would not be necessary for him to change his moral nature in the very least. He would here find himself among his equals, one of a class of men who can steal an office, and then use its influence for personal gain. Yes, he is a rare man in Egypt, but he would feel entirely at home in the States.

A despatch which has been delayed in transmission states that in the Dominion election for Victoria, B. C., on Friday, Mr. DeCosmos, the member of the last Parliament, was defeated. Two "British Columbia First" candidates, Messrs. Baker and Shakespaare, were returned. The defeat was regarded as foreshadowing the defeat of the Local Tory Government on Monday.

A recent article in the Montreal Gazette, the organ of the Canada Pacific Syndicate, concerning the intention of the Canada Pacific Railway Syndicate with regard to the construction of the C. P. R., causes much comment in Montreal. It is regarded by many as a note of warning that the Syndicate intend abandoning the construction of the section of the road on the north shore of Lake Superior.

ALL CLASSES OF Professional and business men at times are subject to extreme nerve prostration from excessive brain work and worry, and, by advice, commonly resort to stimulants, opium, chloral or bromides to subdue irritability and restlessness. These agents only put to sleep the sentinel that warns the system when over-worked while the waste of vital force continues. Here is a larger consumption of phosphates, the source of nerve power, than if furnished by the food, and the deficiency may be supplied by the use of Dr. Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, an easily assimilable form of these elements of nerve nutrition.

The Syndicate, it is stated, guarantee not to sell any more lands en bloc.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 3, 1882

A Field for a Reformer.

Anybody who feels inclined to make a hobby of municipal reform may find in Peterborough an ample field in which to canter his cob. There are so many things that need the hand of reformation that it is not a little perplexing to decide where to begin to point them out. The question of an auxiliary addition to our police force, as brought out by Mr. Poussette at the meeting of the Council on Monday night, is perhaps one of the most exigeant. That the town, owing to the influx of rough characters on the public works, is infested with lawless characters unrestrained by any fear of the law through a lack of guardians of the peace, is well known—to many by disagreeable experience. In many parts of the town a lady strolling a few yards from her door to enjoy the moonlight or the cool of the evening, is not only not free from, but is exceedingly exposed to insulting language from shameless scamps, that lately have taken to gathering in groups on street corners in the outskirts of the town. Even on a public street a few nights ago, a lady was insulted by roughs. On a Sunday, every corner on George street, from Charlotte to Brock, can boast the dubious ornament of a knot of loafers, spitting swearing and insulting passers-by with insolent leer or unsavoury language, with no policeman to molest them or to make them "move on." Nobody has a word of fault to find with our present policeman, as far as one man's ability may avail, but in presence of the rough element now in and about town, one policeman is no more sufficient to keep order in a town of practically eight thousand inhabitants than he is to man a ship of the line or a railway train. The Committee on Appointments now have the matter of increase of staff in hand, and it is to be hoped that they will deal with it promptly and effectually. The people have a right to expect that the representatives entrusted with the oversight of their interests will fulfil that trust.

A Fit of Spleen.

The two last issues of the Peterborough Times contains the culminating outrage of a series of unmanly attacks upon an honored and respected citizen, with no more justification than the promptings of jealous yet impotent malevolence. In several places in this delectable journalistic curiosity are coarse and vulgar verbal villanies, consisting of gratuitous attempts at abuse of Mr. White, Traffic Manager of the Midland Railway. The occasion of this gentleman exercising his undoubted right to treat a few personal friends to a private excursion over the line, is taken advantage of to assail him with vulgar abuse, which seems to have no excuse whatever, as far as any dereliction, moral or official, of that gentleman is concerned. One of the leading officials of one of the most important railway systems in Canada needs no defence from such blundering slander. The success of his far-seeing and vigorous administration of the affairs of the corporation under his care, is his official vindication, and the universal respect accorded to his personal character answers for that. We would not have thought it necessary or expedient to allude to this puerile newspaper nastiness were it not to repudiate on behalf of the respectable press, the misguided journalism that from business pique assails a gentleman personally, and commits the social solecism, to speak most mildly, of making his private and domestic affairs subjects of newspaper twaddle. A single hint will suffice to characterize the animus of the Times and furnish data in assigning importance to its diatribes. If the gentleman alluded to above had continued to obtain from a certain printing establishment at quadruple prices, work of a character that would make the meanest employee of the Midland railway blush with shame every time he filled a blank, the lowliest lickspittle in the land might have taken a lesson in servility from the Times in its atttitude towards the present uninjured object of its petty and futile vindictiveness.

A BROAD VIEW OF THE QUESTION.

We have been handed the following letter for publication, but in complying do not endorse its sentiments or assumptions:

Mr. Editor,—

Having seen that Sir John has appointed the Hon. John O'Connor to prepare a case for some legal tribunal for the disposal of the North-West, I have taken this opportunity of calling the attention of the public as to our position in the future in disposing of this fertile belt. Our two Houses of Legislature do not agree, viz: Ottawa and Ontario upon the boundary of the great North-West. I think Ontario, from her position, is entitled to a share of the territory now belonging to the Dominion. First, as Ontario contributes the largest of any of the Provinces to the treasury of the Dominion, and further, we ought to increase our representatives in Ontario, which can be done if our boundary is increased. If our statesmen who are at the helm would throw aside their local prejudices and look seriously into the matter they could not help seeing that we are building up a Province that will eventually rule the Dominion, if they should obtain the whole of the North-West. When Sir John was at Peterborough he stated that emigration was going in to Manitoba at the rate of one thousand per day, and the land was of a most fertile description, capable of supporting twenty millions of people. Taking it for granted that it is so, where will Ontario be placed? Representation must be by population; that would over balance the other provinces, and it would be to their interest to establish free trade. We are now building up manufactories by a protective policy, which must be destroyed, as Manitoba, from her position, cannot be a manufacturing country, and it will be to their interest to have the duties as low as possible, to purchase their goods at the lowest possible price Ontario's manufacturing interest would be paralyzed by the excessive importations of other countries, more particularly the United States. We must protect our manufactures to enable them to compete with other countries, by so doing, this would increase the demand for home consumption of agricultural produce, and act as a stimulant to the agriculturist to produce more. If our statesmen could agree upon letting Ontario have a sufficient quantity of territory, our population would increase, and we should be able to cope with Manitoba by having a larger number of representatives to balance the power of the Northwest. Ontario can be made similar to the New England States, a manufacturing centre to supply the Northwest. And the Northwest in return could send a large amount of agricultural produce which would place the Dominion in a different position to what she now is, as the balance of exports would be greater than imports. This would soon put a stop to borrowing money, and make us as every nation ought to be, independent of pecuniary assistance.

Let us look back and see the severe trials our pioneers have gone through before we attained our present position in enabling us to purchase the great North West, not only in erecting offices and carrying out measures which were necessary for the good government of the country, building the C. P. railroad, supporting the Indians, employing a large force of mounted police for the protection of the settlers and assisting them in their losses occasioned by the flood. If the Dominion had not been liberal to them, where would they have been? a struggling community for years. Now they are enjoying the most gratifying prosperity, such as no other part of the Dominion ever did, and all at our expense. By all means let us try and secure that which we ought to have—a portion of the North West to enable us to maintain a position which would be an honour to ourselves and add strength to the Dominion.

Yours, etc.,
AN ELECTOR.

THE PROVINCIAL UNIVERSITY.

The successful matriculated students in arts at the June examinations number 150 and they are distributed as regards their training among the high schools as given below. Where a student attended two schools he is credited to both. Upper Canada college and St. Catharines collegiate institute 13 each; private study 11; Toronto collegiate institute 11; Hamilton collegiate institute 7; St. Marys, Peterboro, Galt and Barrie collegiate institutes and St. Thomas and Bowmanville high schools and St. Michael's college 6 each; Collingwood collegiate institute 9; Canada literary institute Woodstock, London collegeiate institute, Richmond Hill and Whitby high schools 4 each; Brampton, Guelph, Goderich, Ingersoll, Strathroy, Port Perry and Weston high schools 3 each; Berlin, Caledonia, Clinton, Dunnville Harriston, Markham, Owen Sound, Port Hope, Seaforth and Trenton high schools 2 each; Aylmer, Beamsville, Brantford, Elora, Iroquois, Lindsay, Newcastle, Oakville, Orangeville, Oshawa, Ottawa, Prescott, Woodstock, Uxbridge and Vienna high schools 1 each. Roughly speaking and taking no account of the students from Upper Canada college, Toronto collegiate institute and St. Michael's college, about 25 of the balance of the 150 are from east of Toronto, 17 from north of Toronto and 80 west of this city.

PUBLIC AND HIGH SCHOOLS.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE DEPARTMENTAL REGULATIONS.

(From the Canada School Journal.)

We have to thank the Minister of Education for enabling us to place before our readers his summary of improvements intended to be effected in important subjects of our Provinical system of Public and High Schools, which he has submitted for the consideration of the Executive Government in the form of regulations for giving effect thereto at the end of the summer vacation. When formally approved the text of the amended regulations will at once be placed in the hands of school officials and all others concerned in obtaining early and full information on matters of such great importance to the teaching profession.

Some of the improvements intended to be secured under the following heads of subjects may be concisely stated as follows:—

1.—PUBLIC SCHOOLS—COURSE OF STUDY

The separation of the first four classes, as Part One, from the 5th and 6th classes, distinguishes the elementary from the secondary subjects. The respective proportion of pupils in the 5th and 6th classes is only 3 per cent. and 3/10ths of 1 per cent. of the total number of children. The course in part one can thus be more readily made similar in Public Schools generally, as well as in the Provincial and County Model Schools. The obligatory subjects are confined to such as are essential in elementary education. It is also now placed within the power of trustees to afford elementary instruction in elementary physics and principles of agriculture, and proper text-books are authorized therefor. Suggestions for the guidance of trustees and teachers will be prepared by the Central Committee of Examiners in explanation of the subjects in the course, as well as to the methods of teaching them. The subjects and course are to be taken as obligatory only upon trustees, so far as the circumstances of the particular schools in their judgment will allow.

2.—HIGH SCHOOLS—COURSE OF STUDY.

Lower School—The subjects of study which are obligatory are confined to such as are essential in secondary education, such as English Grammar, Literature, Composition, History and Geography, Arithmetic and bookeeping, etc, while such higher subjects as Algebra and Euclid, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry and Botany, Latin Greek, &c., are made optional with High School Boards as they may think expedient in the circumstances of their school.

The Intermeditade Examinations becomes a test only of the fitness of each pupil to proceed to the Upper School; and the obligatory subjects are now confined to three groups instead of four, and limited to English Grammar and Literature, Composition, Dictation, Arithmetic and Drawing, and one of the following subjects or groups. at the option of each candidate, viz., (1) Algebra and Euclid, (2) History and Geography, (3) any two of Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, and Botany, (4) Latin (5) any-two of French, German, Music. In order to prevent immaturity, and consequent cramming, each candidate must have attended two years at least in the High Schools, or in the Public Schools 5th and 6th classes after passing through the 4th class.

In the Upper School, while the subjects may be as high as required for first-class non-professional teachers' certificates, and for junior and senior matriculation, yet the parent or guardian of any child is at liberty to select, with approval of the head-master, any authorized subjects which will best suit the purpose of such a child. High Schools Boards can, if they choose, provide instruction in botany, and principles and practice of agriculture, and text books are authorized for these purpose.

Regular Meeting of the Town Council—The Vesuvius of Eloquence in an Active State of Eruption—More Wind than Work—Outsiders take an Innings—The Locks Swing Bridge—Shall the Band Get $200?—The Game of "Pigeon Hole"—More Power to McGhee's Elbow—The Smith Street Bridge—Opening Rubidge Street—Hydrants—The Cow By-Law—The Crowning Confusion of the Close.

The members of the Town Council met in regular session on Monday evening, July 31st, his worship Mayor Smith, in the chair.

Members present, Messrs. Cahill, Alford, McNaughton, Kelly, Patterson, Poussette, Douglas, Wilson, Rutherford, Menzies and Richardson.

After routine, a communication from Messrs. Edmison & Wood, in regard to the claim of ——Davidson for damages for injuries sustained through defective sidewalk, was referred to the Finance Committee.

On the communication from Edg. Pearce, County Clerk, respecting the iron swing at the Locks, no action was taken, as the Council had, at a former meeting, taken the necessary steps, nevertheless that did not prevent the pleasing novelty of a little talk on the subject.

The MAYOR.—What is the cost of an iron swing?

Mr. BELCHER, (who was present and was heard), $2,500 or $3,000.

Mr. MENZIES,—And of a wooden one?

Mr. BELCHER,—$500 or $600 less, but it will not be permanent and will cost more for repairs. Iron bridges are rapidly superseding wooden ones.

Mr. MENZIES,—Will the present bridge last till spring?

Mr. BELCHER,—I could not guarantee that.

Mr. MCNAUGHTON,—How long has it been built? (A voice, twelve years) It's first cost was considerable, and if it is played out now, it is not much credit to the builder.

Mr. PATTERSON,—I agree with Mr. McNaughton, but if a new bridge is needed I am in favour of building it.

Mr. POUSSETTE,—The Council has already adopted an iron bridge and they cannot go back on that.

A motion of Mr. Poussette, seconded by Mr. Richardson, that the proposal of the County be agreed to, and that an iron bridge be built at the locks under the supervision of a joint committee, and that one half of the expense be paid by the town, gave rise to further discussion.

Mr. Richardson seconded the resolution, because the engineer held the present bridge unsafe and rotten, and he had faith in his judgment.

Mr. Rutherford was surprised that Mr. McNaughton should oppose the bridge at his end of the town. The Council would not be justified in allowing the bridge to stand in the face of the engineer's report.

The motion was agreed to.

SUNDRY ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee, E. C. Hill, bill posting, $3.50; John Bertram, $1.25; Geo. Stethem, $2.60; Gas Company, $19.51; G. A. Cox, insurance Smith street bridge, $30 (paid); Toker & Co., $45-47; W. H. Best, $8.76; Adam Hall, $1.88.

The petition and communication of Messrs. W. H. Robertson and Battle Hudson for street improvements were referred to the Street Committee.

The communication of John Carnegie, secretary of the town trust, was referred to the Finance Committee, and the petition of E. Wood and others for street improvements on London street were referred to that Committee.

GRANT OF $200 TO THE BAND.

The petition of J. Billington, secretary of the Fire Brigade Band asking that a grant of $200 be made to the band for the purchase of new instruments, the same to be ordered through the clerk and to become the property of the town and to be under the control of the council was next taken up.

Mr. Miller, bandmaster, was heard and said that they have had great trouble in collecting the instruments. The present instruments had been in use 8 years it should be remembered.

Messrs. Menzies and Rutherford moved that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

Messrs. Poussette and Alford moved in amendment that the petition be granted.

Mr. Cahill favoured the first motion, not because he was opposed to the grant but because it would be well to guard against trouble. The band would not suffer by a little delay.

Mr. Rutherford thought the Band should not spring the matter on the council. Refer the matter to the Committee.

Mr. Poussette didn't want to waste money, or he wouldn't favor the grant. The band was a great source of pleasure to our citizens. The instruments had to be ordered from England and the adoption of his motion would save time.

Mr. Menzies favored the Committee.

Mr. Richardson asked why the instruments had got so suddenly bad. He was not opposed to the grant but did not want the town to be bothered with instruments.

Mr. McNaughton was surprised at Mr. Richardson and his opposition. Mr. Miller and his band were a credit to the town. If he were they he would throw the band up and let the town die as it is now doing.

Mr. Richardson—I'm glad your heart is getting bigger.

Mr. McNaughton—And yours is getting smaller (laughter.)

While Mr. Poussette was writing a resolution in reference to the matter, the petition for the opening of Rubidge street from London to McDonnell, was received.

THE PIGEON HOLE LICENSE.

Mr. Rutherford read the report of the License Committee, to the effect that the Clerk be authorized to communicate with the authorities in Toronto as to the power of license commissioners to refuse to grant a license on certain conditions.

Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. Menzies,—That the report be adopted.

Mr. Cahill moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Alford,—That a pro rata share of Mr. Bell's license be refunded as soon as he delivers up his license to the town Clerk.

After a long discussion in which Messrs. Douglas, Cahill, McNaughton, Richardson and Menzies took part, the amendment of Mr. Cahill to one moved by Mr. Patterson,—That the report be adopted, and that a by-law be passed refusing the issue of any more such licenses was lost, the report was adopted.

ANOTHER PIECE FROM THE BAND.

Mr. Poussette moved, seconded by Mr. Patterson.—That the sum of $200 be granted to the band to buy instruments, said instruments to be the property of the corporation, the band master to be custodian and accountable therefor, and return them on demand of the Council.

Mr. Rutherford did not oppose the motion, but thought the matter should go to the Committee for investigation.

Mr. Poussette said there was nothing to investigate.

The matter was finally referred to the Committee with power to act.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Mr. Cahill, from the Street Committee, reported that Mr. Belcher had examined the Smith street bridge in accordance with resolution of the Council, and said that the grade should be raised to correspond with the railroad track, and that the bridge be replanked with three inch plank on top of present floor. The Midland R. R. Co. offered to share the expense and the Committee recommend that the offer of the Company be accepted.

Report adopted.

OPENING RUBIDGE STREET.

Mr. Wilson moved seconded by Mr. Poussette,—That the inspector be authorized to open Rubidge street from London to McDonald at once and that the council indemnify the inspector.

Mr. Rutherford said that the motion was ill-timed, in view of Mr. Bradburn's offer to buy the street or give an equivalent from the other end of his lot.

Mr. McNaughton thought the rich and poor should be treated alike and Mr. Bradburn's and Mr. Dumble's castles were no better than the property of poor men, who had been compelled to borrow money to move their fences at the instance of the very men who now had the street inclosed.

Mr. Weir one of the signers of the petition said the matter had been in contention thirteen years. The ratepayers were unjustly treated and demanded only even handed justice and that meant the opening of the street.

Mr. Menzies moved, seconded by Mr. Richardson, that the matter be left to a committee composed of Messrs. Richardson, Rutherford, Wilson and Patterson to report at next meeting of Council as to whether it can be sold, leased, or gates put at both ends to make it a park.

An amendment of Mr. Cahill's to throw it open for a park received no seconder.

Mr. McNaughton said the street must be opened.

Mr. Poussette personally favoured the sale of the street, but the statutes provided that a street could not be closed ed without the consent of the ratepayers concerned. The only thing to be done was to open the street.

All the motions were, on being put, lost, and the matter remains in statu quo.

MORE POLICE PROTECTION.

Mr. McGhee's petition to have assistance in the discharge of the duties of constable, was taken up, and the Mayor stated that Mr. McGhee needed assistance in keeping order.

Mr. Patterson moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that in the matter of further police protection, the Committee on Appointments be empowered to employ at least four policemen from dark to daylight, and especially on Sundays.

Mr. McNaughton said that if the Police Magistrate "salted" offenders more severely better order would be preserved. The hotels were not to blame for Sunday drunkenness, it was the flask and the bottle. He favoured increasing the salary of the present force, and thereby their zeal.

Mr. Kelly stated that the town required more protection. The outskirts of the town were infested by roughs, who constantly insulted ladies in the most disgraceful way.

Mr. Poussette agreed with Mr. Kelly, and said the time had come when the town should have adequate police protection—should have an organized police force of several men. He spoke in exceedingly strong terms of the disorder of the public streets, and of the annoyance and danger citizens, especially ladies, were exposed to.

On motion of Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Menzies, the matter was referred to the Committee on Appointments with power to act.

HYDRANTS.

Mr. Patterson moved that the Council deem it desirable to have a certain number of hydrants put in within the fire limits, and that the Fire, Water and Gas Committee be requested to consider the location of at least 20 hydrants and report to this Council.

Mr. McNaughton said he would stick to the letter of the by-law.

Mr. Menzies asserted that the adoption of the resolution would invalidate the present by-law.

Mr. Poussette said the Council could not consistently pass the motion. The by-law distinctly stated that the hydrants should be put in by petition and be paid for by a local tax. Let the Water Company have patience, the people would come to see the advantages and petition for hydrants.

Mr. Hatton (who was present and was heard) said that the resolution was contrary to both statute and by-law.

Mr. Elias Burnham being present was asked his opinion, and he said that if the people wanted hydrants and were willing to pay for them, he had no objection. It was time for the Council to take action when petitions were presented.

Mr. Patterson withdrew the resolution.

Mr. Cahill proposed that a local tax of half the cost of hydrants be levied, because these parties would have to contribute also to the general fund to maintain the fire department. By this means the hydrants could be gradually increased. The fire protection of the town was very bad and the engine was nearly worn out.

COW BY-LAW.

Mr. Poussette moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly,—That it was expedient to absolutely prohibit the running at large of horses, cattle, swine and geese in conformity with the by-law, and that an officer be appointed to carry out a by-law to be passed embodying such provision.

The town was going to great expense in grading and beautifying the streets and it was folly to allow cattle, geese and swine to destroy the work as fast as it was done.

A motion to adjourn for a month and another to adjourn for a week were mixed up with this, and amongst a great deal of confusion, Mr. Poussette's motion was put and declared carried.

Mr. McNaughton demanded the yeas and nays, but several of the councillors rose from their seats, and Mr. McNaughton's stentorian demand for the yeas and nays was mingled with cries of "no quorum," "no quorum," "adjourn for a month," "adjourn for a week," "you're no man to shirk the vote like that," etc., etc., and our civic Solons broke up in "most admired disorder," no date having been fixed for a future meeting, the hour being within a short time of midnight.

WAS IT SUICIDE?

An Ashburnham Hotelkeeper's Body found in Rogers' Race.

On Wednesday morning about 9.30 o'clock the dead body of David Wheeler, late proprietor of the MapleLeaf Hotel, Ashburnham was found stranded on a sand bar near the confluence of Rogers' mill race and the river. The body was lying on the drift with one shoulder out of the water. Village constable, John Craig, was at once summoned, and after seeing the body and communicated at once with a coroner, but the circumstances so plainly indicated the mode of the death of deceased, and the utter absence of anything like foul play, that it was thought unnecessary to hold an inquest. The friends were disinclined to say anything in reference to the sad affair, but the facts as near as could be gathered were that, on Tuesday evening Mr. Wheeler was in his usual health and appeared to be in rare good spirits. He retired to rest as usual. In the morning his room was found vacant and from a certain circumstance in his past life it was suspected that he had made way with himself and a search resulted in confirming the supposition. He got out of the house, unobserved, having put on his clothing and his boots — unlaced. He removed his money from his pockets, and apparently prepared deliberately for the act that ended his life.

Deceased was about 54 years of age, and was well known in this town and vicinity. Domestic troubles and results arising therefrom are given as causes for Mr. Wheeler's fatuous act.

WATER-WORKS AGAIN.

To the Editor of THE EXAMINER:—

SIR,—An offer is about to be made to the Council to construct Local Water-Works for all the central part of the town, at a figure and upon terms which will be satisfactory to all. The property owners are, therefore, respectfully asked not to sign any petition, nor do anything to commit themselves in any way to the present Company, but to await the result.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

WEATHER NOTES FOR JULY.—July now gone has been on the whole a pretty fair month, the temperature has been one of a uniform nature, never falling lower than 45° on the morning of the 22nd, not higher than 78° on the evenings of the 25th and 26th, and 90° at one o'clock in the shade on the 28th, with a mean temperature at sun rise and sun set of 60°, while the corresponding month of 1881 was 65° 21-31. Rain fell on 15 days to the depth of 2.01 inches, while in 1881 rain fell on 13 days; thunder storms occurred on 6 days, with heavy rains in some localities, although here we have no severe storms to report.

THE CROPS have progressed very fast since my last report, owing to the continued gentle rains, and the showers falling here on the 27th, promise a fine crop of peas and oats, but some fields of White Russian spring wheat are badly rusted. Roots are not a promising crop so far, owing to the lateness of sowing. Potatoes have a fine appearance, with the prospect of more than an average yield, but the bugs have not been so bad for many years. Hay is almost secured now. Timothy is a fair crop, but of clover scarcely any. The whole will be about ninety per cent. of an average crop. First barley cut on the 25th, and fall wheat on the 26th, being from 8 to 10 days later than usual.

QUEBEC'S NEW MINISTRY.

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

TELEPHONING FOR THE WRONG DOCTOR.

A well-known medical man of this place was called up by telephone the other day, when the following discussion took place:

"It has come, doctor."

The doctor thought he knew the voice, and, wondering why he had not been sent for, shouted back:

"Is it all right?"

"It's a very small pattern," answered the voice, which was that of a woman, "but it will do if we take pains."

The doctor caught the last word, and called distinctly:

"Give it paregoric?"

There was a mumbled discussion which he could not hear, and then the voice called:

"Is this Dr.——?"

"No! It's Doctor ——."

Then he heard a chorus of mirth, and he was informed that he was in communication with a fashionable dress-making house, and that it was a silk dress for Dr. ——'s wife that was under discussion, and that he was the wrong man, which, under the circumstances, was rather a relief to the physician.

PAID A BILL.

A Detroit lawyer took in a new boy the other day, and as he had suffered to some extent from the depredations of the former, he decided to try the new lad's honesty at once. He therefore placed $15 in bills under a weight upon his desk and walked out without a word. Upon his return half an hour later, the bills were gone and seventy-five cents in silver had taken their place.

"Boy! when I stepped out to get a draft on London I left $15 under this weight!"

"Yes, sir."

"And now I find only seventy-five cents?"

"Yes, sir, but you see you hadn't been gone five minutes when a man came in with a bill against you of $14.25, and I paid it. I guess the change is correct."

"You—you paid a bill?"

"Yes, sir—there it is, all receipted. The man said it had slipped your mind for the last four years, and so——"

He didn't get any further before he was rushed for the stairs, and he isn't in the law business any more.

PERSONAL ITEM.

The following references are to a matter of sufficient importance to enlist the attention of all our readers:—

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF POLICE, HAMILTON, ONT.

I have much pleasure in stating, that I lately used St. Jacobs Oil in a case of very severe sprain, with marvelous effect. I had been badly hurt and could not afford to rest too long; I therefore used the quickest means of relief, St. Jacobs Oil, which certainly worked wonders in my case. I consider it to be an invaluable remedy and shall not hesitate to recommend it to any one whom I meet, suffering from want of a reliable remedy. I regard St. Jacobs Oil as a wonderful preparation, and shall freely suggest its use to my friends,—or enemies for that matter—when I find them seeking anything for the alleviation of the terrible torture of rheumatism. I write this note involuntarily to say what I think of the Oil, and it may be used in any way to accomplish the most good.

A. D. STEWART, Chief of Police.

A CHILD KILLED BY A GRAIN OF CORN.

Mr. F. Price, coroner, yesterday, July 12th, held an inquest on the body of Elizabeth Victoria Wilson, aged 4 years and 3 months. The evidence showed that on the evening of Monday, July 3rd, the deceased swallowed a grain of Indian corn, which stuck in her throat and produced symptoms of suffocation. The mother took the child to a surgeon, and ultimately to the Children's Hospital, where it died on Monday last. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that a grain of corn, about half an inch long, was sticking in the throat. The jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

THE MEDICAL FACULTY were among the first to recognize the value of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as a remedy for throat and lung affections, premature decline and general debility. Physicians not only recommend it for incipient consumption, bronchitis, asthma, and minor pulmonary and bronchial troubles, but speak in the highest terms of it as a means of enriching the blood and counteracting a hereditary tendency to consumption. In every part of the Dominion and throughout the United States it has attained a popularity as wide-spread as it is deserved, and the evidence attesting its efficacy is voluminous and convincing. The Cod Liver Oil, which is its pulmonic constituent, is absolutely pure and does not nauseate the stomach; while the Hypophosphites, superadded to and chemically blended with this ingredient, possess invigorating properties which render it most desirable in diseases involving such a tremendous waste of tissue and loss of bodily substance as incipient consumption, which it checks with a promptitude truly marvellous. In addition to its pulmonic effects, it imparts tone to the whole system, and being a fine blood depurent, counteracts a tendency to scrofula. Moreover, it is sold at a reasonable price, the cost of the smaller bottles (the contents of one often sufficing to break up a bad cold) being 50 cents, and of the large, $1.00 Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont.

If mothers and nurses would cease giving opiates in the guise of Paregoric, and Cordials, and for children teething and subject to bowel complaint, give instead Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, the lives of many infants might be saved that are sacrificed to deadly drugs. 30-2t

The full term of three years had nearly expired, and they were discussing at the breakfast table the certainty that they must move and the uncertainty as to where, when the young miss of the parsonage drew heavy sigh. "Oh, I was thinking what a mistake mother and I made when we married a Methodist minister!"

Among the most prevalant, fatal and sudden attacks of diseases, are those incident to the summer and fall, such as cholera morbus, bilious colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, etc., that often prove fatal in a few hours. That ever reliable remedy, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, should be at hand, for use in emergency. 30-2t

A short metre weeding: A young clergyman in Iowa recently married a couple in the following brief manner: "Do you want one another?" Both responded, "Yes," "Well, then, have one another."

An honest medicine is the noblest work of man, and we can assure our readers that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only reliable, but is almost infallable to cure Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Canker of the Stomach and bowels, and the various Summer Complaints, whose attacks are often sudden and fatal. 30-2t

The above named remedy is nature's grand cure for Cholera, Dysentery, and all summer complaints. 30-2t

I luv you to distraxshun."

." Facts speak plainer than words." Proof: "The doctor told me to take a blue pill, but I didn't, for I had already been poisoned twice by mercury. The druggist told me to try Kidney-Wort, and I did. It was just the thing for my billiousness and constipation, and now I am as well as ever."—A. P. Sanford. Sold in both dry and liquid form.

"What's the crowd about?" queried a stranger, as he noticed a stream of visitors going into a fashionable residence. "It's a silver weddin'," obligingly replied his informant. "What's a silver weddin'?" "Why, a chap's been married twenty-five times, and he's a celebratin' of it."

"We are pursuaded that the ancient Hermes with all the subtle art and natural resources of the Alchemists, was a very poor doctor compared with Mr. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass. Hermes may have been after all only a clever practioner of the Black Art; but we know there is no humbug in the pharmaceutical chemistry of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE DOCTOR'S SECRET.—Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the secret of success of certain leading physicians. When they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own directions and name attached. The patient is cured and they get the credit.—Tribune. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

A WORD OF CAUTION.—As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world-wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect an unsuspecting public to purchase their fradulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, which are guaranteed to cure, and take no other. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald & Co.

WONDERFUL MATERNITY.

THREE SISTERS BECOME MOTHERS ON THE SAME DAY AND EACH HAS TWINS.

The Assyrian Monarch, of the Monarch line, arrived at New York with a full complement of Russian Jewish refugee passengers. Among them there were three married women, sisters, named Ruth Jacobsky, Lena Itskok and Miriam Levinski, who, with their husbands, left Odessa last winter. In Russia, where they had been married on the same day fifteen month ago, they belonged to the middle class. The husbands of these women are tailors by trade. Two weeks since the tailors, with their wives and co-religionists, were sent on board the Assyrian Monarch to New York. On Sunday, June 1st, Lena Itskok, who is a very prepossessing Jewess about 22 years old, became mother of two fine, healthy girls. Her two sisters were in the act of congratulating the newly-made mamma, when they themselves found that they were in want of the doctor's service. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Ruth Jacobsky, who is 27 and a good-looking blonde, had done as well as her other sister, and had at that moment presented her fortunate husband with two boys. At 9 o'clock at night two more girl strangers made their appearance on board the boat, and Miriam Levinski, the youngest sister, aged 19, was receiving the felicitations of her husband and brothers-in-law. On Friday the two boys were initiated into one of the mysteries of Judaism. At the circumcision they were both named Isaac, which means "I should smile." The girls have not yet been named, but each of the children received a present from the captain of the steamer, who declares that, although he has carried many thousands of passengers in his day, he has never seen such a remarkable trio as the three Russian Jewesses who vied with each other in their presents to their leige lords and masters.

The Contented Man,

Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Billiousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

A LUCKLESS LOVER.

We crossed the pasture land together:
I knew that now my time drew near,
And hastened, longing for the moment,
Yet lingering, holding back in fear.

I wished the sunshine would not flicker
Across the river on my eyes;
Then here she shaded with her bonnet—
How could I talk through that disguise?

I wished the catbird would not whistle;
I paused till he grew tired and still;
And then the frogs took up the music,
And lambs came bleating from the hill.

Now all was silent; on the stubble
The crickets even held their peace;
But yet I waited, wishing only
That all the crickets would not cease.

Right [illegible] as we neared it,
I shaped my mouth and formed the word,
When from the bonnet, but demurely,
A little laugh I thought I heard.

A plough-boy passing smiled and nodded,
I bit my lip and blushed for shame:
Then stopped to pick a blood-red berry,
'Twas sour, and speechless I became.

I leaned upon the bars; she fluttered
A farewell signal back to me;
I turned, I staggered from the roadway,
Gray frog came drifting from the sea.

TOM'S WIFE.

We had just finished breakfast. Tom laid down the egg spoon he had been playing with, and looked across at mother.

"Aunt Anne, I think I'll take a wife," he said, exactly as he might have said, "I think I'll take another cup of coffee."

"Take a wife," repeated mother, by no means receiving the information as tranquilly as it had been given. "What for?"

"Well, I don't know," answered Tom thoughtfully. "It's a notion I've got in my head, somehow."

"All nonsense!" said mother, sharply.

"Do you think so?" said Tom, apparently doubtful, but not in the least put out.

"Think so? I know it. What in the world can you want of a wife? After all these years we have lived so comfortably together, to bring home somebody to turn the house upside down! And, then, what's to become of that poor child?"

The "poor child," that was I—reddening at being brought into the argument in this way, was about to speak for herself, when Tom interposed warmly:

"I'm sure May knows I would never have my wife [illegible] would make it less a home for [illegible] you, May?"

"Of course [illegible]"

"And I'm sure she knows nothing of the sort," continued mother, "nor you either, Tom [illegible] How can you answer for what a wife may take into her head to do, once you get her fixed? You can't expect her to forget as you do, that May has no real claim on you."

"That I have no real claim on her, I suppose you mean, ma'ma," Tom put in, for the second time, just as I was getting thoroughly uncomfortable. "But, for all that, I intend to keep her, that is," added Tom, with one of his short-sighted blinks sideways at me, "as long as she'll stay with me, eh, May? And whoever has anything to say against that arrangement will have to go out of the house to say it—not that I'm afraid of any such result in this case—and, on the whole, Aunt Anne, I should like to try the experiment."

Mother smiled grimly, but Tom was so evidently bent on his "experiment," as he called it, that she gave up the argument.

"You can dance if you are ready to pay the piper," she said, shortly. "And pray how soon do you mean to be married?"

Tom's face fell a little at this question.

"Well," said he, "I can't say exactly; I suppose we will have to be engaged first."

"What?" said mother, opening her eyes; "why, you never mean to say, Tom, you haven't spoken to her yet?"

"Not yet," answered Tom, cheerfully. "Time enough for that, you know, after I had spoken to you."

Mother, as a minister's widow, was not much given to the idle mirth that is as the crackling of thorns under a pot, but now she leaned back and laughed till the tears stood in her eyes.

"Well," she said, "if it was anybody else, I should say he was cracked; but you never were like other people and you never will be, Tom Dean. But, at least, you have fixed on the lady?"

"Oh, yes," answered Tom; but, if you will excuse me, Aunt Anne, I would rather not say anything about her just yet; for if—if anything should happen, you know." With which veiled allusion to his possible rejection, Tom took his hat and left the room.

I was not really related to Tom, nor even to "mother," as I called her, though we were as dear to each other as any mother and daughter could be. She was the second wife of my father, who, like most ministers, had been richer in grace than in goods, at death leaving us very little to live on. Then it was that Tom Dean had come forward, and insisted on giving a home to his aunt and to me, whom he had scarcely seen a dozen times in his life before. I was not the least little bit literary; I had never even kept a journal. There was some clerkship, a place in some family, and there was Will Bromley!

I was so busy trying to make up my mind whether I liked Will Bromley well enough to pass my whole life with him, when I was called down stairs to see Letty Walters.

Tom called her the "tonic," and used to laugh heartily at her bright speeches. I suppose it was this that made mother fix on Letty as his choice. When Tom came home, mother took care to mention that Letty had called.

"What, the tonic?" said Tom. "Too bad I missed her."

"But for your choice being already made," said mother, with a covert scrutiny of his face, "I dare say you might have as much of the tonic as you liked."

"But I go on the homœopathic principle, you know," answered Tom, with a twinkle in his eye.

After that, mother's belief in Letty's guiltiness wavered some. Her suspicions were transferred from one to another of our acquaintances, but always with the same unsatisfactory result.

"It passes my comprehension," she said to me, despairingly, one day. "I am positive I could tell the right one by Tom's face in a few minutes and yet I have mentioned everybody we know."

"Perhaps it is somebody we don't know," I suggested; "some friend of his we have never seen."

"What, a perfect stranger?" said mother sharply. "Never talk to me, child; Tom's not capable of that!"

I was silent, for I did not want to worry her; but that was my opinion all the same.

The same evening—it was rather more than a week since Tom had hurled that thunderbolt of his at us—mother began about it openly.

"When are you going to introduce your wife to us, Tom? I suppose you have come to an understanding by this time?"

"Oh, there's no hurry," Tom said, as he had said before; but this time he did not speak quite so cheerfully. "The fact is there is," he continued with a little hesitation, "there—there's a rival in the case."

"A rival," repeated the mother, with unfeeling briskness.

"Yes a young fellow—younger by a good deal than I am," and Tom's face assumed an absurdly doleful look. "He is always there now. I confess I don't see my way clear; I'm waiting for her to make up her mind."

"And she is waiting most likely for you to make up yours," said mother, forgetting in her propensity to right matters, that she was playing the enemy's game.

"There's something in that that never occurred to me," said Tom, his face brightening. Mother saw her mistake and made a countermove at once.

"But the ways of my time are old-fashioned now; young ladies now-a-days take matters into their own hands. If she cared for you you may be pretty sure she wouldn't have waited until this time to let you know it; that is, I judge by the girls I am in the habit of seeing; but if this one is a stranger to me—" (here mother riveted her eyes on Tom's face; oh, dear, my unfortunate words!) "if she is an entire stranger, I cannot pretend to form any opinion of her, of course."

"Of course," repeated Tom, absently.

"Not that I have any such idea," resumed mother, growing warmer; "I have said, and I say again, that to bring a perfect stranger under this roof, is not my opinion of you Tom!"

I felt mother's words like so many pins and needles; for Tom was looking meditatively across at me, and though that was just a way of his, it seemed now as if he were reading in my face that the opinion was mine, and that I had been meddling in what did not concern me. I felt myself for very vexation getting redder every moment, till it grew intolerable.

"It is so warm here," I said, for an excuse, turning towards the French window. "I am going to get a breath of air."

I went out into our little strip of a garden ground. Tom followed. I thought I should never have a better opportunity to say what I have in mind to say, so I waited for him by the bench under the old pear tree. "Sit down here, Tom, I've something to say to you."

"Have you?" said Tom: "that's odd, for I—well never mind that, just yet, What is it, May?"

"Tom," I said, still more he had misjudged me, and more resolved to set him right, "I want a place."

"A place?" repeated Tom, puzzled, as well he might be by this sudden and indefinite announcement; "what kind of a place?"

"I don't know," I said, for indeed my ideas were of the vaguest. "I thought you might, being in the way of those things. Now pray, Tom," I went on quickly, "don't fancy I'm discontented, or—or anything of that sort; the truth is, ever since I left off school I have wanted something to do, and had it in my mind to speak to you about it."

With this I looked at Tom, thinking he might be vexed; but he did not look vexed only preoccupied.

"I do know of a place as it happens," he said after a while, "only I'm not sure how it would suit you."

"That's soon seen," said I. "What is it like?"

"Well, its a sort of—of general usefulness—"

"Why, it must be to run errands," said I, laughing. "And where is it, Tom?"

"Well," said Tom, hesitating again, "it's with me."

"How very nice!" I exclaimed. "How soon can I have it?"

"The sooner the better, so far as I am concerned," said Tom, and with that he turned around and looked at me, and directly I met his eyes I knew somehow, all in a moment what it was he meant; and I knew, too, both that I could not have passed all my life with Will Bromley and why I could not.

I am sure Letty Waters, who interrupted us just then, must have thought my wits were wandering that evening, and, indeed, they were, for I was completely dazed with this sudden turn things had taken. But Tom, who had the advantage of me there, took it quite coolly, and laughed and talked with Letty just the same as ever till she went away.

It was pretty late when we went in. Mother sat where we had left her knitting in the twilight.

"Wasn't that Letty Waters with you a while ago?" she said, as we came up.

"Yes," said I, with a confused feeling of an explanation of something being necessary. "She just came to bring the new crochet pattern she promised me."

"H'm!" said mother, as much as to say she had her own ideas as to what Letty came for.

Tom had been wandering about the room in an absent sort of fashion, taking up and putting down in the wrong places all the small objects that fell in his way. He came up and took a seat by mother. I became of a sudden very busy with the plants in the window, for I knew he was going to tell her.

"Wish me joy, Aunt Ann?" said he, "it's all settled."

"Settled, is it?" said mother, in anything but a joyful tone. "So it's as I suspected all along. Well, you have my best wishes, Tom; perhaps you may be happy together after all, I'm sure I hope so."

This wasn't a very encouraging sort of congratulation, and Tom seemed rather taken back by it.

"I'm sorry you're not pleased," he said, after a pause, "I had an idea somehow you would be."

"I don't know from what you judged. But, there, it's no use crying over spilt milk. You'll be married directly, I presume? I must be looking out for a house," and mother stroked her nose reflectively with a knitting needle.

"What for!" said Tom. "I thought of keeping on here all the same."

"I never supposed otherwise," said mother. "Of course I did not expect to turn you out of your own house."

"But what is the need of looking out for another then?"

"Why, for myself."

"For yourself!" repeated Tom, in a tone of [illegible] amazement. "Going to leave us, just now! Why, Aunt Anne, I never heard of such a thing!"

"Now, Tom," said mother, speaking very fast, and making her needles fly in concert, "we might as well come to an understanding at once on this subject. I am fully sensible of your past kindness—now just let me finish. I say I appreciate it, and have tried to do my duty by you in return, as I hope I should always be ready to do. I wish all good to you and your wife, and shall be glad to help her if ever I can, but to live in the same house with her is what would turn out pleasantly for neither of us, and once for all, I can't do it."

"Aunt Anne!" said Tom, pushing back his chair, and staring in mother's face, either you or I must be out of our wits."

"It's not me, then, at any rate," retorted mother, getting nettled.

Amusement and certain embarrassment had kept me a silent listener so far, but there was no standing this; I tried to speak, but could not, for laughing.

"I think you are all out of your wits together," said mother, turning sharply. "What ails the child. It's no laughing matter."

"You don't understand each other," I gasped; "oh, dear!—it's not Letty—oh, oh, dear!" and relapsed again.

"Not Letty?" repeated mother, turning to Tom. "Then why did you tell me so?"

"I never told you so," said Tom.

"Why, yes, you did," persisted mother.

"You came in and told me you were going to be married."

"Yes, so I am," said Tom, still at cross-purposes.

"Now, Tom Dean," said mother, rising and confronting him, "what do you mean? Who is going to be your wife?

"Why, May, of course," answered Tom.

"May!" and then after a pause of inexpressible astonishment it was mother's turn to laugh. "Do you mean to say it was that child you were thinking of all the while?"

"Why, who else could it be?" said Tom, simply.

"Well," said mother. "I ought to have remembered you never did do anything like anybody else. But, still, why in the world do you go to work in such a roundabout way?"

"I wanted to see how you took to my idea," said Tom.

"And how do you suppose we were to guess your idea meant May?" mother asked.

"Who else could it be?" repeated Tom, falling back on what he evidently found to be an unanswerable argument. It was no use talking to him. Mother gave it up with a shake of the head.

"And you won't want another house, then, Aunt Anne?" said Tom, suddenly. That set mother off again,. Tom joined with her, and, altogether I don't think we ever passed a merrier evening than the one that made us acquainted with Tom's wife.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and Instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of MRS. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

MRS. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free. 25

Liver Complaint.

Is rather an indefinite term. As commonly understood it consists of a torpid, sluggish state of the liver, a deficiency or a superabundance of bile, or an alteration from its proper character. All disturbed action of the liver and biliary organs giving rise to pain in the side, or under the shoulder blade, headache, weariness, dizziness, sick stomach, loss of appetite, bad bowels, &c., are promptly cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. 30-2t

THE LACROSSE CLUB EXCURSION leaves to-day (Thursday) for Idyl Wild on the Golden-Eye, at 7.30 A.M.

A NEW AND ELEGANT hotel 'bus is building in Belleville for the Oriental. It will be splendidly decorated with true oriental magnificence.

THE SCHOOL BOARD couldn't command a quorum on Tuesday night. The members apparently think they are equally entitled to a holiday with the teachers and children.

THE CASTING of the immense fly wheel for Craig's saw mills, Winnipeg, was successfully accomplished at Mr. William Hamilton's foundry last Saturday. It will weigh, when finished, nearly four tons.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN EXCURSION.—This excursion, by steamer Golden-Eye, to Idyl Wild, on Tuesday, was a most pronounced success. There was a very large number who took advantage of the delightful journey. At Idyl Wild the time was pleasantly passed in the usual way, and the party returned safely and in good season, all delighted with the success of the annual outing.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The traffic of the Midland Railway for the week ending July 22nd, 1882, were as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,581.08; freight, $16,787.21; total, $22,368.29, as compared with $18,617.96 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $3,750.33; and the aggregate traffic to date is $547,289.67, being an increase of $144,289.20 over 1881.

A PLEASANT TRIP.—On Wednesday last a party of about eighty ladies and gentlemen accepted the invitation of Mr. A. White, Traffic Manager of the Midland Railway, for a trip over the line. The party left Peterborough with the morning train, and receiving a few additions at Lindsay, embarked on the steamer Beauhocage and proceeded to Bobcaygeon, where a few pleasant hours were spent, not the least enjoyable of which was that of the dinner at the Rockland House, which was an elegant affair, that would be exceedingly creditable to more pretentious summer resort hotels. The party re-embarked and stopped for tea at the Sturgeon Point Hotel. They arrived home with the evening train, the excursion having been a most delightful and pleasant experience.

WATER WORKS.— Persons desirous of securing hydrants on their streets for fire protection, can secure them by presenting the following form of petition:—

To His Worship the Mayor and Members of the Council of the Town of Peterboro':

The Petition of the undersigned Ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough, interested in property on Street, in said Town, comprising at least one-half of the Freeholders and householders owning and interested in property on said street, prayeth that your honorable body may require The Peterborough Water Company to erect a suitable number of Hydrants for protection of property from destruction by fire in accordance with the provisions of the By-law relating to the said Water Company. We hereby, each for himself, agreeing to pay our pro rata share of the cost or rent for such Hydrants in such manner as your honorable body may direct.

APPRECIATED ABROAD.—A short time since Mr. J. E. Belcher, C. E. and County Engineer, received a communication from Mr. J. H. Metcalf, Mayor of Pembroke, regarding the preparation of plans and specifications and the superintendence of the construction of a bridge over Muskrat river in that vicinity. Mr. Belcher made a visit to Pembroke, and the site of the bridge, took soundings, made a report, and is now preparing the plans and specifications of a bridge to be built after his plans and under his superintendence, his services having been secured for the purpose. This speaks well for Mr. Belcher's ability and reputation as a first class engineer. The town is to be congratulated on the possession of so desirable a citizen. Since writing the above we learn that, Mr. Belcher's report has been unanimously adopted.

SUCCESS OF PETERBOROUGH STUDENTS.—Among the successful candidates for junior matriculation in Arts, University of Toronto, are the following Peterborough students prepared at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute: Miss C. Fair, Messrs. A. F. Chamberlain, J. A. Fife, J. D. Graham, F. Sanderson, and E. Wilburn. Some of these got good positions on the honor lists. A. F. Chamberlain, stood 1st in first class honours in Latin, first in English, second in class second History and Geography, fifth in first class French and fourth in first class German honors. J. D. Graham secured first class honors in Mathematics and second class in English. J. A. Fife secured first place in second class honors in classics. F. Sanderson, second class honors in Mathematics, English, History and Geography; first class in French and second in German. E. Wilburn, second class honors in English, History and Geography, French (first class) and German. Miss Fair took a good place in first class honors in German.

"A SHORT SERMON by a common layman" will appear in our next issue.

THE PAYLIST of the Street Inspector for the first half of July amounted to $362.

THE DANGEROUS PRACTICE of firing revolvers on Little Lake in the evening as has been indulged in, does not greatly increase the pleasure of boating parties.

A WATER-FALL.—On Tuesday about noon the corporation water tank came to grief at the corner of George and Simcoe Street, and like a navvy on pay day, squandered its stock of wealth at once. The rear starboard axle snapped off close to the wheel, and the contents of the tank trickled over a large surface of the street.

THE FIRE BRIGADE BAND, excellent and creditable as it now is, is in a fair way of making itself worthier the esteem of our citizens. Mr. Miller bandmaster, has been very successful in securing subscriptions towards a new set of instruments. The sum thus secured will likely be supplemented by a grant of $200 from the town council.

A DRUNKEN MAN intruded himself on Mr. White's excursion train on Wednesday, and acting in a disorderly manner and insulting several ladies, was put off the rear car, and retaliated by throwing stones through the end of the car, the missiles wounding two or three persons painfully.

THE 'ULP MILLS.—This new manufactory is progressing satisfactorily. The foundations have been prepared, to do which about two hundred cubic yards of rock had to be blasted under the water. This part of the work is in charge of Mr. Archibald McDonald. On Monday the work of putting in the flume began. One of the four fifty-two inch Leffel turbine water wheels has arrived. The four wheels will equal 300 horse power, and will supply force for converting eight cords of wood per day into pulp. It is expected that the works will be in operation in about a month. There are about twenty hands employed on the building.

LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY.—During the recent visit of Rev. Mr. Tully of Oswego, he visted this beautiful city of the dead, and wrote for publication the following complimentry remarks on the place itself, and the efficient caretaker, Mr. Jno. Kelly:—

"Nothing indicates more clearly the state of civilization and culture of a community, than the city of their dead. Few towns are more highly favoured than Peterborough in this respect. The Little Lake Cementry is located at a convenient distance for friends, either to bury or visit the last resting place of their beloved dead. The situation is very unique and extremely beautiful. The soil is the best in quality for burial purposes I have ever seen, the plots are handsomely laid out, in all its appointments this city of the dead is nearly perfect. The chapel, drives, receiving vaults, the arrangement of ornamental trees display good judgment and cultured tastes on the part of the gentlemen having this sacred spot in charge. They are exceedingly fortunate also in the selection of Mr. John Kelly as the keeper of this very picturesque cemetery. It has been my privilege to visit most of the fine cemeteries on this continent, and I have seldom found a person of more advanced and correct views, as to what is required to render a cemetery a thing of beauty and a place of consolation to the bereaved, than I found in Mr. Kelly. Where there is so much to praise and admire, criticism is out of place."

HOT WATER HEATING.—This subject, with the mercury flirting about among the nineties, is not, of itself, a refreshing one, but the soul-piercing blasts of winter will come on apace. The public will, therefore, be interested in learning that Bolton the plumber has established his headquarters in Henthorn's block, Hunter street, east. Besides general plumbing work, Mr. Bolton makes a specialty of an improved system of heating by means of hot water, which for economy of fuel, constant eveness of temperature, health and simplicity, is literally unsurpassed. Mr. B. will to-day have his celebrated patent hot water boiler and apparatus for heating buildings finished, and on exhibition on his premises. Parties wishing to heat their houses comfortably and economically will do well to inspect the apparatus, which the proprietor guarantees to be fifty per cent cheaper in first cost, more durable, requiring fifty per cent less attention, thirty per cent less fuel than any other hot water, steam, or hot air apparatus made. Before perfecting it, Mr. Boulton, who is a practical and experienced workman, visited every establishment from Maine to Chicago, where such apparatus are made, and the result is as near as possible to perfection. His reputation is provincial, as shown by his being sent for by the Ontario Government to examine and improve the heating apparatus of the insane asylum, Toronto. Mr. Bolton's establishment is an important addition to the business interests of the town, and we hope the public will give him a cordial encouragement, such as his abilities and excellent apparatus deserve.

MANAGER WHITE'S EXCURSION.— The Bobcaygeon Independent thus treats of the visit of the private excursion party of Manager White, to that sequestered terrestrial paradise:—"On Wednesday a very agreeable party of excursionists arrived by steamer Beauhocage from Lindsay. The party, numbering some seventy, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. White, and no gentleman knows better how to manage such an expedition than Mr. White, the Traffic Manager of the Midland Railway. His wealth of bonhomie is most charming and irresistible, and any party under his care is bound to be thoroughly enjoyable. The guests were principally from Peterborough, with a few from Lindsay. On arrival here the party immediately proceeded to the Rockland House, where a dinner was prepared which took everyone by surprise. After dinner and a stroll around the village, the party again embarked and sailed to Sturgeon Point, where a stay was made for tea. Upon arrival home, the general verdict was that the day's trip was one of the events of the season. More than half the party were ladies, and as a result of such a delightful invasion, Mr. Smiff, the gentleman who writes our leading articles, has done nothing but talk foolishness ever since. He says that he was sitting in the hall of the Rockland, when the ladies, clad in all the exquisite tints of summer apparel came down the winding stair case, like a troop of angels floating down from Heaven, but being quite overcome with the heat at that moment, he dozed off, with a vision of Mr. White standing on the balvater post in statuesque attitude as Apollo Belvidere, encircled with a sort of spiral rainbow of colored muslin, enchanting ankles and sparkling eyes. If this shameful old person is not "overcome with the heat" a little less frequently, there will be a vacancy on the editorial staff of this journal." We hope the proprietor of the Independent will deal gently with the calorical collapses of Mr. Smiff. His brilliant literary abilities charm the weary hours of the readers of the paper, and his absorptive capacities lessen the amount of fluid temptation to which the world is exposed.

Perseverance, Energy and Business Tact, versus Capital

Too much money is often the harbinger of business ruin.
Too little, or none at all, the forerunner of business success.
Too much money leads to carelessness, indifference and extravagance.
Too little or none at all will force into action those great levers of success, Determination, Energy and Tact, without which no business can succeed, even though backed by capital.

During the last 20 months we have driven our business so hard that it is nearly double what it was a year and a half ago

MACFARLANE WILSON.

THE LINDSAY WARDER now appears in an enlarged, the popular eight page form. The new proprietors show a great deal of enterprise and barring their odious politics, we wish them every success.

THE MILITIA CAMP for No. 3 District, will, according to Ottawa advices, be held at Cobourg this year, and not at Kingston, as at one time thought probable.

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED.—The Independant lacrosse team, of Toronto, who signalized their game played with the home club here on July 1st by a filthy act of cannibalism, are, according to the Toronto Telegram keeping up their reputation for rowdyism. While crossing the lake in the Chicora, a day or two ago, they were drunk and raised a terrible row, assaulting the officers of the boat and insulting ladies with obscene songs. Warrants are out for the arrest of several of them. Blood—bad—will tell.

CHINA HALL.—Wednesday was the opening day of this establishment, and the splendid store was thronged with delighted visitors, admiring the beautiful appointments, and large and varied stock, so excellently and artistically exposed to view. The stock consists largely of silver plated goods, of which there is now on display half a ton. It is imported direct from the manufactory, Meriden, Connecticut, the purchaser securing thus the bottom price and the newest designs. The stock now on hand comprises a gorgeous display in the show window, and thirty feet of well filled shelving. The opposite side is devoted to a fine stock of cut and ordinary glassware. The floor has three rows of tables, on which are shown every variety of china and stone ware in sets. Several tables contain beautiful collections of Majolica ware, in the most unique and graceful patterns. They are shown of the new style of print ware, resembling calico, from which the name is taken. In fine the store contains a most complete and extensive stock of every kind of pottery, glassware, lamp goods, and crockery, suitable for every grade and purpose of domestic use. The immense stock affords a wide range for selection. In dealing with the potteries and manufactories direct and dealing in these lines exclusively, Mr. Wilson, the genial and enterprising proprietor, is able to purchase at the lowest figures, to secure the latest styles and designs, and give his customers the opportunity of profiting by these advantages. The establishment will richly repay a visit. All will be made welcome, whether calling to purchase or simply to inspect and admire.

THE WIND that accompanied the thunder storm of last Thursday broke down several large shade trees.

THE NEXT MEETING of the Presbytery of Peterborough will be held in the first Presbyterian Church, Port Hope, on the 1st Tuesday in September.

DYING TREES.—Notwithstanding the abundance of rain this season there are many shade trees in different parts of the town in an apparently dying condition. The leaves turn brown, the bark loosens and the tree appears to be in a generally maribund condition. It is probably the result of the drought of last year from which the tree has been unable to recover.

LACROSSE.—There is great activity in local lacrosse matters. The home club have received challenges from the Torontos, and Maitlands, of Toronto, and have accepted that of the latter for a game to be played here on the Civic Holiday, August 14th. The Home Club have also completed arrangements for a lacrosse tour down the St. Lawrence. They will on their way play different clubs between here and Montreal including in the latter place the junior Shamrocks. The match to be for the junior championship of the Dominion. The club start after the match with the Maitland's on the 14th and will be absent about a week. They are practising steadily and we hope their tour will result in a great deal of pleasure and a brilliant series of victories.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO'S
IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR
A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (46)

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

The News from day to Day.

THURSDAY.

The looked for attack upon Alexandria has not yet been made, but Arabi's forces appear to be gradually closing in on the city. On Tuesday night a British picket was surprised and routed, but the enemy retired and the position was reoccupied. The situation at Alexandria is precarious in consequence of the treachery of the native population, who, it is feared in case of an attack by Arabi would rise and attack the British in the flank and rear. Another great difficulty, which, however, will not fully develop itself until an advance is made, is the utter unreliability of the interpreters. There is good reason to believe these men are in Arabi's pay or sympathize with him, and the army will, therefore, be almost at their mercy in the open field. Reinforcements are being hurried to the seat of war, and General Wolseley has himself sailed from England for the scene of operations. Russia has rejoined the Conference, it is said because of reassuring explanations from England. The idea of a collective European protection of the canal, so far as police duties are concerned, appears to meet with general approbation, and may be adopted. There seems to be an inclination, however, to leave the question of restoring peace and order in Egypt to England and Turkey, the Powers reserving the right to assist in the final settlement of the Egyptian question. This will probably be the course adopted. The British Ambassador has again presented a note to the Porte reminding him that while England accepts his co-operation in her task, until the Khedive is sustained and Arabi proclaimed rebel by the Sultan, Turkish troops will not be allowed to land in Egypt. An interchange of diplomatic notes followed, the Turkish Minister claiming that the proclamation would be of no effect until Turkey was prepared to enforce it by her troops.

FRIDAY.

The native troops and police, upon whose fidelity not the slightest reliance can be placed, are under a close surveillance, and any attempt at a demostration in Arabi's favour will be sternly repressed. A force, composed of the 38th and 60th Regiments, made an extensive reconnaissance of Arabi's position yesterday, and found the camp almost abandoned, videttes only being observed. A British force has occupied the town of Suez in time to prevent its burning by the Egyptians, who fled upon the landing of our troops. This has called forth another burst of indignation from De Lesseps, who loudly protests against this act of war and flagrant breach of the neutrality of the canal as he considers it. The British Vice-Consul at Port Said, not having received a satisfactory reply from the Governor, has hauled down the British flag over the Vice-Consulate there. In the Conference yesterday the Russian representatives favoured Turkish intervention in Egypt first, the Powers intervening only on her failure to restore order, and the German and Austrian Ambassadors expressed concurrence in this view. Lord Dufferin insisted upon Turkey accepting England's terms before she landed troops in Egypt. At Berlin a serious outbreak between England and the Porte upon this question is considered unavoidable. A reason for the persistent refusal of the Porte in this matter may be found in a secret understanding which is said to exist with Arabi that the Turkish troops will occupy Cairo, and leave him free from molestation. Arabi probably deems this step a safe one, inasmuch as he appears to be a great favourite in that city at present, a great national meeting there having sustained him as Minister of War. Troops sail from England in increased numbers daily. In consequence of the abuse of their privileges, the Government has found it necessary to limit the number of press correspondents with the expedition, and are considering the question of altogether debarring the representative of the Daily Telegraph from entering the lines. It is also a noticeable fact that representatives of English, Irish and Scotch papers only will be allowed to accompany the troops.

SATURDAY.

General Allison is somewhat in the dark as to Arabi's movements. It is now thought that he is making frequent demonstrations in order to cover his retreat upon Tel-el-Kebr, an important stratagetic point half way between Cairo and Ismailia, where he is throwing up heavy earth work, and apparently intends making a determined stand. This is an important point, as it commands the source of supply of the fresh water canal, and also the railway and Suez Canal, and is the nearest suitable point for a base of operations on Cairo. From the latter city comes the alarming rumour that the European quarter has been fired, and a general European massacre has commenced. There is a strong probability, however, that this report will fortunately prove incorrect. DeLesseps continues his erratic and senseless protests against England's action, which he asserts is a breach of the neutrality of the Canal. The key-note of the Porte's suspicious conduct and evasive replies to England's demands has been sounded. It now has the effrontery to declare that the proclamation of Arabi as a rebel, must depend upon his conduct after Turkish troops have landed in Egypt. This is in direct defiance of England's oft-repeated demands, and unless a more conciliatory tone is adopted speedily, a conflict between Admiral Seymour's fleet and the Turkish transports, containing the Turkish contingent, is imminent. The divergency of opinion, which exists between England and Russia, appears to be daily increasing, and may probably break up the Conference without any tangible results having been attained. The complication would therefore be gratly increased.

MONDAY.

The first serious engagement on land between the British troops and Arabi occurred on Saturday. A reconnoissance was made from Alexandria in strength, for the purpose of determining Arabi's exact position and strength. The troops behaved with a coolness and courage that would have delighted the heart of Wellington. The action, which was gallantly and successfully fought, brought forth numerous deeds of bravery, which redound to the credit of the British Army. Our loss was small—four killed and less than thirty wounded. The only officer killed was Lieut. Vyse, of the 60th Rifles, a promising young officer, who is highly spoken of by General Allison. After the object sought had been attained the troops withdrew in perfect order, bringing with them all our dead and wounded, and a number of prisoners. The enemy's loss is reported at 300. From information gained there is no doubt that Arabi will make a firm stand at Aboukir. A report has gained credit that a British force has been landed at Ismailia to protect the canal. Despatches from Constantinople announce that an agreement will probably be arrived at between the Porte and England, and that a military convention on clearly defined lines will be entered into. A later despatch, however, states that the British Government has presented an ultimatum, and that in the event of its non-acceptance by Turkey, Lord Dufferin has been instructed to withdraw from Constantinople, and Admiral Seymour will prevent the Turkish contingent from landing.

REPORT OF THE ENGAGEMENT.

General Alison's report of the engagement with the Egyptians yesterday says: Owing to the persistent nature of the reports existing the past few days that Arabi was retiring from Kafr-el-Dwar upon the Damanhour, I determined upon a reconnaissance to ascertain clearly whether Arabi still held his original position strongly. The left column commenced the advance at 4.45 p.m. The four advance pickets of the Ramech lines moving by both banks of the Mahmoudieh canal and soon came into action with the

in a group of palms on the east side and in strong defencible houses and gardens on the other. These positions were carrried, Lieut. Vyse of the 60th and a soldier being killed. The enemy then took a second position one-half mile in rear upon the east bank of the canal among high crops and houses behind the irregular banks of the canal. From this position also they were driven with great loss. I accompanied the right column myself, as soon as the enemy observed us they opened fire with the artillery. I pushed on as rapidly as possible till we reached the point where the railway approached nearest to the Mahmoudieh canal and then opened on the enemy lining the banks of the canal. Two 9 pounders were dragged on the embankment and came into action against the enemy's guns, the 10 pounder firing over our heads, against the point where the enemy's forces were beginning to appear. I now threw forward two companies to carry the house near the canal, and followed up by throwing four companies still more to my left upon the banks and across the canal, thus attaining the position I wished, and forming a diagonal line across the canal and railway. The enemy retired slowly. The fire of their 7 pounders and 9 centimeter guns were speedily got under by our artillery. The was obtained, and I determined to withdraw. The movement was carried out with the most perfect regularity and precision. The troops fell back by alternate companies with the regularity of field day. Every attempt by the enemy to advance was crushed by the beautiful precision of the forty pounder, and the steady firing of the nine pounders.

A MUSKETRY FIRE

THE LOSSES OF THE ENEMY

appear to have been very great. They were so dispirited that, contrary to the usual practice of Asiatics, they made no attempt to follow up our withdrawal. As the reconnaissance was a success, our move was all I could wish. I regret to state our loss was somewhat heavy. Lieut. Vyse was one of the most promising officers I ever met. Our total loss is four killed and twenty-nine wounded. The enemy was about 2,000 strong.

TUESDAY.

The latest despatches from Constantinople present a very hopeful aspect of affairs at the Conference. At to-day's sitting the Turkish representatives announced the Porte's acceptance of the conditions of the identical note regarding Turkish intervention, and the formation of an international police for the protection of the Suez Canal. He also informed Lord Dufferin that in accordance with his demand Arabi would be proclaimed a rebel. This conciliatory action on the part of the Sultan was probably hastened by the announcement that Russian troops had been ordered to prepare to embark for Constantinople immediately on war breaking out between England and Turkey. Two Turkish Commissioners sail immediately for Alexandria and it is hoped that Arabi's troops will submit to Dervish Pasha on his arrival. At Alexandria matters remain very quiet pending Sir Garnet Wolseley's arrival. Her Majesty has personally made enquires after the sick and wounded soldiers. Arabi has brought up troops from Kafr-el-Dwar to repair and strengthen his entrenchments. He still appears to hope for success, and is keeping up communication with the Porte. One of his couriers has been intercepted and his despatches taken from him.

WEDNESDAY.

There is every indiacation that the Conference will conclude its sittings, for the present, this week. The Porte has accepted the international supervision of the Suez Canal on condition that the period of supervision is limited. It is believed that on Thursday's sitttngs notification will be given that Arabi Pasha will at once be proclaimed rebel. The Turkish force will then proceed to Egypt under the Military Convention with England. Russia has massed 200,000 troops in the Caucasus, and as the Czar, it is reported, is bent upon war in order to divert the attention of the Nihilists, some fears entertained of a deliberate ripping up of old quarrels between Russia and the Porte. Arabi yesterday made an advance towards Alexandria, but withdrew in consequence of an enfilading fire from a British ironclad. He appears to have brought up heavy reinforcements from Kafr-el-Dwar, and may possibly premeditate an attack upon the British position from another quarter, yesterday's movement being merely to divert attention from his real object. At Suez complete provision against a water famine has been made, and no fear need be felt upon that score. It is reported that the British have occupied Ismailia, on the Suez Canal, but the report has not been confirmed.

There are are now 23,000,000 feet of pine logs in the Red River, floating down to Winnipeg; they come from Ottertail, Clearwater, and Red Lake Rivers. There have been so many logs in the river as to put a stop to steamboat navigation between Pembina and Fargo, and fears are entertained for the safety of the bridge at Emerson, when the main body of the drive reaches that point.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, for years the pastor of the Parish of Bobcaygeon, has been removed to the County of Dundas.

A Liberal-Conservative Association has been formed at Haliburton, with Jas. Dover, President, and Dr. Spilsbury, Secretary.

LINDSAY.

The Lindsay school board sold the hay off the school grounds for $7.

Several car loads of mill machinery passed north over the Midland on Monday.

The school rate for Lindsay last year was 6¾ mills. It is expected that it will be lower this year.

A boiler and engine came in over the Whitby branch for the Dixon lumber company, carrying on operations to the north.

While holding a cow one of the butchers had his cheek ripped open. The animal's horn caught in his mouth and inflicted an ugly gash.

The steamer Beaubocage is being very much improved and will be everything desirable in an excursion boat. A large cabin on the upper deck will add to the capacity of the boat and to the comfort of passengers.

Mr. Sheriff Kempt and Mrs. Kempt having returned from Preston Springs left on Thursday for Thunder Bay, where they will remain over a month. The Sheriff has greatly improved in health of late.

The Post says that last week a little son of Mrs. Begley had his hand badly cut. The boy had come to the shop with a message and while his father's attention was called away to a belt that had run off the little fellow innocently placed his hand on the bed of a rotary feed planer. His hand was carried up against the knives of the machine, cutting the fingers of his left hand completely off. He was at once taken to a surgeon and the wound dressed.

COBOURG.

A large number of Cobourgers visited Port Hope on Oddfellows' decoration day.

Cobourg is to have a new hose tower and fire hall. The plans are ready for tenders.

The brigade camp for this district will be held this year at Cobourg. In addition to the ordinary camp ground, the town of Cobourg has provided a forty-acre field adjoining the ground for drill purpose, in close proximity to a small stream, and has undertaken to build two large wells to ensure good water supply.

COBOURG CENTRAL EXHIBITION.—As already published, the Central Exhibition for the Counties of Peterboro', Victoria, Durham, and West Northumberland will be held in Cobourg, during the week following the Provincial Fair, namely, on the 26th, 27th, and 28th of September. Arrangements are in progress calculated to render this the best exhibition which the Central Association ever held. The sum of $2,500 will be offered in premiums, the particulars are to be found in the prize lists, which are now published, and which may be had from the Secretaries, of the various contributing Societies. In addition to the ordinary premiums, the prize of a valuable silver cup, worth $50, is to be given to the winners of the great contest, between the lacrosse clubs which may wish to compete, within the four Counties interested in the show and Ontario and Hastings. There will also be several valuable special prizes, for barley, by Hargraft & Co., for spring wheat by McLeod & Co., for "Scottish Champion" foals of 1882, by Mr. Geo. Cockburn, for pen of pegs, by the Thorley Cattle Food Co., and the best boy rider, the best young lady pianist under 13, for fruit, butter, &c., by several others.

PORT HOPE.

The Lindsay thieves steal milk direct from the bovine lacteal reservoirs, and there is a lack of lac when the animals are submitted to the official milk maid.

Thos. Wilcox, of Port Hope, has been distinguishing himself in Brooklyn as a musician. He is called the "Flutina Wizard," so magic is his power of producing sweetest harmony.

Mr. Griffin, formerly of the Central School, will probably be appointed to the Mathematical Mastership of the High School, rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. Balderson.

The cricket match between Port Hope and the Winnipeg starring team took place on Monday and resulted in the defeat of the home team by six wickets. The Winnipegers say that Port Hope is the best team they have yet met.

Three Garden Hill farmers have been victimized to the extent of several hundred dollars, by signing an agreement to act as agent for some hay lifter. Farmers, take the advice of a level headed agriculturalist of Smith. "Dont sign nothing; but pay cash for what you think you want, or go without it."

As intimated in the News a couple of weeks ago the site for the Post Office has been selected on Queen street, immediately south of the News Office. The sum of $3000 will be paid Mr Burton for the lot. To make a corner lot as called for by the plans, a width of 66 feet was purchased at a cost of $1600.

Tuesday August the first was the funereal Decoration Day of the Oddfellows. Procession was formed and the brethren proceeded to the cemetery, when an address was delivered, and the decoration cermonies preformed according to the ritual of the Order. There was a large attendance of spectators and the cemetery presented a beautiful appearance.

The modest hospitality of Port Hope girls is shown by the fact that two young ladies, whose blandishments failed to induce two young men visiting Port Hope in a yacht, to remain over Sunday, secured the result by spiriting away two dogs belonging to the yacht, and love for mealy dogs did what love for beauty and modesty had failed to do. The yachtsmen could tear themselves from the arms of the young ladies but they would not leave without their dogs. How much better is a dog than a girl!

Notes of the Day.

THE ORGAN QUESTION in the Presbyterian Church—a standing cause of discussion and disquiet is supposed to be on a fair way to settlement. This year the majority against "The Kist of Whistles" in the Irish Presbyterian Church, was much smaller than usual. The four General Assemblies, of America, have for years voted on the question. Last year, strange to say, the votes were equal, 597 for, and the same number against. This year, however, one of the Presbyteries gave its casting vote in favor of music, and so henceforth it will be lawful for any united Presbyterian Church in America to have an organ

FEW SOLDIERS FOR EGYPT.—Although England is one of the great European powers, this is her present condition, and this the standing outcry in select military circles. The regular army of England is only 190,000 men. One-half of this number is in India and the colonies; the lion's share of the remainder is in Ireland endeavouring to preserve order. The United Service Gazette says: "We could not, without the undue strain of calling up our reserves, muster more than 16,500 men of all arms for active service, and of this force a further contingent will be required to prevent Ireland from taking advantage of our embarrassment. England could not place more than 15,000 men in the field, without denuding her colonies, and leaving her magazines and arsenals unprotected from those desperadoes who deal in dynamite." Bad news this for the Jingoes, but India may aid with her Sepoys, and then there are the volunteers.

AT A MASONIC DEMONSTRATION held recently at Hillsborough, Ireland, Lord Arthur Hill, Grand Master of the County of Down, dedicated, with accustomed ceremonies, a splendid Masonic Hall, which he had built at his own expense, and which he conveyed to the Masons of the district absolutely free. During the course of an interesting address, he stated that though Freemasonary had existed for a very long period, yet the erection of Masonic halls or buildings, set apart for Masonic purposes, was, comparatively speaking, of recent date. It appears the first Hall exclusively erected and dedicated for Masonic purposes, was built in Philadelphia in 1654, the second in Marseilles in 1765, and the third in London in 1776, which last hall was only pulled down in 1864. Now, Masonic Halls are to be seen in every metopolis, and in almost every town and village of any importance throughout the globe. This is something more for which the civilized world has to thank the genius, wisdom, and far-reaching thought of this continent. We commend the fact to craftsmen in Canada, as worth remembering.

A SUCCESSOR to the present Governor-General will very soon be required. The Marquis of Lorne's period of office will soon expire, and already public opinion is debating as to who may take his place. The Princess is so opposed to residence in Canada that a second term need not be expected. She languishes away from the salons and literary circles of London, and although devoted to art herself, finds no congenial acquaintances in this Canada of ours. This, most likely, would prevent the possibility of the Marquis remaining with us, although we believe he would not personally object to a second term himself. His position at the Court of St. James is an anomaly, and to a man of his acquirements and taste, must be exceedingly irksome, With the exception of his attempts to establish a Royal Society for Canada, which is to embrace literary men and artists, his has been a sensible and common sense rule. He has not set the St. Lawrence on fire, yet he has shown judgment, good nature, tact, and skill, in the position that was suddenly thrust upon him. This latest effort to form a Royal Society will prove to be a mistake. It ought never to exist, and it never can continue. Some newspapers are suggesting Prince Leopold as the Marquis of Lorne's successor. This would be a very popular appointment, and we believe would suit the aspirations of the Prince himself, who is the pet of the Royal Family, and the best public speaker among them.

SPEAKING OF MASONRY reminds us of the period when operative Masonry was practised by the craft. The old cathedrals and abbeys are sufficient memorials of the skill and genius of the brethren in early days. Inigo Jones was an operative Mason, one of the last in England. He was honored by James I. with a commission to repair St. Paul's, London. To his skill and genius we are indebted for that magnificent banquet hall at Whitehall. Christopher Wren, who rebuilt St. Paul's after its destruction by the great fire of 1666, was another celebrated Mason. He was Grand Master of England, and the greatest architect perhaps of any age. St. Paul's was commenced by him in 1675, but the colossal edifice was not completed until the year 1710. The first service in the partially finished building was held 2nd Dec., 1696, and was attended by King William the III., another Freemason. The inscription to Sir Christopher Wren's memory erected in St. Paul's is familiar to most of our readers. After referring to his age (he lived beyond 90 years) and to his work as the builder of the church, there occurs these words: "Reader, if you seek his monument, look around."

These Irish Resolutions.

The Imperial Government acknowledge the receipt of the now celebrated "Irish resolutions" adopted by the Canadian House of Commons, tendering to the Home Government the advice of giving Ireland home rule similar to that enjoyed by Canada. The form of acknowledgement is a direct snub to our Canadian legislators, implying a recommendation to them to mind their own business, as Mother Britannia was competent to look after her own. The mere snubbing is a comparatively trifling affair, the rebuke from the London Times a still smaller matter, but the attempt of the Mail and its satellites to try to make Mr. Blake responsible for the resolutions is the littlest of all Mr. Blake, it is true, supported the resolutions—moved by Mr. Costigan—in a speech whose eloquence and ability were not equalled in the last session—or last Parliament, for that matter, and he did so because he was honest in believing the resolutions were truthful and right. But as much cannot be said for Sir John Macdonald's allowing them to pass the House while opposing them in his heart. He, having overwhelming control of the House, dared not, from motives of political expediency, prevent their adoption. Had he wished or dared to do so, will the Mail tell us that the fervid eloquence of Mr. Blake, would have availed to supersede Sir John's control of the House? Is it because Sir John and his following are so rare supporters of a good act of legislation that the Mail is ashamed of their being caught in a good act? Mr Blake has not nor will he try to shirk his responsibility in the matter, and Sir John and his party should be above declining responsibility for a motion which they not only did not oppose, but assisted by their votes in carrying.

The Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army as a religious movement, though evidently not very successful in Canada, judging from its work in Toronto and London, has had unparalleled prosperity in Great Britain. It has grown like a mushroom; time only will show whether it will resemble it also in the quickness of its decay. It is now 17 years old, having originated with Mr. Booth in 1865. Once a member of the Church of England, afterwards a convert to Wesleyanism, this wonderful man began operations among the squalid homes and wretched brothels in the east of London. Alone and unaided, like Charles Lowder, though in a different way, he toiled on, evolving by gradual steps the whole plan and operations of what is now known so well as the "Salvation Army." And now what is its position? The Earl of Shaftesbury may object to its movements and speak of its methods as blasphemous; the Bishop of Manchester may commend the courage of its members and ardently wish them success, there is no denying the fact that they have been prospering in earnest, zealous, noble work among the depraved and dissolute—work, too, which hitherto has been neglected by all bodies of Christians, and that such efforts—though in some things we cannot agree with their views—on the whole deserve the highest commendation. The figures which follow give evidence of the marvellous growth and vitality of this organization. There are now more than 350 stations, or centres of action; 533 officers; 13,393 trained speakers; 334 halls for public meetings, and 200,000 services held annually. Congregations of 3,000 and 5,000 on a week night are not unusual in the city of London and in other large towns. They raise large sums yearly for the purchase of halls and theatres—one, the London Orphan Asylum, has just cost General Booth $300,000. The War-Cry, the official organ of the army, issued three years ago, has a circulation of over 200,000 weekly, and the Little Soldier, started in 1881, has reached a total of 53,000 already. Christians will do well to watch the movement of this society. They may learn something from its methods of reaching the dissolute and godless, and at any rate should imitate its zeal and wonderful enthusiasm.

The early retirement of Sir John Macdonald from the office of Minister of the Interior is again rumored.

It is said that Mrs. Keeler, widow of the late Joseph Keeler, M.P., will turn the first sod of the Murray Canal.

Hon. Frank Smith has been appointed a member of the Privy Council. and Hon. A. J. Chapleau gazetted as Secretary of State.

Hon. Mr. Loranger will enter upon his duties as Judge of the Superior Court, Montreal, about the first of September.

Lt. Orchard, of Picton, connected with No. 4 Troop Cavalry, won six prizes at Wimbledon this year, their aggregate value being $170.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau is to be opposed in his election for Terrebone. Hon. Mr. Nantel, for the Local House, is to be also opposed.

A. Gerin Lajoie, late assistant librarian of Parliament, died at Ottawa, on Friday. Deceased was a literatteur of distinction among Canadian authors.

Carrol Ryan, editor of the Free Press, is spoken of as a Liberal Candidate for the representation of Ottawa, in the Local Legislature.

Word has been received that King Cetewayo, who is now in London, would arrive in America about the 8th proximo, and would visit Canada a few weeks afterward.

Mr. Macdougall intends to protest the election of Mr. Dawson, in Algoma, on the ground that the Dominion Government had no right to extend the area of the constituency. This will bring up the boundary question.

The Winnipeg Sun says that time works great changes, and before long we may expect to see Mr. Macdougall either back in parliament, or taking an active interest in organising the new party, which the Toronto World says is waiting for a leader.

NEWS CONDENSED.

The Sexsmith Mine has played out, and Mr. Munson, the manager, has determined to abandon it as unprofitable.

We do not hear much of Mr. Langtry, but his wife is to receive $3,000 per week and all expenses for herself and maid for 100 nights in America.

Members of the Canada Pacific Syndicate on being interviewed declared that the rumours of the possible abandonment of work on the Canada Pacific Railroad around the northern shore of Lake Superior was all bosh. A deputation of Syndicate officials is now in Ottawa for the purpose of transacting business with the Government.

A young farmer named Glenn, of Blenshard township, was yesterday committed for trial at Stratford, on a charge of blackmailing Mr. James Trow, (Reform) M.P., for South Perth. The accused demanded $500, and threatened in the event of a refusal to make known certain information which he claimed would prevent Mr. Trow taking his seat in the Commons.

1,840 barrels of flour, the property of Lord Munn & Co., of Montreal, have been seized by the Customs officers at that place, for the evasion of the customs law. The plan alleged by the officials of the customs to have been followed was the importation of large or small lots of American flour for warehouse, and ostensibly for export. Having allowed the American flour to go into consumption from the warehouse, Canadian flour is said to have been substituted, and the warehouse bond sought to be cancelled by this exportation.

TWO DEPARTMENTS WELL REPRESENTED.

In lately walking through the Government Buildings at Ottawa, a representative of one of Ottawa's ablest journals, in the course of conversation gleaned some items of interest. Speaking with Mr. A. J. Cambie, Chief Clerk of the Agricultural Department, that gentleman replied to a certain question: "I have used St Jacobs Oil in my family, and found it to be an excellent article indeed. It is the remedy to banish pain and has a pleasant and soothing way of doing so, that makes it valuable. I consider it a great medicine." Calling upon Mr. Sherwood of the Militia Department, that gentleman thus answered the usual query; "I have found St. Jacobs Oil a great medicine; a splendid remedy, indeed, for rheumatism. I have recommended it to very many. When I commenced its use I had not much faith, but now my faith could not be easily shaken. I consider it by all odds the best medicine I ever tried."

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE ROUND OF LIFE.

Two children down by the shining strand,
With eyes as blue as the summer sea,
While the sinking sun fills all the land
With the glow of a golden mystery;
Laughing aloud at the sea mew's cry,
Gazing with joy on its snowy breast,
Till the first star looks from the evening sky
And the amber bars stretch over the west.

A soft green dell by the breezy shore,
A sailor lad and a maiden fair;
Hand clasped in hand, while the tale of yore
Is borne again on the listening air.
For love is young, though love be old,
And love alone the heart can fill;
And the dear old tale that has been told
In the days gone by is spoken still.

A trim-built home on a sheltered bay;
A wife looking out on a glistening sea;
A prayer for the loved one far away,
And prattling imps 'neath the old roof-tree;
A lifted latch and a radiant face
By the open door in the falling night;
A welcome home and a warm embrace
From the love of his youth and his children bright.

An aged man in an old arm-chair;
A golden light from the western sky;
His wife by his side, with her silvered hair,
And the open Book of God close by.
Sweet on the bay the gloaming falls,
And bright is the glow of the evening star;
But dearer to them are the jasper walls
And the golden streets of the land afar.

An old churchyard on a green hillside;
Two lying still in their peaceful rest;
The fishermen's boat going out with the tide
In the fiery glow of the amber west.
Children's laughter and an old man's sighs,
The night that follows the morning clear,
A rainbow bridging our darkened skies,
Are the round of our lives from year to year!

A SHORT SERMON ON AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT.

BY A COMMON LAYMAN.

(Written for the EXAMINER.)

The study of the history of the human race, from the days of Adam to the present time, is a great and an interesting one. To the philanthrophist and the historian it is especially interesting, because it shows the progress which man has made during the last six thousand years and it affords material for encouragement and hope for the time to come. Since the birth of Christianity and the Bible it is pleasant to trace the progess of religious light and truth through the centuries which have passed and gone, but the prospect for the time to come is still more encouraging. The dark places of the earth are becoming clear and bright through the light of the Gospel, and judging by the present, it is not too much to believe that the next half century will witness a marvellous progress in the influences of Christianity throughout all the nations and peoples of the world.

But, notwithstanding all these things, it is often asked why it is that true religion has not advanced more rapidly and more extensively among those countries where the Bible is the acknowledged standard of public belief. Those who profess not to believe its inspiration, say that it has now been in existence nearly two thousand years, and they ask us to look around and to show them, if we can, how many there are who honestly make it their rule of faith and action. And they say also that, where we find a professing christian we too often find a hypocrite, and that the more a man wishes to be thought religious the less he is to be trusted. They point, also, to our churches, and they ask how many of the poor and lowly, how many of the outcasts are to be found there. They ask us to compare the self-denial, the simplicity and the labours of the Saviour and His disciples with the self-denial, simplicity and labours of his professing ministers of the present day. They tell us that Christ was not above going out into the ditches and highways, and there ministering to the wants of those who, at the present day, are practically unknown and uncared for by those who declare that Heaven is the home of all, poor and rich alike, who acknowledge Him as their Saviour and Redeemer, and who, through his great merits and mercies, have faith in their eternal salvation and happiness.

We know the simplicity and the charity and self denial of the followers of the Saviour during his stay upon the earth. We know what an example of meekness and kindness He furnished the world, and what privations and sorrows He endured for others. We know how footsore and weary he went from place to place on missions of love and mercy for those who needed His labours and His presence. And how He said the beasts of the fields have holes, and the fowls of the air have nests, but the son of man hath not where to lay His head. Let us try to realise, if we can, the condescension, and the loving kindness of God in thus giving His only Son, to shew us, by His example, the way to work and to save. To teach us the value of meekness and of self-denial. To shew us how, like Lazarus, the poor and the lowly are not forgotten by the one Heavenly Father, who has provided in his Kingdom a home for the outcast, and who has said that it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into Heaven. Who ever heard of God, in the early days of the Apostles, putting it into their hearts to go into land speculations? He says His kingdom is not of this world, and that those who are seeking salvation must sell all and give to the poor, and follow Him. There is not much of land speculation or worldly possession in this command. And His law is the same, yesterday, to-day and forever.

But to come back again to the questions contained in the second paragraph of this letter, why are there so few real God-fearing and God-loving Christians to be found after nearly two thousand years of pure Chistianity and the Bible, and why do we find so few constant church-goers and among these scarcely one of the helpless and the poor. This is an all-important question, and one, too, which ought to be fairly understood. I should like to see an answer given by those who should be more competent to give it than I am. I could give my views upon the question, and I will try to do so, but, at the same time, I hope some of our church authorities will do so also, and do it in a truthful and practical manner.

Our Saviour set an example of humility and kindness. The afflicted and poor were his especial care, and he never passed them by unheeded. He was not above going out into the highways and byways, seeking to help those who most needed his care. He visited the publican and the sinner wherever he was to be found. And His disciples were poor fishermen, who cast their nets and who otherwise laboured for their daily food. He had no costly palace and no retinue of servants to wait upon Him. He lived in poverty and was despised by those whom He came to save, and for whom, at last, he laid down His life. But He had a work to do and he did it, and nowhere did He labour more earnestly than amongst the forsaken and the poor, and they followed and blessed Him. And he charged those who came after Him to feed his sheep.

Now let us see how they did it, and in tracing out this history we will find the cause of the present cold and unsatisfactory condition of the Church and the people of the present day. A very long time after the death of Christ had not elapsed before human ambition and pride began to exhibit themselves among the people, and great changes made in the previous purity and simplicity of the Gospel. Ecclesiastical power and spiritual authority soon began to be developed and put in operation, and those who professed to be the successors of the early Apostles soon cast aside their humility and simplicity, and set up in their stead their own selfish ambition and pride. The teachings of the Bible interfered with their plans, and soon the Bible became a secondary factor in the religious ambition and bigotry of what had now become a grand heirarchy of priests and teachers. These were determined to rule the world, and when necessary, to employ fire and the sword to bring all things under their iron rule. Centuries have passed by since these times began, ages of cruelty and darkness have covered the earth, spiritual pride, and selfishness, and despotism have done their unholy work. But, after all these weary ages of misery and persecution, the sun of righteousness once more reappears, and our pathway is again illumined through the liberty of the glorious gospel. Men are now free to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

But, notwithstanding all our present advantages, how does it happen that so small a percentage of the people regularly go to church, and so few of them are anything but nominal Christians?' The doors of the churches stand wide open on the Sabbath day—yet how few enter therein? In answer, some of these say that they are not wanted there. Others say that they are not fashionable enough. Others, that they are too poor. And they nearly all concur in saying that if the minister is too proud to go to see them, too proud even to notice them, they can get no benefit from his preaching. They nearly all complain that every one in and about the church is cold and distant, and appears utterly indifferent as to whether they come or stay away. That the minister thinks more of his kid gloves than he does of their souls. That he is afraid of soiling his broadcloth if he enters their humble dwellings. They point to the examples given and the lessons taught by the great Head of the church, and they compare His self-denial and his labours with the fashionable preachers of the present time, and they ask if it is any wonder that they don't go to church. They point also to some of the leading officials in the churches, their inconsistent professions and practices, and they say that these things are sufficient reasons for their remaining at home. They say, "by their fruits ye shall know them," and that if this is the result of church-going and professing piety, they would rather leave them alone.

Whether these are true or not, is not so much the question as is the necessity of removing their errors and prejudices, and this can only be done in one way, viz., by more frequent visits and friendly conversations on the part of ministers and church-goers, and by oftener holding out to them the friendly hand of Christian fellowship, and by greater and more earnest efforts to bring those wanderers into the fold. But it will never be done by the mere building of fine, costly churches, and letting the pews to those only who are able to pay large sums for their use. For the effect of this is to hold out a premium to pride and wealth and to exclude the very people who ought to be gathered into the fold—the poor and the lowly. One church in Toronto publicly advertises that its doors will be closed against the people until pew-holders are admitted and comfortably seated. After that the rabble may come in. This is helping on the cause of religion with a vengeance. And it is no uncommon thing to see a pew holder walk into his pew and at the same time order out of it some stranger who, in his innocence, thought he was in the house of the Lord. And thus it is nearly everywhere. Pride looks disdainfully upon those who cannot make a great display of fine feathrs, and refuses to associate, even in the presence of God's building with its creatures because they happen to be poor. All the surroundings are full of pomp and show. The professing worshippers look as if they thanked God that they were not like others; and even the minister, who would have you believe that he is the chosen of the Most High, walks with a patronizing air, looking condescendingly upon the passers-by, apparently conscious of his own superiority. And then the wonder is that the people do not go to church. But the wonder rather is that more do not stay away.

It may appear presumptuous in me, a common layman, to write in this style, and to express these sentiments, but I will venture to say that fully nine-tenths of my readers will say that I am right. People now-a-days do not believe in falling down and worshipping any man, be he prince, priest, or peasant. They judge a fellow creature by just what he is worth. They hold that every position in life has its corresponding responsibilities and duties, and that a man, to be popular and respected, must be active and useful. And they don't believe that any particular calling or class is to be a privileged class, and that people must be silent and be thankful. When men enter the ministry they say they have been called of the Lord, but before they do enter it they should well consider what it is they are about to do, and what are henceforth to be their responsibilities and their labours, and that these are not of a light or trifling nature. If they are to "feed the sheep," they should know the wants of each, and be ready to minister to them. The best recommendation for a minister is his kindness and his usefulness; to think only of his master and his flock. The lesson and the example have been placed before him by the great Head of the Church, and surely it must be a noble and a holy thing to follow Him. If this were oftener done their would be more true religion in the world and the places of worship would be better filled. My sermon is now ended. If it is understood and appreciated rightly, I may be encouraged to try again.

*It is impossible for a woman to suffer from weakness after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

F. Barrows, of Wilkesport, writes that he was cured of a very dangerous case of inflammation of the lungs, solely by the use of five bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Feels great pleasure in recommending it to the public, as he had proved it (for many of the diseases it mentions to cure) through his friends, and in nearly every instance was effectual.

TOO LATE—A SCOTCH STORY.

"Have you brought any witnesses?" said the Rev. Mr. Wood, of Bathgate, of a middle-aged couple, who had come to be married.

"No, we ne'er thocht o' that. Is it necessar?"

"Oh, certainly," said the minister, "you should have a groomsman and a bridesmaid as witnesses."

"Wha can ye get, Jen, do you think?"

The bride so addressed, suggested a female cousin, whom the bridegroom had not previously seen, and after consultation a man was also thought of.

"Step ye awa' alang, Jen, an' ask them an' I'll walk about till ye come back."

Jen set out as desired, and after some time returned with two friends, the cousin being a blooming lass, somewhat younger than the bride.

When the parties had been properly arranged, and the minister about to proceed with the ceremony, the bridegroom suddenly said—"Wad ye bide a wee, sir?"

"What is it now?" asked the minister.

"Well, I was just gaun to say, that if it wad be the same to you, I wad rather hae that ane?" pointing to the bridesmaid.

"A most extraordinary statement to make at this stage! I'm afraid it is too late to talk of such a thing now."

"Is it?" said the bridegroom, in a tone of calm resignation to the inevitable. "Weel, then ye maun just gang on."

THE GAME OF TEXAS.

Let the hunter come to Ysleta and procure a good saddle animal and one for packing his traps on and start for the Guadalupe or Waco Mountains. The large cinnamon or brown bear, second in ferocity and size to the dreaded grizzly of California; the well-known black deer, deer panther, Mexican lion, fox, turkey and a species of elk with which these mountains are filled, while on the plains the antelope is found in endless quantities, going in herds of from fifty to 200; and the mountain streams, of which the Black River and Blue River are the most noted, are filled with mountain trout, and the lakes are covered at all seasons with ducks, including the mallard, grayback, and all the varieties of teal. In the low country and along the river are found the noted California quail and the sage hen. The quail are of a species that are very easily netted, and their abundance can best be illustrated by the fact that last year two of our citizens netted over 2,500.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is, however, thoroughly eradicated from the system by NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in its use to cure dyspepsia and the many ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness, it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes, and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney complaints, scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price, $1.00. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A New Principle.

The principle upon which PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR acts is entirely new. It does not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the part, and at once effects a radical cure, without any pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet skeptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure, they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others.

Have you Lost the Sense of Taste or Smell?

If so, it may be from the LEPROSY of the 19th century, Catarrh. The Constitutional Catarrh Remedy will restore you to enjoyable health. It not only cures Catarrh, but all others at the same time. TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.
Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & CO.,
GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.
Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 10, 1882

The Way it was Done.

Day after day throws more light on the means by which the present government acquired the majority in parliament, of which, under the circumstances they are so justly proud. Feeling that the deliberate verdict of the electors would be against them, they had recourse to every imaginable artifice to debauch the electorate and secure by other means than the unbiased votes of the people a majority of representatives. The influence of the iniquitous Gerrymander, the appointment of partizan returning officers, opportune and often bogus grants to public works, promises of endless variety, and a thousand other disreputable election dodges are well known, but it is only by degrees that more occult forms of corruption are coming to light. We are indebted to a contemporary for a disclosure of the modus operandi by which it was hoped to transform Mr. McKindsey, Sheriff of Halton, into a government supporter as a representative of that county. But had he instead of receiving a hopeless minority been returned as elected a recount would have sealed his fate. This is the way it was done: Being in possession of information as to the probable time at which the General Election would take place, the Tory agents in Halton had the names of 50 or 60 farmers' sons, who had not yet reached the age of 21, smuggled on to the rolls in several of the townships. When these came to vote, they were afraid that in swearing they were 21 years of age trouble would arise. But the Tory scrutineers were ordered to insist on their being sworn as 21 years at the time of their voting and not at the time of being placed on the roll. This was a direct contravention of the law, for not one of them had any right to have his name on the roll till of age. In the event of a recount all those votes would have been thrown out by the judge. However, the voters of Halton adverse to Tory domination and misrule, were in the majority, even after the resort to this and other contemptible dodges to swell the Tory numbers, and the Liberal caudidate was triumphantly elected.

The Late Senator Hope.

It is with much regret that we hear of the death of Hon. Senator Hope. As a private citizen he held the first position as a merchant west of Toronto. He was also a highly influential Liberal politician, although his retiring disposition prevented him from becoming a candidate for the Legislature. He was well-read in public affairs, not exacting or unreasonable in his views, yet unswerving on behalf of what he thought right. He had his reverses like other business men, but finally triumphed over the difficulties in which he was involved by the errors of others, and maintained his position to the close of his life as an honourable and successful merchant. As a member of the Senate he did as much good as it was possible to do in such a body. Mr. Hope had been for some time in delicate health, so that his death was not unexpected. In politics he was a Liberal, and long before his appointment to the Dominion Senate in January, 1877, he stood high in the counsels of his party. He was unswerving in his belief in free trade, as it is understood in England, and with him there is no compromise on this question. He served as President of the Reform Association, and was unexcelled as chairman of the general committee in election time. In the ranks of the Reform party Mr. Hope's death leaves a blank which it will be hard to fill. His death will also make a vacancy in the ranks of the Reform members of the Senate. His place will be, of course, filled with a Tory, and thus the Senate will receive additional power to become the abettor of a Parliament controlled by a Tory majority.

Editorial Notes.

Senator Adam Hope died at Hamilton on Sunday evening.

Sir John Macdonald is taking is taking his holidays at Riviere du Loup.

The new British Columbia House of Assembly will meet on the third of September.

The return of Mr. Burns, Tory M. P. for Gloucester, N. B., is petitioned against, Cause: Bribery and corruption.

The anti-Chinese law, to prevent the landing of the Chinese in the States, went into effect on Saturday. Now will British Columbia howl with the hordes of the Heathen Chinese, and Bunster the defeated will most probably commit suicide.

Mr. M. K. Dickinson's (Tory) return to the Commons for Russell has been protested on the ground of personal bribery. The same grounds are also alleged in the protests against Messrs. Massue and Gigault, in Richelieu and St. Hyacinthe.

Bunster, the irrepressible (in the House of Commons) has been repressed by the electors of Vancouver, British Columbia. With Bunster the buffoon, Plumb the poet, and DeCosmos vegetating in the shades of private life, the House won't be the circus it was in days of yore.

The nominations have been fixed for the 22nd and polling for the 29th instant in Lunenburg, Yarmouth and Cape Breton, N.S., the sitting members for which have accepted departmental offices in the new Local Liberal Cabinet. The nomination and polling in Antigonish, vacated by the appointment of Mr. John L. D. Thompson to a judgeship, will take place on the same dates.

D. Blain, who was a Reformer while in Parliament, has written a letter to the Mail contending that Mr. Blake does not know how to lead a party, and urges Reformers to drop opposition to protection, and fight the Tories with other weapons, in fine to adopt the vox populi idea. Reformers, and especially Mr. Blake, cannot adopt the latter suggestion of Mr. Blain. Mr. Blake is too honest and able a man to degenerate into a mere demagogue, as the vox populi idea implies. He will fight for principle by principle, and will not, to gain power, stoop to pander to the crowd.

LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY.

The Beautiful Abode of the Dead.

It is a melancholy, though indeed a real pleasure, to linger reverently among the last resting places of the beloved dead, beautified by intelligent adaptation of nature's abundant material and natural resources, and to give, by pious attention to the graves of the departed, expression to the sublimest and purest feelings of love of which the human heart is capable. And few spots are worthier to command this attention and evoke these feelings than our own beautiful necropolis, Little Lake Cemetery. Here nature has done much, but art has done more, to make it the most beautiful, suitable, and well-cared for cemetery in Canada. It came into the hands of its present efficient and painstaking caretaker, Mr. John Kelly, in 1874, and since that time it has begun to blossom as the rose, and to increase in loveliness and attractiveness every year.

Thus far only the summit level of the two distinct plateaus of which the forty-three acres of enclosed ground is composed, has received any particular attention, but Mr. Kelly is pushing the work of improvement on the western part of the lower level. Last year the acclivity in rear of the chapel was tastefully terraced and planted with trees and shrubs. This season the work of grading and levelling section D. is going on well. This year the borders of the main drives, whose wide and graceful sweep is a fine feature of the beauty of the grounds, have been planted with ornamental trees and shrubs, mountain-ash, horse chestnuts and the fringe or smoke tree. In laying out the grounds, Mr. Kelly has adopted the true art idea, and imitates nature as closely as possible. He disapproves of terraces as not only stiff and formal, but difficult of keeping in order. He prefers, and rightly too, gracefully sweeping slopes. The simpler the ground plan is made, the more easily are the grounds kept in order, and in this consists chiefly their beauty. At present the cemetery is at its best; the plots, walks and drives are swept clean and the grass is neatly shorn and the weeds are conspicuous by their absence. Of course the owners of plots are largely responsible for this state of things. If they are willing to pay for the attention, one may be sure Mr. Kelly will do his share.

Among the plots attractive for their beauty and neatness, and for the evidences that the beloved dead are not forgotten, several may be mentioned.

That of Mrs. John White is tastefully ornamented and neatly kept.

The Lundy family plot, with its magnificent monument and floral beauties, is well worth a visit.

The plot of Messrs. George and Joseph Hall, beautiful as it is in other respects, was noted this season for the finest and most lavish flowering clump of roses in the grounds.

The Peter Hamilton plot is ornamented with a splendid array of flowers.

The plot of Miss Wood of Otonabee, is absolutely beautiful with its wealth of gorgeous bloom, a striking evidence of filial piety.

The Mercer plot is also a lovely and tasteful spot.

Judge Dennistoun's with its plain and massive marble cross, is beautiful from its very plainness—simplex munditiis.

That of Mr. Archibald Goodfellow is notable for several superb hanging baskets of flowers.

The Dixon family plot is another beautiful little wilderness of flowers.

That of Wm. Galley though not favoured with lavish expenditure, is yet elaborately and profusely ornamented with flowers.

That of Captain Wallis has the unique design of a cross-shaped flower-bed.

There are many other mortuary properties of great beauty, and all testifying to the fidelity and skill with which Mr. Kelly carries out the wishes of his employes.

The inscriptions on many of the tombs show that all the early settlers of Peterborough were from some part of Great Britain. Of the early tenants of the tombs, few are Canadian born.

The inscription on the tomb of Robert Miller Forbes possesses a strong and figurative originality, making it well worth remembering. It reads thus:

Tho' Boreas' blasts and blustering winds
Have tossed me to and fro,
Yet, spite of all, by God's decree,
I'm harboured here below;
Full fifty years I've often braved
The battle and the breese,
But now, in "terra firma" moored,
Till doomsday I'm at ease;
Where calmly I at anchor lay
Till God my soul shall greet,
And call me to His heavenly home,
My Saviour, Christ, to meet."

The metaphorical language is explained by Captain Forbes having been a Commander in the Royal Navy.

In contrast another inscription conveys a well meant, but rather unnecessary warning, as follows:—

Ye weak beware, here "lyes" the strong,
A victim to his strength,
He lifted sixteen hundred pounds,
And here he "lays" at length.

Daniel McDonald, whose body lies beneath the inscription, did actually end his days by over-exertion, in lifting, on a wager, 1650 pounds.

One noticeable feature in the inscriptions is the rarity of the horribly bad spelling some tomb-builders seem to delight in.

In fine Little Lake Cemetery has little but what is worthy of praise, although there are many that might be made. Mr. Kelly and the directors as fast as possible, intend to remove the prim and formal gravel walks that cut up the grounds into patches and mar the otherwise beautiful sweep of green sward.

The absence of an adequate water supply is a great inconvenience. It would be a matter of light outlay to erect a windmill—the turbine would be the least unsightly — at the north-eastern shore of the lake, or the water power at the locks might be utilized to give an abundant water supply, when the delightful ornament of fountains might be added to the grounds. Besides the grounds would be kept in better order with much less labor. As it is, Mr. Kelly and his staff have a great portion of their time taken from other work in carrrying water.

Our space will not admit of treating this subject in as detailed a manner as we desire to do.

Peterborough, in Little Lake cemetery, can boast of possessing the finest rural cemetery on the continent, and has reason to be proud of the caretaker, Mr. Kelly who so carefully and successfully labors for the extension and preservation of its beauty.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 9th, 1882,

Nothing doing in grain, none offering. Some two hundred bushels of new barley was sold to H. Calcutt, during the week. The quality was good.

ON THE MARKET

on Saturday there was a fair display of baskets but not many wagons. Butter was wanted, but there was not enough offering to meet the demand. It sold at about 20c with more asked. Eggs were in good supply, with 17c asked. The ruling price about 16c. Chickens sold from 40 to 50c, light supply. Lamb was slower, some being sold from 9 to 11c. In fruits, a good few pails of raspberries sold at about $1.50. Black currants brought 12½c. Red ones about 8c, quantity falling off. Potatoes were down to 20c per peck, a good many offering, but the demand was good. Wednesday's market was light, prices unchanged. Black currents brought 13c. A few pails of raspberries sold at about $1.25 to $1.40, price declining. Other commodities were unchanged.

Omemee.

Fall wheat, $1.20 to $1.25; spring wheat, $1.23 to $1.25; goose wheat, $1.12½ to $0.00; flour per cwt., $3.00; Mutton per lb, 8c to 10c; potatoes per bag, $0.75 to $1.12½; chickens, 40c th 50c per pair; butter per lb, 16c to 00c eggs; per doz., 16c to 17c.

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

COUNCILLORS IN COUNCIL.

A Somewhat More Sensible Sederunt.

Condolence — A New Water-Works Proposal—Rubidge Street to be Opened—Assistant Policemen Appointed—Hydrants Petitioned for—Billiard License Granted—The Cow By-law Comes up and is Cut Down—The Town Trust Commissioners and the Town Council.

The Council met in special session on Monday night, Aug. 7th, 1882, his Worship Mayor Smith in the chair.

The following members present:—Messrs. Cahill, Alford, McNaughton, Kelly, Patterson, Poussette, Wilson, Menzies, Rutherford and Richardson.

CONDOLENCE.

Mr. Rutherford, before the Council began work, begged leave to move, seconded by Mr. menzies,—That this Council records its deep regret on hearing of the death, by drowning, of Police Constable John McGhee, of Peterborough, who for the last five years and-a-half has discharged the duties of his office to the satisfaction of this body and the unqualified approval of the municipality at large. The Council joins with their fellow townsmen in lamenting the sudden death of a faithful public servant, a true Christian, and respected citizen, and respectfully extend their condolence to his bereaved family in their great loss; and that a copy of this resolution be presented to his bereaved widow.

Mr. Rutherford added that it was not as a matter of form that he moved this resolution. All present would endorse it, and more especially the Police Magistrate. Mr. McGhee had done his duty unflinchingly and fearlessly, and he (Mr. R.) sustained his course, and cited as instances of his fidelity the enforcing of the by-law in reference to the removal of signs. All would agree that it will be hard to fill his place with as good a man.

Mr. Cahill fully endorsed the resolution as well as the remarks of Mr. Rutherford. During his life, Mr. McGhee's fearless discharge of duty necessarily made him enemies, but now there was only one voice as to his efficiency and impartiality.

The motion was put and carried unanimously.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A communication was received from Mr. W. L. Ogle, of Toronto, respecting water-works. Some time since he had made an offer to Mr. Jas. Stevenson to build water-works for the town of Peterborough, but the offer was not accepted, and he renewed his tender to the town. He would put in 1½ miles of pipes, from 12 to 6 inch, twenty-five frost proof hydrants, brick wheel house and pump house, dwelling for resident engineer, and all other things necessary in a complete system of water-works, all for the sum of seventeen thousand dollars.

The communication was received.

RUBIDGE STREET.

A petition was read from Bryan Lynch and sixty-two others, praying that the petition for the opening of Rubidge street be granted by the Council.

Mr. Wilson moved, seconded by Mr. Menzies,—That the petition be granted, and that the Street Inspector be instructed to attend to the matter at once.

Mr. McNaughton said the street must be opened; if the Council didn't do it the ratepayers would take the law in their own hands.

Mr. Cahill favored the conversion of the portion of the street in question into a park.

Mr. Menzies said the street should be opened up; not only this, but all other inclosed streets.

Other Councillors also spoke on the resolution, which was put and declared carried.

MECHANIC'S INSTITUTE.

Councillor Poussette introduced a by-low which was passed, making a grant of $100 to the Mechanic's Institute.

THE FEVER FACTORY.

On Motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Menzies, the Clerk was instructed to communicate with the Commissioner of Crown Lands, with a view of securing for the town, lots 3 & 4, south of Wolf and west of George Street, the Council believing it necessary that the town should have control of these lots, in relation with the filling in of Spalding's Bay.

FIRE PERMIT.

Mr. Michael Fawcett having purchased Henthorn's livery stables, asked permission to erect a wooden addition, to be veneered as soon as he could procure brick.

Referred to the Committee on Fire, Water and Gas, with power to act.

ASSISTANT POLICEMEN.

Applications for appointments as assistant constables for the town were received from Messrs. R. Pidgeon, Robert Adams, John Walsh, J. H. Griffith, C. R. Follis, (Millbrook), James Gordon, and R. H. Griffin.

FESTINA LENTE.

A petition was presented from A. Clegg and thirty-two others, asking that the Council do not make appointments to the police force hastily. The appointment was a most important one, and the petitioners prayed that the Council would advertise for suitable persons to fill the position.—Referred to the Committee on Appointments to report.

HYDRANTS.

A petition of R. A. Morrow and sixty-four others, representing two thirds of the ratable property on George street, from Hilliard's mill to Sherbrooke street, asking that the Council place a suitable number of hydrants for fire protection on George street, was referred to the Committee on Fire, Water and Gas.

BILLIARD LICENSE.

Mr. Rutherford, Chairman of the License Committee, reported, recommending that a billiard license be granted to Mr. Faucher, and that a rebate of three months be also granted.—Report adopted.

APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Cahill, Chairman pro tem., from the Committee on Appointments, reported that the Committee had appointed Messrs. Richard Pidgeon and Robert Adams assistant constables, at a salary of $450 each, per annum, they to be under control of the Mayor and Chief Constable, and so divide their duties that at least one constable be on duty at all hours.

Report received.

COW BY-LAW.

Mr. Poussette according to notice, introduced a by-law to prohibit the running at large of horned cattle, horses, swine, geese, etc., in the streets of the town, and on moving the first reading,

Mr. McNaughton asserted that the question, as affecting the interests of the poor man, was an important one. He calculated that the number of cows in town were 235—100 at pasture, and 125 at large. By enforcing the proposed by-law, the price of butter would be increased, and the farmer benefitted at the expense of the poor man. Cows did a good work by keeping down weeds in the streets. The by-law would be a direct injury to the poor man, and would discourage immigration into the town.

The motion for the first reading carried and the Council went into committee of the whole on the second reading of the by-law, Mr. Menzies in the chair.

The Committee rose and reported the second reading of the by-law with amendments.

Mr. Paterson favoured the by-law coming into effect at a future date, to give the owners of cows a chance to make arrangements.

Mr. McNaughton was opposed to the by-law in toto.

On the motion for the third reading, Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. McNaughton, that the by-law be amended by excluding cows from its operation.

Finally, after a good deal of discussion Mr. Poussette withdrew his motion for the third reading and Mr. Rutherford his amendment, and the matter stands as before.

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC R. R. CO.

The Mayor submitted to the council a a telegram he had received from Mr. E. B. Osler, Toronto solicitor of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, asking that lots 10 and 11 on the south side of Rink Street comprising the two acres used as a circus ground, be secured for the railway company according to the proposal of the Finance Committee of the Council, made on the 27th of March last.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson stated that the Town Trust Commissioners had in the interval disposed of the property to another party.

On motion of Mr. Menzies seconded by Mr. Richardson the matter was referred to the Finance Committee to report.

An account of E. C. Hill, for bill posting $3.50 was paid.

HYDRANTS.

On motion of Mr. Poussette seconded by Mr Patterson it was resolved, that all petitions for hydrants on the streets be filed with the clerk and be considered as referred to the committee of Fire Water and Gas.

CONSTABLES.

In regard to the petition of the ratepayers regarding deliberation in the appointment of constables. Mr. Poussette said that the petition should have the most careful consideration of the council. He was in favour of appointing strangers, who could not be subjected, as local men might be, to the charge favoritism. By the selection of experienced men, the object sought would be best attained.

Mr. Cahill said that Mr. Poussettes' remarks would apply to the late Mr. McGhee, yet there was no record of an instance in which he had shown favoritism. The appointments made by the council were not to be considered in the light of supplying Mr. McGhee's place. The committee had reported only out of courtiey to the council, the matter having been left in their hands for disposal.

The Council adjourned for a month.

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR
A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (26)

GO AWAY.

With a bumpy swish and a curdled roar,
Sweet Mary's churn goes drumming;
Young Reuben leans on the low half-door,
And hopes that the butter's coming;
Then sighs and sighs, and drops his eyes,—
What words can his feelings utter!
"Oh, drop me down in the churn," he cries,
"And make me into butter!"
She rests her hands, and gazing stands
At sound of his words' vagary;
Then plies the staff with a lightsome laugh—
"Oh, go away!" says Mary.

If a maiden's word means aught, they say,
The opposite sense is in it;
So Reuben finds in her "Go away!"
A "Just come in a minute."
"I hope," says he, "I may make so free,"
With a grin and a nervous stutter.
"My answer should be to your ears," says she,
"If I could but leave the butter."
His arm on the shelf that holds the delf,
He looks across the dairy;
"Shall I go to her side? Shall I dare her pride?"
"Oh, go away!" says Mary.

He takes the hint, and he takes a kiss,
With fears and inward quaking;
She does not take what he takes amiss,
Nor seem in an awful taking.
Sweet kisses he takes so loud and fast
That he takes her breath completely;
He takes her tight in his arms at last,
And still she takes it sweetly!
The heart of the boy is wild with joy;
He has won her his bird, his fairy;
"I'll go outright for the ring to-night!"
"Oh, go away!" says Mary.

Farm, Garden and Household.

The Manure Heap.

The mine of wealth to a farmer is his manure heap. Upon his ability to get a large one depends his profits, to a great extent. An exchange gives the following practical advice to farmers:—Manure should be forked over occasionally to make it fine. If it is heating, then muck or loam should be mixed with it to absorb the ammonia which is formed during the process of decomposition. Sprinkling the manure pile with ground plaster is advisable. The plaster will absorb any ammonia which escapes from the pile, and save it for the use of growing plants. Ammonia is too valuable an element of plant food to allow it to be wasted. Again, upon some lands plaster is an excellent fertiliser. A great deal of material to add to the heap could often be got together, and the heap made to grow in size considerably.—Rural Canadian.

Hungarian Grass.

A large crop of good fodder may be secured upon early rye or other stubble by Hungarian grass. The ground should be prepared as for oats or any other grain, well manured, and the Hungarian sown broadcast and harrowed in slightly. The seed may be sown as late as the middle of July, about one bushel per acre, but the best results are obtained from sowing in early June. If it is desired to have green fodder for a number of weeks in autumn, the Hungarian seed may be sown at intervals of a week or so for upwards of six weeks. The ripe heads of this grass contain a large number of hard and sharp awns or bristles which are irritating to the stomach of animals, especially horses. This trouble can be avoided by cutting the crop soon after the heads mature, and before the awns have grown to full length and become hard. This grass when cured is equal in feeding value to good hay. If there is a demand for late fodder, it would be well to sow some Hungarian during the present month.—American Agriculturist.

Taking a Holiday.

We add our editorial "Amen" to the following sensible paragraph from the Prairie Farmer:—

"There are many farmers who will in this season of rainy days, more than ever, think that a holiday, when the whole family can lay aside the daily routine of farm life, in doors and out, 'hitch up' the horses and take a pic-nic or fishing excursion, cannot be afforded. But it is a fact that a little recreation and pleasant social intercourse pays far better than constant labour by men, women and children. Farm life in this country is almost everywhere too isolated, too monotonous. Mentally and socially the people of the farm need the friction of others to wear off the rust that dulls the brightness of the pure steel that exists within. It matters little what recreation is indulged in, so that it is rational and does no harm to others. So we say, occasionally during the busy season break away from work and care and have a good time. The man or woman who has come to think that such days cannot be enjoyed should realize that they have lost more of the vitality with which nature endowed them, and intended that they should preserve, than they are aware of. Such a feeling should create alarm, and lead to immediate endeavour to regain the spirit, the jollity and the general desires of youth."

Effects of Feeding Offensive Food to Hogs.

The prevailing notion that the hog has digestive organs equal to any undertaking in the way of converting crude or offensive food, leads many to give, in excessive quantities, whatever refuse happens to be on hand, whether spoiled grain, putrid meat, or refuse. The result of such a mess, when given to a sow about to pig, or having a litter of pigs by her side, is inevitably damaging to the pigs. The milk glands act in such a case as any outlet for offending substances that get into the system through the stomach, or that, through any species of disordered action, are engendered within the system. From this it will readily be seen that the milk of any animal not in a perfect state of health, must contain a considerable portion of the impurities that are from hour to hour given off.

The fact that poison taken into the system of the young, either human or brute, through the milk, acts so promptly, generally producing disorder of the stomach and bowels within a very few hours, is sufficient proof of the virulence of the poison, as well as of the importance of guarding against such accumulations within the system of the brood sow while suckling her young. Dry corn gives a tendency to feverishness. Too much sour slops, if the sow be debarred from access to the earth, ashes, charcoal, and like substances, capable of neutralizing the excess of acid, will derange digestion; the blood becomes impure, and, as stated, these impurities escape, in part into the milk.

Little Farm Facts.

A fat calf seldom makes a good cow.

Plenty of stock and grass makes good land and large crops.

Cows purchased from rich lands seldom do well on poor soils.

Excess of water in the soil prevents root development.

Animals in constantly good condition consume less food than those that are not.

It is poor economy to let a cow get into low condition either spring or autumn.

A daily supply of roots, Swedes or mangolds, is very conducive to the health of the cow.

No animal is so extensively distributed over the globe or increase so rapidly as the hog.

Negligence in the preparation of seed furnishes the key to many low averages in yield.

Cotswold sheep have large, handsome frames, well covered with flesh, and a great propensity to fatten. Their mutton is apt to be coarse grained.

Agriculture is taught in 27,000 of the 34,000 schools in France, which have gardens attached, in which practical instruction is given.

The nearer a fattening animal approaches maturity the greater is the proportion of fat in the gross increase obtained.

Horses are social animals, particularly so in the case of young horses. They thrive best when in the society of others, hence the advantage of pasturing several in one field when practicable.

Whatever he has done, or neglected to do in the past, the farmer who has land which can properly be devoted to that purpose should make it a point this year to set a few fruit-trees.

Deeply-rooted crops, as wheat, red clover and mangel, are those best fitted to resist drouth, while shallow-rooted crops, as grass and turnips, are those that suffer most from it.

A fat calf is 65 per cent. water and 15 per cent. fat, while an extra fat sheep is 37 per cent. water and 48 per cent. fat, and a fat pig is 43 per cent. water and 44 per cent. fat.

A French chemist reports that water made slightly salt, and to which, when boiling, bran in proportion of one quart to every gallon has been added, has been found in a series of experiments to increase the yield of milk to 25 per cent., if given to the cows as their ordinary drink.

The Journal of Science makes the statement that no beautiful or useful or organic species, animal or vegetable, becomes naturalised in any country without human intervention, while the ugly and the noisome do contrive to extend their range in spite of man's efforts to the contrary.

There is no wisdom in working a thirty-acre field year after year to get 5 bushels of wheat or ten of corn to the acre, when, with the same expense for fertilizers, you could raise fifteen bushels of wheat or thirty of corn to the acre.

A few sprigs of cedar branches (or leaves) have a strong tendency to drive off insects from the nests of hens. Mix them among the materials composing the nests, and they will certainly do no harm while they may do much good.

Household Hints.

GRATED HAM.—The remains of cold ham grated fine on to buttered toast, or served on a glass dish by itself, is good.

FEATHER CAKE PIES.—One teacup of sugar; one half cup of butter; yolks of five eggs. Bake the same as custard pie. This will make three pies.

GOOD SODA BISCUIT.—To one pint of sour milk take one-half teaspoonful (level, not heaping) of soda; a teaspoonful of salt and one-half teacupful lard. Mix rather soft.

JELLY CAKE (which is splendid).—One and one-half cups of sugar; one-half cup of butter; three eggs; two-thirds cup of milk; three teacups of flour: two teaspoonfuls of baking powder lemon to taste.

TO SWEEP AND DUST.—Sweeping and dusting is an art, in the opinion of The Alliance, and has a right method, which is as follows:—Are there closets opening into the room to be swept? Arrange the shelves, drawers or clothing preparatory to sweeping day; then let these be the first to be swept. Cover the bed with soiled sheets, as also all heavy articles that cannot be removed; first, however, having carefully dusted and brushed them. Remove all the furniture that can easily be set in the hall or adjoining room, having first dusted it; then taking a stepladder, begin to sweep or brush or wipe the cornice and picture-cords and pictures. Draw the shades to the top of the window, or if they are inside blinds, dust them carefully. Open the windows. All the dust left in the room now is in the carpet or air, and the current of the windows will soon settle it. Begin to sweep, not towards a door or corner, but from the outer edges of the room towards the centre, where the dust will be taken up with a small brush and dustpan. Go over the room once more; this time with a dampened broom; that removes the least bit of dust, and gives the carpet a new, bright appearance. Replace the articles of furniture as soon as the air is entirely free from dust, uncover the rest, and the room is new and clean. All this seems an easy thing to do, but there is not one in a hundred that will follow out the detail. Some will sweep the dust into the hall, or from one room to another, and then wonder why their house is so dusty again. Others forget cornices and pictures, and thus leave a seed for future annoyance; while a third class will do all but using the damp broom, which is as the finishing touches to a picture.

Bright's Disease, Diabetes.

Beware of the stuff that pretends to cure these diseases or other serious Kidney, Urinary or Liver Diseases, as they only relieve for a time and makes you ten times worse afterwards, but rely solely on Hop Bitters, the only remedy that will surely and permanently cure you. It destroys and removes the cause of disease so effectually that it never returns. 32-2t

Biliousness.

A furred tongue, bad taste in the month, nausea vomiting, variable appetite, alternate diarrhœa and costiveness, faintness, weariness, yellow caste of eyes and countenance, indicate serious biliary trouble. Jaundice is a dangerous disease, it is an overflow of bad bile in the circulation; any of these symptoms should be remedied without delay, and Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy upon which you may surely rely. 32-2t

James Cullen, Pool's Island, N. F. writes: I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction to this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success have been fully realised, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors (one old lady in particular) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child.

A CUTE POLITICIAN.

A writer in Harper's Bazaar is responsible for the following good one on a Canadian politician:

The contest of American politicians would find some difficulty in competing in ability—or, which is practically the same thing, impudence—with his Canadian cousin. Probably Mr. T—— D——, a veteran member of Parliament from Ontario, should be awarded the championship in this respect. He was noted for his irregularity, or rather his regularity, in financial affairs, borrowing, but paying not again, and had probably the largest clientale of creditors of any resident of his county, which, it may be added, gave a considerable Opposition majority. When, therefore, our hero undertook to canvass it, his case was regarded as particularly hopeless. His method had the boldness and simplicity of true genius. The candidate on arriving at a village would call upon his most furious creditor, and address him as follows;

"Now, my friend, you hold my note for four hundred dollars, borrowed money don't you? It was protested two years ago, wasn't it? You never expect to get a cent, do you now? Very good. And you are an uncompromising Tory, while I an a grit to the backbone. Exactly. Now let's us understand each other. I am running for Parliament, and this is a critical stage in my affairs. If I am elected, I may be able to pay my creditors. I don't say I will, mind you, but there is a chance that I may. If I am defeated, that's the end of it. I shall have to move out to Manitoba and begin life over again, and deuce a penny of your money will you ever see. Come now, what are you going to do?

And to the horror of the other candidate the minority, reinforced by Mr. D——'s creditors, swept the constituency like a whirlwind.

SATISFACTORY IDENTIFICATION!

A raw-boned Irishwoman entered one of the national banks in Providence the other day, and presented a check at the cashier's desk. The cashier looked at her and said politely:

"Madam, you must get identified."

"Faith, an' what's that?"

"Why, you see you are a stranger to me. I don't know you."

"Will, thin, I'm proud to introjuce mesilf to yez. My name's Sairy McFlinn, an' I'm not ashamed of it!"

"Well, but you see I can't tell whether you are the person whose name is on the check," said the cashier, too polite to tell her that perhaps she was lying about it.

"An' what did ye say I must do?"

"Identify yourself. Bring some one here that knows you."

"Indeed! An' who knows me better than I know mesilf?"

The cashier paid the check without another word.

AWFUL ABSENCE OF MIND.

It was in a drug store that a young and sprightly school teacher last week addressed the clerk:

"I would like a sponge bath."

"Ah—a—will you please repeat? I did not quite understand you," stammered the clerk.

"I would like a good sponge bath," again demanded the customer, while a pair of sharp eyes beaming with wonder and impatience made him tremble.

More dead than alive, he managed to tell his fair visitor his inability to catch her meaning.

"Well, I never! If this isn't queer? I think I speak intelligibly enough. I—want—you—to—give—me—a—good—sponge—bath."

At this moment the proprietor whispered,

"She wants a bath sponge."

At the same moment she comprehended the trouble and fled from the store before she could be recognized by anyone, but too late. A gentleman raised his hat to her, passed in, and all was discovered.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. Mr. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. Mr. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. Mrs. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. Mr. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of Mrs. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

Mrs. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free. 25

WHO'S THE BEST PHYSICIAN?—The one that does most to relieve suffering humanity of the thousand and one ills that befal them, is certainly the best of all physicians. Electric Bitters are daily doing this, curing where all other remedies failed. As a spring tonic and blood purifier they have no equal. They positively cure liver and kidney complaints. In the strongest sense of the term, they are the best and cheapest physician known.—Daily Times. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald at 50 cents.

A gentleman aged 68, writes:—"I heartily thank you for the great boon I have obtained through the use of your wonderful rejuvenator, known as Mack's Magnetic Medicine. I am fully restored—feel like a young man." Read the advertisement in another column. 32-2t

The Scent of the Heliotrope.

"Ah, that odious posy again! No, Palmer, take it back, and tell her to bring no more flowers. I detest heliotrope; don't you, General Duncan?"

"Why, no, Miss Lorrimer," replied the General, rising, and taking the little nosegay from the footman's hand, "I think it is delicious; and these other flowers are exquisite. Only look at these violets, and these pansies, with their golden hearts! Just the thing for your hair to-night, if you will pardon the suggestion, Miss Lorrimer."

But Miss Lorrimer tossed her queenly head with an expression of supreme disgust.

"I shall wear diamonds and amethysts to-night, General," she said, "not heliotrope. Pah! how insufferable the odour is! Take them back, Palmer, and tell her I will pay for the embroidery some other time."

But the General fastened the blossoms in his button-hole.

"Begging your pardon, Miss Lorrimer," he bowed, "I will keep them. They are my favorite blossoms; the very kind we used to have at the old home, when I was a boy. And I have a fancy," he continued, "that these are not city flowers. I can imagine them budding and blooming in some dim old country garden."

Miss Lorrimer laughed silverly.

"Why, General," she cried, "I did not dream you were so sentimental, and you an old soldier, too!"

General Duncan smiled, but he sighed, too; and a sudden mist dimmed his eagle, gray eye, as an old, old memory, tender and sacred, stirred in his heart, awakened by the subtil fragrance of the blossoms on his breast.

He touched the spray of heliotrope with a kind of caressive fondness, while its sweet and peculiar odour, with that strange power which odours alone possess, recalled the one dream of his young manhood—a dream so inexpressibly sweet and holy, that, although it seemed to have for ever faded from him, he cherished and treasured it still in preference to any living reality. But Miss Lorrimer's voice recalled him.

"But you are right," she was saying. "They do grow in the country, in an old cottage-garden, away out in the suburbs. Our seamstress cultivates them, and brings them in to sell. Mamma never fails to buy them, as an act of Christian charity. But I detest the stupid things, and the girl, too, for that matter, only her embroidery is perfectly elegant. Just look at this!"

The General glanced down at the delicately-wrought fabric she was unfolding, with a feeling of tender pity for the frail fingers that had executed the marvelous work.

"And she cultivates flowers, too?" he said. She must be an artist in her way."

"Oh, yes; no doubt!" laughed Miss Lorrimer. "Mamma thinks her a paragon. She supports an invalid mother, I believe, and is quite as angelic as possible. But I think we'll drop her for the present, General, if you don't object. How late it is!" she added, consulting her jewelled watch; "the evening has flown so rapidly! 'Tis quite time for me to dress! Au revoir! and I trust you'll tire of your heliotrope while I'm gone; I don't want my opera spoiled."

But an hour later, when the General and Miss Lorrimer entered the glittering opera-house, where Nilsson was to sing, the impolite General still wore his little posy in his button-hole; and while Miss Lorrimer blazed beside him in her diamonds and amethysts, and the music clashed in his ears, he seemed to see with an introverted vision.

Only one scene was before him—a garden bright with tropic bloom, and bathed in summer moonlight, and filled with the musical murmur of falling waters, and in the midst of all, a young girl, dressed in in white, in some gossamer material, standing by a garden-vase that was full of flowers, and smelling of the purple heliotrope that was part of its treasures, before she plucked it for him, as a farewell token. Ah! that evening, should he ever forget it?

The June morning dawned royally in the little cottage-garden shut in by a tangled hedge, and cut up into multitudinous beds of blossoms and berries.

There were clumps of great roses, creamy white and vivid red, with beds of emerald ferns and waxen lilies, and modest daisies and violets, and pansies, and luxuriant geraniums, and a wealth of fragrant, flourishing heliotrope, and here and there a bed of luscious red strawberries, and a gilded cage, from which a goldfinch sang.

A charming, well-kept little spot; and it was all the work of a feminine hand. The young girl came down the gravelled walk now, in the dewy glow of the June morning, wheeling an invalid's chair before her—a fair, golden-haired girl, with a face that shone like a pearl beneath her broad market-hat.

"Now, mother dear," she said, as she wheeled the chair beneath the odorous shade of a honeysuckle bower, "you will be quite cosy, and the birds and butterflies will keep you company till I come back."

The invalid smiled, and unfolded a roll of delicate needlework.

"I wish you would put your work by," continued the girl, "and take a good rest this nice morning. There's not a bit of need that you should work so hard. See my flowers how they thrive; and only look at my berries! There are no finer in the market. Little mother, we shall find ourselves growing rich one of these days."

"Then, it will be the work of these busy little hands," replied the invalid, fondly kissing the little brown hands that fluttered so caressingly about her.

Alice laughed like a child.

"It is so much nicer than teaching music, or working at the needle," she said. "I feel quite proud of my vocation. But here comes Farmer Denham; I must get my basket ready, for it puts him in a bad humour to be kept waiting. Goodbye, mother! Please don't work much, and don't get lonesome! I shall be gone just the least bit longer than usual, because I shall stop and get you a nice cool wrapper with the money my unknown friend sent me yesterday. I do wonder who he could have been?"

"Some friend of Miss Lorrimer's," suggested her mother.

"He was a General something, the footman said. I did not catch the name. Well, I trust he'll have his reward; and as I have his gift, I won't call for Miss Lorrimer's money to-day. She's so slow! Goodbye again, mother—I'm off now!"

And away she hurried to get her dainty basket ready for the farmer's cart.

General Duncan was out of spirits; and, to tell the truth, out of humour, too, despite the royal glory of the June morning. The opera had left him with a headache. He arose with the dawn, and mounting his favourite mare galloped for miles across the country; but the blooming apple-orchards and fragrant gardens only served to increase his unrest, and he returned in a worse humour.

After breakfast he started down town for a stroll, puffing savagely at his cigar, and wearing his hat low down over his handsome, intellectual brow. The General was quarrelling with his destiny, and feeling that he had been a very badly-used man; and in some respects this was true. Not many years back he was nothing but a clerk to a merchant of fabulous fortune. His employer had an only daughter, fair as a pearl; and with this daughter Harry Duncan fell in love. She loved him in return, and their troth was plighted; but the angry father came between them. "His only child, the heiress of all his thousands, should not marry a nameless clerk," he said. The daughter was too gentle and dutiful to disobey, yet too true and womanly to prove faithless.

In the starry watches of a summer night, in the fragrant bowers of her father's garden, she met her lover for the last time.

"I cannot disobey my father," she said, "but I shall be as true to you, dear Harry, as if I were your wife, and wear your ring as sacredly as if it were our wedding-ring."

They parted. But before Harry left, she stooped over a vase of flowers, and selecting a bit of heliotrope, gave it to him as a parting token.

And to this day, though years had passed, Harry Duncan wore that bit of heliotrope next his heart.

Harry had a natural aptitude for military affairs, and, as a consequence, soon rose to distinction in his profession. But he never forgot his early love-dream. Amid the excitement of camp and field, that sweet memory lived in his heart, keeping it tender and true, and pure from all vice. At the end of the struggle he found himself a General; and returning home, learned that, in consequence of the death of a distant relative, he had inherited a handsome fortune.

Without an hour's delay he set forth for the city where he had once been a clerk, indulging the fond hope that he should find his early love. But all his efforts proved utterly futile. The family had disappeared. The father had failed, and had died. But of his widow and her child no tidings could be had.

General Duncan returned home, and went into society, and was lionised at once. The brightest beauties put forth all their blandishment to win him, and foremost in their ranks was Miss Lorrimer.

She was lovely, accomplished, wealthy—why not take her at the word? She would make a queenly wife. General Duncan mused after this fashion, strolling down town that June morning, and half turned on his heel determined to retrace his steps, and make Miss Lorrimer a morning call. But the instant after he strode on again, smoking more savagely than before.

"No by Jove! I can't do it. That little nosegay has made a fool of me," he muttered, glancing down at the withered blossoms on his breast.

Suddenly a sweet, girlish voice attracted his attention.

"Heliotrope and heart's-ease," it said.

The plaintive cry floated out on the summer air, and fell unheeded on many ears but not on his. He had had quite enough of heliotrope, but heart's-ease was another thing. He turned with a vague curiosity to look at the owner of that pathetic voice.

There she stood, with her dainty baskets of blossoms and berries arrayed before her, and a goldfinch thrilling in a cage above her head. A fair, graceful girl, with a face as true and tender as Heaven's own mercy—a face he had seen before. Yes! but where? The General stood breathless and bewildered.

"Would you like some flowers, sir? These are very pretty" said the girl.

She held up a cluster of violets, and the June sunlight struck the jewel on her finger, and flashed out a shower of dazzling sparkles. General Duncan uttered a hoarse cry, and caught the hand in both of his.

"Alice?" he cried at last, "have I found you, my darling!"

The sweet eyes opened wide, at first in surprise and terror; then, hearing his words, and felling the thrilling grasp of his hand, the girl gave one searching look. Through all the bronze and change of his campaigns, she knew him. A beautiful flush rose to her waxen cheek.

"At last!" she murmured, while the tears of joy overflowed her eyes. "Ah! I knew you would come. I never doubted you, dear Harry."

"And you have worn my ring all these years?" he questioned anxiously.

"I have worn it as I promised," she answered.

That night, in the little cottage-garden, the General heard her story—a simple story enough. Her father, when he died, had left her invalid mother and herself without aid or support. Prompted by her love of flowers, she had leased her little garden, and reared her blossoms and berries, and sold them in the market.

"And they brought you back to me in the end," cried the enraptured General. "Ah! I was sure that heliotrope possessed some witching charm. Oh, my love! my long-lost darling!"

A week later there was a quiet marriage in one of the fashionable churches, and on the following day the newspapers announced the departure of General Duncan and his bride for a trip to the continent.

"And to think, mamma," remarked Miss Lorrimer, sweetly, after having read the announcement, "that I should have brought it all about. Such a fortunate thing for the poor girl! And I trust the voyage will improve her mother. I feel much gratified, I am sure."

And in less than a month Miss Lorrimer wedded a man of threescore, but a millionaire.

As a remedy for sea sickness, for any irritation of the stomach and bowels, for canker of the stomach and mouth, for piles and hemorrhage, and for all varieties of bowel complaints, Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry is nature's true specific. 32-2t

The Sultan can not well object to the course of England, but wants the English to fire the guns off easy.

Mr. C. E. Riggins, Beamsville, writes: "A customer who tried a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery says it is the best thing he ever used; to quote his own words, 'it just seemed to touch the spot affected.'"

To repent without mending one's ways is to pump out the ship without stopping the leak.

W. H. Crooker, druggist, of Waterdown, under date of June 1st, writes that "Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cannot be surpassed, when all other remedies fail then it comes to the rescue, and I find the sales large and increasing." Wild Strawberry positively cures all Bowel complaints. 32-2t

As a rule of conduct, "honesty is the best policy" has given way to "steal only large amounts."

The blood at times becomes loaded with impurities and moves sluggishly in the veins. This condition of the vital fluid cannot last long without serious results. An alterative is needed to purify the blood and impart energy to the system, and there is none better than Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A clergyman after marrying a couple, made use of the following benediction:—"Forgive them, Lord, for they know not they do."

The firm of J. & S McEachen, Douglas, writes us June 1st, saying: "There is not another preparation we can recommend with so much confidence as Burdock Blood Bitters, as it invariably gives the best of satisfaction." Burdock Blood Bitters cures all diseases of Blood, Liver and Kidneys. 32-2t

If Arabi Bey has got an idea that the British can't fight on land there is a great surprise in store for him. His hair may get ready to crawl.

The Wild Strawberry plant possesses rare virtue as a cleansing, cooling, astringent, antiseptic, and healing medicine, and when combined with other valuable vegetable extracts, as in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, it is an unfailing remedy in all Bowel complaints. 32-2t

Said a fond husband to his wife: "My dear, I think I'll buy you a little dog." "Oh, no!" she replied, "do not! I prefere giving you all my affections!"

Davy & Clark, Druggists, Renfrew, write us June 3rd: "We have sold Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for a number of years, and find nothing equal to it, for the purpose for which it is designed." Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures all forms of Bowel complaints incident to summer and fall. 32-2t

"Troubles often come from whence we least expect them." Yet we may often prevent or counteract them by prompt and intelligent action. Thousands of persons are constantly troubled with a combination of diseases. Diseased kidneys and costive bowels are their tormentors. They should know that Kidney-Wort acts on these organs at the same time, causing them to throw off the poisons which have clogged them, and so renewing the whole system.

"I hear Mr. Griffin has the pneumonia," said Mrs Budds, who was calling on Mr. Potts. "Well, I dont believe it," retorted Mrs. Potts; "he's too mean. If he has any monia at all, it's an old or second-hand one."

PROFESSORS CONNOR AND LYONS, of the Detroit Medical College, say: "We have used Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya with great satisfaction, and think it will accomplish that for which it is recommended. We have exhibited it to our Academy of Medicine, and, in other ways, have brought it to the notice of a large number of physicians. It being a good thing, we are pleased to do more than is our custom to learn its virtues and exhibit them to others."

Heard on the street: My gracious? what's the matter? You look all broken up; been up all night with the boys?" "No, been up all night with a girl." "A girl?" Yes a girl about ten months old. She's teething."

A REMARKABLE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Geo. C. Clarke, of Port Dalhousie, Ontario, states that she had been confined to her room for a long time with that dreadful disease, Consumption. The doctors said she could not escape an early grave, but fortunately she began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and in a short time was completely cured. Doubting ones, please write Mrs. Clarke and be convinced. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

THE GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR is the marvel of the Medical World. It never fails to completely cure Nervous Debility, Impotency, Mental Depression, and all diseases caused from excesses. The testimony of thousands can be had by writing F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for the United States. Price, $1.00 per box, six boxes for $5.00. If your druggist does not keep the remedy, send to headquarters and get the medicine by mail. Circulars and testimonials on application. 32-2t

Jas. Shannon, Leaskdale, writes: For many years my wife was troubled with chilblains, and could get no relief until about two years ago; she was then not able to walk and the pain was then so excruciating that she could not sleep at night. Your agent was then on his regular trip, and she asked him if he could cure her. He told her Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was a sure cure She tried it, judge of her astonishment when in a few days, the pain was all allayed and the foot restored to its natural condition. It is also the best remedy for burns and bruises I ever used.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced a remedy so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates the vital functions, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

HIS WORSHIP held the reins a little tighter at the last meeting of the town council and consequently there was more business and less nonsense transacted, and in less time.

AT THE MEETING of the council on Monday night the auditorium was filled with spectators, who manifested their interest in the proceedings by vigorous applause of un usually brilliant outbreaks of eloquence.

THE FIRE BRIGADE BAND'S moonlight excursion per Golden Eye was fairly patronized. The steamer did not go down the river, but contented herself and passengers by cruising round the Little Lake till eleven o'clock.

THE INTERMENTS in Little Lake Cemetery in July, 1882, were only eight, as compared with sixteen in 1881. The total number of recorded interments up to last January was 2,224—about the population of Ashburnham.

THE LACROSSE TOUR.—The Peterboro' Lacrosse club intend starting on their tour down the St. Lawrence next week. Not being able to arrange for matches otherwise they will drift down to Montreal direct and play the Young Shamrocks on the 17th. The composition of the team has not been definitely decided on.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.—Engineer Belcher has issued notices that travel over this bridge is suspended till further notice on account of raising the roadway approach to correspond with the railroad. The consequent improvement will reconcile the public to the temporary inconvenience.

ON SATURDAY, a workman engaged on the waterworks excavation on Hunter street, was imprisoned by the sudden caving in of the walls of the trench. He was considerably squeezed but was speedily dug out and carried into Fawcett's (late Henthorn's) Livery stables and soon recovered, by expanding to his normal size.

FROM BELLEVILLE.—About 400 persons arrived here on Thursday last—the St. Andrew's church excursion. They were accompanied by the splendid Oddfellows band of the city. Some took refreshments at the Drill Shed and some at the hotels and all spent some time in admiring the beauties of the town, in whose praise many cordial words were spoken.

SOME HALF DOZEN representatives of the Fire Brigade, will go to Rochester, on the 15th to uphold the honor of Peterborough at the New York State Fireman's Tournament to be held in Rochester on the 16th, 17th and 18th inst. Some idea may be gained of the extent of the affair when it is known that one hundred and fifty bands will supply music and enthusiasm for the occasion.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending July 29, 1882, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $7,434.10, freight, $13,602.89; total, $21,036.99 as compared with $18,281.15 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $2,755.84; and the aggregate traffic to date is $568,326.66, being an increase of $148,047.04 over 1881.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Monday evening, Mr. Wm. Gibbons, employed in Law, McLean & Brayshaw's foundry, by some accident fell against a ladle of melted iron, in the moulding room, and the molten metal splashed against his side and leg, the seething liquid eating deeply into the flesh. The wounds inflicted are extremely painful, and it will be some time before Mr. Gibbons can resume work.

AN ESSAY AT SUICIDE.

OUT OF LOVE WITH LIFE!

A Young Man Paves His Pathway to the Unknown with Paris Green—He Makes a Fortunate Failure—Drink, Grim Despair and the Green Drug.

On Monday evening about 8 o'clock, a considerable sensation was created in the upper end of Charlotte Street, by the report that a young man had attempted suicide, by swallowing a deadly dose of Paris green. William A. Gregston, a young man employed by Mr. Watson as a painter, boarded with Mr. Isaac Foot at the south-west corner of Reid and Charlotte Streets. On Monday evening he was in his room up-stairs, when the servant girl was called up and informed by him, that he had swallowed a poisonous dose of Paris Green. As soon as the fact was ascertained, a messenger was sent for a physician. Dr. King was the first to arrive. In the meantime, Mrs. Foot, who had been absent, returned home, and an emetic was promptly administered, which Dr. King supplemented with the proper antidotes. Gregston was in excruciating agony, however, and continued in that state till near morning, before relief came. In answer to the questions of Dr. King, he said he was disappointed—"strapped," and life had no value for him. About 6 o'clock he mixed a part of the five cents' worth of the poison, purchased at a drug store, into a thick paste in a goblet, and swallowed it. He then lit his pipe, had his smoke, and lay down, slept an hour or so, and was awakened by horrible pains in his stomach.

Gregston, who is a tall, dark young man of about 30 years of age, was born in New Orleans, and was, by profession, an actor—at one time—before his faculties were fuddled with drink, of great promise, having been a leading member of Laura Keene's Company. About the 1st of June he played with Howard Clifton's Church Choir Company, in Peterborough. Here he was discharged from that company for drunkenness, and he drifted into the employ of Mr. Watson as a painter, at fair wages, $1.50 per day. Still keeping to his bowl, he was discharged from this situation, about a week ago. About the last of July he received an invitation from Clifton, to rejoin his company, but being unable to procure means for the journey, he became despondent, and found means to start off on the longer journey to the next world, but was delayed by the skill of Dr. King, as stated above. Last Saturday Mrs. Foot told him she would keep him as a boarder no longer, but he staid on till Monday. He was, at one time, an actor of first-rate ability, but is now as ad example of the terrible blight, which drink throws over the brightest career.

The young man is likely to recover. He expresses no contrition for the deed, and only regrets the painful nature of the means employed to end his life, which was not entirely his fault, for he made unsuccessful attempts at several drugstores, to procure the milder medium of destruction—laudanum.

CAMPING PARTIES continue to take their flight from town.

THE BAND ON THE SQUARE on Friday evening. Come out and listen to their fine music, and always take the right side in promenading, and avoid collisions.

THE LACROSSE EXCURSION on the Golden Eye, on Thursday, was a gratifying success. Martin's quadrille band furnished music for dancing. Everbody well pleased.

BEEF HAS WEAKENED in price, steaks being now sold for 12½ cents. However, to maintain the balance of power, butter is strong, and 25 cents per pound for rolls, was paid on Wednesday on the markets.

ST. ANDREW'S Sunday School pic-nic in Mr. Lundy's grounds, Ashburnham, on Thursday night, was a delightful gathering. The Fire Brigade band, fireworks, and the hospitalities of the host contributed largely to the general enjoyment.

IN THE COUNCIL on Monday night the by-law to deprive cows of the freedom of the town was dropped at the third reading, and now the omnipresent bovine may roam and ruminate at leisure on our most beautiful streets.

MESSRS. Robert Adams and Richard Pidgeon are appointed assistant constables, one or the other to be on duty day and night. In the matter of physique they are competent to perform the duties of the office. They have been on duty since Saturday, and last Saturday night was conspicuous for the quietness of the streets.

HATS FOR THE FALL TRADE.—Mr. W. Lech is now receiving his first instalment of hats and caps from the best English and American Markets, for the fall trade. The stock is of the very latest and most fashionable makes, and for variety, prices and quality, cannot be excelled outside of the largest city stores. Call and inspect. 32-1ins

LACROSSE MATCH.—A team of the home club will play a match game with the Oshawa club in Peterborough on the Civic Holiday, next Monday, Aug. 14th. It was expected that a game would have been played with the Maitlands, of Toronto, but satisfactory arrangements could not be made in time. The game with Oshawa will be a well contested one. Three years ago the Oshawas "scooped" our boys in three straight games, and the visitors will try to repeat the programme and the home team will assuredly prevent them. Ball to be faced at 2 o'clock.

SPLENDID WORKMANSHIP.—Yesterday while passing Mr. W. Langford's furniture shop our reporter was attracted by a beautiful parlour suite. On inquiry he found it was manufactured for Mr. John McKee, druggist. The suite comprises seven pieces and is a beautiful specimen of artistic workmanship. The frames are of solid black walnut, in composite style, elaborately carved. The upholstering is of crimson and gold cashmere, with crimson plush trimmings, finished with gold and maroon gimp. The work is plain but looks exceedingly rich, and altogether is a credit to the establishment of Mr. Langford.

A MISTAKE.—The Trenton Courier reports that a commercial traveller recently told the head of the municipality of Trenton, that that town was the only live place between Montreal and Toronto. There is a sad mistake somewhere. Probably that "commercial traveller" only referred to the places situated on the Grand Trunk or perhaps again he was only giving the people of Trenton a little "taffy." Why, the very idea of such a statement is preposterous. We will undertake to say that more business is done here in one week than is done in Trenton in a month or more. If that traveller ever "struck" Peterborough, while, here he must have rolled up his bill of "expenses" to a terribly liquid extent, or perhaps he brought double vision to bear on the divelinces of Trenton.

Perseverance, Energy and Business Tact, versus Capital

Too much money is often the harbinger of business ruin.
Too little, or none at all, the forerunner of business success.
Too much money leads to carelessness, indifference and extravagance.
Too little or none at all will force into action those great levers of success, Determination, Energy and Tact, without which no business can succeed, even though backed by capital.

During the last 20 months we have driven our business so hard that it is nearly double what it was a year and a half ago

Our Room Paper Department

Has astonished all by the fine class of Papers, the Assortment and the Cheapness of the Stock, and eulogies the most complimentary, have been extended to us from rich and poor.

OUR FRAMING DEPARTMENT

Has made so tremendous a stride that for the last six months we have been putting out about 75 Frames a week, or at the rate of from 3,500 to 4,000 a year.

OUR BOOK AND STATIONERY BUSINESS

Has also marched into line, and we are now known for Good Assortments and Cheap Goods.

IN VIEW OF EXTENDING OUR TRADE STILL FURTHER

WE HAVE PURCHASED THE BUSINESS LATELY CARRIED ON BY J. I. DAVIDSON

The Stock has been thoroughly gone through and assorted with NEW GOODS, so that everything necessary to the successful carrying on of a First-Class Book and Stationery Business can be had at the lowest prices. MUSIC A SPECIALTY.

A. L. DAVIS & CO.

Death by Drowning of Police Constable McGhee.

On Thursday evening last our valued and efficient police officer, Mr. John McGhee, lost his life by drowning in Little Lake. He was returning with his wife and Miss Macown, of Belleville, from a church pic-nic on Mr. Lundy's grounds, Ashburnham, in a double canoe. The party had passed safely under the boom chain at the first pier at the entrance of the lake, and it is likely the canoe struck a sunken log, capsizing and throwing its occupants into the water. The cries of the ladies drew the attention of three young men who were about going in bathing near by—Messrs. George Stevenson, J. C. Robertson and —— Borland. They hurried to the spot and found only Mrs. McGhee and Miss Macoun clinging to the bottom of the canoe, Mr. McGhee having sunk to the bottom; having exhausted himself in supporting his wife and friend. The ladies, who were on the point of losing their hold, were supported by Messrs. Stevenson and Borland till young Mr. McDonald came in a punt and they were saved. The body of Mr. McGhee, who doubtless perished a victim to his unselfish efforts to save his wife and Miss Macoun, was found about seven o'clock the next morning, the arms in the attitude of holding something up and one leg bent.

The deceased officer, who came from Hastings, was in the employ of the town since February, 1877, and his faithful discharge of the duties of the office have won him universal respect. Personally, he was very popular. He was a member of the Orange order, but since his appointment took no active part in its affairs. He was a faithful and consistent member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Officially he was fearless and impartial, and never shirked a duty, no matter how personally unpleasant its performance might be.

The funeral took place on Saturday, numerously attended. The Town Council, as a body, was present, and a deputation from the Belleville police force, consisting of Sergeant McCrudden and P. C. Newton.

The remains were laid in Little Lake Cemetery, which now holds the body of one who was the model of the discharge of the duties of his office and one whose place it will be extremely difficult to fill.

CRICKET.—The team that left here on Wednesday morning to play the return association match with Port Hope was composed of Messrs. Hamilton, Hatton, Hartley, (W.,) Hallet, Stratton, Montgomery, Rutherford, Rogers, Hartley, (D.,) Connolly.

MALICIOUS MEANNESS.—Last Saturday night the town was pretty quiet, and some scoundrel quietly proceeded to injure the awning of Mr. Macfarlane Wilson's china store, on George street. And yet they kept the word out of the revised version.

SATISFACTORILY ACCOMPLISHED.—On Wednesday morning a cable despatch was received from Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Manager of the Midland Railway, now in England, to the effect that the financial arrangements in connection with the road, in whose interest he visited the old country, have been satisfactorily completed.

THANKS.—We have to thank our Belleville contemporaries for the many kind things they say in praise of Peterborough, in speaking of the visit of St. Andrews pic-nic party to this place: "Peterborough is a pleasant enterprising and hospitable town." "Peterborough is lively and progressive."

DIED IN HARNESS.—On Sunday, Rev. Mr. Gerrie, of Smith, who was filling the pulpit of Rev. Mr. Ratcliffe, his son-in-law, in the Baptist church, Communication Line, Smith, died literally in harness. While preaching, he suddenly fell down dead. His remains were brought to the station on Monday evening for removal to London.

FORESTERS PIC-NIC.—The annual pic-nic and excursion of Court Peterborough will be held on Thursday 24th of August, by steamer Golden Eye to Idyl Wild. From the success which has heretofore attended the Foresters excursions, we have no doubt but that a large number of the members and their friends will embrace the opportunity of spending a day's outing. The committee are making every arrangement for the comfort and pleasure of our party. Full particulars will be announced by posters in a few days.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox and family, we learn by cablegram, started for home on Wednesday.

Last Thursday Messrs. E. B. Edwards, H. B. Weller, J. H Burnham and J. Emerson, started for Lake George to attend the canoe regatta there.

On Monday Mr. Wm. Lech started for a visit to Germany, to renew associations of former days in the Fatherland.

Mr. C. F. Henderson, of Napanee, has been on a visit to his old home, Peterborough, this week. He was the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Robert Hall.

Last week Judge Lazier, Sheriff Hope, and Mr. Wills, (Treasurer of Hastings), of Belleville, stopped in town on their way to the Georgian Bay, via the back lakes.

Mr. Aaron Cox returned home on Wednesday from his European trip. On Friday night the band gave him a welcome-home serenade, "Home, Sweet Home," being first on the list of several fine selections rendered by them at his residence, Reid street. The band were handsomely entertained by Mr. Cox.

Last Thursday evening Rev. G. C. Workman started for a trip to the lakes of Muskoka. Before taking his departure, he was presented by a few friends, through Mr. George Hilliard M.P., with a purse of $100.00, as a mark of their personal regard for him, and of their appreciation of his services while labouring among them during the past year.

The Contented Man, Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

PROTECTION!

The undersigned would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Norwood and surrounding country that he has leased for a number of years, the Grist Mill belonging to Mr. N. B. Gould, on Colborne Street, Norwood, and is now prepared to carry on the

in all its various branches. The mill has just been enlarged and additions made to the premises that will add materially to its capacity and convenience. A large amount of new machinery, of the very latest improvements, has also been added to meet the requirements of the mill, which has received such a thorough renewing and refitting as the public may rely in future on all kinds of Gristing and Milling being performed in such a manner as to give entire satisfaction in all its departments. Having had a large and varied experience in the gristing business in different parts of Canada, and having always been patronized with a large amount of Custom Gristing in in all its different branches, as has been a convincing proof of the quality of the work performed by him, he can confidently ask the patronage of the people of Norwood and vicinity. Flour and Mill Feed of all kinds kept constantly on hand. Farmers may rely upon having their Gristing home with them on the day brought to the mill. A Call Respectfully Solicited.

A TRIP TO WINNIPEG.

A Pleasant Journey—Beautiful Weather—9 Days on the Way.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Every Canadian eye has been turned towards Manitoba during the past season, and when your correspondent bade adieu to Peterborough, on Wednesday evening, the 2nd of August, it was only with the laudable design of beholding glorious Winnipeg, the mistress of the North-West. Toronto was gained at 11.30, where the writer met with Mr Fowles, of Hastings. This gentleman is engaged in purchasing the right of way for both the Missing Link and the proposed connection of the Midland with the Grand Junction Railway through the south end of the town.

The following morning, after having attended to a little business, I boarded the Northern Railway express train, which leaves Toronto at 11.45, for expecting to take the steamer Frances Smith, at 4 p.m. for Duluth, immediately on the arrival of the train. Here, expectations were not fully realized. The steamer had unfortunately broken her shaft a few days previous, which caused a delay of fully 14 hours. The evening, however, was pleasantly spent in looking about the town, which has apparently suffered severely by the fire fiend. While strolling about town in company with a very genial fellow from Ottawa, Mr. M. Kavanagh, (who, by the way, was also bound for Winnipeg to look after investments made there last summer) we called on Mr. Hogg, of the Enterprise, and spent an hour in pleasant conversation. Mr. H. has recently secured for himself a good position in the Custom House, but has no intention at present of disposing of his newspaper—one of the advantages of being a good Conservative. Collingwood is a town of some four thousand inhabitants, and from its favourable geographical position bids fair to become the entrepot of the through business with the great North-West.

THE INDUSTRIES OF THE TOWN

are principally applied to lumber and the preparation of general shanty supplies for the north shore. Notwithstanding her rivals on the southern shores of the upper lakes, she will retain the supremacy as being the shortest and quickest line of access between Lakes Huron and Superior and Toronto and the heart of Ontario. The soil in the immediate vicinity is pronounced anything but good. The town supports two newspapers. They are got up in a very creditable manner and conducted with ability. There are seven churches, and many attractive dwellings are to be seen, where the prosperous merchants reside. Friday morning at 5 a.m., the Frances Smith, having been fully repaired, started on her

TRIP UP THE GEORGIAN BAY,

arriving at Meaford—24 miles—at 7.30. This thriving and very clean looking village is healthfully situated under the shelter of Cape Rich, a bold headland stretching 10 miles out into the bay. A delay of an hour was here made to take on board a large quantity of empty fish barrels. A sail of four hours landed us at a very nice place with a population of between four and five thousand inhabitants, and situated at the foot of a deep land-locked bay. In its immediate neighborhood are very high hills and interesting rivers. The town guarantees the Collingwood Line of Steamers a profit for the extra expense caused the line by calling at this port twice a week. Owen Sound is rich enough to support two good weekly papers—the Enterprise, published by Mr. J. H. Little, and the Times published by Mr. Creighton, M.P.P. The boating and fishing are said to be of the best. The Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway gives easy access to the sporting grounds of the interior, and connects the place with Toronto. Owing to the long delay here taking on freight, and at Presqu Isle, the voyage to Killarney was very tedious though pleasant. Although the weather was unsuitable for full enjoyment of the scenery I saw enough to lead me to concur in the praise lavished upon as many as 10,000 islands or islets are said to have been counted in its waters, and this number is said to be greatly under the mark. Killarney is the fourth regular stopping place after leaving Collingwood. It is a village consisting of about 30 houses and a church. The land is very poor in the neighborhood. Those living here are principally Indians and half breeds who exist by catching fish and gathering fruit. On the wharf could be seen a large number of barrels of white fish and salmon trout and quantities of blueberries. Numerous wigwams could be observed on the hill side in the distance where numbers of the natives were "squatted" for the purpose of gathering fruit.

THE BEAUTIES OF GEORGIAN BAY,

OVER 700 TONS OF FISH, have been shipped from this port this season. Killarney is situated in Algoma, the constituency of Mr. S. J. Dawson, M. P., who was opposed during the recent campaign by the Hon. W. McDougall. Some idea of the immense size of this riding may be gleaned from the fact that it extends one hundred miles west of Prince Arthur's Landing, (in the disputed territory) and ends at French River on the Georgian Bay—a distance of over six hundred miles. It also embraces Manitoulin Island which has a population of five thousand inhabitants. It would take three days and three nights continuous travel to reach the end of the Riding. After leaving Killarney, "Little Current" was the next stopping place. This is a point on the Manitoulin Island. The crops here are said to be simply magnificent. Furit trees, including apple, pear, plum, peach, and grapes and other smaller fruits progress very rapidly, and in the near future the Island promises to become for the fruit grower. We are now one hundred and ninety-two miles from Collingwood and on our way to the Bruce Mines—a run of one hundred and five miles. The general appearance of the latter place impressed us with the fact that it was not in a flourishing condition. A saw and griat mill seemed to be the only things in active operation. The copper mines situated here were at one time worked and are now owned by an English land company. At first they were remunerative, but owing to the reduction in the price of copper they were run at a loss and finally closed up, and the machinery is consequently lying idle. The company may, however, replace the capital sunk in the mines by the sale of 6,500 acres of good farming land, which adjoin the mines. The Bruce Mines are about three hundred and seven miles from Collingwood. We are now off for

A PERFECT PARADISE

SAULT STE. MARIE.

If an estimate of the country lying between these mines and Sault Ste. Marie were confined to what could be seen from the steamer, it would be considered a vast wilderness of mountain and rocks. In this opinion, however, people would be much mistaken, as beyond the front, large valleys of excellent agricultural land are found, and in season large quantities of fruit can be had between the ranges of mountains. One very flourishing settlement is situated about half way between the above places mentioned. The large proportion of the settlers have made their first clearance within five years, and some of them now have upwards of 50 acres in crop. The people are said to be as comfortable as those in older settlements. In places,

THE SCENERY HERE IS VERY BEAUTIFUL.

Shortly after leaving the mines, which cost over $250,000, the steamer enters the St. Mary's river, which connects Lake Superior with Lake Huron, which we have just sailed through. The river is about 50 miles long. It is a series of shallow serpentine lakes. Bear Lake and St. George's being the two most important. In some parts the space between the banks is very narrow. The river is shallow and very picturesque. An Indian tribe under the rule of Chief Frances, exists on the northern side on an Indian reservation. They live by fishing and farming Further up the river at S Ste. Marie, on the Canadian side, is established in 1875, by members of the Church of England, in the Dominion, (the corner stone being laid by Lord Dufferin) for the purpose of training young Indian boys who would be sent out as missionaries as soon as educated, to assist in the work of civilizing the Indians. In 1879 the Wawanosh Home was established for training Indian girls, with an object of making them good wives as well as missionaries. These homes are depending on the voluntary contributions of the public, although the Dominion Government gives a small subsidy. Anyone desiring to support a child can do so by paying $75 a year, including clothing. The Algoma Missionary News and Shingwauk Journal are monthly papers, issued from the Boys' Home, and give information about the missionary progress among the Indians—35 cents a year being the subscription price. I understand that the Indians are taking advantage of these schools, and send their children to be educated. Like some other charitable institutions, these are laboring under the drawback of lack of funds, although a clergyman informs me that at present they are in a very flourishing condition.

On the Michigan side the land is being well cultivated, and is pronounced to be good soil. At Sault Ste. Marie the steamer passes through a canal into LAKE SUPERIOR.

Here there is good fishing. Numerous Indians are on hand to lend their services and canoes. Sixteen miles below the Sault is Hay Lake, which affords good duck shooting and trouting in their respective seasons. On the Canadian side are some very fine residences, and rival villages confront each other from either shore. The waters of Lake Superior here pour over the Sault Ste. Marie Falls. These Falls are a continuous rapid of about three quarters of a mile in length, the waters rushing with great fury and breaking in huge waves over the rocks.

THE GREAT SHIP CANAL

is situated on the American side, with two "locks," about one mile long and 75 feet wide. They have been enlarged recently, and are a great example of engineering skill. Vessels drawing sixteen feet of water are able to pass through. It is over two hundred years since this place was first visited by white men. The fish caught are principally packed in ice and sent to Detroit and other American cities. The population of the village on the American side is over two thousand. We now, (Sunday, at 2 p.m.) enter Lake Superior, which is 355 miles long, and 160 broad, covering an area of about 32,000 square miles—the largest, deepest and coldest body of fresh water yet known. Its depth is 800 feet, and it is about 600 feet above the level of the Atlantic. Fogs are very frequent, and by some unexplained cause Sunday night, the steamer went some

THIRTY MILES OUT OF HER COURSE.

The boat being heavily laden, this time could not be "made up," and so many mare hours are added to the delay in making the trip. The cattle and horses on board now commenced to cause no slight discomfort to the passengers. One hundred miles we speed after losing sight of land after entering the lake, and then arrive at Michipicoton Island river. The island is richly wooded, the principal trees being maple, spruce, cedar, balsam and mountain ash. Here excursionists may go ashore and gather agates, or go fishing for speckled trout. They swim about close to shore, and are easily caught. A pint of the pebbles may be purchased for a dollar.

SILVER ISLET

is the next port or stopping place. The mines in this place now belong to an American company, and are highly valued—some estimating them to be worth as much as from 15 to 20 millions. The prevailing opinion is that the mineral deposits around Lake Superior and ou some of the islands in it are very extensive and rich beyond measure. While at the Islet we were shown several specimens of silver in the company's office, taken from the mine, also some very nice specimens of copper taken from their new mine at Na Mainse. We were also shown Capt. Tretheway's cabinet, which he values at $1,500, in which were specimens from almost every mining country. We also got a glimpse, as the boat was whistling "all aboard," of a complete set of miner's tools, made from silver taken from this famous mine. Things around the mine are looking favorable, and considerable silver is being taken out. The copper mines at Na Mainse are also, I understand, doing well. After leaving this port, the steamer enters twenty miles in diameter, encircled by fantastic hills, and guarded at its entrance by Thunder Cape, a rugged, rocky headland, rising 1,350 feet above the surface of the lake.

THUNDER BAY,

It is 25 miles from here to

PRINCE ARTHUR'S LANDING,

a lake port on the Canadian Pacific Railway, competing with Fort William to the south, the eastern terminus of the line.

It is now 7 o'clock, Monday evening.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

AT WORK AT LAST.

Your correspondent, along with every man, woman and child in this neighborhood, feels very thankful that he can forward to you the highly gratifying intelligence that work has actively commenced on the Ontario & Quebec Railway at Norwood, and at various points east and west of the village. On Thursday last Mr. McDonald, the contractor of Section No 20—taking in Norwood—arrived in town with 30 navvies, and with these on Friday morning started chopping, and on Saturday started a gang shovelling at the big hill near Buck's grist mill. Mr. McDonald being an old contractor, will understand his work, and is pushing it on with commendable energy and spirit. In a couple of weeks or so the number of men will be largely increased on this section, as will also the number of horses and waggons. Messrs. Sims and Lewis commenced operations on Section 21 on Saturday, with a strong force of hands, and is vigorously pushing forward the work in several parts of that section. The force of hands there will also be strongly reinforced by a gang of men now on the way in charge of Mr. Lewis. On both those sections high wages are being offered, the work by no means hard, and board can be had at very reasonable rates, so that the men working on the railway have no cause whatever to complain—at any rate no complaints have as yet been uttered by any of them.

RESIGNED.

It is to be regretted that Mr. McKay has resigned his position as Principal of the Norwood High and Public School. For several years back he has filled this very responible post with great credit to himself, to the advantage of his numerous pupils, and to the satisfaction of the public generally.

OUR NAVVIES.

Since our population has been increased by the arrival of a large number of navvies, our streets have assumed a more business-like and active appearance. They are a very quiet and orderly set of men, and as yet have given our people nor their employers any trouble whatever. It is to be hoped this happy state of affairs will continue while the road is under construction.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

A large proportion of the candidates from the Norwood High School attending the recent Intermediate Examination has been successful, as out of eighteen candidates from this school no less than twelve succeeded in taking certificates.

The following are the names of the candidates and the class of certificate awarded them:

(a) Allie Burgess, Peter Cope.

(b.) Lillian Ford, Edith Waters, Jennie Spence, Kate McKelvey, Michael Fitzpatrick, Wm. O'Rielly, Reuben Beavis.

(c.) Minnie Lumsden, Susan Harper, Patrick O'Shea.

This is the largest number of candidates passing at a single examination from the Norwood High School, and reflects the highest credit on the teachers of this school.

NEWS VARIETIES.

Scare in the Lumber Business

Lumbermen in the Ottawa district are excited over new regulations governing the importation of Canadian lumber into the United States. It appears that lumber which has been imported as one inch boards are really an inch and a quarter thick, and the United States Government having discovered this fact have issued an order which has for the present caused a practical suspension of the lumber business.

A Miner's Riot.

A riot occurred at the Camp Hill mines, on the Panhandle road near Pittsburgh on Saturday, resulting in the injury of a more or less serious nature to about fifty of the rioters. It appeared that one hundred and fifty strikers armed with grab-hooks laid in wait for the non-union men numbering fifty, who are employed in the mines, and made a desperate attack on them. The sheriff was called upon and soon had a posse of deputies at the scene of the disturbance.

Latest From The Northwest.

Abraham Johns, who was stabbed in his tent, is dead.

The boarding-house licenses issued to bagnios have been revoked.

The inland revenue for July at Emerson was $174,000, an increase of $151,000. The duty collected is nearly $13,200.

A Winnipeg despatch, dated last (Thursday) night, says: Sultry and showery weather is just ripening the harvest, which now promises and abundant yield. Barley is being cut in many places, and wheat and oats will be ready in another week. Haying is about over, but there was not a heavy crop this year on account of the late and wet spring.

Crop Prospect and Grain Corners.

The August report of the United States crops is very favourable.

The prospects of the European wheat crop is favorable for an average production.

One New York firm alone has sold nearly two million bushels of oats for August delivery. The stock in store does not exceed 100,000 bushels.

It is reported that a syndicate of Cincinnati speculators, with a capital of between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000, are buying all the September pork offered by Chicago sellers at from $21.50 to 21.52½. This has, however, created little or no excitement.

Extraordinary Hail Storm.

The passengers coming south on the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway on Thursday evening were greatly surprised on reaching Orangeville to see the platform of the depot, roofs of the houses, and the streets of the town covered with some white substance, and ere the train stopped it was a matter of speculation what it really could mean. It was hail stones. The storm which broke over the town at about 4:30 had continued for half an hour. In some place the hail was to the depth of 3 inches, and in others 5 and 6 inches. An old gentleman standing on the station platform declared that in his garden it was fully 6 inches. The crops must have suffered, though fortunately the storm did not extend over a very wide radius. The like has never been known at this season of the year before in Canada.

PETEBBOROUGH. AUGUST 17, 1882

Liberally Inclined.

The Galt Reformer is inclined to be very liberal in condoning political lapses. Speaking in reference to Hon. Wm. Macdougall, it declares its opposition to political ostracism. The Hon. gentleman, so our contemporary points out, when up for election for Algoma, was flooded with the facile abuse of the Mail and favoured with the cold shoulder of the Globe. It adds that it has not much faith in Wm. Macdougall—"his course has been too erratic." Still, when he shows signs of returning to the Reform ranks, the Reformer does not "believe in ostracising and driving him off. We regard such a course as narrow and unwise, and not calculated to build up a party sufficiently powerful to overthrow the reckless gerrymanderists now in office." While believing that the Reformer reasons thus from good motives, it seems plain that it has overlooked the striking immorality in the implied proposition. In the first place, Mr. Macdougall, judged by his past career, is utterly unreliable. In the session of 1880 he gave strong signs of an inclination to show himself an independent and patriotic statesman. The Pacific Railway bargain, then seeking the endorsation of parliament, struck him, as it would any man possessing the slightest smouldering remnant of honesty, as too monstrous an iniquity to be inflicted on the country without protest, and for a moment he vigorously exercised his disapproval. Whether he was in earnest or not must remain unknown, but is not uncharitable to suppose that an indignation so strong as his, if sincere, should not succumb in a moment to the manipulations of the Government whip, and allow this honorable gentleman to be led tamely across the floor of the House, into the Government ranks, in the division lobby. There is too much slipshod morality already in Canadian politics. No permanent nor desirable strength can accrue to the Reform party by the reception into its ranks of politicians who make politics a trade, and whose political nomenclature and allegiance are decided by the sordid question of personal gain and aggrandizement. We wish to see the Reform party triumph, but have no desire that that triumph be brought about any other way than by the triumph of liberal principles. Such success may be slow in coming, but it must come. Trickery expediency and sharp practice, adopted by one party, is all the country can stand; if both parties unite in policy, though divided in name, to make the battle a mere scramble for power and spoil, then Heaven help the unhappy country! The exclusion of political adventurers from the Reform ranks may be "narrow" but it is not unwise, and is one thing "calculated to build up a party sufficiently strong to overthrow the reckless gerrymanderists now in office."

Notes of the Day.

THE WORLD MOVES! One hundred and fifty years ago if people willingly absented themselves from "public meeting" on Sunday for five weeks in succession, a writ was placed in the Sheriff's hands, the parties were put under arrest, and condemned to pay pretty heavy costs and a fair round sum as fine! So an old writ, still in existence, informs us. After all it would all depend on the construction placed on the word "meeting." If "worship" was meant thereby, woe betide the bank clerks, shopmen and mechanics should such a law be enforced. But if a simple "meeting" was all was required to save one from the clutches of the law, we think the present generation would find a way out of the difficulty.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY has issued an address to the people of the United States whom they are desirous of supplying with copies of the Holy Scriptures. The magnitude of the work is seen in the fact of the immense population, nearly fifty millions, comprising many races and languages. The necessity of the work may be judged from the statement that for the last ten years the number of families visited was 5,206,283, of whom 723,314 were destitute of the Scriptures. Connected with the Society there are 18 distinct superintendents, 2,000 auxiliaries, and 160 paid colporteurs. The circular concludes as follows:—"The blessing that we seek for this great nation is the Bible for every family and every person who will receive it; the open Bible, "without note or comment," in the languages of the people and accompanied by the promised power of the Holy Spirit who has revealed, inspired, and preserved it; the Bible itself, in answer to the assaults made upon it; the Bible, as the divine charter of our liberties, the anchor of our hope, and the testimony for our faith."

THE FRENCH CHAMBER is proving itself as anti-clerical as Messieurs Hugo or Gambetta could desire. Churches are to be accounted as municipal buildings, and must be decorated with flags on occasions of each national fete, July 14. Even the houses of the priests are held as municipal property also. A proposal was recently carried by a majority of nearly eighty to stop the building of the church of the Sacre Cœur, at Montmarti, which even now is becoming noted as a fashionable pilgrimage. This work was carried on as a sort of expiation for the excesses of the Commune, and under a decree of the National Assembly, granted in 1873. The site was bought of the city of Paris, and though the building has scarcely reached above the crypt, a sum of nearly three million dollars has been expended on it. The scheme is now assailed on the ground that it is aggressive; that Paris has done nothing to repent of, and that no church in France can be private property, so that the State, if it wishes, has a right to this church, though private benevolence erected it. Hatred of Christianity seems, in politics at least, to justify any dishonesty or oppression.

LORD BEACONSFIELD'S adventurous speculation placed England in possession of nearly one half of the Suez Canal shares. These share, of which there are about two hundred, have cost England Twenty millions of dollars. Of the trade which passes through the canal, fully three-fourths belong to England. Last year out of a total of 1,593 ships with an aggregate capacity of 3,291,525 tons, 1,267 ships, with a tonnage of 2,629,955 were English. These enormous interests compel the British Empire to take a far more active part than any other nation in securing the perpetual freedom of the waterway between the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean. We must remember by this route 4,000 miles are saved in the passage to India. The canal is 90 miles long and a transitory suspension of traffic could be made with the greatest ease, and would entail much distress.

THE DOCTORS' BILLS incurred during the protracted illness of the late President of the United States, have not yet been paid. Congress has been deliberating on the matter for some time, and many efforts have been put forth to repress discussion and debate, on what is certainly an outrage on common decency. The latest phase was to endeavour to constitute a board of audit, consisting of some members of the treasury, who should determine on these absurd claims, and to allow an appropriation of $75,000 therefor, of which about $50,000 was to be allowed for funeral purposes only, to pass the house. This dodge would have effectually checked debate and congress with a low sense of duty, would have been delighted at the opportunity to shirk the discussion of a nasty question. The resolution failed however, and an amendment was carried to reduce the appropriation from $75,000 to $57,000, and the amount to be paid for medical services, from $50,000 to $35,000. One Senator, in objecting to such large sums being paid, said that the late President, if not butchered, was unquestionably the victim of malpractice in his last illness. For eighty days he was physiched, leeched, probed, and lanced, while the bullet that was eating away his life, never for a moment came under the attention of the physicians. It is certain the fees are grossly enormous, and should not be allowed by any law court. The doctors and the Wall Street brokers, it has been charged, united in deceiving the public, and used their position for furthering stock gambling, when the President was at his worst. Surely such a terrible scandal demands an investigation.

DURING THE PRESENT MONTH the American Association for the Advancement of Science meets in Montreal. To this event literary and scientific men throughout the United States and our own Dominion also have looked forward for some time past with intense interest. The meeting will, we trust, stimulate the prosecution of scientific study among Canadians and tend to help forward the beneficial, enervating and liberalizing influences which such intellectual pursuits are calculated to produce. Invitations have been sent to the European men of science to attend and it is fully expected that representatives from England, France and other countries will be present. The local expenses for entertaining members of the Association are likely to be under $2,000, and several very pleasant excursions are already planned. The headquarters of the Association will be at the Windsor Hotel; Dr. Sterry Hunt is chairman of the local executive board to complete arrangements. The meeting of this Association here and the important and interesting papers which will be read thereat will, we believe, contribute not a little to make our people recognise more fully the work in which scientific men everywhere are engaged, and the incalculable benefits which accrue to mankind through their arduous and self denying labours. It will, we hope, stimulate some to enter more heartily into the work of obtaining accurate scientific knowledge for themselves, and with this object to form little coteries here and there as the germs of scientific associations and clubs for purposes of study. There is no reason why Canadians should not do more than they are at present in this direction. Surely there is something more important and more blessed than mere money-making; something more healthful and stimulating than party politics. The pursuit of knowledge for its own sake and the improvement of the mind is likely to accomplish much more than either of these things both for ourselves and for the amelioration of the future condion of the race.

IN A RECENT CASE tried at Montreal, where a candidate for parliamentary honours sued a French Canadian newspaper—La Minirve—for having called him a Freemason, Father Gibaud, of St. Sulpice Seminary, was called upon to give evidence as to the teachings of the church generally in regard to secret societies, and Freemasonry in particular. His evidence is important, as the reverend gentleman stated he was professor of theology, and he gave authority for his statements. He said:

"The Church understands by secret societies condemned by her, those whose members are bound by an oath, those who have an evil aim, that is to say, those who are hostile to the Church, the Government and society. She condemns also those secret societies in which a compulsory promise or oath is made to execute all orders given by the heads of the society. All Roman Catholics are forbidden to belong to any of these societies under pain of the most severe punishment. The penalties are these:—His Holiness Pope Pius the IX., in his Apostolic decree of the 12th of October, 1869, which is to the Catholics the most authentic and at the same time the most recent order of the Church, included among those who would be subject to excommunication, by the sole fact of a fault, those who join the Masonic fraternity or the Carbonari or any such societies. But it was not Pius IX., however, properly speaking, who first excommunicated the Freemasons; the same was done by his predecessors, Clement XII., Pius VII. and Leo XII.; all Pius IX. did was to renew and confirm the order. The Church in this Province had the same punishment against secret societies in general, and the Freemasons in particular. In fact, a Roman Catholic Freemason is excommunicated, and this excommunication is among the number of those in which absolution is reserved to the Pope."

He also remarked, in explanation to what was meant by excommunication: "Freemasons have no part in the prayers of the Church, they have no right to take part in the mass or the other services of the Roman Catholic Church, they cannot receive the sacrament, and if they remain in this state they have no right to consecrated ground."

Commenting on these statements, the Tribune says that "Catholics who are members of the Masonic society are to be avoided in every relation of life. They are dishonourable and deceptive in every particular. With these people there should be no terms." These varied remarks will explain pretty plainly the attitude of the Roman Catholics to secret societies. We venture to say they are not fully carried out as regards the Irish Land League.

FACTS ABOUT THE BIBLE.

A prisoner condemned to solitary confinement, obtained a copy of the Bible, and, by three years careful study, observed the following facts:—The Bible contains 3,586,480 letters, 773,792 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 charpters and 66 books. The word "and" occurs 46,277 times. The word "reverend" occurs but once, which is in the 9th verse of the 111th Psalm. The 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except "J." The finest chapter to read is the 26th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. The 19th chapter of II. Kings and the 37th chapter of Isaiah are alike. The longest verse is the 9th verse in the 8th chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the 35th of the 11th chapter of St. John. The 8th, 15th, 21st, and 31st verses of the 107th Psalm are alike. Each verse of the 136th Psalm ends alike. There are no words or names of more than six syllables.

A GIGANTIC FRAUD.

It has been discovered that J. S. Hunter, notary, is behind $100,000 in his accounts as agent of Mrs. Chas. Phillips, a wealthy old widow, of Montreal. Hunter was an old and trusted member of the family and had, for a great many years, full management of the vast estate. He lived in regal style. There is great excitement over the reports of his defalcations. There is no longer any doubt of their truth, at which people hold their breath, as the accused was held in such high esteem and considered so honorable a man. Mrs. Hunter is prostrated with affliction at the wreck of her husband's career. The local papers have only short and vague references to the matter, but the main facts are getting abroad. There are rumors of warrants being issued, but these cannot be traced to any good foundation.

VOICES OF THE SEA.

Wakeful I lay at night and heard
The pulsings of the restless sea:
The morning surges
Sounded like dirges
Fraught some far back eternity,
Whose spirits from the deep are stirred.

Awakening with the morning light,
Again I listened to the sea:
Full with its surges
Was heard no dirges,
But only life's activity;
Morning dispelled the gloom of night.

At noon I sauntered forth to view
The throbbing of that living sea,
Still it was surging,
But only urging
All men to be both strong and free,
Strong in the soul with conscience true.

At closing day once more I stood,
Gazing across that mighty sea:
For ships were sailing
The light was failing;
Time lost in immortality,
Was the reflection of my mood.

It is the mind, and not the place,
Our mood, and not a varying voice,
That fills with sadness,
Or thrills with gladness,
A soul whose one great ruling choice
Reflects in all things its own face.

ASSASSINATION BY SILENCE.

HOW A FRENCH DUKE DID HIS WIFE TO DEATH BY A NEW STYLE OF CRUELTY.

"Assassination by silence," is the latest Gallicism. It was the verdict of the medical men of the society in the case of the French woman recently deceased; and a coroner's jury would probably have rendered the same verdict if the case had not been kept from the Coroner. Noble by birth she was, and very rich; but she was hopelessly plain, ugly of feature, and hump-backed. Her husband, a Duke, married her for her money and hated her for her ugliness. A fortnight after her wedding her martyrdom began, but not as other conjugal martyrdoms have done. The duke lavished attentions on her—in public; he was affectionate—before the servants; it was "darling" and "beloved" and "my little cat"—when anyone was present; but in private all was changed, and only one old nurse was in the secret. He pretended to be jealous of her, and so played the Othello. He had the hinges of all the doors so carefully oiled that they could be opened without a creak, the domestics were trained to move about noiselessly, snares were set in the vast gardens of their hotel so that never the chirp of the sparrow was heard. The poor woman was forced to live in the midst of silence, and when they went into society he scowled so fearfully at everyone who approached his wife to speak to her that little by little people ceased to make the effort. And then after they had returned, and she had gone to bed, he would enter with flat shoes on his feet, so as not to announce his coming, and would simulate a scene of jealousy. That is to say, he would pace up and down like one in fury who is about to burst into reproaches; words of anger would seem on the point of issuing from his mouth; then he would stop by the bedside and raise his hand in threat, but he never struck; he never spoke, and, resuming his walk, and going through the same scene over and over again until overcome by fatigue and horror, the Duchess swooned. Every night for ten years his victim watched for menaces which he seemed about to proffer, but to which he never gave vent. The doctors were summoned at last; but the utmost they could say was that they were in the presence of some horrible mystery which could not be fathomed without killing the husband. And when the poor woman died and the old nurse told her story they rendered the verdict above recorded.

AN ASTONISHED COUNTRYMAN

Conjurers, and even men skilled in the grosser dexterities of science, commonly retain humor enough to amuse themselves at the expense of the ignorant, when the temptation is strong. The Hartford Times says:

Professor R. G. Basset, of this city, can tell many interesting incidents connected with his experience as an psychologist and ballonist, but he has never been taken for "old cloven-hoof" but once. This was on Talcott Mountain, where he was making a cup of "French" coffee by the road. This was by pouring a little brandy into a cup of cold coffee, and then setting fire to it.

While he was employed, a farmer came jogging by in his waggon, and stopped to see what Basset was up to. The latter invited the old man to take some coffee. The brandy was still blazing, but the noonday sun completely obscured the flame. The countryman alighted and asked for a match with which to light his pipe.

"I don't use matches," was Basett's answer. "See!"

And Bassett held a piece of paper over the cup of coffee and it ignited instantly. He turned to hand the light to the stranger, and saw him clambering into his waggon.

"Get up!" shouted the man to his horse. "I never have dined with the devil, and I don't propose to begin now." And he drove furiously away.

SEASONABLE ADVICE.

The following advice, which is going the rounds of the press, will perhaps be found to be seasonable just now: During the heated term it would be well for persons, especially those engaged in out-door avocations, to bear in mind a few simple rules which will aid them greatly in resisting the debilitating effects of the weather, and in recovering their strength should they become prostrate. There are two forms of prostration by heat, sunstroke and simple exhaustion. In the former case the skin is dry and hot, on the latter cool and moist. It is important to remember this distinction, as the treatment for exhaustion and sunstroke are widely different; in cases of exhaustion a little stimulant, such as brandy and water, or whiskey and water, should be used; in case of sunstroke the patient, if able to drink, should be permitted to take ice water freely, and ice should be applied to the head, neck and spine, and rubbed over the body. To avoid the injurious effects of the heat it is necessary above all things to go slow. Haste, excitement, worry are extremely hurtful in hot weather, especially to persons of nervous temperament, and prudence, both in eating and drinking, cannot be too strenuously insisted on.

NINE PHYSICIANS OUTDONE.—It is generally considered a pretty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will conclusively prove where nine were completely outdone: Mrs. Helen Pharvis, 331 Dayton st., Chicago, Ill., was treated for Consumption by nine phyaicians, and all pronounced her case incurable. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal and convince yourselves. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store. Large size $1.00.

NEWS VARIETIES.

A CHILD ROASTED ALIVE.

On Monday last, during the absence of the family in the hayfield, a 4-year-old son of Patrick Delaney, farmer, of Rock Forest, near Sherbrooke, P.Q., approaching near a fire which had been built out of doors for cooking purposes, when his clothing caught in the flames. He lived but two hours after the accident.

A CHICAGO CRIME.

Last Thursday night, on Wentworth avenue, Chicago, Dietrich Peterson fatally shot his former sweetheart, Frida Krickmeir, who had discarded him, wounding her companion, Frances Kaus, and then blew out his brains. The first shot hit Miss Kaus by accident. Peterson then followed Frida half a block, firing at her. She has a bullet through the body and one in the neck. After she fell he turned into a side street and put a revolver to his own head. Peterson tried to shoot Frida last spring, and was under bonds to keep the peace.

GUARDING THE PRINCESS LOUISE.

A private letter written from Quebec, says: "I have been on the staff of the Princess Louise, as orderly, since her arrival on June 4th. On Tuesday last I returned from New Brunswick, where I had been with her and her party on their annual fishing excursion. I think I may accompany her to British Columbia some time in August. The Princess is closely guarded, and there is a rumor to the effect that the American Fenians are going to kidnap her. I don't believe a word of it myself, but it is always best to be on the safe side."

TERRIBLE ATROCITIES BY APACHES.

A week ago the Apache Indians killed all the inhabitants of Rancho Cariso Sahuaripa, in the district of Sonora, Mexico, women and children included, and burned their houses. On Saturday they murdered an Aquero near Pelomas. On Monday, near Hedionda, they ambuscaded a scouting party of Ranchero, consisting of fourteen men, two of whom only escaped alive, one being left on the field and one badly wounded. The same day the mail rider was shot while crossing the Riochico.

A CURATIVE CAT.

A well known butcher on Craig street, Montreal, has for some time past been a martyr to rheumatism. Last week the disease became so powerful as to confine its victim to his bed. After trying a number of remedies without avail, on the advice of a friend who had found relief from the experiment, a cat was killed, its body from the throat ripped down, and the carcase, still quivering with life, laid upon the patient's chest. After an hour the cat began to mortify, a most disgusting odor filled the room, and in a short time all the disease in the man's body was transferred to the cat, and the cure was found to be radical.

CRUSHED HIS SKULL.

On Friday, a son of Mr. A. J Brewster, Hespeler, named David, about fourteen years of age, was running on some boards on the second storey of a new building in course of construction for R. Forbes & Co.'s woollen mill, when he accidentally fell through the open floors, about twenty-two feet, to the rock below, crushing his skull and otherwise injuring his head so badly that there is no hope of his recovery. He was a promising lad, and the deplorable accident has caused much sorrow.

LOTS OF JAW.

A few days ago Mr. P. Farr, cooper, of Goderich, while visiting Mitchell, wagered a certain sum upon the strength of his teeth, and held up 200 pounds of flour for one minute, in a salt barrel made by himself for the occasion out of suitable material, leaving marks in the hardwood staves where he took hold as though they had been gnawed by a sledge. He also shook $5 in the face of all present that he could throw a filled barrel of salt weighing 300 pounds over his head with his teeth, but he found no takers.

A FILIAL SACRIFICE.

A melancholy affair happened at Ayton in connection with the excursion at the opening of the railway to the Georgian Bay. Among the returning excursionists were a mother and daughter named Drummond. All went well on the return trip till Ayton station had been passed a short distance, when the mother fell off the platform on which they had been standing. The daughter jumped to her assistance and fell beneath the wheels of the car. She was instantly killed. The mother was seriously injured.

A DROWNING SON'S FATAL EMBRACE.

A telegram from New York says: A boy named Michael Kessler, aged 11 years, went in swimming near his father's house at Passaic City, N. J., on Monday night. He got beyond his depth and in the current, and called for assistance. His father, Barnard Kessler, aged 42, ran out and jumped into the river to save his son. He was not a very good swimmer, nd when the boy threw his arms around his father's neck and held fast he was unable to do anything. They sank out of sight in each other's embrace and both were drowned. Their bodies were subsequently recovered.

SAD TRIPLE DROWNING AT GRAVENHURST.

A Gravenhurst despatch dated last Wednesday night says: Mrs. G. W. Jestin, with three small children, accompanied by a girl named Bailey, went to an island to pick berries. The children being small, Mrs. Jestin provided a blanket for them to play on while she and Miss Bailey were collecting berries, but one of the children managed to get into the lake, and Miss Bailey attempted to rescue the child. When Mrs. Jestin, the mother of the child, saw that Miss Bailey was likely to sink she, too, plunged into the lake, and all three were drowned. The two surviving children were found on the island about 11 o'clock at night nearly distracted, and only able to tell the foregoing sad story.

THE DEADLY REVOLVER.

One of those sad events which result from the careless handling of firearms, and from which the public are being constantly warned, occurred at Brampton on Saturday evening last. It appears that while Jas. Fletcher, an employee of Haggart Bros., was in his house about five o'clock on the evening named, his wife took a revolver out of her husband's pocket in the presence of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Vodden, who was sitting close by at the time. Mr. Fletcher had purchased the revolver for the purpose of shooting a dog, and had put two cartridges in it. He had discharged one the day previous and allowed the other to remain, the putting in of which had by some means escaped his memory. He consequently led his wife to believe that the weapon was unloaded, and she, doubtless from curiosity, in handling it raised the trigger and snaped it, when it went off, shooting Mrs. Vodden. The ball entered her breast, and she died at 4 o'clock, Monday morning from internal hemorrage. The ball penetrated the stomach, and from symptoms must have impigned on the spine.

A BLUNT CLIENT.

Ethan Allen, the hero of Ticonderoga, was one of the most blunt and honest of men. An incident illustrates the characteristic and also his prejudice against legal technicalities. He owed a citizen of Boston sixty pounds, for which he gave a promissory note. It was sent to Vermont for collection. It was inconvenient for Allen to pay the note when it became due, and it was put in suit.

Allen employed a lawyer to attend the court and have the judgment postponed. As the readiest way to postpone the matter his lawyer determined to deny the genuineness of the signature, in which case a witness in Boston would have to be sent for, and so the matter would be delayed.

Allen happened to be in a remote part of the court room when the case was called, and with astonishment and indignation he heard his lawyer gravely deny the signature to the note.

With long and fierce strides Allen rushed through the crowd, and, confronting his attorney, he said, in a voice that was heard from beyond the court room.

"Mr. ———, I did not hire you to come here and lie. That's a true note; I signed it—I'll swear to it—and I'll pay it. I want no shuffling. I want time. What I employed you for was to get this business put over to the next court, not to come here and lie and juggle about it."

The postponement of the claim was amicably settled.

THE MAN WHO WANTED A SHIRT

A shrewd countryman was in New York the other day, gawky, uncouth, and innocent enough in appearance, but in reality with his eye-teeth cut. Passing up Chatham Street he was continually encountered with importunities to buy. From almost every store some one rushed out, in accordance with the annoying custom of that street, to seize upon and try to force him to purchase. At last one dirty-looking fellow caught him by the arm, and clamorously urged him to become a customer.

"Have you got any shirts?" inquired the countryman, with a very innocent look.

"A splendid assortment, sir. Step in, sir. Every price, sir, and every style. The cheapest in the street, sir."

"Are they clean?"

"To be sure, sir. Step in, sir."

"Then," said the countryman, with perfect gravity, "put on one, for you need it."

The rage of the shopkeeper may be imagined, as the countryman, turning upon his heel, quietly pursued his way.

THE LETTER THAT STARTLED A HUSBAND.

A Broad street merchant's wife recently gave him the following letter, with instructions that it should not be opened until he got to his place of business: "I am forced to tell you something that I know will trouble you, but it is my duty to do so. I am determined you shall know it, let the result be what it may. I have known for a week that this trial was coming, but kept it to myself until today, when it has reached a crisis, and I cannot keep it any longer. You must not censure me too harshly, for you must reap the benefits as well as myself. I do hope it won't crush you. The flour is all out. Please send me some this afternoon. I thought that by this method you would not forget it." The husband telephoned forthwith for a barrel of the best flour in the market to be sent to his home instanter.

Farmers and Mechanics.

Provide yourselves with a bottle of PAIN-KILLER at this season of the year, when summer complaints are so prevalent; it is a prompt, safe, and sure cure. It may save you days of sickness, and you will find it is more valuable than gold. Be sure you buy the genuine PERRY DAVIS PAIN-KILLER, and take no other mixture.

COBOURG, Ont., March 3, 1880.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first-class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry Davis Pain-Killer will be found in both.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 17, 1882

The Why and the Wherefore.

Our good friends, the Ontario Tories, are getting themselves unnecessarily excited respecting the provincial elections, and are entering on the discussion of public matters—no the abuse of the Government—with the energy of despair, and an unscrupulous regard for accuracy, that casts even their previous phenomenal performances of this kind in shadow. The Grits must be overthrown in Ontario, the only province which appreciably destroys the unity of the Conservative programme of universal possession of power in Canada, and the most desperate attempts are to be made to compass the desirable and devoutly wished consummation. Sir John, himself, is to lend a hand and outline the campaign with a view of crushing the Mail's bete noir, "Little Oliver." The campaign shout, which it is said is in course of preparation, will most likely present the financial record of the Government as a prominent object of attack. But to judge by the mutterings of the Tory journals, the crowning sin of the Mowat administration will be that it has the power to make appointments to office, to which Tories have a prescriptive right and their continued exclusion from the exercise and enjoyment of this power will seriously sap the foundations of the constitution. The chief sin of the Government seems to be that they have so legislated so as to give themselves the power of appointing a few subordinate officials. The Welland Telegraph weakly betrays the grand grab game of the Tories, by demanding that the County Judges shall have the appointment of Division Court clerks and bailiffs, and the Welland Tribune points out that then, "as the Tory Government at Ottawa appoints the Judges, all will be serene and lovely among the Tory faithful, whose clamour for office ceaseth not." The organs have not taken the ground that the appointments made by the Mowat Government beyond their being made by the usurping Grits are in any way objectionable. The burden of the wail of the organs, however varied, all tends to bemoaning the fearful wickedness of the Grits in persisting in holding office, and we are happy to say it promises to remain a chronic cause of complaint. The province, with its interests to look after, will be in no hurry to exchange the present administration for one led by Mr. Meredith, concerning whom and his supporters a staunch Tory journal itself thus speaks with regard to the coming elections:—Mr. Meredith is going on a forlorn hope with as ragged a band of followers as ever fell at the polls."

Attack on Sir John's Seat.

Although Sir John Macdonald has two parliamentary seats at his command, he is not so sure of the Lennox one. A protest against his election has been served on the gallant knight, presumably as he was enjoying his holidays at Riviere du Loup, and the necessary legal papers have been filed. From the very outset of the contest in this riding it was evident that a large amount of money was expended, and there can be little doubt that some racy revelations will be made at the investigation of the manner in which the popularity of the N. P. was made manifest, and the personal magnetism of the Chieftain demonstrated through the substantial medium of a quid pro quo. There is no doubt that money was lavishly squandered on behalf of the Premier candidate. But since Sir John's personal honesty and incorruptibility are claimed by his friends to be above suspicion, the conundrum naturally crops up, "whose money was it?" The exact nature of the evidence is, for obvious reasons, not disclosed at present. These reasons are, of course, because Sir John's friends in Lennox are on the alert to spirit away important witnesses if they could only find out by a knowledge of the specific nature of the charges, what set of witnesses it would be necessary to give assisted passages to emigrate to the United States.

Editorial Notes.

THE fusion of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways was formally consummated on Saturday last, and in Western Canada the Grand Trunk is almost without a railway rival.

WHATEVER Parnell may be, he is not a mere demagogue. He has vigorously reproached the Philadelphia branch of the Land League, for prostituting that organization, by extending sympathy and proposed assistance to the Egyptian "patriots."

The Toronto Mail congratulates itself upon the statement that 40,000 people had settled in Manitoba during the past season. So far as these people are from other countries, their taking up land in Manitoba is a matter of congratulation. But, says the Advertiser, is it not the fact that the greater portion of these are from this Province, and that consequently, while Ontario is injured, the Dominion generally is not benefitted? Progress in one Province at the expense of another is not to the benefit of the country as a whole.

It is proposed to relieve the state of affairs in Ireland, by encouraging immigrato Manitoba. Recently the chief secretary of Ireland, speaking on the state of affairs in the Green Isle, said that if the Arrears Bill passed, the Government would deal earnestly with the Canadian proposal, to settle Irish emigrants in the North-West. The Arrears Bill has passed both houses, and now we shall see how the British Government will deal with a proposal, to which they have taken much more kindly than they did to our suggestion respecting giving Ireland Home Rule.

MR. JOHN WHITE, the member elect for East Hastings, is a model of generosity. His election has been protested and he coolly proposes, that though, as charged, he is innocent of bribery, by self or friends, he is willing to admit bribery by agents if his proposition is acceptable to the Reformers of the riding. Mr. White is a cunning culprit. If he were innocent he would never make so absurd an offer. If guilty, he doubtless is afraid of disqualification, and he prefers to lose the seat, with a chance of re-election, rather than take the chances of an election court, and of being both unseated and disqualified. Ingenuous John.

WHEN the bullet of Guiteau deprived President Garfield of life, the natural horror aroused by the deed was intensified by the universally believed-in political honesty, personal worth and moral excellence of the victim of the assassin. It would seem, however, that political animosity can in so excessively political a country as the United States, pursue its object after the body has mingled with its original dust. The New York Sun, the most widely read journal in the Republic, comes out in an article, in which Garfield is denounced as everything bad, in every relation of life, social or political. He is described as the most purchasable of men, easily yielding to corrupt influences. In private life he was a coarse and shameless profligate, in fine, he was in all respects, a collossal sham and fraud. Whether false or true, the fact of these charges being made at this late day, goes to show that American politics will stick at nothing to effect a political point. If true, they would have better been unspoken; if false, they go to show that the rottenness in the politics of the country has grown so deep that the future of the Republic is sown thick with the germs of national calamity and disruption.

THE Conservatives of Lennox have nominated the somewhat notorious A. H. Roe, as candidate for the coming local elections, in the interest of the Meredith malcontents and office-seekers. The Napanee Express, from a party point of view, is well pleased at the selection, "for he is by all odds the easiest man for the Reformers to defeat. Mr. Roe belongs to the 'boss' school of politicians. His entire public career has been characterized by wire-pulling, personal aggrandizement, and coarse abuse of his opponents." Yet the Lennox Tories trusting to the party prestige, secured by Sir John's well bought victory, hope to elect even A. H. Roe, by aids similar to those contributing to the chieftain's success. But the protest against Sir John's return, as noted elsewhere in this issue, will tend to slightly derange their plans and anticipations. The local candidate is doubtless mixed up ultimately with the dirty work of the late campaign. It would not be a surprise nor beyond range of probabilities, if Mr. Roe, while distributing the bribery fund of Sir John, might hypothecate a portion of it in his his own interest, in view of his coming candidature. He is certainly astute and unscrupulous enough to do so, and the Grits of Lennox may be premature in congratulating themselves on the fact that Mr Roe's unsavory personal record, and obtrusive Agnosticism will contribute so strongly to his defeat, as to relieve them of the necessity of waging a vigorous fight. They have to be assured that the candidate for the "Local," while doing Sir John's dirty work, has not been above subetantially strengthening his own position.

Personal and Political.

The Princess Louise has become an enthusiastic canoeist.

Sir Charles Tupper's health is such as to cause his friends much anxiety.

The Czar has now dispensed with an escort when walking or driving.

The Tories of Ottawa have overthrown Mr. Baskerville, the present representative in the Local House, and given Mr. J. R. Esmonde the nomination.

A rumor has somehow gained currency that Mr. J. M. Currier will probably resign the Postmastership at Ottawa, and be transferred to the position of Deputy Minister of one of the Departments.

A protest has been filed in the matter of the South Norfolk election. Mr. Jackson (Liberal) is to have his seat contested on the grounds of corrupt practices, including bribery, undue influence, treating, etc., by agents.

A protest has been filed against Mr. Josiah Wood, Tory member elect for Westmoreland, N. B., and a petition to disqualify Mr. Domville, the defeated Tory candidate in King's, New Brunswick.

The remains of the late Senator Hope were interred at Hamilton yesterday, amid many expressions of sorrow. The pall-bearers were Hons. Messrs. Edward Blake, Alex. Mackenzie, W. Macmaster, Elijah Leonard, Messrs. Æmilus Irving, Q. C., Geo. H. Gillespie, James Osborne, and Alex. Harvey.

Some idea of the extent of Civil Service corruption in the United States may be gathered from the fact that 838 employees, in the custom house, post office, pension office, sub-treasury, internal revenue and custodians department, in Chicago alone, are assessed this year fully $21,000 for election funds.

The atrocious crime of being a young man has been charged against Mr. Pipes, the new Liberal Premier of Nova Scotia. Most people will be inclined to think the fact greatly to his credit. It appears, however, he is 32, not 28, years of age, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and a speaker of more than ordinary power.

The East Simcoe Reform Convention was held at Orillia on Wednesday, to nominate a candidate for a seat in the Local House, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. H. H. Cook. Mr. Charles Drury, Reeve of Oro, the banner township of Reform of the county, received the unanimous nomination, which he accepted in an able speech.

ONTARIO BUREAU OF INDUSTRIES.

SUMMARY OF THE REPORT FOR AUGUST.

The report of the Bureau of Industries for August contains statistics of the live stock of the Province as returned by school section districts, on the 31st of May, and tabulated by counties and county groups. It also reviews the condition of crops on the 1st of the month, the progress of haying and harvesting operations at that date, farm labour and the rate of wages, and the state of pastures and live stock in relation to meat supply and dairy produce.

The month of July was very favourable for hay-making, the weather being steady and the temperature moderate, and the bulk of the crop has been saved in excellent order. Clover recovered to some extent from the serious damage done to it by winter exposure and spring frosts, but in the most favoured localities the yield does not exceed one ton per acre and the general average is much less. Timothy and mixed grasses were very heavy, and the uniform report from all sections is that no better crop has been gathered in twenty years.

Throughout the western half of the Province fall wheat has been remarkably heavy, but it has not escaped the dangers incident to a late season of ripening. Owing to a rank growth of straw and occasional rain storms, the crops lodged badly in many localities just as the grain was beginning to harden, and about the same time, unfortunately, it was struck with rust. As a consequence the sample is not generally as good as was looked for; it is lacking in plumpness and colour. The worst effects from these causes are reported from the loamy lands of the south-western counties—from Essex, and the basins of the Thames and Sydenham rivers. In some sections the whole crop has been reaped and saved in good condition, but the bulk of it was either standing or in shock when work was interrupted last week by a rain storm of several days' duration. Late reports say that in many fields the grain has sprouted, but the full extent of the damage will not be known for some time. The storm was local, and confined chiefly to the western counties. In the Georgian Bay counties a large acreage has been saved in good order, and the sample is prime. In the Lake Ontario and St. Laweence and Ottawa counties the crop was badly winter-killed, and what remains will yield less than an average. In the East Midland counties a good crop will be harvested, but not equal to last year's. In the Lake Erie counties, where some grain has been threshed, it is found to yield from 20 to 30 bushels per acre, and correspondents in all counties west of Toronto estimate the yield at not less than 20 bushels per acre. Spring wheat in the eastern half of the Province, where it is extensively grown, gives promise of an abundant harvest, but in some districts it is being attacked by the midge, the Hessian fly and rust. It will be ready for reaping generally about the 20th of this month.

Barley is everywhere a heavy crop and a large acreage has been grown, especially in the Lake Ontario and east Midland counties. The grain is uniformly plump and of good colour, with a few exceptions where it ripened too rapidly owing to the drought, or where it lodged and rusted. In the western counties the yield is good, but the harvesting season has been unfavourable.

There is a large area under oats, and with the one exception of the Georgian Bay counties, the crop is reported good all over. The estimates of correspondents range from 35 to 60 bushel per acre. Peas are a good crop in all the northern counties, but elsewhere they have been injured by the bug.

The corn crop is everywhere pronounced a failure. The season has been too wet and cold for it, and though it has made good growth during the past three weeks there is little chance now of its attaining to half an average crop. Beans are chiefly grown in the counties of Kent, Norfolk, Brant and Renfrew. They are generally reported good, but in some localities the crop is worthless.

Potatoes were injured by too much rain early in the season, and later on by the drought. The beetle, too, is about as troublesome as ever. Turnips, mangolds and carrots have only partially come up and a good crop is rare; turnips especially are late, and are badly injured by the fly.

The fruit crop is poor in all the best fruit-growing districts. Apples are good only in the Lake Ontario and River St. Lawrence counties, and there they will not be more than half a crop. Peaches and plums are almost a total failure; pears and grapes are fairly good, and small fruit alone is abundant.

Pastures were good throughout June and the first half of July, but recently they have become parched and bare in many parts of the Province. This has been especially the case in the Lake Ontario counties, where in some districts cattle had to be given extra fodder. For this purpose soiling came in good where it could be availed of. Fat cattle are scarce, particularly in the finer classes suitable for export, and there is a disposition to force young cattle prematurely into the market. The dairying interest is less flourishing now than it was earlier in the season, and the milk supply is falling off. The recent rains, however, will doubtless make the pastures good again.

Farm labourers have been scarce, and the demand for them was increased by the general heaviness of the harvest. Wages ran from $1.50 to $2.50 per day, and from $25 to $40 per month with board, and even at these high figures it was difficult to procure men.

The statistics of live stock are as complete as they could be obtained. No estimates have been made of thoroughbreds for sections for which returns were not received, owing to the difficulty of finding an average. It is certain that the full number has not been reported, but it is almost equally certain that some animals entered in the schedules of farmers as thoroughbreds would never obtain registration in a Herd Book. Following are the returns for the Province and for the

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR
A NEW DISCOVERY.
For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; no inattentions that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.
But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.
It Will Not Color the Buttermilk.
Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.
And, while improved in all, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.
WARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.
If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense.

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

The News from day to Day.

THURSDAY.

The submission of the Porte to th British demands is complete. Yesterday a draft of the proposed Military Convention between England and Turkey was submitted and approved by Lord Dufferin.

The Turkish contingent of 5,000 men will land near Aboukir where the principal fighting will be done, and where they will be at the mercy of the British Commander should any signs of treachery be detected.

The draft of the proclamation declaring Arabi a rebel has also been presented to the Ambassadors. It declares all his officers rebels, and gives the Egyptians time to lay down their arms. This abject submission of the Kaliph to England's supremacy cannot but make a wonderful impression upon the Mohammedan world and restore British prestige in the East to its former high standard.

Osma Bey, who remained loyal to the Khedive, has escaped from Cairo and states that Arabi is fortifying Nefiana, the junction of the Suez, Ismaila, and Cairo railways, near Zagazing, with the evident intention of contesting any advance on Cairo.

In a speech delivered at the Lord Mayor's banquet yesterday, Mr Gladstone announced that England was not warring upon the people of Egypt, but a tyranny which oppressed them. England went into the fight with clean hands and with no secret intentions. These remarks were loudly cheered and created a very favourable impression.

FRIDAY.

The despatches from Constantinople of Wednesday evening appear to have been premature. The Sultan has not yet presented the proclamation of Arabi to the Conference, but merely the draft. He has not given any guarantee that he will issue the proclamation upon landing in Egypt, or that he will instruct his troops to oppose Arabi. It is thought that the presentation of this draft is but a mere pretext to gain time, and occupy England's attention until the Turkish contingent has landed. The device however, was too transparent to prove of any benefit to Turkey. At the Conference yesterday Lord Dufferin again emphatically asserted that the Turkish contingent could not land until Arabi has been proclaimed a rebel, and a military convention with England concluded. British cruisers are on the watch, and will prevent their landing until they receive orders from Admiral Seymour.

Recent developments show a tripartite conspiracy between Ismail Pasha, ex-Khedive, Arabi, and the Porte, for the restoration of the former to the throne. To the influence of Ismail, Italy's bold attitude in antagonism to English intervention is attributed. THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT arrived at Alexandria, and had an audience with the Khedive in which he assured him of the friendly intentions of England, and delivered a message of sympathy and encouragement from the Queen. The Khedive was much pleased with his royal visit. Troubles are brewing in the interior. At Beulah an Englishman has been found murdered, and fears of a massacre are entertained.

SATURDAY.

Russia is clearly bent upon forcing complications which will afford her a pretext for war. She now possesses alarm at Britain's occupation of Suez, and has succeeded in obtaining the signature of the Powers to a protocol protesting against any but a purely police supervision of the Canal. England only assents to temporary international protection upon the express understanding that the police shall not interfere with military operations.

The Conference will adjourn in a few days now, and there is every indication that the Military Convention between Turkey and Great Britain will be completed. It is rumoured that the Sultan will place the Khedive in command of the contingent, and that he in turn will turn over the command to Sir Garnet Wolseley. The Sultan assured Lord Dufferin that Turkish troops will not land until Arabi has been proclaimed a rebel.

Meantime Arabi has commenced the the construction of a redan about 5,000 yards from Ramleh, and is strengthening his lines, evidently intending to make a second Plevna, his entrenchments being drawn upon the model of this memorable position. But General Alison is not inclined to sit quietly by and see his enemy's position made impregnable, and will probably compel Arabi to cease work by his artillery fire.

The last of the army corps sailed from England yesterday amid great enthusiasm. General Wolseley will arrive in Egypt shortly, and the plan of operations will then be determined on.

MONDAY.

The war news to-day is particularly meagre. A slight skirmish took place yesterday outside the Meks fort on the west of Alexandria, the combatants being a force of Bedouins and the British blue jackets and marines, who, with a small field piece, easily drove back the enemy with no loss to themselves, but some to their opponents. Arabi as yet makes no sign here, but as his entrenchments are apparently completed, and the fast of Ramadan comes to an end on Tuesday evening, it is not impossible he may resume the offensive on Wednesday.

A large force of rebels has appeared near Suez, evidently meditating an attack. The British have occupied the waterworks, and the commander will tolerate no interferance by M De Lesseps. The guards have landed, and with the Duke of Connaught, their commander, been stationed under canvas at Ramleh. In Alexandria all is so quiet that the German marines, the last to remain of the foreign troops, have been recalled to their gun-boat from guarding the German Hospital. Some of the foreign residents, however, through jealousy of England's prowess, have formed a vigilance committee to "took after European interests.' Trouble is feared from this coalition.

Turkey's demeanour is still of the shilly-shallying sort. England has approved the modifications in the plan settled on for the Turkish intervention, but up to Saturday night the Porte had not agreed to it. Arabi Pasha has not yet been proclaimed a rebel, nor have the Ottoman troops sailed.

The Suez Canal International Commission to see to its protection will soon be established on the lines of the Danubian Commission, with Dervish Pasha to represent Turkey.

The uneasy anti-Christian spirit still prevails, and the Sultan has now forbidden twenty Christian doctors to accompany his troops, their places being supplied by Mussulmans.

TUESDAY.

The Conference was engaged yesterday in discussing the proposition of the Italian Ambassador for a collective protection of the Suez Canal. After some modifications favourable to England, which allows the landing of troops on the canal banks, the terms were agreed to and a protocol signed by the Ambassadors. The Porte appears not to have overcome its prejudice against prompt diplomatic action, and has succeeded in delaying the signing of the military convention with England upon trifling divergencies of opinion with Lord Dufferin. England persists in her demands that Sir Garnet Wolsley shall command the Turkish contingent. This delay has also afforded a pretext for not issuing the proclamation declaring Arabi a rebel.

It is reported that the Sultan offered Arabi a free pardon, but the rebel scornfully refused the proffered clemency, and declared his intention to fight. He is fortifying Cairo, where he will make his final stand. The Cherifs have condemned his actions as rebellious. At Alexandria reinforcements arrive daily. The garrison of Fort Meks has been reinforced in preparation for a night attack, which Arabi is supposed to contemplate.

A remarkable British secret enterprise was to be carried out last night. Alarming news comes from Port Said where a native outbreak and massacre of Europeans is hourly expected. All the men-of-war in the harbour are cleared for action.

A BAR-ROOM TRAGEDY.

A sad accident occurred at the city of Montreal on Saturday evening, which has since resulted in the death of a young commercial traveller, Mr. Patrick Gunn. The deceased and a friend of his named John White, went into a saloon to take a social glass together, and during the time they were standing at the bar Mr. White was exercising his muscles by swinging a heavy black thorn stick, when it came in violent contact with Gunn's head. There was not much thought of the matter at the time; but after Mr. Gunn went home he took ill during the night with a terrible pain in his head, which has since resulted in his death, notwithstanding medical aid. An inquest will be held.

THE EXCELLENCE OF THE BIBLE

A Hindoo paper published in Bengal, speaks as follows, of the excellence of the Bible:—"It is the best and most excellent of all English books, and there is not its like in the English language. As every joint of the sugar-cane, from the root to the top, is full of sweetness, so every page of the Bible is fraught with the most precious instruction. A portion of this book would yield to you more of sound morality than a thousand other treatises on the same subject. In short, if anybody studies the English language with a view to gaining wisdom, there is not another book which is more worthy of being read than the Bible.

SPRING CARROTS WITH CREAM.—Select very small carrots, scrape them well, cut them in halves, and blanch them for two minutes in salted water; put them into a stew-pan with some butter, add a little salt and sugar, let them fry gently until the moisture is reduced; sprinkle a little flour over them, add a small quantity of good white stock; let it boil, and remove it to the side of the fire. When the carrots are done, thicken them with the yolks of two eggs beaten smooth with milk or cream, and add a pinch of grated nutmeg and a piece of butter; as the batter dissolves, dish them up.

VELVET CREAM.—Put into a pan one ounce of isinglass, half a pint of sherry, the juice of a lemon and half the rind, with two or three ounces of sugar. Let it boil gently until the isinglass is melted, then strain through a piece of muslin into a pint and a half of cream. Keep stirring until nearly cold, and then put into moulds first wet with clear water.

At the entrance of a theatre a gentleman offers his half-smoked cigar to the man who opens the carriage door. The latter politely refuses. The gentleman then throws his cigar on the ground, and instantly the other stoops and picks it up. "Why then, did you refuse it when I offered it to you?" says the gentleman. "But," retorted the other, proudly, "I am not an object of charity."

Distressing episode: A lady who had quarrelled with her bald-headed lover, said in dismissing him: "What is delightful about you, my friend, is that I have not the trouble of sending you back any locks of hair."

"Confound it, you've shot the dog! I thought you told me you could hold a gun." Pat: "Sure and so I can, your honor. It's the shot, sorr, I couldn't howld."

MILLBROOK.

Thos. B. Collins, John Hunter, Jacob Aitkins, Alfred Lough, and William McBean have gone on a journey to the Northwest.

Millbrook claims to have beaten the Beaverton lacrosse team at Lindsay, composed, or said to be, of picked men, some from Toronto and elsewhere.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Rev. J. A. Chapman, Methodist minister, was made the recipient of a bank draft, a few days ago, from some of the residents of Colborne, in recognition of that gentleman's valuable services at the fire in that village, some weeks ago, and for loss sustained to his clothing.

Mr. H. Smith, of Belleville has rented one of Dr. Wallace's stores,—the one east of the Glasgow Warehouse,—for the book and stationery trade, and will occupy it next week.

Messrs. A. F. Gault & Co., have purchased the lot next to their property, owned by Mr. Robt. Johnston, on which the blacksmith shop now stands. They paid $1600 for it. It is the intention of the Company to erect a dye house thereon.

The very generous proprietors of the Trent Valley Woolen Mills have made arrangements to treat the employees of their institution in this village, with an excursion to Massassaga Point, on Monday, the 28th inst.

COBOURG.

We understand that a wing is to be added to the Dunham House, as well as several other internal improvements.

One night last week some person made a raid on the garden of Mr. N. Cole, King street west, and relieved it of thirty hills of potatoes.

Mr. Sailsbury, one day during the week, received a letter from Toronto, containing a one dollar bill, accompanied by the following words:—"Conscience money, to make good a matter of 1868."

The Sentinel-Star wants to know who can beat a sample of Mr. John Greenwood's gooseberries, one measuring five inches in circumference and 4⅛ inches in diameter, weighing two pennyweights.

The Arlington has been well-filled for the past two weeks, it being necessary to put four in a room only intended for two.

Rev. Cannon Stennet, Rector of St. Peter's Church, and wife, returned from their European tour on Wednesday evening of last week, a reception was tendered him by the congregation on Thursday evening.

It is now definitely settled that the Camp of this military district will be held at Cobourg, the D. A. G. being favourably impressed with the suitableness of the location, and the parties locally interested, having, in a spirited and enterprising manner, fulfilled all the conditions. The Camp will open on Tuesday September 4th, and will comprise some 1,500 officers and men, with all the usual equipment and following.

BOBCAYGEON.

One hundred and sixty boxes of cheese were shiped by the Eva, on Wednesday. This is nearly five tons.

On Monday another 'bee' was held at the Park, and on Tuesday evening the Band gave their first Promenade Concert. The new Band Stand was nicely lit, and a number of Chinese lanterns scattered through the trees, gave a very pretty effect. The road across to the wharf is to be taken in hand at once. The clearing of the floating timber in building the road, will serve a double purpose in improving the shore of the Park.

Now that the summer visitors are about, the general motto is, fun, frolic, and fresh air. The junior guests of the "Rockland" had a sort of fancy dress promenade concert, the other evening that was simply splendid. Miss G. Edwards, Miss R Barron, Miss E. Edwards, and Miss Jackson distinguished themselves.

The sensation of the week in North Verulam, says the Independent, has been the inquest of John Johnston's infant. The child, after living a few weeks, recently died, and was buried. A rumour then got abroad that the poor little creature had been starved; that for some reason the mother had not suckled it; that for some further reason offers of milk by neighbours had not been accepted, that the child had been given nothing but bread and potatoes, and that it was a literal case of root little child or die. It died. An inquest being demanded, Dr. Bonnell accordingly impanelled a jury, and had the body of the infant disinterred. The case was thoroughly investigated, and after due deliberation the jury returned the following verdict: "That the deceased child of John and Helen Johnston, on the fourth day of August, in the year aforesaid, through culpable neglect, and want of the common necessaries of life, did die, but by no violent means whatsoever, to the knowledge of the said jurors.

PORT HOPE.

Dr. Hunter of Perrytown, is seriously ill, and is obliged to completely relinquish his practice.

Messrs. J. S. Carveth and E. V. Dyer started for Winnipeg on Wednesday with a couple of carloads of milch cows, several coops of fowl, and a large quantity of eggs and butter.

Wm. Orr, who was injured by some boards falling on him at the new Methodist Church, Millbrook, about two weeks ago, died from the result of the injuries and was buried this week. He leaves a wife and four children.

Mr. David Marshall, representative of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, at the Triennial Council, London, England, returned home last evening He was met at the G. T. R. station by a large number of his friends.

One of the proposed changes in the Billiard License By-law is:—That no one under 17 years of age shall use the tables, or be allowed to frequent the rooms.

Mr. James Aikens has shipped over one thousand sheep to the Montreal market, nearly four hundred to Liverpool together with a large number of cattle to the English markets. Mr. Aikens shipments to England have been very successful, all going across in splendid order.

The total amount received for liquor licenses by the Commissioners of East Durham, for the month ending June 1st, 1882, was $4,487.50. The sum paid to the municipalities, including the amount, in excess of statutory fees, collected under by-law, was as follows:—Port Hope, $2,237.89; Millbrook, 399.57; Hope, $141.45; Cavan, $122.91.

The eastern part of the town was the scene of a free fight last Sunday. Liquor was plentiful, and after imbibing rather freely the party began to fight among themselves. One Peterson produced a gun, over which there was no little contest. Knives were brandished, a slingshot was thrown around, stones were sent flying, all ending in Rankin receiving a severe blow on the head, and Peterson being struck on the temple with a sharp stone, to say nothing of the less material injuries that were inflicted by kicks and blows. In the meantime fears are entertained that Peterson's injuries may have a fatal termination. The Chief Constable is at work securing all the possible evidence that can be gathered, in order to bring out all the facts of the case when the parties appear for trial.

An accident occurred at the harbour here, whereby Mr. John Wright, a coal dealer, will lose the use of one of his feet. He was superintending the running of the donkey engine engaged in unloading coal at the docks, when his foot got caught in one of the large cog-wheels and was completely mashed to a jelly. The medical gentlemen who are attending express fears that they may have to amputate the leg some distance above the ankle.

LINDSAY.

The street and bridge appropriations for the year foot up to the respectable sum of $2,380.

Messrs. J. Smith and G. Rooke, two New York atheletes, who are making a tour through Canada giving sparring and wrestling matches, intend visiting Lindsay shortly.

The council of Ops met Monday afternoon and gave a first reading to a drainage by-law, to drain into Stoney Creek from near Reaboro north-east towards the boundary of Emily.

The report of the finance committee as read in the council on Monday night shows the gratifying fact that the amount of fees collected at the market this year up to date is only $15 behind the receipts of last year. This year the market is free, while in former years it was not.

Judge Dean has gone to Woodstock, Ont., to open, as local government commissioner, an investigation into the management of the Woodstock police court. The proceedings opened Wednesday and may last several days.

The presbytery of Lindsay held a special meeting in Woodville on Tuesday, 8th August, Rev, J. T. Paul, moderator, and, arranged for the induction of the Rev. H. Sinclair to the pastorate of the North Mara and Longford congregations. The induction is to take place on Tuesday, 22nd inst., at Uptergrove.

Lindsay has secured a cricket ground and organized a club. The town is slowly falling in line in the march of civilization. It is likely a band will next be thought of.

Mrs. Matchett, wife of the county treasurer, while visiting the Preston Springs had the misfortune to fracture her arm, the second day after her arrival there, while descending the stairs in front of the hotel.

The Warder regrets that it requires a large sum annually to keep the "wicked" part of the population of Lindsay in order. The constables come in for $1,000 per year; the police magistrate must be paid his salary and other small expenses will make up another $1,000; making in all over $2,000 as the sum required to carry on the police court alone. Heavy fines need to be inflicted in order to make this institution pay its way.

Monday morning about one o'clock an attempt was made to break into and ransack the house of Mr. James Keith, north ward. The family were away from home and Mr. Keith drove out to the country, returning about ten o'clock Sunday night. His departure was probably watched and the attempt made in the belief that no one was at home.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week, says the Post, smoke was seen issuing for the first time from the tall chimney of the Sylvester iron works and agricuitural implement manufactory. In less than two months the buildings are completed and work commenced. The splendid 20-horse power engine was tried on Wednesday and worked perfectly, running with a very moderate pressure at full speed, The establishment may be considered to have started work in earnest. A week or two will see the full complement of hands employed, if indeed the number is not exceeded. In putting his venture into working shape so soon Mr. Sylvester has done all that he agreed to do with the town. The benefit accruing to Lindsay from having this shop established in town will no doubt be great. That Mr. Sylvester's trade will be a successful one there can be no doubt, and this section of country will give him a hearty support.

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

ERRORS OF YOUTH

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous DEBILITY, PREMATURE DECAY, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence,

JOHN B. OGDEN,

9-1yr 42 Cedar St., New York.

BILLY GRIMES, THE DROVER.

"To-morrow, ma, I'm sweet sixteen,
And Billy Grimes, the drover,
Has popped the question to me, ma,
And wants to be my lover;
To-morrow morn, he says, mamma,
He's coming here quite early,
To take a pleasant walk with me
Across the fields of barley.'

"You must not go, my gentle dear,
There's no use now a-talking;
You shall not go across the field
With Billy Grimes a-walking.
To think of his presumption, too,
The dirty, ugly drover!
I wonder where your pride has gone,
To think of such a lover!"

"Old Grimes is dead you know, mamma,
And Billy is so lonely,
Besides they say to Grimes' estate,
That Billy is the only
Surviving heir to all that's left;
And that they say is nearly
A good ten thousand dollars, ma—
And quite six hundred yearly!"

"I did not hear, my daughter, dear,
Your last remark quite clearly,
But Billy is a clever lad,
And no doubt loves you dearly;
Remember, then, to-morrow morn,
To be up bright and early,
To take a pleasant walk with him
Across the field of barley!"

Farm, Garden and Household.

Beautify Your Farms.

The appearance of many farms could be much improved by levelling the grass on the road next to the fence. It need not take up much time. Before stowing away your plow, &c., for the summer, devote a couple of hours to plowing the strip of grass land in front of your farm, and level it after seeding it down, and passing the roller over it you will in a short time have a nice lawn instead of unsightly knolls and water holes. A few evergreen and other trees planted on it at intervals of a few rods, would further add to the appearance, in fact boulevarding the front of your farm; it would de pleasanter for pedestrians than having to walk on a dusty or perhaps a muddy road. It would also enhance the value of the property in case of sale. How pretty the boulevards look on the main avenues of our cities; the roads in front or along your farms can be made to look just as pretty and at the cost of only a little trouble.

Flax Dressing in Canada.

A party of fifty flax dressers left Belfast for Boston the other day. With all the manfacturing "booms" that have been sounding through Canada for some time past, it is strange that little or nothing has been heard of flax culture and the manufacture of its different products. Raw silk and cotton are being imported and turned into finished fabrics; while the raw material of flaxen fabrics, though many parts of Canada are well adapted to its cultivation and the commercial value of the seed itself under favourable circumstances repays the labor, is not called for by our manufacturers. Large areas in the North-west, notably in the Mennonite settlements, are under flax, we believe, for the sake principally of the seed; if the stalks are used at all, it is likely as fuel.

Facts about Milk.

Cream cannot rise through a great depth of milk. If milk is, therefore desired to retain cream for a time, it should be put into a deep narrow dish; and if it be desired to free it most completely of cream, it should be poured into a broad, flat dish not much exceeding one inch in depth. The evolution of cream is facilitated by a rise, and retarded by a depression of temprature. In wet and cold weather the milk is less rich than in dry and warm; and on that account more cheese is obtained in cold than in warm, though not in thundery weather. The season has its effects. The milk in the spring is supposed to be the best for calves, in summer it is best suited for cheese, and in autumn the butter keeping better than of summer. Cows less frequently milked than others give rich milk, and, consequently, much butter. The morning's milk is richer than the evening's. The last drawn milk of each milking, at all times and seasons, is richer than the first drawn, which is the poorest.—Irish Farmer.

Fruit as Food.

While there has been considerable progress made in the last few years in the matter of dietetic reforms and a marked improvement at the tables of many farmers, there is yet to learn. One of the greatest faults in this direction, and one which is cause of very much illness, is the comparatively small quanity of fruit they consume. The mistaken idea prevails among many, that in some mysterious way, pork and other meats are productive of physical vigor, strength and ability to withstand fatigue, and that fruits, like confectionery, are to be taken between meals, and not to be counted in the work of sustaining life. This is a terribly erroneous view and one that is reponsible for countless cases of consumption, scrofula and kindred diseases. We wish we could prevail on every farmer, in fact upon every person in the land, to make a part of the morning meal on fruit. It would only take a short time to demonstrate its advantages' and thereafter they would need no lectures inculating such a diet from us. Any kind of fruit is good, and if fresh fruit is not at their disposal, dried, evaporated or canned should take its place. We have known obatinate cases of constipation to yield to a diet only changed so that a dish of baked apples was made a part of each breakfast, and chronic headaches and biliousness are often relieved in a similar way. Scientific men have of late been wonderfully profuse in their praise of fruit as an article of diet, and a trial will convince any one of the wisdom of the plan.

Jersey Cattle.

Our American cousins seem to have a great Jersey bonanza. The enormous prices that these cattle—"insignificant looking rats of cattle," as some of our farmers call them—are realizing, must tend to open our eyes with wonder. There are but very few farmers in Canada that would take one as a present to breed from; the size would condemn them. But it is fortunate we do not all see with the same eyes. There are thousands of people in America that will and do pay more for the two hind legs of a common frog, than a farmer would pay for a good fat hen or a leg of mutton. To touch a person's appetite you touch his pocket. There are fortunately some that can see as much beauty in a canary as others can in a peacock or elephant. For our part, we can admire the beauty and butter qualities of a Jersey as well as we can that of a Polled Aberdeen; but the greatest point in favour of Jerseys is the superiority of the butter produced by them. To procure this, two, three, and sometimes more than four times the price is paid for Jersey butter, than our farmers' wives receive for their so-called butter. Not only is the quality of their butter a desideratum, but the quantity procured from some of the noted Jerseys is astonishing. A record is given of one that produced 25 lbs, 3 ozs. of butter in 7 days, and 778 lbs. in one year; another is recorded as having yielded 22 lbs. 7 ozs.; 15 are recorded that have yielded 18 lbs., and 150 are recorded as having yielded 14 lbs. and over in 7 days. At an auction sale that has just taken place in New York State, the herd, 57 in number, consisting of cows, calves, and bulls, realized $761 per head; the cows, 10 in number, averaged $1,094 per head.

We are pleased to note that our Canadian breeders are taking a little more interest in this class. The Jersey men have formed an association to conduct their business and look after their interests, attend to the pedigrees, etc. Mr. V. E. Fuller, of Hamilton, is President. He is an energetic person of means, and is building up a herd almost regardless of expense. He feels a pride in his work and wishes Canadian Jerseys to stand second to none on this continent. He has been purchasing largely in Jersey and in the States. The great object he is aiming at is to get a stock that will show the largest yield of butter; he says he is selecting his stock for that purpose, and that he considers it of more importance to have a great and rich milker, perfect udder and escutcheon than any other points, and has now a cow, Bertha Morgan, that has a record of 19 lbs. 6 ozs. of butter in January last. Mr. Fuller aims to stand at the head, as having the best Jersey herd on the continent. We can but wish him success in such an enterprise.—Farmers' Advocate.

Little Farm Facts.

"Let the buyer beware."

Two farmers fight about a cow while the lawyers milk her.

It has been observed by Mr. Gregory that "this ensilage question has a grave side to it."

It is noted with satisfaction by The Mark Lane Express that in England the use of blinders on horses "is slowly but surely dying out."

It is said, we know not on what authority, that "salt scattered over growing crops will save them from chinch bugs."

Canadian dairies produce annually 60,000,000 lbs. of cheese, and export about half as much as the United States.

"Your meal is ready, sir," said the waiter to Hayseed, just from the rural district. "Meal!" exclaimed Hayseed, contemptuously, "do you think I'm a horse? Get me some corned beef and cabbage, young man."

A rough and ready way of estimating the weight of an ordinary fat bullock is to take three-sevenths of the live weight as offal and four-sevenths as dressed carcass. Thus one-seventh of the live weight will be the weight per quarter of the dressed carcass. Much depends on whether the animal has been feeding or fasting before being killed.

A little work on agriciture was once given to Mr. Merriman, of the Onondaga Club, inscribed sensibly as follows:—"Put with this book, in equal quantities, practical knowledge and common sense; mix these thoroughly and apply the compound to your farm every morning at sunrise and you will have tremendous crops."

A well-to-do farmer near Delta has been convicted before a magistrate of skimming his milk previous to sending it to the cheese factory. He has had to pay a fine of $80 and costs. The cheese patrons will watch for other offenders, as the practice of watering or skimming milk is becoming quite common.

One can form but an imperfect estimate of the value of a field of roots by knowing the weight of the largest one grown. Very large roots do not mean very large returns; medium-sized roots and more of them is a more paying crop. Other things remaining the same, the size of roots depend upon the thinning. At this season of the year, when the roots are growing vigorously, they should be thinned so that they shall have a space between them in the rows equal to their own diameter, and no more. It is better for the roots to be ten than fourteen inches apart in the rows. If the thinning be carried beyond this, they grow larger and coarse, and will be much less valuable as food than the smaller ones.

DON'T SIGN PAPERS.

People who thoughtlessly sign documents often put their property in peril and many men have been ruined by indorsing for a friend. How often have good-natured men's fortunes been diminished by obligations incurred carelessly or without thought of consequences. During the rebellion the steamer Jessie was seized because it was supposed she was a blockade runner. The cause was delayed in the courts for eighteen years, a fact which is very discreditable to our lawyer rulers. In the meantime all the parties defending the ownership of the vessel had disappeared. The only responsible person that could be found was a young girl of seventeen, whose father was on one of the bonds. An obligation of seventy thousand dollars has been rolled up which this young woman will be forced to pay unless the law somehow interposes to save her. She will be ruined financially, as that sum is greater than her inheritance. Here is a case in which a person is punished who is entirely innocent of any offence. But the moral of this instance is: Don't put your name on bonds or notes, for it may injure not only yourself, but your innocent children.

MISERABLE FOR THIRTEEN YEARS.

In order to acquire the rights of full citizenship in the United States, the native born must have reached the age of 21 years, and have gone through two full, but short courses—of rheumatism, says a growler at our elbow. In Canada, however, the courses of rheumatism are not so short, running, it would seen, as long as thirteen years;—at least in one instance, that of Mr. James Mahoney, Sr., of Orillia, Ont., who says: "I have been a sufferer with rheumatism for the past thirteen years, and have tried, during that time, very many of the remedies advertised for it, but all without effect. Upon recommendation I was induced to buy a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil. The first application relieved me, and upon the second application the pain disappeared entirely and has not since returned. It affords me much pleasure to make this statement of my experience with St Jacobs Oil and I sincerely wish that every sufferer could know of its wonderful virtues."

Bright's Disease, Diabetes.

Beware of the stuff that pretends to cure these diseases or other serious Kidney, Urinary or Liver Diseases, as they only relieve for a time and makes you ten times worse afterwards, but rely solely on Hop Bitters, the only remedy that will surely and permanently cure you. It destroys and removes the cause of disease so effectually that it never returns.

Street Talk.

"How much better you look, Mr. S." "Yes, I have gained 32 pounds on Hall's Catarrh Cure. Have not felt so well in 20 years. It has made a complete cure and is worth $50 a bottle to any one that has the Catarrh." John McKee, druggist, Peterborough. 32-2t

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 432 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of Mrs. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

MRS. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montteal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free at the office. 25

CARRYING THEIR HUSBANDS.

At one time the Duke of Bavonia was besieged in his castle and compelled to surrender. His lady demanded for herself and the other ladies of the castle that they be permitted to go out in safety with all that they could carry on their backs. This was granted, and to the surprise of all, the ladies appeared carrying their husbands on their backs, and for the devotion, the Emperor pardoned them all and set them at liberty. There are many, who, by their industry and economy, to the shame of the able-bodied men, be it said, are carrying their husbands and their whole households, either by earning all the money themselves, or by economizing with the little that comes into their fingers, while the husband squanders the evenings in a dissolute or voluptuous life.

GIVE HEED TO A COUGH.—If we except those tremendous epidemics which sometimes often half depopulate the regions of country where they prevail, no diseases are so destructive as those which affect the breathing organs. Unfortunately also, there are few maladies which at the outset are so frequently disregarded as trivial. No warning is fraught with graver meaning than this—Give heed to a cough! To neglect it, is simple madness. So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen that often in a few short weeks a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption, that terrible enemy to human life.

The best pulmonary remedy which medical science has developed, and which seems peculiarly adapted to the suppression of a cough or cold, Asthma, Spitting of blood, Bronchitis, or other throat or lung complaint, is Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Experience has shown that the oil obtained from the Cod's liver exercises a powerful control over pulmonary diseases. In the above preparation, not only is this main ingredient by addition to it of these hypophosphites which are among the most powerful invigorating and blood fertilizers known to materiæ medicæ. While the lungs are soothed and healed by the Cod Liver Oil the rapid physical decay attending lung disease is stayed and the system built up and fortified by the hypophosphites. Ample evidence proves this. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda.

Mrs. A. Nelson, No. 94, Colborne St., Brantford, writes:—"I was a sufferer from Chronic Dyspepsia for eleven years. Always after eating, an intense burning sensation in the stomach, at times very distressing, causing a drooping and languid feeling, which would last for hours after eating. I was recommended by Mr. Popplewell, chemist of our city, to try Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and I am thankful to say that I have not been better for years; that burning sensation and languid feeling have all gone, and food does not lie heavy on my stomach. Others of my family have used it with the best results.

Being personally acquainted with Mrs. Nelson, I certify to the truth of the above statement.

(Signed) A. A. POPPLEWELL,
Chemist and Druggist, Brantford.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisement everywhere it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor & Macdonald.

CALISAYA, the Peruvian or Jesuits' bark, is the best bitter tonic we have in all febrile conditions, and in neuralgic and rheumatic pains, from weak digestion and assimilation, and, as combined in Dr. Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, forms a permanent strengthening nutritive in all used-up conditions of the system from the various causes which lead to nerve prostration. This combination is made by a process peculiar to the inventor, and there is no substitute that will do its work.

THE GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR is the marvel of the Medical World. It never fails to completely cure Nervous Debility, Impotency, Mental Depression, and all diseases caused from excesses. The testimony of thousands can be had by writing F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for the United States. Price, $1.00 per box, six boxes for $5.00. If your druggist does not keep the remedy, send to headquarters and get the medicine by mail. Circulars and testimonials on application. 32-2t

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, on 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

SANDERSON'S

SOWING AND REAPING.

The handsome dining-room in the Mayberry mansion was all a-glitter with floods of gaslight, and the genial glow of the fire—for Mr. Josiah Mayberry was a very "queer man," according to his wife's opinion, and this fancy of his to have nasty, ashy fires all over the splendid mansion before the weather became cold enough, was another one of his "eccentric freaks," as Mrs. Mayberry called it, with a curl of her lip, a toss of the head, and a smile almost of contempt, directed at the hale, hearty, honest-faced old gentleman, who had married her ten years ago. when he was an immensely rich widower, with his handsome, half-grown son for a not undesirable incumbrance.

They were sitting around the handsome table discussing their seven o'clock dinner, with the solemn butler and his subordinate in silent, obsequious attention—these three Mayberry's, father, son, and the haughty, well-dressed lady who was wearing a decided frown of displeasure on her face—a frown which she had barely power to restrain from degenerating into a verbal expression of anger while the servants were in waiting, and which, as the door finally closed on them, leaving the little party alone over the wine and nuts, burst forth impetuously:

"I declare, Mr. Mayberry, it is too bad! I have gone over the list of invitations you have made, and to think there is not one—no, not one—of our set among them, and such a horrid lot of people as you have named!"

Mr. Mayberry sipped his wine contentedly.

"I told you, didn't I Marguerite, that it was my intention to give an old-fashioned dinner-party? And by that I meant, and mean, to whom it will, indeed, be cause for thankfulness. As to making a grand fuss, and seeing around our table only the people to whom a luxurious dinner is an everyday occurrence—I shall not do it. And as to the guests on my list being 'horrid,' and 'common,' you are mistaken, my dear. None of them have a worse failing than poverty. There is not a 'common' vulgar person among the ten names on that paper.

Mr. Mayberry's good old face lighted up warmly as he spoke, and Ernest Mayberry's handsome face reflected the satisfaction and pride he felt in his father's views.

Mrs. Mayberry flushed, but said nothing.

She knew from experience that, kind and indulgent as her husband was, there were times when he suffered no appeal from his decision. And this was one of those times.

"We will have dinner ordered for twelve o'clock, as it used to be when I was a boy. We will have roast turkey with cranberry sauce, and mashed potatoes and turnips, boiled onions and celery all on the table at once. For dessert pie, cheese and cider, and nothing more. Marguerite, shall I give the order to Lorton, or will you attend to it?

Mrs. Mayberry twisted her diamond rings almost roughly.

"Oh, don't ask me to give such an insane order to him! I have no wish to appear as a laughing-stock before my servants, Mr. Mayberry. It will be as severe a strain on my endurance as I am capable of, to be forced to sit at a table with such people as the Hurds, the Masons, that Thyrza Green and her lame brother, and that little old Wilmington and his granddaughter, and—"

Mr. Mayberry interrupted her gently.

"Old Mr. Wilmington was a friend of mine long before he went to India. Since he came home with his son's orphan daughter and lived in such obscurity—comfortable although plain, for Winnie earns enough as daily governess to support them cheaply—I regard him as more worthy than ever. Ernest, my boy, I shall depend upon you to help entertain our guests, and especially at table, for I shall have no servants about to scare them out of their appetites."

And Mr. Mayberry dismissed the subject, by rising from the table.

* * * * * * *

"Would I like to go? Oh, grandpa, I should! Will you go, do you think?"

The little wizened old man looked fondly at her, over the steel-rimmed glasses.

"So you'd like to accept Mr. Mayberry's invitation to dinner—eh, Winnie? You wouldn't be ashamed of your old-fashioned grandfather, eh, among the fine folk of the family? Remarkably fine folk, I hear, from all I can remember when Joe was a boy together with myself. Fine folk, Winnie, and you think we'd better go?"

"I would like to go, grandpa. I don't have many recreations—I don't want many, for I think contented, honest labour is the grandest thing in the world, and the best discipline—but, somehow, I can't tell why, I want to go. I can wear my black cashmere, and you'll be so proud of me."

"Proud of you, indeed, my child no matter what you wear. Yes, dear, we'll go."

And thus it happened that among the ten guests that sat down at Josiah Mayberry's hospitable overflowing board that cold, blue-skied day, Winnie Wilmington and the little old man were two—and two to whom Ernest Mayberry paid more devoted attention than even his father had asked and expected.

Of course it was a grand success—all excepting the cold hauteur on Mrs. Mayberry's aristocratic face, and that was a failure, because no one took the least notice of it, so much more powerful were the influences of Mr. Mayberry's and Ernest's courteous and gentlemanly attentions.

"I only hope you are satisfied," Mrs. Josiah said, with what was meant to be withering sarcasm, after the last guest had gone, and she stood a moment before the fire; "I only hope you are satisfied—particularly with the attention Ernest paid to that young woman—very unnecessary attention, indeed."

Mr. Mayberry rubbed his hands together briskly.

"Satisfied? Yes, thankful to God I had it in my power to make them forget their poverty if only for one little hour. Did you see little Jimmy Hurd's eyes glisten when Ernest gave him the second triangle of pie? Bless the youngster's hearts, they won't want anything to eat for a week."

"I was speaking of the young woman who—"

Mrs. Mayberry was icily severe, but her husband cut her short.

"So you were—pretty little thing as ever I saw. A ladylike, graceful little girl, with beautiful eyes, enough to excuse the boy for admiring her."

"The boy! You seem to have forgotten your son is twenty-three—old enough to fall in love with, and marry, even, the poor, unknown girl, you were quixotic enough to invite to your table."

"Twenty-three? So he is. And if he wants to marry a beggar, and she is a good and virtuous girl—why not?"

A little gasp of horror and dismay was the only answer of which Mrs. Mayberry was capable.

* * * * * * *

"Grandpa!"

Winnie's voice was so low that Mr. Wilmington only just heard it, and when he looked up he saw the girl's crimson cheeks and her lovely, drooping face.

"Yes, Winnie. You want to tell me something.

She went up behind him, and leaning her hot cheek caressingly against his, her sweet, low voice whispering her answer—

"Grandpa, I want to tell you something. I—Mr.—May—we—Ernest has asked—he wants me to—oh, grandpa, can't you tell me what it is?"

He felt her cheek grow hotter against his.

He reached up his hand and caressed the other one.

"Yes, I can tell you, dear. Ernest has shown his uncommon good sense by wanting you for his wife. So this is what comes of that dinner—eh, Winnie?"

"And may I tell him you are willing, perfectly willing, grandpa? Because I do love him you know."

"And you are sure it isn't his money you are after, eh?"

She did not take umbrage at this sharp question.

"I am at least sure that it is not my money he is after, grandpa," she returned, laughing and patting his cheek.

"Yes, you are at least sure of that; there, I hear the young man coming himself. Shall I go, Winnie?"

It was the "young man himself," Ernest Mayberry, with a shadow of deep trouble and distress on his face as he came straight up to Winnie, and took her hand, and then turned to the old gentleman. He said:

"Until an hour ago I thought this would be the proudest, the happiest hour of my life, sir, for I should have asked you to give me Winnie for my wife. Instead I must be content to only tell you how dearly I love her, and how patiently and hard I will work for her to give her the home she deserves—because, Mr. Wilmington, this morning the house of Mayberry & Thurston failed, and both families are beggars."

His handsome face was pale, but his eyes were bright with a braveness and determination nothing could daunt.

Winnie smiled back upon him, but her own cheeks paled.

"Never mind Ernest on my account. I can wait too."

Old Mr. Wilmington's eyes were almost hid beneath the heavy, frowning forehead, and a quizzical look was on his shrewd old face, as he listened.

"Gone up, eh? Well, that's too bad. You stay here and tell Winnie I am just as willing she shall be your wife when you want her, as if nothing had happened, because I believe you can earn bread and butter for both of you, and my Winnie is a contented little girl. I'll hobble up to the office and see your father; he and I were boys together; a word of sympathy won't come amiss from me."

And off he strode, leaving the lovers alone, getting over the distance in a remarkably short time, and presenting his wrinkled, weather-beaten old face in Mayberry & Thurston's private office, where Mr. Mayberry sat alone, with rigid face and keen troubled eyes, that nevertheless lighted at the sight of his old friend.

"I'm glad to see you Wilmington. Sit down. The sight of a man who has not come to reproach me is a comfort."

But Mr. Wilmington did not sit down.

He crossed the room to the table at which Mr. Mayberry sat among a hopeless array of papers.

"There is no use wasting words, Mayberry, at a time like this. Did you know your son had asked my Winnie to marry him?"

Mr. Mayberry's face lighted a second or two and then the gloom returned.

"If my son had a fortune at his command—as I thought he had yesterday at this time—I would say 'God speed you in your wooing of Winnie Wilmington,' As it is, for the girl's sake, I disapprove."

"So you haven't a pound over and above—eh, Mayberry?"

"There will be nothing—less than nothing. I don't know that I really care so much for myself, but Ernest—it is a terrible thing to happen to him at the very beginning of his career."

Mr. Wilmington smiled gleefully.

"Good. Neither do I care for myself but for Winnie, my little Winnie. I tell you what, Mayberry; perhaps you may wonder if I'm crazy, but I'll agree to settle a quarter of a million on Winnie the day she marries your boy. And I'll lend you as much more if it'll be any use, and I'll start the boy in business for himself, if you say so. Eh?"

Mr. Mayberry looked at him in speechless bewilderment.

Wilmington went on—

"I made a fortune out in India, and it's safe and sound in hard cash, in good hands a couple of millions sterling. I determined to bring my girl up to depend on herself, and to learn the value of money before she had the handling of her fortune. She has no idea she's an heiress—my heiress. Sounds like a story out of a book—eh, Mayberry? Well, will you shake hands on it, and call it a bargain?"

Mr. Mayberry took the little dried up hand almost reverentially, his voice hoarse and thick with emotion.

"Wilmington, God will reward you for this. May He, a thousand-fold.

Wilmington winked away a suspicious moisture on his eyelashes.

"You see it all comes of that dinner, old fellow. You acted like a charitable Christian gentleman, and between us we'll make the boy and Winnie as happy as they deserve—eh?"

* * * * * * *

And even Mrs. Mayberry admits that it was a good thing that her husband gave that dinner, and when she expects to see Mrs. Ernest Mayberry an honoured guest at her board, she candidly feels that she owes every atom of her splendour and luxury to the violet-eyed, charming girl, who wears her own honours with so sweet a grace.

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Local News Record.

POLICE OFFICERS Adams and Pidgeon took the oath of office on Saturday morning.

NOW SHOOT the toothsome duck, without fear of the game laws. The season opened on Tuesday.

THANKS.—Our thanks are due Mr. G. A. Morrison, for files of North-Western papers.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The summer exhibition of the Peterborough Horticultural Society will be held in Bradburn's Hall, on Thursday, Sept. 7th.

THE LOCAL SITTING of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, will be held in Peterborough, on Monday, October 9th, before Hon. Mr. Justice Osler.

SHEEP SHIPMENT.—On Monday night Mr. Price, of Montreal, shipped from here two car-loads—250—splendid sheep purchased from Mr. George Webber, Park street.

THE BRISKNESS of the building boom is shown by the fact that on the square between Stewart and Rubidge streets, on Charlotte street, there are at present no less than four residences in course of erection and rebuilding.

THERE'S A CRAB APPLE TREE on the lawn of Councillor Patterson, Hunter Street, that has a misty idea of supplementing the shortage in the fruit crop. At the middle of August it is thickly covered with the second set of blossoms, which look refreshingly cool amidst the dusty and arid surroundings of the dog days.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada, for the week ending, August 5th, 1882, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $5,113.95; freight, $14,461.01; total, $19,574.96, as compared with $16,237.37 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $3,337.20; and the aggregate traffic to date is 587,901.62, being an increase of $150,382.24 over 1881.

FORESTERS' EXCURSION.—Keep in mind the Annual Excursion of Court Peterboro to Idyl-Wild, on Thursday next, August 24th. The Committee are making the most thorough arrangements to ensure the comfort and pleasure of every individual excursionist, and to make this excursion an improvement, it possible, on any of the former successful excursions, for which the order is noted. There will be no logs in the river by that time.

ANOTHER BRAKEMAN KILLED.—About six o'clock on Saturday night last a fatal accident happened on a special near the Summit. Joseph Barnes, a brakeman, who had been in the employ of the Midland Railway about a week, while getting down from one of the box cars to the Conductor's van, slipped and fell, two cars passing over him, severing his head from his body. The conductor, Fred Haskill, attempted to catch him as he fell, but failed. Deceased was about twenty-two years of age.

IT is not a pleasant subject of item, but the passenger on Charlotte Street, on Wednesday morning, had to encounter it. Between cattle and geese, the walk on the north side of Charlotte Street was repulsively unfit for travel, and looked more like an untidy farmyard than one of the chief thoroughfares of a town of 8,000 inhabitants. When will our Town Fathers reform and cease to devote their gigantic intellects to the question of capturing votes, and legislate for the interests of the town.

AN ÆSTHETIC ANIMAL.—A day or two ago a sleek cow sated with the luxurious pasturage of the boulevards of our handsomest streets, strolled down town to do a little shopping. Her first visit was to the millinery establishment of Miss Semple. The beautiful display could not overcome the coolness of the reception of the new comer, and with a sad swish of her tail she turned away, and in her indignation ignored crossings and passed up street to another millinery establishment, when she met an equally discouraging reception. The brazen bovine female must have presumed on the fact of her having so many friends at court—so many ardent admirers among the members of the Town Council.

CRICKET.—The cricket match played at Port Hope on Wednesday last, between the home team and the Peterboroughs, resulted in a victory for the Port Hopers by forty three runs. In explanation of this defeat it may be stated that the Peterborough team was unusually weak, some of the best players of the club being unable to be present, while Port Hope, as usual had several clubs to select from. The bowling of our boys was excellent, no less than ten "clean bowled" being to the credit of Stratton, and two catches off Hartley's trundling. At the bat double figures were scored by Burritt, 13; Barron, 11; Rogers, 22 and 17, and Hatton 10. Peterborough scored 67 and 69 respectively, in the two innings, while Port Hope registered respectively 90 and 89. There is excellent cricketing material in the Peterborough club, but there are not enough diligent members to insure that practice without which the best club cannot acquit itself creditably in a match.

OUR CIVIC HOLIDAY!

Business Barred and Pleasure Seeking Paramount.

The Crossing of the Sticks Means Oshawa "Stuck"—The Log of the Golden-Eye—The Sturgeon Point Outing.

Mayor Smith cannot avoid being gratified at the universal compliance of his request, to observe last Monday as a civic holiday. Everybody seemed intent on the quest for enjoyment, and apparently everybody was successful. In the early morning the streets were lively with hurrying and basket-laden citizens, seeking the Golden-Eye, for the True Blues' excursion; or the early trains, for a day out of town. These events over, the streets of Peterborough were as quiet and deserted as those of a plague-stricken city. It seemed that four-fifths of the population were out of town, and roaming through the deserted and silent streets, it required little play of fancy to convince one that he was dwaddling through the streets of Lindsay, Port Hope, or other country villages, in harvest time. The arrival of the Oshawa Lacrosse Club by the noon train added a little life to the scene, and soon the streets were alive with visitors, making their way to Ashburnham, to witness between the Oshawa and home teams. There was a very large attendance of spectators, the game possessing unusual interest, from the fact that on their last visit here, the Oshawa boys ignominiously defeated Peterborough in three straight games.

About 3 o'clock the teams were paraded in the centre of the field, when it was seen that the following were:—

TEAMS AND POSITIONS.

Peterboroughs.		Oshawas.
W. A. Sanderson	Goal	W. King
J. Joyal	Point	A. King
P. Rudkin	Cover Point	J. McCarty
Geo. Giroux	Field	R. Rogan
J. Hayes		R. Moscrop
J. Sheehey		R. Welsh
M. Halpin		C. Warren
W. McAvella		R. Inch
W. Morrow		J Cinnamon
W. Rudkins	Home	O. Sebert
C. Rutherford		A Henderson
R. H. Fortye		G. Monroe
H. LeBrun	Captain	A. King

Mr. P. McWain acted as umpire for the Oshawas, Mr. S. English for the home team, and Mr. D. Fitzgerald as referee.

The visitors had largely the advantage in weight and muscle, which everybody felt would be in their favor if the game was a rough one, but it proved to be the reverse. Throughout it was pure lacrosse, and the utmost good feeling between the clubs existed from the face to the finish.

About three o'clock the ball was faced and

PLAY BEGAN IN EARNEST.

After eight minutes sharp play, in which neither team showed to decided advantage, the rubber was worked down to the enemy's goal and J. Hayes, securing it, with a well-judged short shot sent it through the flags, thus winning the first game and his own spurs at the same time, for he was a new man, and never held a stick in a match game before.

THE SECOND GAME

was what would be very properly called a "fluke." Monroe of the Oshawas getting the ball through the town flags before it had been a minute in play.

Both teams had now a game to their credit, and the struggle to break the tie made the third bout a well fought and closely contested one. For a long time neither party had any great advantage, but at length the superior skill and stay of the home team told. After 44 minutes play, P. Rudkins secured the sphere and lifted it neatly between the poles, thus winning the third game for Peterborough.

THE CRUCIAL GAME

now came on, which was to decide whether the home team won, or the whole five games should be played out, and the struggle was correspondingly sharp. After the fray had been fast and furious for twenty-nine minutes, Sheehey appropriated the sphere, and expressed it from centre field to Rutherford, who neatly tipped it between the flags, and hats, hurrahs, sticks, etc., were flying in the air, announcing that the home team had CAPTURED THE ODD TRICK.

The band struck up "God Save the Queen," and stakeholders were in brisk demand. The amount of betting on the event was considerable; it is not likely that less than $500 was risked on the result. One enthusiastic individual even backed the home team to the tune of ten to one, and most of the betting was at odds of two to one on the Peterborough boys.

The Oshawa's are an excellent club and our victory over them is something to be proud of. The home team all played well and it would be unfair to particularize; but it is not out of place to say that the new members of the home team covered themselves with glory.

THE CRUISE OF THE GOLDEN-EYE.

At seven o'clock the Golden Eye steamed away from the Sherbrooke street wharf, with the excursion of the True Blues, and a large number on board. The promised pleasure of the start was soon broken. The locks were hardly passed when the saw logs were encountered, thickly studding the stream. After worrying her way down the river a few miles, and badly breaking her paddle wheels, the boat landed its passengers at Goodfellow's Park about noon, and the afternoon was pleasantly spent in pic-nicing, etc. At five o'clock the return trip was begun, the passage through the logs being so difficult that the palace scow was dropped astern, and the reached her moorings at ten o'clock.

THE EXCURSION TO BOBCAYGEON AND STURGEON POINT

was the largest private excursion of the day. Shortly after seven o'clock over one hundred people left town by busses for Bridgenorth, where the steamer Victoria was in waiting to convey the party to Bobcaygeon and Sturgeon Point. After a most enjoyable sail of two hours, Bobcaygeon was reached, when all repaired to the Rockland House to partake of the hospitalities of mine host Goulias. "The Rockland" is a very handsome and imposing looking three storey brick building, with mansard roof, and is both a credit to the enterprising and popular owner, and an ornament to the village. Although opened but a few weeks, it has become extremely popular with tourists, there being at present about fifty guests staying there. The facilities afforded in and around Bobcaygeon for sporting men and tourists are becoming better known each year, and under its present management, "The Rockland" is sure of taking a leading place among the summer resorts of our back country. After doing ample justice to the excellent spread prepared, the party re-embarked for Sturgeon Point Hotel, which was reached after another pleasant sail of about an hour and a half. After a half hour's stroll around the beautiful grounds of this place, the return trip was commenced, and 'Caygeon reached at four o'clock. After an hour spent in sight-seeing, and "doing the village," tea was was partaken of, and at six o'clock the steamer left for Bridgenorth, which place was reached shortly after eight o'clock. Here the conveyances were all in waiting, and a pleasant drive of an hour brought all to town, after an extremely pleasant and enjoyable days outing. Messrs. Belleghem, Paterson and Alexander, the committee in charge of the excursion, are to be congratulated upon its success, while the thanks of the whole party are due to Capt. Fee and crew for their kind attention and courtesy to all on board.

THE RAILWAY CROSSING on Charlotte street has been thoroughly repaired and new rails have been laid.

LACROSSE.—The Peterboroughs will play a game with the Earls of Kingston on August 22nd.

CRICKET MATCH.—A cricket match between the Haliburton and Peterboro' clubs will be played on the cricket ground to-morrow. Wickets to be pitched at 10.30. A good match may be expected.

FIRE.—On last Tuesday night, the ominous alarm of fire clanged out—very feebly at first—over the sleeping town. A rough-cast building on the south side of Hunter street, near the bridge, was in flames. The Fire Brigade turned out and two streams were soon at play, but the fire had gained such headway that all attempts to save the building were useless, and there is not enough of it left to fill a wheelbarrow. The house was recently purchased by A. L. Cope, and was formerly used as a rag and bottle shop. Loss about $500.

LAKE GEORGE REGATTA.—All our citizens must be gratified by the success achieved at the Lake George Regatta, by our local canoeists. It must be borne in mind that they had the best of Yankee paddlers to contend against. Mr. J. Emerson, entered for the mile paddling race for canoes not over 28 inch beam, and for paddlers who never won a race, against nine competitors. He easily took first place and prize. He used a Peterborough canoe and demonstrated the superiority of the single paddle, all his opponents having used the double bladed paddle. The time was 11-31 minutes. There were eleven entries for the mile and a half race in twenty-eight inch canoes. Mr. H. B. Weller also used a Peterborough canoe, "The Coquette," a single lateen sail, and steered with paddle and came in a good first. In the sailing race for decked canoes, there were eight entries, including Vice-Commodore Edwards, who sailed the Verona. He won the race by fully five minutes. The representatives of Peterborough won every event for which they entered, and they are more deserving of praise for their modesty respecting their intentions and expected achievements. Though coming home covered with victory they almost stole away to Lake George and refused to say a word about their probable success—they did not want to make a great display of their intentions and probably come home empty handed. Merit is always modest.

PERSONAL.

Last Wednesday night, Councillor Dennis, and Mr. Wm. Chamberlain returned home from their trip to Winnipeg.

Mr. A. N. Shaw, formerly of Rubidge & Shaw, tobacconists, but now of Pilot Mound, Manitoba, is in town on a visit to friends.

Mr. John Campbell, Classical Master, has returned home, after rusticating a few weeks in Napanee, the scene of his former labors and triumphs.

Mr. Orm. Dixon, Peterborough's ventriloquial artist, after loafing away the dog days delightfully in his native town, starts on Friday to rejoin his professional companions, Leavitt's Gigantean Minstrels, a collosal company composed of forty members. After a tour of the cities of the States, Mr. Dixon with his company, will bring up at San Francisco. We wish him a pleasant and profitable tour.

THE THREE LINKS.

MEETING OF THE GRAND LODGE OF ODD-FELLOWS.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. of Ontario opened at Shaftesbury Hall, Toronto, on Wednesday morning, Grand Master J. B. McIntyre in the chair. There were about 300 members present, including the officers of the Lodge.

Grand Treasurer Wm. Badenach presented his report for the year. The report showed that the expenditure for the year amounted to $3,514.72, and the receipts $8,566.29, leaving a balance of over $4,000 on hand. The report was received. Grand Master J. B. McIntyre read his annual report to the delegates present. While nothing has occurred during the past year to form any extraordinary epoch in the history of Oddfellowship in Ontario, yet it will be remembered as one which marked the introduction of changes in the workings of the Order, the Sovereign Grand Lodge having at their annual session (held subsequent to our last meeting) changed the law, compelling lodges to transact all business in the third degree. Among the dispensations granted for new lodges is one of Elora.

After referring to other official duties discarged, he gives the following summary of the year's labor: Number of lodges instituted, 10; lodges of instruction held, 12; official visits made, 40; halls dedicated, 4; lodge officers installed 11; addresses delivered, 10; decisions rendered, 127; official letters written, 540.

The grand Secretary then gave in his report, dealing with matters of interest to the Order.

THURSDAY.

To day the Grand Lodge resumed its sittings. The following officers was elected for the ensuing year; Henry Robertson, Collingwood, Grand Master; Wm. McDiarmid, Lucan, Deputy Grand Master; A. L. Morden, Napanee, Grand Warden; J, B, King, Toronto, Grand Secretary (re-elected); Wm. Badenach, Toronto (re-elected); Joseph Woodyatt, Brantford, Grand Representative for Sovereign Grand Lodge (re-elected.)

On Friday the salary of the Grand Secretary, J. B. King, was fixed at $1,500 for the current year.

The following appointed offiers were named by the G. M.:—J. P. Featherstone, Grand Marshal, Ottawa; J. C. Burt, Grand Conductor, Listowel; W. J. Vale, Grand Guardian, Hamilton; James A. Morgan, Grand Herald, Windsor; T. W. Joliffe, Grand Chaplain, Toronto.

The Grand Lodge met again in secret session at 8 o'clock, and continued their deliberation till 10.30, when the Grand Lodge adjourned to meet in Ottawa on Aug. 9, 1883

A DYNAMITE FIEND.

A Halifax, N. S., despatch says: On Thursday night some one went to a little cottage on Bilby street owned by a man named Higgins and occupied by a family named Belfontaine, and placed a heavy charge of dynamite under the corner of the foundation and lighted the fuse. The explosion which followed was heard a long distance away; it shattered the house, breaking the windows and knocking out a corner, but did not hurt the inmates. Last night a man named Patrick Redmond was arrested on suspicion of being the guilty party. The grounds of the charge are that he made use threats with regard to the burning of the people living in the house, and that he would burn the place down. He was taken before the stipendiary magistrate, and was remanded. Redmond is a French Canadian, who has been living in the city for a long time, and has recently been employed about the cotton factory works.

The Contented Man, Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

A TRIP TO WINNIPEG.

The Thunder Bay Branch. Why it is not opened?—Duluth.—The Overland Route

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PRINCE ARTHUR'S LANDING

has about fifteen hundred inhabitants, and supports two daily and two weekly newspapers—the Daily Sentinel and the Evening Herald. Considerable dissatisfaction exists here with the Dominion Government in view of the fact that the rails on the Thunder Bay branch have been connected with Winnipeg for some time and the line is not yet opened for passenger and freight traffic. Of course I am aware that the road-bed is not yet in thorough order for traffic all the way through, but if one train can reach here, surely others should be able to follow, and enable passengers to get to the North-West entirely through Canadian territory. The road was built for this purpose, and steam boat men would prefer landing their cargoes here in preference to Duluth. The people here want the

and they say they must have it. There is also some talk of having a line of boats put on between this point and Wiarton, Ont., to connect with the Georgian Bay and Lake Erie Railway. Wiarton harbour is said to be one of the finest on the lakes, and jointly by the Government, the village and the Railway Company for the erection of docks. This scheme looks on its face rather favourable, and I understand there is every probability of the Canadian Pacific Railway, from Prince Arthur's Landing eastward to Nipigon, being placed under construction on or about the first of October, and speculators are now visiting the land with the object of speculating in real estate.

$50,000 IS BEING EXPENDED

As a genuine manufacturing point, the Landing has many points of excellence and will in a short time be a great distributing point.

Now, let us look at the route and distance to be traversed by the CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

	Miles.
From Brockville and Ottawa to Lake Nipissing	290
From Lake Nipissing to Thunder Bay	650
" Thunder Bay to Winnipeg	425
" Winnipeg to Rocky Mountains	800
" Rocky Mountains to Kamloops	450
" Kamloops to Port Moody	290

Of this the Dominion Government either has built or is building and will turn over to the company or syndicate when the road is completed.

It will be seen by the above that the distance from the Landing to Winnipeg is, by rail, 425 miles.

PORT WILLIAM

—the oldest Hudson Bay post on Lake Superior—is situated on the banks of the Kaministiquia river, five miles south of Prince Arthur's Landing.

Wednesday morning, after 24 hours' sail, we reached Duluth,

"THE ZENITH CITY OF THE UNSALTED SEAS."

The latter name was given this city by an American, while addressing Congress a number of years ago. This, of all places in the United States, has been talked of and written about the most. It is situated at the extreme head of Lake Superior. The population is about 5,000 people, and the place possesses many natural advantages. It has been used for years as the depot for traffic, by way of the lakes, to the interior of the continent. There are two newspapers published here and a mining journal, devoted to writing up the mineral interests. A home was erected here some few years ago by the Government for the benefit of emigrants who halt here on their way to the west. The Duluth Lumber Company's mill is turning out 90,000 feet of lumber and 90,000 shingles per day. The Oneota Lumber Co. is credited by experts with having about as "smart" a mill as "they make." Their main building is 35 x 140 ft., with a wing 40 x 40 ft. and a boiler and engine room 35 x 50 ft. W. G. Peck's mill has just got in operation and is handsome and strongly built. The North-Western Iron Co. are rushing work on their new shops. The Duluth Iron Co. is in a most prosperous condition. My informant also says that the rest of the mills were working up to their utmost capacity. There is a large elevator for grain, and the docks are well and substantially built. The city presents a busy appearance. The distance is 736 miles. Wednesday from 6 o'clock in the morning until 7 p. m., has been spent here. Eight days have now been taken up, and 436 miles have yet to be made by train before Winnipeg is reached. Passengers for Winnipeg will shortly leave by the Northern Pacific Railway express train which starts from Duluth daily at 7 p.m., for the capital of Manitoba, and it is expected to reach it in 27 hours.

FROM COLLINGWOOD TO DULUTH

As a whole the TRIP HAS BEEN A DELIGHTFUL ONE.

The Captain of the Frances Smith, Mr. A. M. Macgregor, was very hospitable and kind. The scenery has been varied and interesting and unlimited fun and pleasure and a good hearty appetite are the tangible results.

During the day a programme for a concert in the evening was generally arranged, and an enjoyable time in this way was spent for a couple of hours. The principal parties who took part in these entertainments, and assisted greatly in making the trip an enjoyable one were Mrs. J. W. Maynard of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Mrs. C. H. Sibbard of the same place, Mrs. James, of Ottawa, Miss Mitchell, Miss Smith, Miss McLeod, and Miss Shewell, of Owen Sound, Mr. J. W. Speers of Owen Sound, and Mr. John Straithern, P. L. S., M. D., of Midland City, Mr. J. M. Skellton, Reeve of Orangeville, who was on his way to Battleford, to look after the interests of a colonization company. Mr. Strathern, with an engineering party, was bound for Fort Walsh. The programme consisted of readings, recitations, and vocal and instrumental music.

There was also on board several parties on their way to Nipigon on a fishing excursion. Mr. Jas. Rochester, wife and daughter, Mrs. James, of Ottawa, Mr. R. Myers, and mother, Mrs. E. W. Myers, were on their way to Prince Albert Mission Station, N. W. T. Mrs. Meyers is going on a visit to her sons who are very popular and energetic young men, and have considerable interest in that part of the Northwest, as well as in the city of Winnipeg. They were accompanied as far as Winnipeg by their brother Mr. A. H. Meyers, Barrister of Toronto.

About 8 p.m., on Wednesday evening, we are on the Northern Pacific Railway express train for Winnipeg. A night of agreeable and refreshing slumber, was passed with a substantial breakfast at Glyndon. Here connection was made with the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railway and we settle down to admire the prairies over which we are making passage. In Minnesota, farm after farm, as far as the eye could reach, was passed, of the richest soil, with good crops, till we the frontier town, between Canada and the United States. After a brief stoppage here, we were switched off on the Pembina Branch of the C. P. R and arrive at Emerson, where baggage was examined. A stay here of fifteen minutes for this purpose was necessary, and Winnipeg was reached at 7 p.m., Thursday evening.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PUGNACIOUS NAVVIES.

On Friday night last two railway navvies, having for some time enjoyed the freedom of total abstinence got on a "big drunk," and for a brief period undertook to take charge of public affairs here, but speedily found, to their humiliating discomforture, that they were riding the wrong horse. About midnight, these two worthies, named Charles Phillips and Thos. Keenan, well filled with ardent spirits, were prowling about the streets in a disorderly manner, at times fighting with each other, till the former gave the latter a pair of black eyes, and a seriously disfigured face. Mr. Reeve Pearce, hearing the row, went in the direction of the noise, and tried to induce the navvies to go home quietly; but Phillips, not knowing and perhaps not caring who addressed him, squared off, saying that there was not a man in Norwood who could "fetch him." Mr. Pearce then went for constable Anderson, and again coming upon the navvies, made an effort to get them quietly home, but Phillips was in for a fight, and bid defiance to law, officials, and everbody else. He then made an attack on Mr. Pearce, but after a short encounter, both were overcome, and safely lodged in limbo. On Saturday morning they were both arraigned before Mr. Pearce for disorderly conduct, and Phillips was fined $10, or 30 days in gaol; and the other fined $1.00 and $1.00 costs, or 30 days in gaol. The fine from Phillips not being forthcoming, he was taken up to Castle McWilliams' in Peterborough, by constable Anderson on Saturday to serve his term of imprisonment. Keenan, after a short stay in prison here, was relieved from confinement by his comrades subscribing and paying his fine. The latter, who is only a short time out from the old country, says this was his first appearance in the cells and that it will be his last.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

A meeting of the Norwood School Trustees was held on Friday evening last to dispose of the resignation of Mr. McKay, and adopt measures to supply a teacher in his place. The resignation was unanimously accepted without any comment from any member of the Board. The Secretary was authorized to correspond with several of the High School Inspectors for a competent person to take charge of the School. Mr. J. C. Brown, P. S. I., was also present, and addressed the Board at length on the changes recently made in the adoption of studies for High Schools in the Province. There being no other business the Board adjourned.

PERSONAL.

At the conclusion of the Lachine regatta, Mr. A. J. Belcher, of this place, was elected a member of the committee of the club.

Mr. Geo. M. Rogers was a representative at the very successful convention of the Y. M. C. A., at Truro, Nova Scotia, last week.

Last Sunday week, Rev. Mr. Clementi conducted services and preached a sermon on "prayer," at Old Orchard Beech, Maine.

Mr. Gideon Fitzgerald and daughter, Ada, who have been spending the summer amongst Peterborough friends, returned home on Tuesday to Kansas.

Rev. E. J. Stobo, of Peterborough, delivers his lecture on the "Life and Poetry of Burns," in the Baptist church, Welland, to-night (Thursday.)

Mr. Jas. Ridley, uncle of Mr. Chas. J. Ridley, news foreman of the EXAMINER office, has returned to town from New Orleans, for a visit, after thirty-three year's absence from the "village" of Peterborough.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says: Mrs. Halliday and family left Grafton last week to join the doctor, who moved to Peterborough about two months ago, taking the practice of Dr. Burritt, of that place. It is with regret that the people, not only of Grafton, but of Cobourg and the district, part with Dr. Halliday and his amiable family. The doctor in an able practioner, and as a citizen was universally respected. Although sorry to part with him, we congratulate our sister town on the acquisition of so able a practioneer, and thorough a gentleman as Dr. Halliday.

HARVEY.

The Port Perry Standard says; "Mr. Joseph Bigelow is about to remove his saw milling business from that place to the township of Harvey, on Pigeon lake, about eight miles from Bobcaygeon. The material for a new mill and boarding house have been prepared at the mill in Port Perry, part of which was removed to the new site last Tuesday and the balance will be shipped the end of the week. The mill will be 96x26 in size, and made of the best material and with all the modern improvements. The engine house will be 40x22 feet. Two circular saw rigs will be put up, and it is expected they will turn out between three and four million feet of hardwood lumber each season. The boarding house, which is to be 50x20, with a kitchen 20x10, and two stories high, will accommodate about twenty workmen. Separate houses are to be built for the foreman of the mill and shanty.

THE EGYPTIAN WAR.

The News from day to Day.

FRIDAY.

The news from the seat of war is more interesting this morning than it has been for a fortnight past. It is evident that a decisive blow will be struck at Arabi either on Saturday or Sunday next, and that the battle will be of a serious character. The correspondents at Alexandria telegraph elaborate details of the proposed attack, while they will be received with interest, cannot be accepted implicitly. The London newspapers appear to regard doubtfully the information telegraphed, especially as it passes through the military press censorship, and they think it unlikely that accurate information would be permitted to be sent, with the certainty that Arabi's agent will repeat it to him. Yet the fact remains that the blow is about to fall. Troops are embarking; others are about to march; the ironclads are ready to sail; the British positions at Ramleh have been strengthened; in fact there is every indication of a general attack, no matter how deceptive the rumours may be as to whether the forts at Aboukir will be bombarded first or not.

The Porte still delays the proclamation as well as its assent to the military convention; and this has led to a sharp remonstrance from the German Government.

SATURDAY.

The despatches regarding the troubles in the East relate mainly to preparations for the great battle to take place probably within twenty-four hours at Kafir-el-Dwar. The British forces are being as largely augmented and as well disposed as possible, while from the best accounts Arabi, seems to rest content with the present state of his entrenchments. He is said to expect to fall back on Cairo in case of a defeat, but he cannot arrive there before the place will be thoroughly garrisoned with many anxious to see him.

Turkey seems to have backed down from her position, taken under pressure, of willingness to proclaim Arabi a rebel, and now it is said she will not only not do that, but will send a force to act, if necessary, as a check upon British occupation of the country. The last statement is not generally credited.

The rumours of Russia's operations in concentrating a large force in the Caucasus to be ready for an attack on Turkey when England has her hands full in Egypt are still made, but they fail to cause much excitement.

MONDAY.

The news from the seat of war this is of a most intensely interesting character; and is likely to astonish every country in Europe. A Constantinople despatch announces that the Powers have agreed to the international protectorate of the Suez Canal, England making a reservation that this international police protection shall not interfere with her war operations. England has boldly set the whole of Europe at defence, and if the despatches from Port Said be relied upon, she has placed gunboats at each end of the Canal and forbidden passage to vessels of all nationalities, whether merchant crafts or not.

Instead of landing at Aboukir Sir Garnet Wolseley and Admiral Seymour proceeded to the Suez Canal with seventeen transports and five men-of-war, and seized that important work, Port Said and every point of importance has been placed under British control, and the whole fleet and troops are now en route to Ismailia, from which it is apparent a move upon Cairo will be made.

Several severe engagements took place on Saturday and Sunday at Ramleh, the details of which are of a highly interesting character. A serious battle is expected to-morrow at Arabia's lines near Kafr-el Dwar.

TUESDAY.

Yesterday was signalized by a brilliant exploit by a British force. A small body of Highlanders, marines, and bluejackets advanced upon Shaleif, a village about ten miles from Suez, where the enemy was found in force, outnumbering the British by three to one. A brisk and steady musketry fire was followed by a charge, and the enemy was driven out at the point of the bayonet with heavy loss, losing a number of prisoners and a small cannon. Shaleif is of some importance as a stratgetic point, being upon the fresh water canal and telegraph and railway lines to Cairo, and the action was brought about by the enemy cutting the fresh-water canal at this point. The bank has now been repaired.

Nefich, rebel post near Ismailia, was shelled by the gunboats and the enemy driven out. Arabia has distributed his forces with the intention of obstructing the British advance upon Cairo.

A force calculated to hold the Alexandria division in check will hold Kafr-el-Dwar; Arabi, with the main body, will oppose Sir Garnet Wolseley's advance from Ismailia, and a large body of Bedouins will oppose an advance from Snez. At every available point he is erecting earthworks, and is apparently determined to make a desperate fight.

The Porte is still harassing England by petty regulations, and has applied its prohibition of the export of mules from Asia Minor to Turkey in Europe. Lord Dufferin has informed the Porte that it will be held responsible for heavy damages.

OTONABEE.

BARN BURNED BY AN ENGINE SPARK.—A correspondent informs us that on Tuesday afternoon a spark from a Grand Junction engine set fire to a barn belonging to Mr. Hugh Nelson. The barn, which was totally destroyed with its contents, contained a small quantity of hay, wagon, plough, sleigh, and swine. The family were in the harvest field and did not notice the fire till the roof of the building had fallen in.

Peterborough Examiner.

PETEBBOROUGH, AUGUST 24, 1882

Notes of the Day.

THE LONDON SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION have appointed October the 15th and 16th as days of universal prayer, on behalf of the Sunday Schools. The invitation is addressed to the Continent, the United States and the Colonies, as well as Great Britain. The same days have been chosen for a similar purpose by the Church of England Sunday School Institute. Teachers and officers are urged individually to secure some additional time on each day of the preceeding week for private thought and prayer, that all may come together with prepared hearts, to praise and thank God for what he has done; and to ask that the children may be led to an early decision for Christ. Such united prayer as this can seldom be evoked, and no appeal is necessary to enlist any Christian in so commendable a cause.

THE SALT MANUFACTORIES of the United States have steadily decreased in number, though their products are as steadily increasing. In 1860, the number of establishments was 699; in 1870, 283; in 1880, 264. The products in 1860 were 12,717,000 bushels; in 1870, 17,606,000; and in 1880, 20,800,000. The larger industries have succeeded in swallowing up the smaller ones, so as to increase the monopoly, and the excessive tariff on the article has caused the immense production. Only 4,075 hands are employed in the industry, and the total capital is a little over six millions of dollars. Yet, this insignificant and paltry business, under the protectionist regime, draws tribute from fifty millions of people. Is this right or wise, especially when meat-packing establishments, with six times the capital, are made to pay largely to keep up the industry, and are heavily "salted" in doing so?"

THE DECLINE OF THE MERCHANT MARINE of the United States is producing considerable attention. In fact, its condition is a national disgrace. Last year only 16 per cent. of the freight money between American and foreign ports was earned by U.S. vessels, while the proportion should have been 64 per cent. at least. That is, instead of American shipowners receiving some sixty millions of dollars for carrying freight, they only received fifteen millions. The total amount paid for ocean freight last year was 96 million dollars, most of which went into the pockets of Englishmen. To man a ship right and to enable it to carry freight at reasonable rates it must run full both ways, and this the protective tariff of our neighbors on manufactures and raw material renders impossible. Prohibitory duties on European products would deprive American vessels of a return load even when they carry thither grain and dairy produce. Besides, Americans cannot purchase foreign built ships to sail under the American flag. All this has destroyed and will continue to paralyze the carrying trade of the great Republic.

DOCTORS DIFFER very materially as to the effects of alcohol on the human system. Such varied and conflicting accounts are put forth from time to time, each by emminent men, that it is no easy matter to arrive at a correct solution of the question. Unquestionably temperance is progressing, and its ranks are being increased by valuable recruits. Thirty-two members of the British Parliament are total abstainers, and among recent accessions we find strong testimony to the value of temperance, as far as health is concerned. The most important recent contribution on the subject of alcohol and health, however, is to be found in a paper of Dr. Baer, read very recently at Vienna. He traced in order the injurious effects of alcohol on the body, and cited the criminal statistics of various countries, to show that the murders and crimes against the person, rose and fell in numbers with the rising and falling of the rate of alcoholic consumption. In Ireland, he said, during Father Matthews' crusade, the consumption of whiskey was reduced fifty per cent. from 1838 to 1842, and crimes of violence decreased from 64,520 to 47,027, while executions fell from 59 in the first-named year to one in the last.

ENGLAND'S MOST FASHIONABLE TRAGEDIAN.—Mr. Henry Irving will shortly visit America, as the guest of Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt. As a patron of the stage, Mr. Irving's host is unknown in America, and many are the surmises regarding this somewhat unexpected surprise in his introducing to social life, such a celebrated guest. Next year Mr. Irving will visit America professionally, and this short stay will be an admirable precessor for the later one. Socially and professionally Irving stands high in England. A protege of Baroness Coutts, and one of the lions of the London aristocracy, it is rather a unique triumph Mr. Irving has won by his art. England is not accustomed to look to the stage for her social lions, and there was nothing in the early career of Henry Irving which might account for his preeminence, professionally or otherwise. He was educated at Dr. Pinche's school in London, and made his debut at Sunderland in 1856. For ten years afterwards he remained a mere strolling player, and was for a considerable time, engaged at London, and provincial theatres in Boucicault's melodramas, "Hunted Down" and "Formosa." Not until 1866-67, did his engagement at the St. James' Theatre, in the old comedy of the "Belle's Stratagem" suggest the probability of his rising higher than the mere villian. But in 1870 at the Vaudeville he suddenly rose from the ranks, and now he fills the first line in tragedy, without a rival. The part he took at that time was "Digby Grant" in the "Two Roses", and the comedy ran 300 nights. In 1873 he showed his right as successor to Macready, by rendering the part of Richelieu with wonderful correctness. After this followed quickly Macbeth, Othello, Richard III, Romeo and Shylock—all of them masterpices.

MOTHERS-IN-LAW are generally regarded by mankind as dangerous and dazzling beguilers. In Zululand, Australia, Africa, and among some of the aboriginal races of this continent, savage etiquette forbids a man to have any dealings whatever with his mother-in-law. In fact they are "boycotted" in the plainest sense of that term. Such relations are not expected to be on speaking, or even on bowing, terms. Under the salutary influence of our advanced civilization, however, a decided improvement in this regard is manifest. A sort of friendly neutrality now seems the order of the day between such relations, and the mother-in-law may even venture to enter her daughter's home without police protection or demanding an able and reliable escort. That there is still danger in presuming upon the relationship, or prolonging a visit for too remote a period, many a one could testify. Experience proves, however, that other and still more unexpected dangers may loom up. Had the savage custom still prevailed, which is alluded to above, the misfortune that befel a young married woman of nineteen in an English city quite recently would never have been recorded. Her story to a magistrate was that her own mother eloped with her husband! So far from provoking the husband and causing trouble in the household for the unfortunate man, she actually won his affections and drew him from his once happy home! If such events are often chronicled we shall be obliged to advocate for Canada the savage custom of "boycotting" the mothers-in-law.

Ireland.

Though in some respects there is an improvement in Ireland, yet it is so slight as to be small cause for congratulation. Occasionally there is a lull in the fevered flush of unrest and wrong, that overspreads the unhappy country, but it is not long before some altogether unforeseen incident fans the embers into a blaze. Generally it is the Irish themselves, or their friends, whose indiscreet impulsiveness leads to fresh troubles, and complications, that are to blame, and sometimes the Government party or officials. The case of Dwyer Gray, editor of the Dublin Freeman, and member of Parliament, is an instance of the latter. He was fined $15,000 and sentenced to three months in jail, for contempt of court, in publishing the letter of O'Brien, editor of United Ireland, accusing the jury which convicted Haines of the murder of Doloughty, with being drunk on the night previous to the verdict being given. The sentence naturally causes an intense excitement. Even to one, feeling his entire sympathy with the Government, in their attempts to ameliorate the condition of the Irish people, and to restore order and prosperity, the sentence seems arbitrary and harsh, and a direct infringement of the boasted liberty of the press. Its effect can only be injurious to Ireland, directly and indirectly—directly by arousing popular indigation and leading to excesses of action and speech, which though perhaps not justifiable, are excusable. Indirectly by embarrassing the government and hindering the operation of measures, intended to benefit the Irish people.

Last Wednesday nominations for both the Local and the Dominion House took place in Terrebonne, Que. The candidates are: For the House of Commons—Mr. Chapleau, Conservative, and Mr. Poirier, Liberal; for the Legislature—Mr. Nantel, Conservative, and Mr. Gaudet, Liberal.

A party of six smugglers, with forty pack animals, encamped for the night in a canon in Swisholm Mountain, near Bowe, Arizona, and were all, save one, drowned by a cloudburst. Their bodies were found scattered along the canon next morning.

Killed His Wife in a Tunnel.

Jas. Clift, of Alexandria, Va., has been jealous of his wife, and his domestic peace has been often interrupted. Friday morning he invited his wife to take a trip to Washington, and as a short cut, proposed a walk through the Midland railroad tunnel. In the tunnel he shot and killed her, and escaped.

A Headless Horror.

The headless body of a man was found last Friday, hanging by his knees from one of the string piers under the New England railroad bridge, near Boston. The head, which was missing, was severed from the trunk by a sharp instrument, and there were five wounds on the back and breast. The case is certainly mysterious.

Miss Tug Wilson and Miss Sullivan.

Two handsome girls, Laura Mo.win and Della Stile, of Columbus, Ga., quarrelled last Friday evening about a young man, and agreed to settle the dispute according to the Marquis of Queensbury's rules of the prize ring. Seconds were chosen. This morning at daybreak, they crossed the Alabama line and a ring was pitched. Two rounds were fought; the first round lasted three minutes. Both girls were severely punished, Fatal Baby Farming.

Under contract with the county, Mrs. Freeland of Albany, New York State, receives pauper babies and also takes children for young women, who don't want to be bothered with them. A child, which recently died on her hands, was found to have been left out in the wood shed all night while fatally ill, with other babies in her keeping, in a starved and pitiable condition. Mrs. Freeland says she is not paid enough to keep them properly.

The Army of Peelers.

The Irish constabulary, which has just been in semi-mutiny, and on which the preservation of law in Ireland depends, was created in 1814, and was borne equally by the counties and the consolidated fund. In 1846 the whole expense was undertaken by Government and the force made semi-military. It consists of an Inspector-General, a Deputy Inspector-General, three Assistant Inspectors-General, thirty-five County Inspectors, 199 sub-inspectors, 232 head constables, and 10,787 constables, acting constables and sub-constables, making a total of 11,255.

Death Caused by Grief.

A Newark, N. J., telegram says: Mrs. Cephas M. Woodruff, widow of the late President of the Firemen's Insurance Company, of this city, who was killed by the accident at Parker's Creek, N. J., on the June 29th last, died at twenty minutes past 1 o'clock this morning. Since the death of her husband the health of Mrs. Woodruff has gradually declined from grief, and after leaving the supper table last evening, she was attacked with an apoplectic stroke, which resulted in her death. The deceased was 50 years of age, and leaves five children.

The Suez Canal and Sharks.

An unforeseen consequence of cutting the Suez Canal has been the intrusion of sharks in large numbers into the Mediterranean Sea, with terrible resulting havoc among the smaller edible fish. Formerly a shark was almost a curiosity in the Mediterranean, and there was no choicer or better stocked fishing ground in the world. The fishermen of the Provencal coast supplied the cities of France with the best of piscatorial food, and in never-failing abundance; but they now have difficulty in furnishing half the quantity that they then obtained with ease.

Senora, New Mexico, advices say that the Apaches are committing frightful depredations, with blood curdling atrocities, in the Sahuahuapa district. A large force of Mexicans are in pursuit of the redskins. At Taratuc Ranche the Apaches killed six men, also two at Lucuchilla, and two in Arincahcnda. Three hours afterwards they attacked El Carrigal. They killed elven women and children, first stripping the women, and then outraging them in the most brutal manner. They then put them to death with the most cruel torture.

Quebec Again Afflicted.

A fire in St. Roch's originated shortly after midnight in Arago-Street in the packing-case manufactory of Councillor F. W. Roy. The cause of the fire is unknown. Despite the exertions of the brigade the flames quickly spread, destroying the stock of timber and Mr. Roy's soap and candle factory, containing expensive machinery and stock. The factory of Mr. Richards, manufacturer of leather tips, packing-cases, etc., was also destroyed, as well as the residence of Messrs. Chevret, Roofer, Drolet, & Cote, shoemakers. Mr. Roy, who is a City Councillor, loses $30,000, and his insurance only $7,000.

Toying with the Fatal Trigger.

Miss Sarah Lavers, a pretty and vivacious young lady, the daughter of Mr. Mm. Lavers, of No. 70 St. Hypolite Street, has, with other relatives, been living at St. Jerome, near Montreal, for the summer. Miss Lavers and a gentleman named Scott were playing with a revolver, and in some manner, the deadly weapon, which was loaded, exploded. With a scream Miss Lavers staggered and fell. All was excitement in an instant, and the pleasantry gave place to most heartrending anguish, as relatives rushed to the scene and beheld the work of the revolver. A physician was sent for at once, but all his efforts to extract the bullet seemed in vain, and it was decided to send to town for a doctor. The lady appears to be in a dangerous condition. The wound is in the right side, below the ribs.

Gallant Rescue.

A Niagara Falls telegram says: As two young men, named William and Henry Rogers, sons of Mr. Henry Rodgers, of H. M. Customs here were taking a bath in a small cove on the American side of the river, they observed a gentleman in the water, evidently drowning. Although the current at this point is exceedingly swift, the boys immediately swam to the rescue. William was the first to reach the drowning man, who grasped him by the neck with death grip, and drew him under. Henry had by this time reached the scene, and, diving, managed to release the drowning man's hold of his brother, after which the boys succeeded in getting him ashore, the whole party being thoroughly exhausted. Witnesses of the affair say it was one of the most gallant rescues ever performed on the Niagara River.

A MONSTER TIME-PIECE.

The large clock at the English House of Parliament is the largest one in the the world. The four dials in this clock are twenty-two feet in diameter. Every half minute the minute hand moves nearly seven inches. The clock will go eight days and a half, thus indicating any neglect in winding it up. The winding up of the striking apparatus takes two hours. The pendulum is fifteen feet long; the wheels are cast iron; the hour-bell is eight feet high, and nine feet in diameter, weighing nearly fifteen tons, and the hammer alone weighs more than four hundred pounds. This clock strikes the quarter hours, and by its striking, the short-hand reporters regulate their labours. At every strike a new reporter takes the place of the old one, while the first retires to write out the notes that he has taken during the previous fifteen minutes.

GOOD TASTE AT HOME

It is wonderful what a tasteful woman can do in the way of making home attractive. She can make a garret beautiful at little cost, for the beauty of home depends more upon an education and refined taste than upon mere wealth. If there is no artist in the house it matters little that there is a large balance at the bank. There is usually no better excuse for a barren home than ignorance or carelessness. A little mechanical skill can make brackets and shelves for the walls. A trifle saved from daily expenses can now and then put a new book upon the table or shelf. A thoughtful walk in the woods can gather leaves and ferns for adorning the unpictured rooms. The expenditure of a few shillings can convert the plain window into a conservatory. In these and many other ways can a plain, barren room be changed into a scene of beauty.

A TRUE LADY.

Wildness is a thing which girls cannot afford, Delicacy is a thing which cannot be lost or found. No art can restore to the grape its bloom. Familiarity without confidence, without regard, is destructive to all that makes woman exalting and ennobling. It is the first duty of a woman to be a lady. Good breeding is good sense. Bad manners in a woman is immorality. Awkwardness may be inerradicable. Bashfulness is constitutional. Ignorance of etiquette is the result of circumstances. All can be condoned and not banish men or women from the amenities of their kind. But self-possessed, unshrinking and aggressive coarseness of demeanor may be reckoned as a State's prison offence, and certainly merits that mild form restraint called imprisonment for life. It is a shame for women to be lectured on their manners. It is a bitter shame that they need it. Do not be restrained. Do not have impulses that need restraint. Do not wish to dance with the prince unsought; feel differently. Be sure you confer honor. Carry yourself so loftily that men will look up to you for reward, not at you in rebuke. The natural sentiment of man toward woman is reverence. He loses a large means of grace when he is obliged to account her a being to be trained into propriety. A man's ideal is not wounded when a woman fails in worldly wisdom; but if in grace, in tact, in sentiment, in delicacy, in kindneess she should be found wanting, he receives an inward hurt.

Wholesale Murder in Ireland.

A man named Joyce and his entire family were murdered Saturday evening in their own house, near Congin, county Galway. The family consisted of Joyce, his wife, mother and daughter. They were fired at and killed by a party of men. Two boys were also wounded. It is believed in the locality that the Joyces gave information relative to the murder of the bailiffs of Lord Ardilaun, whose bodies were found bound together in Lake Congin.

"CLINGING TO THE MAST."

O how like a tidal motion
Flows the ceaseless throb of care!
Oft as heist'rous as an ocean,
Seldom still as evening air.

And how often things remind us,
As they flutter on the shore,
Things are sadder hearts behind us,
Doomed to hear life's ocean roar.

As the view old Time's divisions—
Future, present, and the past—
Straightway flutter o'er us visions,
Children clinging to the mast.

Clinging with their soul's devotion,
And their eyes declare a dream,
That the present raging ocean
Bears them to a gentler stream.

Ah! devotion and delusion,
Each so sweet, and yet so sad;
Had they better loved seclusion,
Would the end have been as bad?

O the pathos and the beauty
Of obedience nobly borne!
Clinging to the mast of duty,
Dead—but not in heart forlorn.

A SECOND SHORT SERMON.

BY A COMMON LAYMAN.

(Written for the EXAMINER.)

The all-important question is how to bring people into the Church. It is plain enough, and all experience teaches that, to do this, something more is required than the mere preaching of two or more sermons on a Sunday. The church is the place for the gathering in of the flock, just as the sheep are gathered into the fold at night by the faithful shepherd, after watching over them all the day. The shepherd is always with the sheep. He cares for them. He knows their every want, and he supplies their daily needs. He does not forget or neglect his duty. His first and his last thought is for the flock. And his sheep know him and confide in him. They know the sound of his voice; and if a little lamb is lost, he finds it and brings it safely home again. The example thus displayed by the faithful shepherd ought to be the rule and the guide of the faithful minister. If, as he says, he is the chosen of God, he should be God's faithful shepherd to care for and watch over His people. God makes no distinctions, and the shepherd should make no distinction in caring for those around him. It is the spiritual welfare of man that God looks for, and the faithful minister should do the same. The soul of one man, be he beggar or prince, is the same in the sight of God. And when Christ lived on the earth He never forgot the poor and the needy. The sick and the lame had his special care, and He said, "Suffer little children to come unto Me." Just as the good shepherd searches for and finds the lamb, when it is lost, and carefully brings it home again in his arms, so the arms of God are always open to receive the lost and the erring ones, and He rejoiceth over one sinner that repenteth more than over ninety and nine that need no repentance. Now let us see how these would-be ministers of God follow His example. Do they deny themselves for the sake of others? No. Do they leave their comfortable firesides or their pleasures and enjoyments and go out into the cold and the storm to comfort the poor or the sick or the weary? Do they go out often among the people and reason with them, and take counsel with them, and show them, in all kindness, the way to repentance and to salvation. Occasionally, it may be, they do this, but much oftener they do not. Do they sit down in the humble cabin and tell its inmates, who, perchance, may know but little of the world to come; and tell them the story of our Saviour's life and death, and how He died to save them. And do they open the inspired book and read its kind words and its promises to those who repent, and how He has said, "Come unto Me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." I fear not very often. When some poor creature is lying on a bed of languishing, and, it may be, has not wherewith to slake his thirst—do they think of him and care for him enough to visit him and minister to his wants, and bring comfort to his soul? I fear not. A poor sick mother is lying on the humble bed, sad and weary. Do these would-be ministers of God think of her and care for her, and do they smooth her hard pillow, and read to and pray with her, and do they tell her of a home where there is no sickness and no suffering, and where all is peace and happiness, and so leave her rejoicing in the hope of a future life? I fear, not very often. Who is there to speak soft, sweet words to the little children to warn them against the snares of the world, and to teach them the better way? Echo answers who. No, the minister, as a rule, thinks he has done his duty to God and man, when he leaves his well-filled table and goes to the church twice on a Sunday, and there preaches a cold, formal sermon, often to empty walls. He thinks he does his duty when he stands up in the church twice on Sunday, and scolds his hearers because they are not as good as he is. And then he wonders and wonders why so few people are present. Not much more than a year ago, a man was stricken down and was rapidly nearing his end. He had been an infidel, and scoffed at the very name of religion. But when death stared him in the face and he knew he must soon go hence, he began to ask himself whither he was going and what would be his fate. A few well-meaning friends, talked earnestly with him about his past life, and about the future, and he finally acknowledged his errors, and asked forgiveness for his sins. He died, and it is to be hoped they were forgiven. But, as usual, not a single minister ever went near him. And no doubt, thousands are constantly going down to the grave in the same way, going down uncared for and unknown. It is sad to see so many millions of our fellow creatures living and dying as outcasts, with scarce any knowledge of their creator, and without one thought of Heaven, but sadder still to see so very few of God's pretended ministers care for them or ever give them one thought. Unlike the Saviour, who, while on earth, toiled on, weary, thirsty and footsore, to instruct the poor and the lost, our would-be spiritual shepherds, sitting in their comfortable homes, enjoying the good things of this world, never see the misery, wickedness and wretchedness around them, or, if seeing, never do one kind act or give one kind word of comfort, but pass on another way, lest they should be inconvenienced by contact with the poor around them. We always have enough of these unfortunate creatures all around us, some of them owing their misery to themselves, others brought low through treachery or misfortune. Who can tell the extent of their mental anguish or their bodily sufferings, and how often a few words of sympathy and kindness would soothe their sorrows and lighten their troubles. Some have come to our shores from foreign lands, some have come friendless and alone — unacquainted with the country, and with the habits and ways of the people. Emphatically they are strangers in a strange land—and all the hope and consolation which they enjoy is derived from correspondence with the loved ones at home, who try to cheer and encourage them in the way that is now before them. They look around for some friendly hand to help them, for some word of spiritual comfort, to uphold their sinking spirits, and to direct their hearts and their thoughts to the one Friend in time of need. But they look in vain. By and by, perchance, sickness and disappointment overtake them, and in their loneliness and sorrow, they think of the land which they have forever left, and and who shall blame them when they cry:—

Take me back to home and mother,
To the happy scenes of yore,
Friends of childhood, sister, brother,
Long to welcome me once more,
I can hear their voices ringing
In sweet memory's refrain,
To the past my heart is clinging,
Only take me back again.
Take me back to home and mother
For my heart is filled with pain.
Take me back to home and mother,
Only take me back again.

Take me back to home and mother
Gentle words will greet me there,
For on earth there is no other
Kindness like a mother's care.
Life is but a dream of pleasure,
Sweetest hours must turn to pain,
Home is all I have to treasure,
Only take me home again.
Take me back to home and mother.
For my heart is filled with pain.
Take me back to home and mother,
Only take me back again.

If ministers of the gospel will only claim that they are but human, that they are no more than other men, then I will admit that nothing further should be expected from them than is looked for from others. But this is not so. They do claim, in spiritual matters at all events, to be more than other men, and to be better than other men, and they claim to be God's appointed agents here to do His work, and to lead the people to look up to Him as their creator and guide. They claim, or at least some of them declare, that they alone are entrusted by God to preach salvation, and to lead the way to truth and light, and that all interference by common laymen is presumption and sin. They would not have the kind offices of any layman however good and unselfish he may be, bestowed upon the needy and the sick, but they would rather that they should suffer and perish. They will not afford help and no one else shall do so. And if people will not come to church, and there listen to a cold, formal discourse, and content their souls with the dry crumbs which they get there, they must go into outer darkness, and suffer for their perverseness. But the sooner such men learn the folly of their proceedings, the better will it be both for them and for us. Mere sacredotalism is not going to heal or to save. It is nothing but a human invention, a mere pretence. Men's hearts are not going to be turned from evil ways by any hierarchical pretensions whatever. Salvation can only be secured through the simple preaching of the Gospel, and by enforcing the examples given by our Saviour whilst sojourning on earth, and His example teaches humility and kindness. The only sure way to bring sinners to repentance is through the constant efforts of good men, and through attention and kindness; the outcast must be sought after, and must be won over by love and kindness. He must be shown that God cares for him, and that Christ gave his life to save him as well as others. The poor and the sick must be visited, and be made to feel the presence of a friend. They must be taken by the hand and encouraged and comforted. It is by this manner alone that they are taught to look beyond themselves for help and guidance, and it is in this manner only that churches can be filled. The congregations are made up outside of the churches altogether and thus they will come to the churches as to a common centre, to thank God for His many blessings. And then minister and the laymen must work together. The duties and the responsibilities of both are equal, and in all these things the unpretending layman is able to do, and oftentimes does do, the most good. The people feel that there is a sympathy between themselves and the humble workers, which oftentimes does not exist with the minister. But let the latter once show that he is in earnest, and that he does take an interest in their welfare, and he then opens their hearts to him, and then will be seen the look of gladness at his presence, and their hearts will open to receive his kindly counsels and to follow his kindly advice.

THE SUPERINTENDENT IN LOVE.

Supt. E. J. O'Neill, of the Dominion Police Force, Ottawa, Canada, thus spoke to a representative of one of Ottawa's leading journals: "I am actually in love with that wonderful medicine St. Jacobs Oil. I keep it at home and likewise here in my office; and though my duty should call me hence in an hour to journey a thousand miles, St. Jacobs Oil would surely be my companion. It is the most wonderful medicine in the world, without any exception, I believe. My entire family have been cured by it. We have used it for twenty different ailments, and found it worth half a score of doctors. My men here on the Dominion Police Force use it right along and very justly think that there is nothing like it. I believe it is the long sought Elixir Vitæ and possesses the power of making the old, young again. I know it often enlivens me, and although I am past fifty years of age, I am, thanks to that wonderful agent, a lively man yet.

THE BAD AND WORTHLESS

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H.B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H.B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 34-4t

"I WILL NOT."

AN ENGLISH COUPLE THAT LEFT THE CHURCH WHEN BUT HALF MARRIED.

(London Telegraph.)

A certain dean of Chester was called upon to perform the wedding ceremonial for a pair of happy lovers. The position of both parties was of the highest rank, and the guests who were bidden to the church were of the most fashionable and exalted. The day arrived and with it the hour. The edifice was packed, and all was in readiness. The dean, expectant, awaiting the coming of the bride, and the groom, with his best man, was in the vestry. The hour passed on and still the bride did not arrive. After a long delay she drove up to the church door, and with her bridesmaids swept up the large middle aisle towards the altar. In the meantime the groom advanced to meet her, and receiving her half way, escorted her to the dean. After the opening words of exhortation the dean turned to the man and asked him the usual set questions—whether he would have the woman for his wedded wife, etc,—to which he answered, "I will." The question being in turn asked of the woman, to the astonishment and amazement of all she distinctly said, looking the groom in the face, "I will not!" The next instant she said in a low voice: "Mr. Dean, no one can more regret the words I have just uttered than myself, and if you will dismiss the congregation and take me into your vestry-room I will apologise, and at the same time fully and satisfactorily explain what may seem to all my strange conduct."

The dean, seeing that she was in earnest, in a few words dismissed the bewildered congregation and directed the bridegroom to await him. The congregation having departed, and the lady and dean being together, she said, "I cannot tell you how badly I feel. I had loved my fiancee truly and devotedly, and had looked forward to a life of perfect happiness and joy. This morning, as you know, I was late at my marriage ceremony, but it was not through any fault of mine. I arrived as soon as I could. Instead of receiving looks of love and words of full happiness from my future husband, he paralysed my beating heart by saying, when he met me half-way up the aisle, "G—d—you! If you expect to begin life this way, by keeping me waiting for you, you will find out after you are my wife!" My decision was instantly made. I have been told that, sooner than suffer unhappiness through my own actions, it were better to renounce even at the altar a union that would bring misery and grief thereafter. Had I turned back he would have followed me; there would have been a scene, and he might have persuaded me to return and marry him. It might also have looked like temper, and I had fully time during your few words of prayer to make up my mind. I know that I have disappointed friends, my family, but no one more than myself. Do not ask me to reconsider his late action. Inform my would-have-been husband and let me go." The dean, seeing she was resolved, could not but approve, and gently led her through the church back to her anxious parents, not as a smiling wife, but as a woman whose present is shattered and whose future is blighted.

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint, culminating in jaundice, is literally "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act, is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this symptom there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache, impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade, dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaints are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY and DYSPEPTIC CURE, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humours, female weakness, jaundice, and lumbago. It tones the stomach, rouses the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it, and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price, $1.00. Sample bottle, 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

BOSTON, 11th Sept., 1881.
Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co., Toronto,

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.
Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,
Your obedient humble servant,

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 24, 1882

Monopolist Railway Rates.

There is grevious complaint of the manner in which the Canada Pacific Railway is using its power to charge oppressive and exorbitant traffic rates. For instance, a manufacturer, and, therefore, generally speaking, a protege of the Dominion Government, shipped a couple of carloads of machinery to Brandon, at the quoted rate of $312 per car from Toronto. Of this sum, the charge from Toronto to St. Paul was about $46. The rest of the freight charges were incurred for transport from St Paul to Brandon. But this dispropoetion is not the worst part of the outrage. On the arrival of the two cars to Brandon, the Syndicate sharpers imposed the charges of $572,72, and 558.40, respectively on the two car loads. Demur was, of course, made against payment of these outrageous charges, but the company was inexorable, and, thanks to the Government, all-powerful, and what could be done but compound the extortion by paying the monstrous charges? It seems to be only fair to hold the Dominion Government indirectly responsible; for this power of spoliation was conferred by them on the Syndicate. Conservatives, of course, come to the rescue and say that the deduction is unfair. The Review says there "is not the slightest attempt at proof that the heavy payment is exacted by the Canadian company, and not by those of our neighbors south of the line, for the very good reason that such proof is not forthcoming." There is this proof that the extortionate charges were made and collected at the terminus, over which the Syndicate had sole control, and if they are not responsible for the whole overcharge, they are, certainly for a part of it, and are therefore participes criminis, and morally guilty of the overcharge. The Review asserts that the rates of the company must be moderate, and if they are not so, the Government has power to enforce moderation. We have heard of no attempt to "enforce moderation," therefore the Government must consider a charge of something like $500 a car from Toronto to Brandon "moderation." The fact is the Government, by the Pacific Railway Company, handed the country over bound hand and foot to the hugest, and as a little experience foreshadows, the most grinding monopoly that exists on the face of the earth. Our contemporary weakly evades discussion of the unpalatable question by opening the puerile side issue that if the Grits had remained in power there would have been no railway company to rob the public, thus suggesting the delectable doctrine that it is a blessed thing that we have the magnificent North-West to turn over to the spoiler. Journals that have a mission to condone the great political crime, the Syndicate bargain, are bound to carp at evidences of the existence of wrong-doing resulting from the contract.

It is not true that the Speaker of the Ontario Legislature has issued his warrants for elections to be held to fill up the vacancies in the Local House. Nor is it at all likely that Mr Mowat would in any event choose for these elections just that period of the year which would be most inconvenient to the farmers.

The Imperial Parliament.

The Session of the British House of Commons and Lords which on Friday last closed without any display or pomp, was certainly not the least eventful one within the last decade. The work which has been accomplished was not done according to the programme laid down in the Speech from the Throne, but was largely an emergency class of legislation. In addition to the obstructive difficulties which the Irish members were enabled to throw in the way, the terrible surprise of the Cavendish-Burke assassinations were grave sources of embarrassment and delay. Scarcely, however, had Parliament settled down to a dispassionate consideration of this matter when the Egyptian embroglio intruded its awkward presence. With respect to the Irish question, the Government found it necessary to pursue a course, of which the Repression act is the chief outcome. This severe measure was rendered absolutely necessary by the state of affairs in Ireland, and if judiciously administered it may be productive of good in the prevention and suppression of crime, but if Judge Lawson's absurd and astounding judgment in the Dwyer-Gray case is to be a precedent, the sooner judges get new instructions or successors, the better.

The Arrears of Rent Bill is a great Act of the Session, and it is to be hoped that its tendency to ameliorate the condition of the peasantry will have a salutary effect on the agitation now harrassing unhappy Ireland.

The manner in which Gladstone has guided the Egyptian question through the shoals and quicksands of diplomatic negotiations that have included the chief powers of Europe is highly creditable. The straightforward, manly, fearless and decided manner in which England has dealt with the matter has redounded to her honor, while her energy in dealing with Arabi Bey and her promptness in striking has raised her prestige among the powers, formerly somewhat diminished by the blatant philippics of jingoism.

The past session of the Imperial Parliament will be a memorable one, and will pass into history as a proof that the British nation though anxious to maintain peace, and to develop her commercial greatness, is not so degenerated that when the time for action arrives, it is not able, willing and ready, to give, in the support of her rights, hard knocks as in the days of yore.

Editorial Notes.

THE LINDSAY Warder, in view of the uncertainty of the date of the local election, advises the Liberal Conservatives to have their ammunition dry and in plenty. Our Conservatives generally accomplish a good deal by "wet" ammunition, but the Warder man has done so much dry work on the License question, that the idea of moistness finds no place in his head.

THE Conservative journals, while lavishly, and it must be said, recklessly, denouncing Hon. Mr. Mowat, as leader of the administration, do not go far enough. They do not name a successor. Can it be that they are ashamed to nominate Mr. Meredith for the position or is he considered to have an hereditary right to it by virtue of his being the leader of the "ragged" band of followers as the Winnipeg Sun estimates them?

A Bothwell correspondent says that should another election take place, with Hawkins as a candidate, while the people are in their present temper, Mr. Mills would be returned by 500 majority, no matter who the returning officer might be. The Bothwell electors have had enough of trifling with the sacred trust reposed in them, and they are not inclined to tolerate any more interference by the wire-pullers who wish to foist the much-rejected of Brantford on to them whether they so desire or not.

THE London Free Press asserts that the liquor traffic is a political lever whose control should not remain in the hands of any Government, which may apply it to other ends than those lawfully intended, and that, "there are cases throughout the country in which this has been done to a shameless degree." Sweeping charges of this nature can have little effect. If the Free Press could be a little more specific, and name the places and dates of the cases it alludes to, it might be worth while to "take stock in them."

THE Opposition organs claim on the one hand that the Mowat Government has been been drawing on the Provincial capital account, to meet current expenditures, and that direct taxation must be the result, and on the other hand they are growling because the License Act does not admit of the full fees for licenses going to the municipalities. Whatever proportion of the license fees that does not go to the latter, goes into the general provincial funds, and thus assists in staving off the direct taxation which the organs do not object to nearly so much as they do to seeing their party not enjoying the sweets of office.

EVEN supposing that the Opposition organs succeed in making the Mowat Government as black as they have painted it, the question arises, are they prepared to substitute anything better? Will a Tory Government, that may possibly be licked into shape from the straggling, incompetent and incoherent elements of the present Opposition, be an improvement on the present Reform administration? Let us take for answer the opinion of the Toronto Telegram, an independent political sheet, whose love for either party hardly amounts to a mania. Our contemporary says:—"But taking the Mowat Government all round, and granting that it is necessary to have Government by party, it will probably be admitted by those who contrast the administration of affairs by a Tory Government in Quebec with the administration of affairs by a Grit Government in Ontario, that by making a change we might go farther and fare worse.

MR. DAVID BLAIN, a now somewhat notorious political eunuch, has had the bad taste to say that Mr. Mackenzie was allowed to lie under the burden of a debt of $3,000 for Reform campaign printing. The Tory journals made loud clamour over the mare's nest, and went into ecstacies of vituperation of the Reformers for thus imposing on a political leader after dispensing with his services in that capacity. The facts are out. The debt for which Mr. Mackenzie made himself responsible was long ago discharged, and Mr. Blaine's impotent malevolence is merely beating the air. Apropos of this the London Advertiser remarks:—"With all their boasted love of the Chieftain, the Tories of the Dominion of Canada allowed him to be harassed on his sick bed by the demands of General Hewson for money he contracted to pay in order to further the interests of his party. While he was ill he was bothered to pay a part of the amount and stave off the day of payment of the rest, because he was too poor to pay off at once the full obligation he contracted on behalf of the Tory party. At least that is what Sir John swore to."

The Ontario Opposition.

The personnel of the Ontario Opposition does not secure the respect or even tolerance of its own friends as far as possession of political ability goes. The little coterie of leading spirits of the "ragged band," is estimated lightly by the Winnipeg Times about whose "trooly loil," Conservative standing there is no doubt. The Times thus delivers itself:—

"The (Hamilton) Spectator says that the Conservative papers of Ontario "are not in the habit of asking advice as to the men they shall trust with office" from the Conservatives of Manitoba. This is true enough, and the Spectator might have have added that the Conservative press in Ontario is not in the habit of consulting the Conservative electors of Ontario touching Ontario politics. If it were, the humiliating defeat that overtook the party in 1879 would have been averted The Spectator is a journal of great ability, but its besetting weakness is its blindness to the faults of its political friends, and the rashness with which, for instance, it attempts to make sensible men believe that Messrs. Meredith, Lauder, Morris, Bell, Merrick and Boulter are as good men as Messrs. Mowat, Crooks, Fraser, Wood, Pardee and Hardy. Mr. Meredith is no doubt the best man in the House, and Mr. Merrick would certainly make as good a Treasurer as Mr. Wood; but four graven images would be cleaner and quite as able as the rest."

Pope & Bitleau, druggists, Cedar Rapids Iowa, writes: We have never sold any medicine that gives such satisfaction to the consumer and pleasure to the seller as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. We can refer you to numbers that have used it for diphtheria with entire satisfaction and success.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in the third and fourth sections of "The Voters' List Act," the copies required by the said sections, to be so transmitted or delivered of the list, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the last revised Assessment Roll of the said Municipality, to be entitled to vote in the said Municipality at Elections for Members of the Legislative Assembly, and at Municipal Elections; and that the said List was first posted up in my office, at the Town of Peterborough, on the Twenty-first day of August, 1882, and remains there for inspection.

Electors are called upon to examine the said List, and if any omissions, or any other errors are found therein to take immediate proceedings to have said errors corrected according to law.

Dated at the Town of Peterborough, the 21st day of August, A.D., 1882.

CHARLES D. MACDONALD,
34-11n. Clerk of the said Municipality.

Provide yourselves with a bottle of PAIN-KILLER at this season of the year, when summer complaints are so prevalent; it is a prompt, safe, and sure cure. It may save you days of sickness, and you will find it is more valuable than gold. Be sure you buy the genuine PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER, and take no other mixture.

COBOURG, Ont., March 3, 1880.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first-class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry Davis Pain-Killer will be found in both.

Yours, &c., J. E. KENNEDY.

Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Our Civic Solons Hold Special Palaver.

Smith Street Railway Bridge—The Circus Lots and the Ontario & Quebec Railway—Miscellaneous Minor Matters.

On Thursday evening a special meeting of the Town Council was convened.

The following members were present: His Worship Mayor Smith in the chair: Messrs. Cahill, Alford, McNaughton, Kelly, Patterson, Menzies, Denne and Richardson.

The Mayor said he had convened the the meeting, to consider, communications relating to the Smith Street Railway Bridge, and the action taken by the Town Trust commissioners regarding the grant of certain lands to the Ontario & Quebec Railway Company.

SMITH STREET RAILWAY BRIDGE.

After various communications had been read by the clerk, that of J. C. Bailey, Chief Engineer of Construction of the Midland Railway, relating to objections to the bridge proposed to be built over Smith Street, by the company and expressing the hope that no obstruction would be made to the work of the company, was read.

A letter from Messrs Dennistoun & Hall was also read in re the same matter, which submitted that the engineers could build a level crossing of the legal grade, but could also furnish an overhead bridge, provided they were indemnified in respect of claims for damages that might be made.

Mr. Menzies did'nt think the town should be called on to furnish indemnity. If the company can legally cross the street let them do so.

Mr. Patterson objected to indemnifying anybody; the demand for the overhead bridge should be adhered to.

Mr. Rutherford thought the matter should be referred to the joint committee, and Mr. Richardson thought both town and county should look into the matter without delay. The level crossing would make a dangerous place, and he would favour an overhead bridge.

Mr. Kelly said an overhead bridge would raise the road too high.

On motion of Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Denne, the matter was referred to the joint committee of the town and county with power to take legal advice.

GRANT TO THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

A communication was submitted involving the following copy of a resolution adopted by the Town Trust Commissioners on August 15th, inst.

With regard to the report of the Finance Committee dated 22nd March, 1882, and E. B. Osler's telegram of the 7th inst., in reference to the block of land in the south end of the town, the Commissioners are willing to carry out the wishes of the Town Council and the Railway Company, and consent that the lot be given with the promise that a guarantee be given by the Company, that the lots shall be used for building purposes in connection with the Railway, and in the event of the Company's neglecting or failing to erect buildings within three years after date of the lease, or should the Company cease to use such lands at any time during the demised term, the land shall revert to the Town Trust.

Mr Rutherford upheld the course of the council at its last meeting, and was very severe on certain anonymous newspaper writers, who had had the presumption to criticise the action of the council.

At the request of Mr. Paterson the original correspondence and notes of proceedings in reference to the matter, were read.

Mr. Menzies favored making the provisions more binding.

Mr. Cahill said the Company should be bound to erect legitimate railway buildings and defended the council from newspaper attacks. The council had acted wisely in delaying action. The Town Trust had come to terms and had made conditions that the council had no power to make. He advised anonymous scribblers to sign their names and to find out what they were writing about.

Mr. Richardson wanted the filling in of Spaulding's Bay added to the conditions.

After considerable talk; on motion of Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Rutherford the communication of the Commissioners was received and the latter requested to carry out the offer contained in their resolution.

THE CEMETERY ROAD.

Mr. McNaughton called attention to the manner in which the action of the water was destroying the main road leading to the cemetery, and, added that prompt actions would be most economical as every day's delay would add to the expense of repairs.

MR. MACNAMARA'S PROTEST.

Mr. McNamara's protest against the railway being allowed to put down another track and switch in the neighborhood of his premises was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee, and also the engineer's letter, stating that he had given instructions to have damages, etc., made good.

SUPERFLUOUS BABY.

Mr. William Deline's communication stating that eighteen months ago Mary Toomey had left a child at his place and that he could afford to keep the little waif no longer, was referred to the Charity Committee.

BUTCHER'S LICENSE.

Mr. Robert Wainright's petition for a butcher's license, was on motion of Mr. Menzies seconded by Mr. Denne, granted.

LOCK'S SIDEWALK.

On motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McNaughton, the Street Inspector was authorized to expend $50 on the boundary line walk leading to the locks, provided a similar amount be contributed by parties interested.

PARK STREET DRAIN.

Mr. Patterson brought up the question of the obstruction of the drain on the lower end of Park street. The stagnant water thus produced had caused a good deal of sickness. Considerable discussion ensued and the Street Inspector was directed to notify parties obstructing the drain to remove obstructions at once.

THE HAMILTON'S CREEK CURVE.

A communication from Mr. Kingan regarding the dangerous nature of the connection being made of the Omemee branch with the main Midland track, provoked a good deal more talk. Mr. Kingan was heard in reference to the dangerous nature of the curve near the Protestant Home.

Mr. Paterson agreed that this was a dangerous place. The Street and Bridge Committee had the matter under consideration and when the company furnished as requested, plans of the crossings, connections, etc, the Committee would be in a position to act.

Council adjourned.

County of Peterborough.

The Latest Stock and Grain Statistics.

We are indebted to the July number of the agricultural statistics for the Province of Ontario, compiled by the efficient secretary, Mr. A. Blue, from returns made to the Ontario Bureau of Industries. The following is the summary for this county:

DUMMER.

COUNCIL MEETING.—Council met at old Town Hall on August 11th, 1882. All the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The following appropriations were made on boundaries, conditional on the Councils concerned granting similar sums. Between Dummer and Asphodel $50, under Thos. Webster and Moses Humphries. Between Dummer and Douro $10, under P. Gilroy, south of lot 10, and $10, under Joseph Edwards from lot 11 to 16. On motion, the agreement made between the Committees appointed by Councils of Dummer and Douro respecting amounts to be expended on Boundary was confirmed. Robert McCracken was appointed Township collector at a salary of $60. By-laws were passed, one to close a road on part of lots 12 and 13 in 2nd con., one to make appropriations for Boundaries and to appoint Commissioners for the same, and one to provide for the levy and collection of taxes for 1882. Rates are struck as follows: For County, including equivalent for schools 3 and 7-10 mills. For Township purposes 1¼ mills. Amounts levied for Schools, No 2, $287.36; No 3, $481.74; No 4, $277.74; No 5, $227.49; Union No 6, Dummer part, $149.92; Asphodel part $161.26; No 9, $253.20; No 11, $205. Separate School $16.88.

"Twenty-four years' experience," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the generative organs is to repair the waste by giving Brain and Nerve Foods, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cents per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $5.00, addressed to Mack's Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money, if the treatment does not effect a cure. See advertisement in another column. 34-4t

It is to be hoped that the poisonous Ague medicines have had their day. Arsenic and quinine are not desirable commodities to carry about in one's system, even for the sake of temporarily displacing the malarial poison which produces Fever and Ague. Ayer's Ague Cure is a sure antidote for the Ague, and is perfectly harmless, leaving the system in as good condition as before the Ague was contracted.

Delays are dangerous, particularly in Kidney Disease, so take at once DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE, and obtain relief from all your sufferings. Your Druggist keeps it, J. McKee, Peterboro. 33-3t

MIDLAND DISTRICT DASHES.

The Cream of Occurrences Skimmed from Contemporary Columns.

BELLEVILLE.

The saw-log drive down the Moira this season numbers about 400,000 pieces.

Mr. Robertson's election expenses in West Hastings amounted to $274.31.

The sixth contest for the Hastings Rifle Association Prize took place on Friday. Lieutenant Hastings and private Donald, of the 15th, tied, with a score of 78, and the former won on shooting off the tie.

BOBCAYGEON.

Monday being the civic holiday in Peterborough, says the Independent, Messrs. Ballegheen, Alexander, Jamieson, and a few others of that town, chartered the steamer Victoria, and brought a party of nearly a hundred for a days outing on our charming lakes.

Everybody in Bobcaygeon, including Mr. Smiff seems to be helping every body else at the only business at present apparently carried on in the place—pleasure seeking.

OMEMEE.

A man named Thomas Fortune, who had been working on the missing link lately, started to walk to Lindsay on Friday while drunk. He was found at night lying beside the railroad track with one leg crushed to a jelly from the knee down. He was removed to Omemee, and this afternoon Dr. Cornwall amputated the lower part of the leg, assisted by Dr. Degrasi, of Lindsay. The patient is in a very low condition and his recovery is doubtful. His family resides near Keene. He has since died—on Monday.

PORT HOPE.

Mr. Jonathan Byrans, of Manvers, dropped dead on Wednesday. Apoplexy was the cause of the trouble.

Mr. T. M. Henry, of Napanee, B. A., Toronto University, has been appointed to the Mathematical Mastership of the High School.

Mr. E. L Byington, M. A,, Victoria College, formerly a Port Hope High School pupil, has been selected for the Normal School mastership of Winnipeg.

A distressing accident occurred to Capt. John Wright, on Monday afternoon, while unloading coal from a vessel. In attending to the donkey engine, his foot was caught in the machinery, and badly crushed. An amputation of his toes was considered necessary.

A match was played at Port Hope on Thursday between the Beaver Lacrosse Club of Port Hope and the Beavers of Cobourg for a silver cup presented by the Sons of England. The prize was won by the Cobourg team in three straight games. Time, 9 minutes, 15 minutes, and 1 minute respectively.

COBOURG.

Mr. E. L. Byington, B. A., of Cobourg, late Master of the English Department of the Collegiate Institute, has been appointed Principal of the Normal School in Winnipeg.

On Monday afternoon a deplorable accident took place at G. T. R. station, by which Ponsonby Munt, a lad thirteen years of age lost his life. He intended to go a short distance west, and for this purpose attempted to climb up the brake-ladder of a freight car while the train was in motion. He missed his hold, fell between the wheels, and in a moment his body was almost cut in two.

The World says that from the Kingston Daily Whig we learn that old Dave Smith, the notorious Castleton abortionist, who was sent from Cobourg assizes, after commutation of capital sentence, in 1877, died in the penitentiary on Monday evening of this week. He was buried by star-light the same night. Thus ends a career of degradation and crime through which, would to God he had been the only sufferer.

The World regrets to record the death of Rev. Vincent B. Howard, for many years well known as a retired Methodist Minister in that town. Though for a long time suffering from various ailments, Mr. Howard was comparatively well up to within a few days of his death. On Wednesday of last week, while at dinner, he was stricken with paralysis; and gradually grew worse until Sunday afternoon, when, without a struggle, his spirit peacefully passed away.

A Lacrosse match with of a $50 cup for the winning club is a feature of the Central Exhibition, Cobourg.

LINDSAY.

Mr. James Hamilton shipped on Wennesday another carload of wagons, buggies and a fine 'bus to his agent in Brandon Man.

The sporting editor of the Post suggests that it would make an attractive feature of the fall show, to be held next month in Lindsay, if the directors of the society were to offer a few prizes for speedy horses. The track on the ground is well fitted for a race and it would draw a large crowd.

On Sunday morning the local True Blue lodge, No. 38, assembled at their lodge room Dobson's block, and marched to the Methodist church, where Rev. J. S. Clarke preached an appropriate sermon, having been requested to do so by the members of the lodge.

The addition built in rear of the Baptist church is approaching completion. A fine, comfortable room 28x30 will give much needed accommodation as a Sabbath school. Provision has been made for vestry rooms. The whole improvement reflects credit on the good feeling of the congregation.

The Post has heard that an order for the construction of the new iron bridge for the Midland railway has been given to a Toronto bridge company, and that the material is being made ready as fast as possible. The bridge will cross the river east of the town, and will form a part of the new arrangement connecting the Omemee and Wick links.

The prize lists for the South Victoria fall show are printed and will be ready for circulation in the beginning of next week. The date of the show is fixed for Friday and Saturday, 29th and 30th of September next at the agricultural grounds in Lindsay The list of prizes is liberal and the indications are that the show will be a large and successful one.

GAS WORKS.—The work of laying the pipes along the various thoroughfares is nearly completed. Work on the gas house is also being pushed forward rapidly. The tank arrived last week and is at present lying at the south ward station.

Mr. Dunn, of Welland, has been appointed the new nigh school teacher in the Lindsay school. Mr. Dunn comes well recommended, is a gold medallist, and will we have no doubt prove an efficient classical master.

The new Lindsay Cricket Club played a match game with Haliburton Wednesday and was beaten by nineteen runs. Lindsay has also a new base ball club called the "Independents."

Great BARGAINS in every line

TURNBULL & GRAY

—BARGAINS—

In Table Linens, Brown Hollands, Towelling, Black (All Wool) Cashmeres, Black Lustres, Ducks, Denims, and Flannels. All Very CHEAP!

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR

A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter, so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.

☞And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞If you cannot get the "Improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense.

AS THE WIND BLOWS.

The wind blows north, the wind blows south,
The wind blows east and west;
No matter how the free wind blow,
Some ship will find it best;
Some one out on the wide, wide sea—
Hearts with a happy air.
Ho! shipmates, ho! set all the sails,
The wind is blowing fair.

One ship sails out int othe east,
Another to the west,
One has to struggle fierce and hard,
By winds and waves oppressed,
Under bare masts, tossed to and fro;
By rain and soft spray wet;
The other flies before the gale
With all her white sails set.

"O wind, O wind, why dost thou blow,
And cut to ocean roar,
When I would steer my little bark
Towards some pleasant shore?
What honor will it to thee,
If down beneath the wave
My simple craft and I shall find
A cold, forgotten grave?"

"O foolish one, why wilt thou steer
Against the mighty gale?
There are ten thousand ships afloat
Besides thy tiny sail.
If you would float o'er pleasant seas
Oppose my will no more—
When I blow shoreward, then do thou
Sail also to the shore.

"Yet if thy will with mine must strive
Do thou the best thou can;
Against my might set all thy skill,
And fight me like a man.
Keep by the wheel, steer steadily,
Keep watch above, below;
Such hearts will make the ports they seek
No matter what winds blow."

Farm, Garden and Household.

Lawns.

More care is required to make fine, velvety lawns than is usually supposed. It is necessary to have plenty of rich loam, sufficient well-rotted manure or good fertilizer, and the best of seed. If the subsoil be sandy or gravelly, a greater depth of loam is needed, or the bottom must be partially puddled with either clay or peat. If not, any manure or top-dressing of any description soaks away and disappears entirely.

Clean Around Your Apple Trees.

The soil for some distance from the stems of orchard trees should be cleaned and pulverized previous to the snows of winter; otherwise, in many localities, much injury may be done by mice eating the bark. These animals find a comfortable shelter and cover for their depredations in the rough and decaying stems of weeds, and they are rarely troublesome where the ground is made clean and smooth.

Pasture Grass.

The yield of grass in most pastures might be doubled by keeping the weeds out of them, and by not allowing the grass to be cropped too short. A large amount of the fertilizing material in land is allowed to be absorbed by worthless weeds and thistles. Grass should take the place of these, and would if they were kept weeded out. On a late visit to Kentucky we found most luxuriant pastures with scarcely a weed in them. This was soon accounted for as we saw gangs of men pulling out the weeds. Where they are very thick, as they are in most pastures, the mowing machine should be freely used, allowing none of the weeds to go to seed.

The Farm use of Salt.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman recommends the use of salt in liberal quantities to destroy grubs in grass and potato lands. He says that the error of those who have had recourse to salt for the extinction of grubs has been a too scanty application of it. Grass or potatoes, he affirms, will grow luxuriantly under the application of a ton and a half per acre. This quantity will kill all manner of grubs and worms, preserve potatoes from scab and other excrescences, and prevent rot. He would apply one half this quantity in the fall, and the rest in the spring. Half this dose, or even two or three barrels, though not as effectual, will accomplish much; but the man who is contented with the use of two or three bushels per acre only makes a fool of himself. "Do something or nothing."

Imported Farm Horses.

On the 2nd inst., the steamship Buenos Ayrean landed 110 Clydesdales, Cleveland Bay horses, and Shetland ponies at the port of Quebec. They were selected from the studs of the principal breeders in Scotland and England by Messrs. Banks & Harding, of Indiana, and Messrs. Power Bros. of Pennsylvania; Galbraith Bros. of Janesville, Wisconsin; Mr. Taylor of Ontario, and other dealers who had smaller lots. They are all intended for breeding purposes, and part are to be exhibited at fairs in Canada and the United States. Prince George of Wales, of the batch, is a noted prize Clydesdale; weight, 2,100 lbs. He was sired by Drew's Prince of Wales, also a prize. A two-year-old named Music, one of the Champion two-year-old fillies of Scotland this Season, weighs 1,785 lbs. These two are owned by Messrs. Galbraith Bros. Messrs. Banks & Harding have a mare purchased from Beattie, of Annan, accompanied by by a yearling out of her, got by Prince of Wales.

Save the Hay.

Corn will be scarce and high this winter. That will send up the price of pork and beef to high figures. The only way to take the proper advantages of that condition of things is to save all the hay possible, to help make up the deficiency. Scarcity of corn will make high prices for all kinds of feeding stuffs, including hay. Therefore, whether or not one has a home demand for hay, for feeding, he should cut all the grass that Nature gives him this year. It is too often the case with Ontario farmers that they save only the cream of the grass crop, leaving that which is more scant to fall down and go waste. Every farmer this year should cut clean the thick and thin grass alike, cure it as well as the season will allow, and store in stack or barn for winter use or sale. Saving the products usually wasted, means the difference between large and small profits.

Shrinkage of Grain.

Farmers rarely gain by holding on to their grain after it is fit for market, when the shrinkage is taken into account. Wheat from the time it is threshed will shrink two quarts to the bushel, or six per cent. in six months, in the most favorable circumstances. Hence ninety-four cents a bushell for wheat when first threshed in August, is as good, taking into account the shrinkage alone, as one dollar in the following February.

Corn shrinks much more from the time it is husked. One hundred bushels of ears, as they come from the field in November, will be reduced to not far from eighty; so that forty cents a bushel for corn in the ear, as it comes from the field, is as good as fifty cents in March, shrinkage only being taken into account.

In the case of potatoes—taking those that rot and are otherwise lost, together with the shrinkage—there is but little doubt that between October and June the loss to the owner is not less than thirty-three per cent.

This estimate is taken on the basis of interest at seven per cent., and takes no account of loss by vermin.

Shipment of Thoroughbreds.

The Messrs. Geary, of London, Ont., have made large importations of Polled Angus and Hereford cattle, also of Lincoln and Shropshire sheep. Concerning their cattle purchases, the Liverpool Drovers' Journal says: "In the matter of neat cattle, Mr. Geary was largely aided by the ripe judgment and great experience of Mr. Hugh Nelson, of Liverpool. In company with this gentleman, nearly all the famous herds of the three kingdoms were visited, and purchases made of Hereford bulls and heifers. The cattle are splendid in quality, possessing all the characteristic points that have made their breed so celebrated. The Polled Angus cattle particularly are among the best to be had in Scotland, and their 'black but comely' figures would delight the most fastidious connoisseur. Taken altogether, this shipment, in point of excellence and usefulness, is quite remarkable, and will be a distinct and valued addition to the district they go to."

Little Farm Facts.

Fat is of no value as manure.

For pickling, the white spine is considered one of the best cucumbers.

Hungarian grass, or millet, should not be seeded until the soil is quite warm.

It is asserted that nine-tenths of the foot and ankle ailments of horses are traceable to standing on dry plank floors.

Deeply-rooted crops, as wheat, red clover and mangel, are those best fitted to resist drouth, while shallow-rooted crops, as grass and turnips, are those that suffer most from it.

Professor Atwater states that the best ration for a cow in full flow of milk is 100 parts of corn meal, (by weight) 80 parts bran, and 65 parts decorticated (huskless) cotton seed meal.

Horses are social animals, particularly so in the case of young horses. They thrive best when in the society of others, hence the the advantage of pasturing several in one field when practicable.

The beef of Hereford cattle is peculiarly tender and fine grained. For quantity as well as quality of meat they are not excelled. The capability of the breed as quick feeders and economical producers of meat is unquestionable.

A farmer reports that a dressing of eight bushels per acre of salt to land badly infested with white grubs, enabled him to raise good crops of corn for three years past, which was impossible previous to this application.

A reader requests a remedy for excessive sweating in horses. This is usually caused by feeding too much corn, and hence the best remedy is to diminish the quantity of corn and vary the feed as much as possible. Some horses, however, are constitutionally subject to sweats.

The best treatment for a mare in foal is to give her moderate exercise daily, care being taken against over-exertion. The food should be good clover and timothy hay, well cut and salted, ground oats and a bran mash mixed with potatoes or other roots. Feed some corn or meal, but not too much, in order to guard against milk fever. See that the colt promptly relieves the udder soon as possible after birth.

Late-cut hay, ordinary straw and other coarse fodders are unquestionably improved by cooking, as it softens the woody fibre and dissolves portions of the starch; and corn meal and other foods rich in starch are also improved by cooking. But in considering the question of economy, although this will pay on a large scale, it is not likely to do so for a few animals, for it costs nearly as much to cook for ten as for fifty head of cattle.

Household Hints.

A TIN-LINED BUTTER TUB makes a first-rate cake-box, or by sawing off the wood on the out-side or putting on a short wire handle you will have a very serviceable tin pail. This pail is particularly good to use on the stove to heat water in, etc.

A NICE TOMATO DISH—One of the nicest and simplest ways of dressing tomatoes is to cut them in halves, lay them in a baking dish, cover each piece with some bread crumbs, a little pepper and salt and some finely-chopped parsely, pour a little oil over, and bake in a good oven.

RASPBERRY JAM—Three fourths pound sugar to every pound of fruit. Put the fruit on alone, or with the addition of one pint currant juice to every four pounds raspberries. Boil half an hour, mashing and stirring well; add the sugar and cool twenty minutes more. Blackberry jam is very good made in the same way, only omitting the currant juice.

A STRONG, GOOD-SIZED TABLE is almost a necessity in the cellar. Jars that are too heavy to be lifted on and off shelves may be set on the table. Many cellars are sometimes infested with ants and other bugs. One way to keep them from crawling over the jars is to take the tin cans in which peaches or tomatoes came, set the legs of the table in the cans and fill them half full of water.

CURRANT JAM.—Pick free from stems and leaves, weigh and crush; put in a porcelain kettle and place on the back of the stove where they will gradually heat; then let it boil twenty minutes and add sugar in the proportion of three fourths pound to a pound of the fruit. Boil one-half hour longer, stir it most of the time. When done put into small jars or glasses and either seal or secure like jelly with paper.

BOILED CHICKEN—Stuff the chicken as for toasting. A good dressing is made by chopping half a pint of oysters and mixing them with bread crumbs, butter, pepper, salt, thyme, and wet with milk or water. Baste about the chicken a thin cloth, the inside of which has been dredged with flour, and put it to boil in cold water with a tea-spoonful of salt in it. Skim while boiling. For a moderate sized chicken an hour and a half or two hours will be sufficient, serve oyster sauce, as you prefer.

COFFEE GROUNDS AS A FERTILIZER.—A lady of San Francisco lately received some plants from Mexico, and with the plants came the advice to fertilize them with waste coffee and coffee grounds. This was done, and the result was so satisfactory that the same treatment was tried on roses, and the effect was a healthy and vigorous growth, and more and better flowers and of richer colors.

Geo. Calvert's Crop Comments.

MR. EDITOR,—As I generally take a trip to Peterborough two or three times during the season, and as I was brought up a farmer and gardener, I will give you an account of the crops from Ops to Peterborough. As I have travelled the same road for the last twenty-five years I might say, I never saw such golden crops as this season. Every kind of grain seems to be a double crop. Really, the wheat is first-rate. There are several varieties, but I should judge that the White Russian should have the preference. However, that is a question for the farmer to decide. All the wheat is good; no rust or mildew. Oats seem to be far above the average. Potatoes are a superior crop. I cannot say anything as to the barley and fall wheat, as it is all housed. I think amongst the wisest class of farmers, the barley that was not in shocks has been considerably discolored, but the shocks, well put up, are all right. I think on the whole, the barley will be rather light in the grain.

Now about the root crop. This crop is good, but there are not many to be seen along this road. It is a shame that the farmers don't plant one field of Indian Corn, for I consider it the best paying crop I raise.

I must give your pathmaster in Smith great credit for cutting thistles and weeds on the roadside, and also great credit to the ladies for buying my sweet corn, cabbage, and apples.

I think I will visit Peterborough again when my tomatoes are ripe; I expect to have two or three hundred bushels.

Yours, truly,
GEO. CALVERT.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of MRS. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

MRS. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free at the office. 25

Decline of Man.

Nervous Weakness, Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility, cured by "Wells' Health Renewer." $1.

It Has Stood the Test of Time.

For twenty-five years has Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry been before the people, and its popularity is to-day greater than ever, because it has proved reliable in the treatment of all forms of Bowel Complaint incident to the summer season. 34-2t

Almost all women will give a sympathizing hearing to men who are in love. Be they ever so old they grow young again in that conversation and renew their own early time. Men are not quite so generous.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally. It acts directly upon the system and the muscous surface of the system. Price 75 cents. For sale by John McKee, Druggist, Peterborough. 34.2t

Don't you think I have a good face for the stage?" asked a young lady with histronic aspirations. "I don't know about the stage," replied her gallant companion, "but you have a lovely face for a buss!"

Robert Lubbucu, Cedar Rapids, writes: I have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil both for myself and family for diptheria, with the very best result. I regard it as the best remedy for this disease, and would use no other.

"It is a great art to do the right thing at the right time." The person subject to derangement of the kidneys or liver has a protective duty to perform in purchasing a package of Kidney-Wort. It invigorates these organs, and by its cathartic and diuretic effect, cleanses the whole system of all bad humors.

A young man had entertained a passion for a young lady, but was so bashful he could not tell his love. He had courage, however, to put up the askings. The young lady was indignant, and gave her lover a severe lecture. He replied that it was easy to go again to the parson and forbid the banns. After a moment's pause she replied: "If it has been done it is a pity that the shilling should be thrown away."

Scrofula is a depraved condition of the system often hereditary, and characterized by indolent tumours, glandular affections, bad blood and a low condition of vitality that tends towards consumption, which is really scrofula of the lungs. Burdock Blood Bitters cure scrofulous diseases from a pimple to an abscess, by purifying the blood, correcting the secretions and giving a healthy tone to each organ. 34-2t

CONSUMPTION IS CURABLE in the early stages, not by stimulants nor poisons, which substitute one form of irritation for another, both of which nature must get rid of before rallying, but by food—the only remedy. The waste is the result of faulty nutrition, not limited to the lungs but a systematic starvation. Here use WHEELER'S ELIXIR of PHOSPHATES and CALISAYA to secure digestion and assimilation, and if you have sense enough to persist until the balance of outcome and income is restored you may get well.

SANDERSON'S

RUMMAGING.

"Kitty! Kitty!" cried her aunt, "what are you doing in the garret? Come down, child; do. There's not one thing there you would care about, and I do hate to have people rummaging about my things," she added in a lower tone, quite unheard by her niece, who ran gaily down.

"Oh! Aunty, such treasures! Are you going to sit down now? I'll bring my work."

And she ran into her room to brush off the dust from her black dress.

"Aunt Catty," she began, after they were seated in the neat, bare parlour, which Kitty contemplated with an inward shudder, "I wish you would tell me about great aunt Katharine."

"What shall I tell you about her?"

"Oh! everything. Why she was so queer and unkind to you and papa; and what became of the beautiful old place and furniture; and why you, poor thing, were cut off with a shilling?"

"In the first place," said Miss Randall rather grimly, "she never was unkind to your father. She never meant to leave her money to him. She gave him a good education, and he was a man; and what more could he want? she thought and I think too. But the place; why, do tell, Kitty Randall, if you didn't know it went to the Masons. Jane Mason was her other niece, and I had a large family of children; and I suppose it was all right. But as for me who had always lived with her from a baby—well, I suppose we were too much alike. If she nagged I answered back—spoke my mind instead of holding my tongue. However, I'll try to be just to poor aunt Katharine. I don't believe in my heart that she would have let these trifle influence her will, though in the long years they do turn love very like hate. But it was more than that. I suppose I may as well tell you, Kitty, I was engaged to the wrong man.

"Aunty! you engaged! Why did nobody ever tell me about it?"

"Who was there to tell you, Kitty? Your poor father was ill so long he would not remember the past—my past at any-rate?"

"But do tell me all now, dear Aunt Catty?"

"There is not much to interest you, child. I was thirty, and plain as a hedge fence, and lovers had never troubled me much; so, when this man—never mind his name—began to make up to me, and seemed to care so much, and admire and respect, you know, why he made a fool of me—a perfect fool.

"Aunt Katharine hated him She did everything to induce me to break it off. I couldn't think why. He was a very personable man, my dear, and made both his other wives happy; and I was just set on him, I am ashamed to say.

"Finally she told me all. It was an uncle of this very man, the same name, even, who had ruined her life, and made her the queer, crabbed woman she was. She was only sixteen when he persuaded her into a secret marriage, to be concealed until she was of age, or grandpa could be brought round; but before that time her fine young gentleman had settled his fate by committing forgery and being sentenced for twenty years.

"Aunt Katharine never owned the marriage, though she might have got a divorce easily enough, and she gave him a large sum to promise in writing never to claim her; and she burned the certificate. And as for letting me marry the nephew of this man, and having him drop in upon us at any time, why, she wouldn't, and she couldn't, and she ended by declaring that James Lavater (there the name is out) wanted my money, and not me, and that not one cent of her money should ever go to forgers and fortune-hunters.

"Matters didn't mend. Neither gave up. We couldn't; we were born so. It was just as impossible to either as to sit crooked or to make our hair curl: and we were just alike. I felt sorry for Aunty, I must say; but I saw no reason why her bad luck should keep me from happiness.

Well, Kitty, it wasn't many weeks after that that Aunty died. Died in a moment, of heart disease. Nobody knew she had it, unless maybe herself, for she had looked strange and shaken for some days, and I guess she felt it coming on. At the funeral I saw a stranger—an old man—standing close by the grave. You'd have thought he was chief mourner, and James Lavater—my James—went up to him, looking very red; and they walked off together, talking very low.

"That was Aunty's husband. I found it out arterward, and that he had been hovering about the neighborhood for a week or two. And the next thing that came out was that the Mason's were to have the old place and furniture; but the sixty thousand dollars which were to have gone to me were nowhere. Aunty had drawn that whole sum out of the Government securities a little while before her death, and it was all gone.

"Of course I knew the good-for-nothing husband had seen her, and either frightened or coaxed her into giving it to him. He left the country right afterward."

"How perfectly ouraegous!" exclaimed Kitty. "Did she leave you nothing.

"My dear, she left me a trunk and some old clothes in it. One dress in particular she stated she hoped I would wear when I married. She needn't have troubled herself to write that bitter sneer in the new will she made only two days before her death. Of course you know I never married. Aunt Katharine judged James Lavater aright. Perhaps there is something in a name. After home and fortune went the lover soon followed. Never mind the details.

"I went away just then as a hospital nurse, Kitty; and it did me good. You know I had a little property from my mother, and I came back to her old neighbourhood, when the war was over, and hired this house. I have twelve hundred a year to live on, and peace and independence, if nothing else. I don't say I have not been lonely and sad, Kitty; but if you can content yourself here and put up with my fidgetty ways, there'll be some brightness in your old Aunty's life.

Kitty felt the appeal, and responded with a caress; but answered in a hesitating voice:

"You know, darling Aunty, you are all I have to cling to now, and this seems my right place; but—but—I must speak frankly."

"Freely and fully, my dear. I like plain speaking."

"In the first place, Aunty, the money question. I must pay my share."

Aunty looked thoughtful, then nodded. "I see dear. You would be most welcome to what I have; but I know what it is to be born independent. You shall do as you like."

"Oh! you dear sensible thing," cried Kitty, giving her a hug. "Now that is comfortable. Let us have it all over at once. You say you have twelve hundred a year. I will put in another twelve hundred, and we can live nicely on that, in a very small way. Can't we?"

"Kitty, Kitty, that's twice too much."

"Not one cent, Aunty. I couldn't possibly live on less. We will have two maids, and make a pretty garden, with vines and roses."

"Earwigs and slugs," remarked Aunty grimly. "And the maids will quarrel. Well, go on. You haven't got through, I can see."

"Just one thing more," floundered Kitty. "This house (don't feel bad, dear) is so hopelessly ugly."

"Ugly! Well, I declare. Kitty Randell, do you mean to drive me crazy with modern art? Are you going to tack up Japanese fans and idiotic paper parasols all over the walls? Must I have a row of kitchen pie plates on the mantel shelf, and stick a sunflower in the middle of the dinner table? Are you an esthetic young lady, Kitty?"

Kitty laughed heartily.

"Don't be afraid, Aunty. I only want my earwigs and slugs; and the maids shan't quarrel; but I want some low chairs, and a pretty little table and lamp, and a place to put my piano, and my various pictures and pretty things. And I want to send away this dreadful stove and have an open wood fire. I saw some beauties of andirons and a brass fender in the attic, Aunty."

"Wood fires make a lot of dirt, Kitty."

"The new girl can sweep it up. Let us put this carpet in your room, and stain the floor and put down rugs. It's so much cleaner. I see you are going to say 'Yes,' you dear. There is just one thing more. I saw a trunk in the attic—the trunk, I guess; and a most beautiful old silk dress—the dress, Aunty?"

"Yes Kitty, the dress. What now? Am I to wear it to church, with a peacock feather in my hat?"

"Not quite. I was only thinking what a lovely sofa-cover it would make."

"Kitty! a pink and white brocade!"

"Not exactly. Have it dyed."

"I never thought of that," said Miss Randall, opening her eyes very wide, "it's not a bad idea. A good, sensible brown."

"Or a soft olive or lavender," suggested Kitty. "You must choose a pretty paper first, you know, and then cover to harmonize. Oh! you dear, good Aunty! I do believe you are going to let me have my way, and turn this house into a distractingly lovely little home."

"Distracting, indeed!" sighed Aunt Catty. "But—yes, Kitty. You are young, and have the tastes of your times. I'll not thwart you. If you sit by the fire, I shan't miss my neat little stove, perhaps. If you are happy, maybe I'll get to like the new-fangled ways."

"Do let me kiss you, dear Aunt Catty. I am so glad. I wish I could set to work this moment."

"Well dear, you can. There is that brocade. Rip it up."

"Just the thing!" cried Kitty, delighted; but her Aunt stopped her.

"Only, child, don't rummage. I do hate to have my things tossed and tumbled about. There's nothing in the garret but old broken things, no good at all. Promise me to leave them all alone."

"All right, Aunty." Kitty ran gayly up stairs. She meant to be very good; but she could not help just looking at this old screen, delightfully capable of restoration, or that old clock, banished for its irregular life, but which, when set in order, would look so well in the hall. The hall! Kitty's countenance fell. How could anything really be done to such a poky, common little house? Kitty sighed, as she lifted the heavy brocade, and wished these decorations might be applied to a somewhat worthier home—something picturesque and artistic.

However, she had gained much, and it was with a bright face she stood before her Aunt, laden with the old-fashioned finery.

"See, Aunty, it is a perfect beauty I brought down this lovely scarf, too. It would make such a table-cover. Did you know it was there?"

"I never took one thing out of the trunk," said Miss Randall, gravely "It was a bitter gift to me, and I scarcely know why I did not leave it behind at the Masons'. What a weight it is! I have always supposed it was her wedding dress. I think it will be a real relief to me to send the stuff to the dye-pot. The mere thought of its pink-and-white flouriness has always turned me a little sick! Just look how it is lined throughout, and what a shape!" Aunty Catty seized the scissors and began to rip vigorously.

"I wonder," she ejaculated, "whether Aunt Katharine really thought I would make a guy of myself by wearing that thing to be married in!"

"Oh! no, Aunty, you have had to rip and alter it, of course; but, with white satin, you know, and plenty of tulle, it might have been made lovely."

"With my yellow cheeks!" said Aunt Catty, with a snort. She ripped on.

"KITTY!"

Kitty, who had been daintily detaching the old lace border from neck and sleeves, looked up, startled, to see Aunt Catty sitting perfectly limp and pallid, staring at the silk, from which protruded various stiff, greenish corners. What was it? Kitty's mind was quick. She jumped up, she tore recklessly at the silk; the linings fell apart. Miss Randall sat paralyzed.

They fell around her. Greenbacks without number! Fifty dollars, one hundred dollars—by twenties and forties they came; and Kitty, growing methodical, gathered them all up and put them into Aunty's lap.

"I do believe the whole sixty thousand are here!" she cried.

They were. Sleeves, waist, all were pulled apart, and the carefully padded bills extracted. Just over the heart was stitched in a little note:

"Dear Niece,—

"Think kindly of me, if you can. If your James Lavater is a better man than mine, you will find the real worth of this my wedding dress. If he is what I think him, you are well quit of him, and may thank me. In any case, you are sure to find the money soon, for it wouldn't be you not to rip up and dye my old silk and make it of some use. Niece, may you be a happier woman—whether maid, wife, or widow—than your unfortunate

"AUNT KATHARINE."

Poor Aunt Catty; she could hardly recover the shock and surprise; but when she did it had a wonderfully softening effect upon her. A dozen bitter little angularities and queernesses which had grown out of her time of indignity and disappointment dropped away at once and for ever. She looked younger and sweeter than she had ever done, her niece thought, when she emerged, at last, from a long cry behind her handkerchief, cheered by the knowledge that Aunt Katharine had not insulted and forsaken her, as all those years she had thought; but had in reality saved her from what might have been an unhappy marriage, and applied the test to a heart which shrank back in good time, thank Heaven! And now, instead of a soured, forgotten old maid, lonely and drear, as she had considered herself, she waked to the truth that she was a rich, healthy, independent woman, with a lovely niece to pet and spoil and delight in; a niece who was wildly dancing around the room, waving a greenback over her head, and crying, with merry triumph:

"Aunt Catty, never say again that you hate rummaging."

BEWARE OF THEM.—A good article that has achieved success, and attained a world-wide reputation by its true merits and wonderful result, is always imitated. Such is the case with Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Already unprincipled parties are endeavoring to delude an unsuspecting public, by offering imitations of this most fortunate discovery. Do not be deceived but insist on having the true remedy, and take no other. Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store. Large size, $1.00.

GOING TO HIS GRAVE.—There he goes again direct to a saloon and pours down another heavy draught of strong drink, not so much because his appetite demands it, but for the artficial buoyancy it produces—the after effects of which leave him more miserable than before; it is this dreadful practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves. A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of temperance—the best and purest of all medicines,—Electric Bitters. Sold by Taylor & Macdonald at 50 cents.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

THE WARY SNIPE is now a legitimate target for fine, shot and—fine shooters.

THE EXHIBITION of the Peterborough Horticultural Society takes place in Bradburn's Hall, on Thursday, Sept. 7th.

THE FRAME of the Pulp Mills is up and ready for the roof. Everything is going on smoothly and smartly.

AN EMPLOYEE of Hazlitt's saw mill had his arm broken and badly bruised by being crushed between two lumber cars, on Friday.

THE ORIENTAL now captures the cream of the travelling public with a gorgeous new 'bus, built to order by St. Charles, of Belleville.

QUOITS.—In the late pitch with the Campbellford quoiters, the home team, Messrs. Geo. Brown, D. Galletly, Fred. Mitchell, Alex. Reid and John Rose were beaten by 56 points.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.—The session of the Collegiate Institute begins on Monday, Sept. 4th. The 1st falling on a Friday, making it hardly worth while to resume classes on that day.

THE FIRE BRIGADE BAND is steadily improving. Their last open air concert brought out some splendid music. Their new instruments are on the way here from England.

A WISE SELECTION.—The Committee on Appointments evidently made a wise selection in appointing Messrs. Pidgeon and Adams to the police force. They have fallen into their duties readily and quietly, unobtrusively and efficiently fulfil their trust.

CRICKET.—The match between Peterborough and Haliburton did not come off last Saturday, as announced. After having made all preparation, the home club received a telegram at 9 o'clock the night before, stating that the Haliburton club could'nt keep their engagement. Rather shabby treatment, unless a first-class excuse is available.

INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATIONS.—We have received information that Mr. R. R. Hall has successfully passed the intermediate examination, his name having been accidentally omitted from the list furnished the newspapers. Messrs. Michael O'Brien and Arthur Emerson passed the first-class non-professional examination.

THE OSHAWA LACROSSE CLUB adopt the formal mode of issuing a challenge to the Peterborough's through the sporting columns of the Toronto dailies. They may succeed better in putting on style on paper than in the field against Peterborough. We hope another match game will be arranged. The home team never played with a decenter and more gentlemanly dozen of lacrosse players.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada, for the week ending August 12th, 1882, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $6173.43; freight, $13951.92; total, $20128.35, as compared with $16577.65, for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $3550.70; and the aggregate traffic to date is $608-029.77, being an increase of $153032.94, over 1881.

ST. PAUL'S S. S. EXCURSION.—This day's outing was a most decided success. The party left the Midland Station at 7 a.m., in six crowded coaches. There were almost a thousand tickets sold, but very many were not used. The weather was pleasant, and the excursion and picnic were productive of only pleasure. Returned home at 7 o'clock all safe and sound.

SEPARATE SCHOOL EXCURSION.—The Separate School excursion proceeded from Peterborough to Hastings, on Monday last, starting at 7 A.M. There was a very large attendance. The day and the place and the whole affair were simply delightful. Dancing for those so disposed—sports and games with prizes for the youngsters, and enjoyment galore for all others. All returned home safe and happy by seven o'clock.

CRICKET. In explanation of the defeat of the home team in its match with Port Hope, the following from the Cobourg Sentinel-Star may be offered:—Three of Cobourg's players, who were engaged by the Port Hopers, contributed the following figures: Kennedy, 12, 20; Fairbanks, 12, 2; White, 18, 21. Out of a total of 179 runs, our boys made 101. Port Hope is welcome to all the bogus laurels it can win by such unsportsmanlike means.

PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENING. The close season for the small boy draws on apace. On Friday, Sept. 1st, the public schools of the town open for the transaction of business. As promotions will be made on that day and classes arranged for the term, parents will perceive the necessity of securing the attendance of pupils. The teachers have been scattered far and wide seeking rest and renewed energy for the months of toil that lie before them—to at once clean their nerves for the impending target practice of the young idea. Some have been out camping, some have been renewing the associations of childhood at the homestead, and some have crossed the wide ocean. They begin to gather in in readiness for the opening day. Children, too, who have been pestering grandpapa and grandmamma and have been well spoiled in reprisal, begin to flock to the home circle. Next Friday week, "trouble begins."

ELECTION EXPENSES.—The election expenses of Mr. W. E. Fleetwood, Esq., in West Peterborough, are certified to by Mr. P. W. Reynolds, financial agent, as $234.72.

THE CANNIBAL'S REWARD.—James O'Neil, the Independent Lacrosse Club cannibal, who tried to eat an opponent here on Queen's Birthday, was fined, the other day in the Toronto Police Court, for disgraceful rowdyism on the steamer Chicora, $50 or one month in jail.

PLUMBING.—Mr. Bolton, Plumber, and Gasfitter, has gone to Brockville, to fit the residence of Mr. Hutchinson, merchant, there, with his (Bolton's) excellent hot water heating apparatus, removing hot air furnaces for the purpose. Any orders left with Mr. Hutchinson, tinsmith, or with Mr. Hartley, next door, will receive attention, on Mr. B's return, in about ten days.

THE BRIGADE CAMP.—The 57th battalion is busily preparing to go into camp at Cobourg on the 5th September. The batallion consists of six companies; two in Peterborough and one each in Ashburnham, Hastings, Keene, and Norwood. The battalion will likely muster about 350 rank and file, not including the local detachment of the Durham Field Battery. Military matters in Egypt have infused a good deal of warlike ardor into the corps, but the pay is small and wages are high, and there will be some trouble in filling the complement of the companies.

CONSOLATION EXCURSION.—The moonlight excursion down the river on Tuesday night was to compensate those who were disappointed with the disastrous excursion on Civic Holiday; persons holding tickets for that day being admitted to the moonlight free. About 250 were on board the Golden-Eye, which went down the river as far as Hale's Bridge. A string band on board electrified the light fantastic toe. A delightful trip was made, and the party returned to town at a good hour, all well pleased with the moonlight meander.

HOME AGAIN.—On Sunday morning Mr. G. A. Cox, Mrs. Cox, Miss Cox and Mr. F. G. Cox, arrived home from their three months tour in England and the continent. Mr. A. White and several of the officials of the road and friends of the party went to Montreal on Thursday, to meet Mr. Cox and party and escort them home, which they reached by special train. All returned in the best of health and the voyage was an entire success, both in the way of pleasure-seeking and in the special business that called Mr. Cox abroad. Their many friends in Peterborough congratulate them on their enjoyable tour and safe return.

FALL FAIRS AND EXHIBITIONS.—The following are the dates of several fairs and exhibitions:—

Peterborough, W. R, Peterborough, October 3rd and 4th.
Peterborough, E. R., Norwood, October 10th and 11th.
South Victoria, Lindsay, September 29th and 30th.
Provincial, Kingston, September 18th.
Western, London, September 25th, 26th and 27th.
Great Central, Hamilton 26th.
Industrial, Toronto, Sept 5th to 16th.
Permanent, Montreal, P. Q., September 11th.
Central, Cobourg, 26th to 28th.
Smith, Emilsmore, and Lakefield, Lakefield, September 28th and 29th.

RATHER BINDING.—The Post boasts of a grain binder named Day, of the township of Somerville, who "kept up" with two cradlers, each cutting fall wheat at the rate of five acres per day—about one third of an acre each per hour, for one hour, and wants to hear from the next smartest man." It shall hear from two men smarter than he. Mr. A. Goodfellow of the "Model Farm," Springville, cut with a reaper, two acres of heavy spring wheat in two hours, which was bound in the same time by two men, whose names, we are sorry we have not been furnished with.

RAINFALL FOR MAY AND JUNE.—We find in the last report of the Bureau of Industries, the following summary of rainfall, from observations taken by Mr. J. Dixon, M. A., for Peterborough:—Month of May, depth of rain, 3.18 inches; number of days of rain, 8. Month of June, depth of rain, 3.22 inches; number of days of rain, 8. The mean temperature, it may be added, was, for Peterborough in May, 51.4°; the highest temperature, 78.5°, on the 30th, and the lowest, 26°, on the 3rd. The monthly variation in temperature was, therefore, 52.5°. The mean temperature for June was 61.2°; the highest temperature, 83.8°, on the 24th, and the lowest, 40.2°, on the 2nd and 20th.

CANADIAN SHORTHAND CONVENTION.—The first association meeting of shorthand writers of Canada, will be held in Toronto on the 29th and 30th inst. The committee have prepared an elaborate and unique programme. The secretary, Mr. Thomas Bengough, who believes in spelling as we speak, writes: "Deep interest attaches to this meeting, as it will doubtless result in the organization of a Canadian shorthand society, combining the influence of professionals and amateurs, or, teknicaly speaking, of 'stenografers' and 'shorthanders.' Already the art-sience of shorthand has taken hih rank in this yung Dominion—the demand for amanuenses being grater than the supply. Among the papers to be red is one by Mr. Wm. Houston, M.A., on 'Fonetic Shorthand as an Universal Medium in Writing and Printing.' Rev. Dr. Wild, Rev. Robt. Torrance, of Guelph, and other prominent shorthand riters and representativ stenograters from New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, and other American cities will participate. Shorthand riters and learners will find the meeting very profitabl. Reduced fares hav been secured for delegates." Ald. John Taylor is chairman of the committee. The secretary's address is No. 11 King st. west, Toronto.

CO-OPERATION.—The journeymen harness makers of Peterborough are taking steps to form a local trade's union and a meeting was held in the Fire Hall on Wednesday night, for the purpose of organization. This will be the third union of this craft in Ontario, the first being in Toronto the second in Hamilton. The following members are pledged to the principles of the union: R. W. McFaddon, M. Boyce, W. Buller, W. Pearce, Thos. Berry, J. Might, Chas. LeFrance, Jno. Kidd, Wm. Emerson, J. Billington, J. Tobin and Jno. Mowat. The object of the organization is the mutual protection of the rights of journeymen, as such, and so long as this object is legitimately sought the union deserves success. There is nothing "surcingle"ar in these young men thus "harness"-ing themselves together. In fact, there are "traces" of wisdom in the "line" they have marked out for themselves. We hope it is the beginning of a "rein" of "unbridle"-ed prosperity. The combination will prevent employers from attempting to "saddle" journeymen with any conditions that will be a "hold-back" to their success. May the journeymen realize every "bit" of the good fortune they anticipate, and soon arise to the dignity of master workmen, and when they put on the "gold-mounted" harness of matrimony, we trust there will no breaking of the "breeching" or kicking over the "traces."

SILVERWARE.

At the CHINA HALL you can buy a better article in Finest Quadruple Plate, cheaper than at any other house in Peterborough. By importing our Silverware direct from the Manufactory, we CAN and WILL undersell all other dealers. The LARGEST STOCK, the NEWEST DESIGNS, the BEST QUALITY, and the LOWEST PRICES.

MECHANIC'S INSTITUTE.

Quarterly Meeting of Members.

A quarterly meeting of the members of the Peterborough Mechanic's Institute was held in the reading room on Monday night. The following gentlemen were PRESENT:

Rev. V. Clementi, 1st Vice-President, in the chair, Messrs. R. M. Orr, Secretary, E. J. Toker, F. J. Lewis, R. Robertson, James English, E. Courteny, C. McGill, J. Stewart and Andrew Macfarlane.

The minutes of the next preceding annual meeting were read and confirmed.

MEMBERSHIP TICKETS.

On motion of Mr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. English, it was resolved that membership tickets be dated from the day of joining, and that they be good for twelve or six months, irrespective of the date of the annual meeting.

NO MEMBER'S FEES.

On motion of Mr. Robertson, seconded by Mr Courteny, it was resolved that in future there shall be no entrance fee for membership.

Before the motion was agreed to Mr. Robertson said that his experience was that it was easier to collect $1.50 than $2.00.

Mr. English considered that that the fee prevented many from becoming members.

A HANDSOME PRESENT.

Mr. A. Haultain having presented the Institute with a valuable volume, "Recent Inventions of the Nineteenth Century," Mr. Toker moved, seconded by Mr. Lewis,—That the cordial thanks of the members of the Institute be tendered to Mr. Haultain, which was unanimously agreed to.

MAKING THE INSTITUTE KNOWN.

On Mr. Courteny's suggestion that a notice respecting the Institute, for the benefit of new arrivals in Peterborough, be published in the local papers.

The Secretary Mr. Orr, said that it had been proposed to distribute printed circulars through the newspapers, but it was found that that would be contrary to law and no further action had followed.

HANSARD.

The Secretary was instructed to ask one of the local members to procure copies of the Hansard for the Institute.

A HOLIDAY GRANTED.

Rev. Mr. Clementi suggested the propriety of giving Miss Shaw, the librarian, a holiday.

Several of the members agreed that in view of Miss Shaw's efficient and satisfactory services, such a concession would be a graceful recognition of the value of such services and,

On motion of Mr. Lewis, seconded by Mr. Courteny, Miss Shaw was granted a fortnight's holiday, the Institute to defray the expenses of a substitute at the usual rate of allowance.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE BOY'S LACROSSE TOUR.—On Thursday morning the Peterborough Lacrosse Club started out on its summer tour down the St. Lawrence. The team was composed of H. LeBrun, captain, J. Joyal, W. A. Sanderson, P. and W. Rudkins, John Hayes, W. McAvelia, W. J. Morrow, H. Phelan, M. McDonald, J. Sheehey, Geo. Giroux, M. Halpin, R. H. Fortye. These were the regular army; the camp followers were Messrs. Yelland, Delaney, Clementi, Phelan, (D.) and King. On Saturday a game was played with the Young Shamrocks, of Montreal, who won in three straight games. On Tuesday they crossed sticks with the Earls, of Kingston, and after winning two straight games, in 8 and 10 minutes, play play was suspended, as the time was up.

THE LACHINE REGATTA.—At the Lachine Regatta last Saturday, Peterboro' was represented by a junior four-oared crew, composed as follows: G. C. Leck, bow; C. J. Shaw, stroke; J. Mercer and A. Elliott. This crew was second in the first heat, but got only fourth place in the second spin. A four oar crew, composed of G. C. Leck, bow; G. C. Rogers, stroke; and C. J. Shaw and A. Elliott entered for the Challenge Cup of the club, but owing to an accident to the tiller ropes in the start, were badly left. These fours showed a good deal of pluck in entering against veteran city crews. They contain the material, but have no facilities for practice, such as all other crews possess. Crews that have to take a considerable railway journey to reach their practice water, cannot be expected to be in first class trim.

ARTISTIC WORKMANSHIP.—Mr. D. Belleghem has just completed for the renewed residence of Mr. Mossou Boyd, Bobcaygeon, a magnificent mantel-piece, in solid black walnut. The piece is about five feet wide and eight and one half feet high. The shelf which divides the upper part from the lower is supported by fluted columns, with moulded bases, and foliated capitals. The upper part is richly carved and exceedingly ornate, and contains a bevelled mirror, placed under panels of beautifully executed wood mosaics. The beautiful and artistic design, so faithfully and workmanly carried out by Mr. Belleghem, was originated by Mr. J. E. Belcher, architect. Both the design and execution are creditable to the artistic skill and taste of Peterborough. Mr. Belleghem is so thronged with orders that he can take no thought of anything else. His business has outgrown his premises to such an extent that he is looking for larger premises and greater facilities.

On Saturday morning Mr. Robert Bedford of Hope was found dead in his bed. He was in his usual health the previous day. He was seventy years of age.

A simple herb found on the sunny plains of a Southern clime, has, under the skillful manipulation of DR. VAN BUREN, proved one of the greatest blessings ever sent to suffering humanity. DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE is acknowledged all the world over as the only perfect remedy for Kidney troubles. Your Druggist has it, J. McKee, Peterboro. 33-8t

POLICE COURT.

The Culprits and the Cadi.

THURSDAY.

Pay day on the railway "panned out" plentiously. On Wednesday night five bibulistic navvies enjoyed the luxurious hospitality of the refrigerator. Wm. Walsh came in for $1 fine, but compromised at 88 cents on the dollar, and after the completion of the transaction, achieved a sudden respectability, his financial talent placing him on a level with other successful compounders.

Robert Alexander, drunk, pleaded first offence, and was willing to take chances, but his worship had gone out of that line of business, and directed the clerk to record $1.

Benjamin Andrews paid $1, for the privilege of filling his skin with Peterborough whiskey.

James Taylor practically refused to plead.

"Then," said the Cadi, "you acknowledge the corn?"

"Not the corn, yer wortchip, but the corn-juice."

His "wortchip" had been inclined to deal leniently with the culprit, but instantly fined him $1 for the outrageous pun.

FRIDAY.

And a black Friday it was to the wretches who were jerked before Thomas Menzies, J.P., who supplied the place of Mr. Hatton, temporarily indisposed.

Patrick Donnell appeared as drunk and disorderly. He thought that amateurs, whether on the stage or the bench, generally overdo the thing, when he heard the curt penalty pronounced, "$3 or 21 days in jail." "Time is money," and Mr. Donnel's wealth being all locked up in that shape, he elected to pay his fine in that currency, and now he languishes in a Peterborough bastile, faring sumptuously on about eight cents' worth of gruel per day.

Joseph Barrie found that the pleasure of getting drunk was liquidated with the pain of punishment, and $3, or 21 days was the way the affair was arranged. The victim attempted to have his valise accepted as bail, but he couldn't palm off any old grip sacks on the court, and he sought the retirement of Chateau de Hall for 21 days.

SATURDAY.

Chief Johnston convinced the Court that Robert Scott had been drunk and disorderly—with a shillelah accompaniment—and he got $5, or 30 days. His wife, who was faithful in adversity, offered to pay the fine, but Mr. Scott's domestic felicity seemed to have been such that as he put it, he "would rather try the jail for it." It is to be hoped he'll like it, for he's got a straight thirty days

MONDAY.

Geo. Wright admitted the drunk and disorderly count of the indictment, and justice offered him his liberty for four dollars and a half.

TUESDAY.

Francis Mosseau—who indignantly disclaimed any relationship with the Quebec politcian of that name—had constituted his body the environment of so much whisky, that he was affected with alcoholic vertigo and locomotor ataxia, to such an extent that unromantic policemen pulled him for being drunk. $1.

PHOSPHATINE

TORONTO, March 20, 1882.

MESSRS. LOWDEN & CO.:

DEAR SIRS.—For the past two weeks I have been using Dr. Austin's Phosphatine in my family with the most satisfactory results. It is unquestionably a most valuable medicine

Yours truly,
W. H. WILLIAMS,
Special Correspondent Toronto Globe.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

PHOSPHATINE

Cures all Nervous Diseases.

NEWMARKET, March 21, 1882.

Messrs. LOWDEN & CO., Toronto.

GENTS.—I have taken one bottle of Dr. Austin's Phosphatine, recommended by Dr. Bentley, of this place, and have received received great benefit from it. I believe that after taking five or six bottles I shall be quite free from a nervous tremour which has troubled me since I was 16, and now I am (61) sixty-one years of age.

Yours truly,
J. S. WETHERILL.

The Contented Man, Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.60 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

PROTECTION!

The undersigned would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Norwood and surrounding country that he has leased for a number of years, the Grist Mill belonging to Mr. N. B. Gould, on Colborne Street, Norwood, and is now prepared to carry on the

in all its various branches. The mill has just been enlarged and additions made to the premises that will add materially to its capacity and convenience. A large amount of new machinery, of the very latest improvements, has also been added to meet the requirements of the mill, which has received such a thorough renewing and refitting as the public may rely in future on all kinds of Gristing and Milling being performed in such a manner as to give entire satifaction in all its departments. Having had a large and varied experience in the gristing business in different parts of Canada, and having always been patronized with a large amount of Custom Gristing in in all its different branches, as has been a convincing proof of the quality of the work performed by him, he can confidently ask the patronage of the people of Norwood and vicinity. Flour and Mill Feed of all kinds kept constantly on hand. Farmers may rely upon having their Gristing home with them on the day brought to the mill. ☞A Call Respectfully Solicited.

OTONABEE WOOLLEN MILLS.

Promising Beginning of an important new industry.

Brief Description of the Premises and Machinery.

These mills, owned and conducted by Messrs. Brodie—Robt. and Alex. situated next north of the skating rink on the canal, represent an industry that has sprung into busy, bustling operation within the past month. The first of August the Messrs. Brodie got full possession of the premises at the river terminus of Murray street, since which time they have put in new machinery and are now and even beyond, for some parts of the machinery, on which the others depend for supply, are running day and night.

This industry is one of the most important in the town, and a few paragraphs devoted to it will doubtless be of interest to the public.

THE MAIN BUILDING is 100x46 feet on the ground, and three and a half stories in height. At a distance the structure does not appear to be of the extent which an inside inspection proves it to be. Further on a more detailed description of the several floors will be attempted. To begin at the beginning, the must be visited. This is an entirely new structure, about fifty feet south of the main building, 60x40 feet, and two and a half stories in height. The second floor—on a level with the roadway—is devoted to the business office, and also affords space for a store-room and sorting room. The specialty of these mills being the wool used is altogether imported. The supply comes principally from the Sandwich Islands, South America and the Cape of Good Hope. It reaches the mills in bales of from 300 to 500 lbs, covered with coarse linen, bound with iron hoops. In the course of baling, the fleeces are submitted to the immense force of hydraulic pressure, so that when the bales are opened each fleece, of a dirty mottled grey colour—the sheep having been shorn unwashed—presents the appearance of an overgrown buckwheat pancake. Except the pressure, the wool is just as it comes from the sheep's back—very dirty, and full of impurities, and looks a very unpromising material to be converted by mechanical processes into the soft and velvetty flannels meet for nestling warmly next the delicate cuticle of beauty, or swathing the chafe-able and tender integuments of the forms of infant and cherubic chubbiness. The resulting fabric is a beautiful example of the transforming power of the alchemy of industrial art.

When the wool is required for use the bales are opened and the wool sorted, the material for the different grades of flannel being kept separate. The wool is then dropped to the lower flat of the dye house, where it is scoured and dyed, for which purpose there are three vats, capable of holding about 300 pounds of wool each. A flume sixteen inches in diameter passing from the bulkhead underneath the floor of the main building, supplies the dye house with water. After being dyed, the wool goes to the basement floor of the main structure. Here it is placed on a patent a huge box with a perforated bottom, through which cold air is drawn downward through the mass by a fan blast. The wool is then conveyed to the fourth story, where after it is dusted it is subjected to the pickers. Adjacent to this there are three bins for the different colors, with openings in the bottom through which the wool drops to the third floor in rear of the range of three in number, through which it passes in succession. The first series of cards is fitted with Bramwell's patent self feed, the newest and best appliance extant, and the second and third machines with the Apperly feed. Here is also a card grinding machine, for sharpening the cards when necessary. The wool after passing through the carding machines comes out which is rolled on large spools, about three feet and a half in length, when it is ready to be placed in the two in number, containing each 360 spindles. These machines are of the very latest pattern, built by Jno. Tatham, Rochdale, England. They took the gold medal at the Manufacturer's Exhibition in London, in 1881. The pair in question were fitted up by Mr. John Henderson, of Hespeler, who is agent, in Canada, for these, and also the Bramwell feed. They convert the roping into yarn, drawing out 720 threads at once, and with the supervision of a man and a girl, turn out a thousand runs, one million, six hundred yards, or 350 lbs. of yarn per day. The yarn leaves the mules in the shape of bobbins, which are lowered to the second floor, where, by two machines, they are spooled, then warped, and afterwards beamed.

IN THE FORM OF ROPING

There are 12 one-hundred-and-eight-inch

CROMPTON CAM LOOMS,

weaving three widths of web at once, and capable of weaving one thousand yards per day. The looms are all run and managed by girls. In the centre of this floor is also the water wheel regulator, by which the whole of the machinery is controled. After leaving the looms, the material, which came from the basement floor, in the shape of dyed wool, ret rns thither in the form of woven fabric, and it is next

FULLED AND SCOURED.

The latter process being done by an English washer of the latest pattern. The cleaned web is next placed in a hydro-extractor a receptacle three feet in diameter with sides of wire screen, which revolves, at the rate of 1000 times per minute, the centirtugal force generated by this terrible velocity, driving out the water in the web through the wire screen sides. The cloth is then placed three widths at a time on a Clevel and cloth dryer, eight feet in diameter, heated from within by a coil of steam pipes. The next process is that of raising the nap which is done by passing the web through a brush machine from which it passes through a rotary press between hollow cylinders, heated by steam, receiving thereby a surface finish. A Parks & Wilson perpetual spear is at hand, but is only used on certain kinds of flannel. The web is then measured, wrapped and labeled and is READY FOR SHIPMENT.

The demands for the product of these mills are so great that they are only supplied by working part of the machinery all night. In fact the water wheel does not cease its rapid revolutions day nor night.

FORTY-INCH LEFFEL TURBINE

The capacity of the mills are at present of finished fabric, but additions are to be made to the machinery, to increase the turnout to at least 1,500 yards daily. This can be done by increasing the carding capacity, all the other machinery being now equivalent to that of a three-set-woollen mill.

1,000 YARDS PER DAY

Notwithstanding the additions made to the buildings, there is still a lack of space. This will be remedied by the construction, at the south-east corner, of a tower, to contain a hoist and the stairways to the different floors.

There are still many improvements required, which are, however, being made. The building is now being piped for gas. In winter it will be heated throughout by steam, and a water tank will be erected in the third story and hose and branch nozzles placed on every floor for use in case of fire.

There are now employed over

TWENTY-FIVE OPERATIVES,

which will be increased to thirty as soon as more machinery can be placed.

The establishment has all the signs of being a permanent institution of the town. The buildings are substantial and have been neatly ceiled and wainscotted throughout. The permanent machinery is all solid and firm, and the manufacturing machinery is of the very best make and of the latest and most improved patterns, and best of all as an augury of success, the firm is literally flooded with orders for their goods. We hope the firm may continue to thrive and extend their operations and that their energy and enterprise may be rewarded with abundant profitable and permanent success.

A DEPARTING CITIZEN HONORED.

A SPLENDID PRESENTATION MADE TO DR. H. C. BURRITT.

A day or two ago several of the friends of Dr. H. C. Burritt, having learnt that he would pay a visit to his former home, Peterborough, which he exchanged for one in Toronto, where he is engaged in the practice of his profession, determined to take advantage of his presence on Wednesday, and present him with an address and a piece of plate, as tokens of the esteem in which he was held by those who had the opportunity of knowing him best. Accordingly, on Wednesday night several gentlemen surprised him at the residence of his father, Dr. W. H. Burritt, Water Street, and presented him with the following

ADDRESS:

To H. C. Burritt, Esq., M.D., Peterboro:

DEAR SIR, A few weeks since the announcement of your intention to remove from Peterborough, produced among a very wide circle of your friends, much real regret and sorrow, and fell upon the entire community as a genuine surprise. For fourteen years you have been identified with our town as an industrious and honored citizen, a skilful physician, a pushing, energetic and rising man—one who in fact, in every position in life, discharged his duties with Zeal, fidelity and unflagging earnestness and devotion. In these things you won readily the esteem and regard of your fellow citizens, and the circle of your friends gradually became enlarged, while in social life your many estimable good qualities endeared you to them more and more.

As a citizen you stand to day among our best—honored and valued by all whose esteem is worth having, and your removal is sincerely regretted by those who for a considerable period have watched your career with interest.

As a physician your skill in battling with the various diseases to which flesh is heir, your patient careful attention to all who required your services; your sympathy with the sick and sorrowing; your steadfast Christian deportment and unfailing gentlemanly courtesy to all with who n you came in contact, have won for you hosts of friends in all grades and classes of life. Such testimony as this (and it may be heard everywhere in our midst) is, be assured, no empty eulogy but the heartfelt and genuine expression of attached and genuine friends.

We sincerely trust you will be as highly appreciated as you deserve in the new and wider sphere to which you now remove and we most heartily wish Mrs Burritt, yourself, and your family every needful blessing, that may tend to your happiness and success.

In wishing you farewell, we beg your acceptance of the accompanying epergne, as a slight souvenir of our good-will and regard, and we trust that as often as you look upon it, it may recall most pleasantly the many friends you leave behind in Peterborough, whose earnest wish is that your future prosperity may be commensurate with your deserts, and who now, with unfeigned sorrow at your departure, subscribe themselves,

Very faithfully yours

The addddress was signed on behalf of the contributors to the testimonial by,

JUDGE DENNISTOUN,
HON. R. HAMILTON,
REV. W. C. BRADSHAW,
Incumbent of St. Luke's.
H. H. SMITH,
Mayor of Peterborough.
A. P. POUSSETTE,
REV. V. CLEMENTI,
JOHN BURNHAM, M. P.,
GEO. HILLIARD, M. P.,
R. H. DENNISTOUN,
E. J. TOKER,
GEO. C. ROGERS.

The address was presented by Judge Dennistoun, Hon. Mr. Hamilton, John Burnham, M. P., Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, Mayor Smith, and A. P. Poussette.

Dr. Burritt acknowledged the address and the splendid accompanying gift in a few gracefully chosen words of thanks. His demeanour and brevity of speech showed that he was almost too deeply moved for utterance, by the telling testimony of the friendship of his Peterborough friends as developed by the occasion. The consisted of a magnificent silver epergne, standing 38 inches in height and 28 inches in breadth. The base, which consists of one large and two smaller circles joined, rests upon four elaborately carved feet, gold inlaid. From its centre rises a column of burnished silver, supporting a comporte fifteen inches in diameter. From the central pillar spring two ornate brackets, which support two lateral and smaller comports, of most beautiful cut glass. From the centre of the main comport the pillar expands into a large sphere on each side of which are classical figures in oxydized silver, with silver gilt draperies. From this sphere a delicate shaft rises about a foot, terminating in a smaller comporte, on the centre of which stands the figure of a cherub, in oxydized silver, terminating the beautiful piece of plate. No description can do an approach to justice to it; its proportions are perfect, its design artistic, and its finish and ornamentation simply exquisite. The value of this splendid "slight token" is $160.00, and it was selected from the shelves of the fine establishment of Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, corner Simcoe and George streets.

The massive memento bore the following engraving:—

"Presented to
DR. H. C. BURRITT.
as a token of regard on his departure from Peterborough.
August, 1882."

It will be an heirloom in the Furritt family, and will be an enduring domestic monument of the respect and esteem which one member of the family won in Peterborough by the possession and practice of public and private virtues, rare even amongst good men.

The EXAMINER would also join with Dr. Burritt's many friends in deploring his departure from Peterborough, and in wishing him the amplest success in the new sphere of duty to which he has removed.

POLICE COURT.

The Culprits and the Cadi.

THURSDAY.

Patrick Daly duly filed an appearance, charged with being drunk, on complaint of Constable Pidgeon, which charge he reluctantly admitted. The records of the Court presented eight previous convictions, and after an interval of four years, he renewed the pleasure of paying a fine of $2.00.

TUESDAY.

For three mortal days the wheels of the justice mill rested, but to-day made up for the idleness, Thos. Menzies, Esq., J. P., dispensed justice in, the first place to James Walsh, who had been drunk on the same night as Patrick Daly. A summons failed to fetch him, but a warrant and a policeman brought him up standing to answer to the charge of being drunk. The case having originated before the P.M., Mr. Menzies decided to allow him to finish the job, and Mr. Walsh was remanded till Monday.

John Diugman, in answer to the charge of being drunk, responded concisely, "Correct Sir," but he didn't say "Correct Sir" when he was fined $1.00, or 21 days in jail.

Wm. Trotter was arraigned, charged by Constable Pidgeon, with cruelty to animals. According to the constable's evidence, Mr. Trotter was driving a trotter, and the trotter not trotting up to Mr. Trotter's requirements, the latter inflicted unnecessarily severe punishment. This evidence was corroborated by Mr. Laplante, but the accused saying that he had witnesses to prove his innocence, and his worship not being "posted" in sporting matters, decided to leave the case for Mr. Hatton to settle, and enlarged the charge till Monday.

INTERIM SESSION.

On Monday evening Mr. Menzies adjudicated on the case of Robert Goldy, a recently arrived Scotchman, described as a simple drunk. The accused laid the blame on the hotel-keepers, who, when he "asked for 'whusky' gave him rye." He could stand any amount of whusky, but the rye fixed him. $1.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Mr. Geo. Webber shipped by the Midland on Tuesday, a carload of fat hogs to Mathews of Lindsay.

A Grand Junction engine jumped the rails at the Charlotte Street crossing on Saturday, but was railed again with little trouble.

The addition of sixty feet—the other sixty feet being used as a coach house for the official car to the Midland freight sheds is so far finished as to be crammed with freight.

The grade of the Missing Link runs so close to the Protestant Home, that the embankment opposite the north-eastern corner has been strengthened by a four-feet wall of stone masonery.

Of the 1307 tons of steel rails required for the Missing Link, 120 carloads about 12 tons each, have been delivered at each end of the line. In Peterborough the rails are piled on the Peter Connel lot on Bethune Street.

CHANDOS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE CROPS.—Crops in general are looking splendid, with the exception of the spring wheat, which is very much affected from the rust owing to the lowering weather which has been this last while.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mr. Francis Hogan recently met with a serious accident. While bringing home his cattle, an ox attacked him with his horns. Hogan seized it by the horns, endeavouring to conquer the beast, but it being, of course, the stronger, raised him up, and threw him violently to the ground, inflicting severe injuries on the head and face. The truculent animal not being satisfied with this continued "hooking" him viciously, until a neighbour happened to see the encounter, and rescued Mr. Hogan from his perilous position, and perhaps from death. In the struggle Hogan lodged a revolver ball in the ox's nose, but without other effect. It is hoped that he will be able to get around shortly. When he does he will hardly take another ox by the horns, in the literal manner, at least.

PETEBBOROUGH, AUGUST 31, 1882

Notes of the Day.

CONCURRENT WITH BIBLE REVISION in England, a similar work has been going on in Germany. The work revised is, of course, Luther's translation of the Bible, and the committee engaged on it has just held its last meeting, at Halle. Thirty members were originally appointed, but since that time, viz., in 1863, sixteen of their number have passed away. The Germans have been more sensible than ourselves in first submitting the altered text to the universities, to the criticism of scholars and to the general public. When their remarks upon the revised version shall have been considered, it will then be published and recommended for use.

THE VOTING POPULATION of the United States was in 1880, exclusive of territories, 12,571,437. The presidental vote of that year was only 9,204,428, showing that more than three million males of voting age neglected to make their power felt at the polls. The highest per cent. of voting was done in Indiana; all but six per cent. of the population recording their votes. The lowest percentage was in Rhode Island, in which state only thirty-eight per cent of the voting population were at the polls. It can hardly yet be said that manhood suffrage makes people take sufficient interest in the elections, judging from this return.

THE EGYPTIAN WAR has brought out once more an old scheme for building a railway in the valley of the Euphrates. Many years ago it was planned, and expectation then deemed its early construction as certain as anything earthly could well be. But the scheme has hitherto languished, and the money required to carry it out has not yet been forthcoming. The railway, as projected, would be seven hundred miles long, and it would cost at least fifty millions of dollars. This money could readily be obtained in England, were the Government willing to grant capitalists a guarantee. But as the country through which the projected line passes belongs to the Sultan, this has been refused. If once built it would save ten days in travelling to Bombay, and might be worth the cost as another alternative route to the East.

IT IS ENCOURAGING to note that "the good old days" of which so many people appear enamoured are, in one respect, at least, improved on in the present age. The last century beheld much drunkenness and profanity in high circles, from the Court and Congress downwards. The consumption of spirits was certainly far greater than now. America produced more whiskey for twenty-five millions of people thirty years ago, than is consumed to-day by double this number of people. Still, the average yet is no inconsiderable quantity, when we recollect that 150 million gallons are produced annually in the United States, being an average of three gallons to every man woman and child in the Union. Lager beer and soda water are the greatest enemies of whiskey. The average consumption per head in Ontario is about 1½ gallons of whiskey annually.

THE BILL FOR THE PREVENTION of crime in Ireland, which, after such long delay has passed the British Parliament, is producing good fruit. Certainly the country seems to be quieting down somewhat and the probability is that the provisions of this statute will bring about a more peaceful state of affairs in the near future. That such a course was necessary is apparent to all not blinded by bigotry and party prejudice. Some more searching and effective plan for discovering offences and punishing offenders was essential to the public weal. No conviction could be looked for under the old system. Recently at the Tipperary assizes more than thirty persons were indicted for firing into houses, inciting to murder, stabbing, boycotting and other crimes. Notwithstanding this unusual number not a single conviction was obtained! This speaks volumes in favour of the New Repression Act.

ROMAN CATHOLICISM is increasing with tremendous rapidity in some of the larger cities, both of this and the old world. In 1845, there were but 50,000 persons belonging to this religion in New York city. Now there are over 500,000, representing the almost incredible gain of 400 per cent., in about thirty-five years. Ten years ago there were not more than 50,000 Romanists in the city of Berlin, or about one in fourteen of the population; now there are at least 100,000, or about one in nine. The Roman Catholics moreover in Berlin are highly organized, and command plenty of money, while the Evangelicals are very much divided among themselves, and are poor. This increase in Berlin is due more to the influx of citizens from the Provinces of Silesia and Rhinelander, than to conversions. Protestant Berlin has 43 places of worship for their 900,000 people, or a church to about 21,000 souls; the Roman Catholics have nine churches, or one to about 10,000 souls. A church in memorial of the Emperor's deliverance from assassination in 1878, has just been begun here. It will cost £15,000 one-half of which was provided by public subscription.

A FEW WEEKS AGO there closed at Vienna a somewhat extraordinary International Chess Tournament. The competitors were engaged in their friendly contest for no less a period than 34 days. Herr Winawer, a Pole, and Herr Steimtz, a German, stand at the head of the list, while Mr. Mason, an American, makes a good third among the entire 18 candidates, representing almost as many nationalities The first prize was $1,000. It was thought for a time that the palm of victory would rest with an Englishman, Mr. Blackburne, a wonderful chessplayer, who was at first ahead. A year ago this gentleman beat all the European "professionals," at Berlin, and triumphantly carried off the prize. Some of the Vienna matches lasted for five and others for seven hours. It needs a peculiar combination of intellectual faculties to play a really good game of chess. To be cautious and bold, always on the alert and yet marvellously patient, to give unflagging attention and at the same time to look far ahead—these are necessary qualities for a successful chessplayer. As a mere pastime for a leisure hour, chess is never likely to be popular, simply because it requires such intense concentration and unwearied study. In fact it is more of a science than a game.

Personal and Political.

It is not the intention of Mr. Carling to resign his position as Postmaster-General at present.

Mr. Preston Bennett, Opposition member elect for Yale, B. C., has died of hemorrhage of the lungs.

There is some talk of a coalition being formed between Mr. Mousseau and the Quebec Liberals.

Treasurer Wurtele, of Quebec, claims to have placed the new Quebec, loan of a million and a half in Canada and outside of the banks.

A motion to adjourn the British House of Commons from last Friday to the 24th October, moved by Mr. Gladstone, was carried without division.

A petition was filed at Osgoode Hall by W. F. Smith and R. P. Wright, against the return of J. J. Hawkins, Canservative member elect for Both well.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau and several of his Montreal political friends appeared in Terrebonne on Sunday and delivered the opening address of the campaign after mass.

A petition, signed by John S. Tolton, of Walkerton, was on Saturday filed against the return of Mr. R. M. Wells, the sitting member of East Bruce in the House of Commons.

Mr. Poirier, Liberal, is making such a gallant fight in Terrebonne, that Hon. Mr. Chapleau has found it necessary to make a house-to-house canvass of the constituency.

A petition was filed at Osgoode Hall on Saturday by Jas. Mitchell, of the Goderich Star, against the return of Mr. M. C. Cameron, Liberal member for West Huron, on the ground of bribery and other corrupt practices.

The meeting of the Manitoba Local Legislature, which stood prorogued until the 12th of August, has been further adjourned until Thursday, the 14th of September, and not then for the dispatch of business.

In Kingston, a local Liberal has taken away the breath of local Tories, by offering to wager that they cannot disqualify Mr. Gunn or prevent him again running if aught has been done by his agents to unseat him.

During the past quarter the pauperism of England has decreased 3 per cent. For a country that is going to the dogs commercially in consequence of its insane revenue tariff as opposed to protection, England seems to be doing very well.

The election of Mr. Gayton and Mr. Church, members of the new Liberal Government of Nova Scotia, by acclamation yesterday, is a good sign of the popularity of the Cabinet, and a proof of the good sense of their constituents.

The following choice language was indulged in by the Mail—the paper that was to be edited by gentlemen for gentlemen:—"Mr. Mowat, his Hardys and Pardees, his Frasers and blazers, his inspectors and detectives, his bailiffs and bummers, comprise the 'officials.' They rule the Province 'officially.' Affection for office, love of patronage for its secret rewards, and self-interest, are the cohesive principles animating them.

The Telegram says there should be an understanding reached that whoever is elected for the eight vacant seats in the Local Legislature at the by-elections to be held shortly, should be re-elected by acclamation at the general election when it comes round.

Mr. Glen of Oshawa, finds that the St. Paul & Manitoba railway company charges $172.50 per car, whereas if the rate were the same as that paid between Chicago and St. Paul, it would be only $40. The extortion of $132.50 per car amounts to $5.30 on each reaper, or $66.25 on each threshing machine going into the Canadian Northwest. But for the clause in the contract between the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific Syndicate, forbidding competing roads to cross the Canadian border, this extortion could not last. How long will the people stand it?

The Winnipeg Sun thus takes the measure of some of the parties who are talked of by the Tories as successors to Mr. Mowat:—We are told that the local Conservatives are to be reinforced by men defeated in the federal elections. By whom? Plumb is a decent fellow, but an awful bore. His industry would make him useful if he could curb his loquacity. Bunting is a political fraud of the poorest stuff. He has not the ability to make a respectable failure. Wallace is a sincere old gentleman, who likes to take things easy and nurse the Baby. He would never do for an administrative head. Meredith is an able man. Lauder is neither able nor popular, Morris is a mummy. Bell cannot manage his personal affairs with ability, and would be worse than useless in a Cabinet office. Merrick would be equal to the management of the treasury. Boulter's sphere is that of president of a dinner table.

THE DEBAUCHERY which the spoils system produces is well illustrated by the following advertisement clipped from the Washington Republican:—

"$100—a lady with good indorsements will give one hundred dollars for a good permanent position in one of the departments. Address, G. G., Republican Office.

Will give fifty dollars cash and twenty-five per cent of salary, as long as retained, to any person procuring me a position under the Government. Address "Money," Republican Office.

This is the way matters are managed by our neighbours at Washington. Political offices have become matters of commerce. Powerful friends, after satisfying the demands of their own relations, can put money in their pockets by promising to aid those who are themselves politically friendless. So the thing goes on. Add to this gross corruption, the practice of making political assessments on all civil servants for party purposes, and we have a state of affairs most infamous. It is humiliating for the United States people to have a form of oppression and robbery which would not find its counterpart in Russia, accepted and acted upon by their politicians as a matter of course. Formerly this disreputable system was so so horrible in men's thoughts that it had to be carried on in secret, but now the offensive thing is openly flaunted in the faces of the people. Daniel Webster, in the President's name, once said:—"The payment of any contribution or assessment on salaries or official compensation for party election purposes, will cause the officer or agent guilty of it to be removed." To day those in the public service are assessed, while at the same time the President says, "Though it is all against the morals and spirit of the constitution, you had better meet the demand, voluntarily if you can, but at any rate meet it."

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

India Cashmere makes the most refined and simple suit for travelling and for early autumn.

The newest color for English "dust cloaks" for travelling and morning shopping is claret red.

Metal threads—gold, silver and bronze—are woven in the new woollen stuffs imported for autumn.

Tassels made by gathering wide lace are appended to the ends of flat linen collars to give them a softer look.

Flowered muslin squares, originally used for the neck, now furnish trimmings of rough-and-ready hats of straw, to be worn in the country.

Instead of the combination of two or three fabrics, it is announced that a single fabric for the entire dress will be the prevalent autumn fashion.

Watteau drapery in the form of a very broad double box plait is added to the simplest as well as the most elaborate toilets of ladies of æsthetic tastes.

English dressmakers are using the flax lace to trim dusters, which are made in mother Hubbard shape and are worn with colored hats, also trimmed with lace.

The wide, flat braids, now used on wool suits will be replaced by narrower galoons and trimmings of satin cord on the camels' hair and cashmere suits for winter.

Large single flowers are in favour on satteens, foulards and surahs, and their size is so great that only one blossom can be seen on a sleeve, and five on the back of a dress corsage.

White satines and tinted linens are in almost equal favour for morning dress. The former are embroidered; the latter trimmed with white braid, laid on in straight bands or in an elaborate pattern, and have checked and plain linen combined in one costume.

Winter finds out what Summer lays by." Kidney-Wort cures in Winter and in Summer. There is scarcely a person to be found who will not be greatly benefited by a thorough course of Kidney-Wort every spring. If you cannot prepare the dry, buy the liquid. It has the same effect.

English tailors make travelling suits of waterproof cashmere. The skirts of these costumes are plain in front and box-plaited in the back; the jacket is coat shape, and the slight drapery fastens to the waist. These suits are excellent for autumn wear, and, with plenty of furs, are quite warm enough for snowy weather.

"The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

Riot at a Church Festival.

While a church festival was in progress near Cleveland Tenn., Thursday morning a riot occured, during which knives, pistols and clubs were freely used. Moss Gorley was shot dead. One woman was stabbed to the heart, and several others dangerously wounded.

An Australian Archbishop Fired At.

Archbishop Goold, of the Roman Catholic diocese Melbourne, Australia, has been shot at and slightly wounded. His assilant has been arrested. His name is O'Farrell, and he is a brother of the man who attempted to assassinate the Duke of Edinburgh in a crowd on his visit to Melbourne.

A Triangular Protest.

Three protests have been lodged in the election for the Commons in Kingston. Dr. Sullivan, (Tory) protests against Mr. Gunn's (Grit) return. Mr. Gunn has filed a counter petition, while Dr. Stewart is reported to have protested against both candidates. Sir John Macdonald is understood to have prompted the petition against Mr. Gunn, in revenge for his defeat by that gentleman in 1878.

Killed for Taking an Apple.

Phillip Etting, N.Y. State, fatally shot Jessie Mandevill for taking an apple from Etting's orchard. Etting fled. He shot the hand off a tramp for trespassing on his property four months ago, and locked himself up for three months in a garret to escape judgement for $6,000, although he is one of the wealthiest men here about. Excited people are now scouring the woods for him.

A Sad Sight.

The Toronto World says:—A young and good looking girl well dressed and of respectable appearance made a sad show of herself on Temperance street Saturday afternoon. She was very much under the influence of liquor and almost unable to keep her feet. She staggered into a lane and in maudling words told some bystanders where she lived. A young man in the party procured a hack and drove the unfortunate young girl away presumably to her home.

Adrift at Sea.

A bottle has been picked up on the shore at Westpoint, Digby County, Nova Scotia, which contained the following message, signed by John Kelly and Thos. Brown, and dated June the 7th:—"Having strayed from our vessel, the schooner Rapid, off the Banks, in a dense fog, while setting nets, have been floating about now for three days, and no help has come yet; and we hope that if this piece of paper be found, that the finder will publish this as soon as possible, and may God have mercy on us."

The Dogged Sir Garnet.

Sir Garnet Wolseley, who is in command of the British Army at Alexandria, and who is the most successful English soldier of recent times was from a boy noted for an iron will and a bulldog tenacity of purpose. One day he climbed a tree to get an especially tempting apple, but the branch breaking, he fell and broke his arm. Setting his teeth he started up the tree again, with the broken limb dangling by his side; he got the apple and fainted from pain on reaching the ground.

The Knights of Pythias.

Detroit, Aug. 23—At the meeting of Knights of Pythias the following statistics of the order were given: In the United States and Canada there are 37 grand lodges, with 1673 subordinate lodges under supervision of the supreme lodge. The total membership is 110,903, being an increase of two grand lodges and 21,335 members. The financial reports shew a balance on hand in the grand jurisdictions of $1,227,107, and in subordinate lodges under supervision of the supreme lodge of $842,390.

Prevalence of Cancer.

Last week no less than 11 persons died of cancer in Philadelphia. If 11 persons had died of yellow fever or small-pox, a sensation would have been created, and yet neither of these diseases is as surely fatal as cancer, and certainly not as much to be dreaded. Within the past few years there has been an alarming increase in the number cancerous diseases. There must be some active predisposing cause which medical science has thus far failed to discover, but which should be more earnestly sought after than yet appears to have been done.

Ladies Without Bonnets.

One thing which is sure to arrest the attention of the visitor to Saratoga for the first time, writes a correspondent, is the large number of ladies without hats or bonnets which are met on Broadway, in Congress Spring Park, and other public places in the morning and evening. And this fashion is not wholly confined to young ladies. In lieu of a bonnet or hat, a sun umbrella is usually carried. Some of them are elaborately gotten up, presenting almost as fantastic an appearance as some of the "stunning" hats, which are worn in the afternoon.

An Agonizing Death.

A Chicago telegram of Saturday's date says: About 2 o'clock this morning a fire brake out in the Walton House, No. 42 East Washington street, and from room 45, where the smoke was the thickest, the agonizing screams of a woman were heard. The firemen broke into the room, extinguished the flames, and found Mrs Frank Flynn lying on a bed burned out of all semblance to a human form and barely alive. She appears to have overset the kerosene lamp in an insane or drunken frenzy. She was taken to the County Hospital to die. Her flesh was burned to a crisp.

Chicago Wheat Cornering.

In the hearing before the board of trade committee Friday afternoon to fix a settlement price for July wheat, W. T. Baker testified that P. D. Armour, who is supposed to be at the bottom of the corner, that they (meaning himself and his coadjutors) bought July wheat and cornered it with millions of money at the back of them. They had borrowed more money than was ever borrowed in Chicago before to carry it through and that they intended to run the price up to a dollar and a half. Armour expected the shorts to call on him for margins, and had two millions lying in the bank ready for them. The testimony created a sensation.

Crushed by a Paddle-wheel.

A fatal accident occured yesterday afternoon about one o'clock, the victim being John Kennedy, engineer, of the ferry boat Princess of Wales, which plies between Toronto and the Island, aged about twenty-nine years. At the hour mentioned the boat was about to leave the wharf for a trip to the Island, when the engineer found that the engine was "on the centre," and leaving the throttle open and steam full on, proceeded to the paddle box for the purpose of turning the wheel so as to start the engine In doing so he must have slipped, and the wheel going around suddenly, struck him with terrific force and he fell through the wheel into the water. He was taken out of the water in a very short time, and upon examination it was found that he was quite dead.

O'CONNELL'S STATUE.

THE SPLENDID MONUMENT ERECTED TO THE MEMORY OF THE LIBERATOR.

The unveiling of the monument to Daniel O'Connell, which has been constructed in Dublin, has been the event of last week in Ireland. It is twenty years since the movement for a national monument to Daniel O'Connell was started, though at different periods there had previously been many public memorials of the Liberator set up in various parts of Ireland. The great services he rendered to his country were commemorated in the magnificent round tower and chapel in Glasnevin Cemetery, designated by Petrie, and under which his remains repose; by Hogan's noble statue in the City Hall; by a statue by the same artist in Limerick, and another splendid figure in Ennis, the chief town of Clare; by Haverty's wonderful portrait, painted for the National Bank, of which O'Connell may be said to have been the founder, and by Catterson Smith's life-like figure painted for the City Hall collection. In 1862 a public subscription was started, and the appeal was answered by subscriptions from all parts of the globe wherever men of Irish blood had found a home. It was till April 8th, 1870, that a design was approved and selected, the committee selecting the one submitted by the celebrated Irish sculptor, Mr. John H. Foley, R. A., for which they agreed to pay £12,500. In August 1874 the foundation stone for the monument was laid under circumstances of great pomp and magnificence by the then Lord Mayor, the Right Hon P. P. Sweeney. The ardent expectation had been formed in 1875 that this inauguration would be effected in connection with the centenary celebration of August 6th, but the hopes were doomed to disappointment, for the contention of the "cloak" or "no cloak" factions greatly retarded the completion of the work. The former party prevailed, however, and the Liberator appears in the traditional garment of the Irish gentleman.

The memorial consists of three distinct parts—the square, solid base or podium, which includes two gradients; the cylindrical drum, resting on the base, with fifty allegorical figures in alto relievo, and above, crowning the whole, O'Connell. The pediment is of granite, with the arms of each of the four provinces in the centre of each of the respective upright faces. Projecting from the four corners of the base are the winged Victories already mentioned as not yet completed. They are seated figures, representing Victory by patriotism, who grasps a sword in her right hand and holds a shield on her left arm; Victory by fidelity, holding the mariner's compass—"True as the needle to the pole it loves"—and caressing the head of a hound, a living type of constancy; Victory by courage, strangling with one hand a serpent, while she crushes its writhing body under her foot, and in her other holding the bound bundle of reeds symbolizing the strength of weak materials effected by union; and Victory by eloquence, holding in her left hand the roll of documents by which she supports the arguments of her cause, while the right is gracefully outstretched in the attitude of oratory. The wings of these figures are considerably elevated, and impart great symbolic boldness to the lower part of the monument. The "drum" or cylinder which surmounts the base is, perhaps, one of the most striking and expressive features ever imparted to any public monument. It contains no less than fifty figures, fourteen of which are in such high relief that they appear as almost distinct statues. On the front of the drum is a figure of Erin, eight feet in height, trampling under foot her discarded fetters, her left hand grasping the Act of Emancipation inscribed with its title, and date, 1829, and her left pointing to the statue of the Liberator, which towers above. On her left is a Catholic bishop leading a youth by the hand and pointing to the character of freedom in Erin's grasp, as though impressing upon him its significance, and in a knot around the bishop, listening to his words, are a number of priests, forming a group representative of the church. Following these, in the order named, are the historian with his volume, the painter with the materials of his art and the musician. Here Foley has introduced a striking and novel appreciation of the fitness of things which characterized his best productions, and in none more signally than in this, his last work. In the hand of the musician he has placed a scroll of music on which are legible the words and score of the air of Moore's spirited melody, so frequently quoted by O'Connell:

Oh! where's the slave so lowly,
Condemned to chains unholy,
Who, could he burst
His bonds at first,
Would pine beneath them slowly!

Next in the same group comes the artisan with his kit of tools, the soldier and the sailor side by side, the peer and the commoner on equal tooting, discussing the Act of Emancipation and its effects, the doctors of law and medicine in their academic robes, the man of science, the architect, the merchant, the representative of civic authority in municipal robes, and the peasantry of various types. Upon the shaft itself, in very slight relief, are indicated the heads of the multitude eagerly pressing forward to learn the full meaning and operation of the Act, while the summit is encircled by a rich cornice displaying the shamrock, leaves and blossoms being placed alternately. Towering above this splendid structure will stand the statue of O'Connell, habited in the garb so familiar to the people of Ireland during the long emancipation struggle, one hand in the breast of his buttoned up frock-coat, and the other holding a roll of papers; the cloak, which was his constant companion, unobtrusively yet suitably displayed, and the typical Irish features, beaming with the smile of confident purpose and kindly humor which endeared him to his followers. The dimensions of the monument are in keeping with the grandeur of the design, as will be understood when it is stated that the statue of O'Connell is twelve feet in height; each of the four winged Victories measure ten feet, and the figure of Erin is eight feet, those around it only being slightly less, and the whole structure rises to an altitude of forty feet. The statue, the cylinder of figures, and the Victories are cast in bronze, while the architectural portions are in granite and limestone. As a work of artistic merit this great effort of Foley's may be said to be unrivalled, the artist having brought to bear on what he regarded as his chef d'œuvre the results of careful historical study, an appreciative insight into the national character of the memorial, and a high poetical genius. The whole conception displays a sympathetic grasp of his theme worthy of the subject, O'Connell's great struggles being elaborately represented in the sculptor's design.

HAPPINESS IN THE ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

In a recent conversation with Mr. Conner Royal Opera House, (Toronto), he spoke as follows to a representative of a prominent journal in reply to a question concerning his health: "During the early part of last October I had a severe attack in my right knee, of what my physicians pronounced acute rheumatism. I used many so-called rheumatic remedies, without receiving any apparent benefit. Observing that St. Jacobs Oil was being constantly recommended by many of the leading members of our profession, I decided to give it a trial. Accordingly I purchased a bottle of the article and applied it as directed. From the first application I commenced to improve and before I used two-thirds of a bottle, I was entirely cured, and have experienced no return of my ailment."

A MODEST REQUEST.

A little Boston girl who had seen an engraved copy of Millais' "Prince in the Tower" in a picture-shop window, went in the other day and said to the shopkeeper: "I came to ask you if you would please take that picture out of your window. Every time I pass I look in, and the picture is so sad it makes me very unhappy. Won't you please take it away?"—New York Tribune.

A Chicago man who had seen a pie lying in a baker-shop window for several months, went in the other day and said to the shop-keeper: "I came to ask you if you would please take that pie out of your window. Every time I pass I look in; and the pie is so soggy and time-defying it makes me very unhappy. My wife, who used to make pies, is dead. Won't you please shoot the pie?"—Chicago Tribune.

OSCAR WILDE'S PAPA.

A contemporary in a biographical sketch of Oscar Wilde tells a story which is almost as broad as the famous one of which Lady Mary Wortley Montague was the subject. It says: "Whence Mr. Wilde got his aestheticism we know not. It was not from that worthy man of science, his father. His habits were Hibernian to the core, racy of the soil.' Dining out one day in Dublin, a lady, an intimate acquaintance, whom he took down to dinner, said: Now, really, Sir William, this is outrageous; you haven't washed your hands.' With great good humor the eminent oculist replied: 'I will bet you there's a dirtier hand than that here.' 'I don't believe it,' rejoined his fair companion 'Well, than, there,' said the knight, and he held up his other hand. He spoke the truth."

SHE WON THE WAGER.

Fred Flasher and Miss Florentia Flounce were discussing the mental power of controlling thought. Said Flasher: "I will give you a pair of gloves if you can think of positively nothing for five minutes and still be awake." "Done," she responded. Five minutes passed. "I've won the gloves," she exclaimed. "How did you manage to think of nothing for the whole five minutes?" he asked eagerly. "I fastened my mind firmly on your mustache and kept it there," she replied triumphantly. The referee awarded her the gloves.

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,

Agricultural Exhibitions.

The agricultural shows season is again on hand, and it is time that those chiefly interested therein and chiefly profited thereby, should now be on the alert to assist in making them successful. Of course the burden of responsibility rests with the officers and directors of the societies, but their efforts cannot insure success without the cordial co-operation of the farming community and general public. Everybody who takes enough interest in an agricultural society to become a member, commits himself in honor to do all that lies in his power to contribute to the success of the annual exhibition. Not only should the enterprise receive his cordial support, but he should it a point to become an exhibitor himself. If this year he has little that is worth showing, by exhibiting that, and seeing it placed alongside perhaps the better exhibit of his neighbor, his pride will be appealed to, and he will feel moved by an ambition to make a display next year, that will not be so easily eclipsed. This action and spirit becoming frequent, will result in the exhibition of an immense variety of articles, and the production of the best animals or articles of every class will be stimulated, and the success of agricultural shows will be an assured fact. This will do away with the unsatisfactory state of affairs that now generally obtains. Year after year the same names appear plentifully in the prize lists, simply because the owners of these names take a lively interest in such exhibitions. There is no reason why they should every year sweep the field, but this, that others do not take interest enough in these matters to become successful competitors. The benefit of agricultural societies is demonstrated by the fact that the successful exhibitors are invariably the most thrifty and prosperous of their class. The owners of mortgaged, half tilled, weed-grown, thistle-thatched farms are not among the prize takers. These facts, rightly realized and acted on by the great mass of farmers who now disregard their teaching, would result in an incalculable improvement in the agricultural and stock producing industries of the country.

Undue Influences.

The plentiful crop of Election protests that have resulted from the sowing of the late General Elections, the overwhelming majority of which charge bribery and undue influences as justification goes to show that there is something essentially rotten in the state of Canadian political morality. Though we are not prejudiced enough to say that the Reform party is entirely innocent, yet it must be conceded that the Conservative party achieved such a prominence in this line that their claims to a monopoly of the exercise of undue influence, are not likely to suffer from being seriously disputed. Whatever individual members of the Reform party may have accomplished in this direction, the party itself has not reduced bribery to a science, nor planned an election campaign with this as a prominent feature. It is difficult to draw the line rigidly between legitimate and undue influence, and there are indiscretions practised by the rank and file of either party, for which the party itself is not responsible, although it is necessarily credited with the attachable blame. Bribery direct and personal as a form of undue influence is one that is so easily discovered and detected that it carries with it its own punishment, but there are other forms of undue influence so applied as to boldly defy the severities of the Election law, and it is these forms that the Conservative party employed with such good effect at the late elections. The iniquitous gerrymandering act—if such an outrage may admit of the mild misnomer of undue influence—the palpable purchase of the franchise of certain ridings, by grants for public works and buildings, whose claims were just as valid years, as well as immediately before an election, the lavish but bogus promises to other localities, the purchase of class franchise by honoring representative individuals with political positions of trust, the appointment of partizan returning-officers, with the hope—abundantly justified, that they would nullify the franchise of constituencies in favour of their party, the pandering to and purchase of the influence of monopolies; these are all glaring examples of undue influence whose bold and shameless employment will be an historical shame spot on the page of Canadian history. That the country has blindly, if only temporarily tolerated the monstrous immorality is a matter of deep regret, and if sober afterthought do not bring repentance, repudiation and retribution, then the national character is radically corrupted and the outlook for the future is indeed dreary.

A Political Pendulum.

Our local contemporary is always unfair. In last week's EXAMINER a phrase was used to describe the political status of David Blain, and the Review dishonestly distorts it into a slur on our part on the physical condition of the oscillating politician. Our contemporary knows as well as can be that the meaning of the phrase was only political, and was used to indicate the neutral position of the man who is now dangling between the two parties, preparing to let himself down lightly, preliminary to going over, body and bones, to the Tory party. Physically, Mr. Blain, as far as we know, is all right. We have no belief in the hinted infirmity as to his head. If his heart were as level, so to speak, as his head, he would be a useful man. The probabilities are that ere long, he will, if the price appears to be about right, be a member of the Tory party, the more blatant and aggressive, because he will then be a renegade. Such political departures as Mr. Blain is evidently meditating, are by no means rare. He belongs to a class that is naturally prone to political immorality. A Reformer by birth, training, and association, the force of these facts kept him steady in the ranks till the present, when his talents having failed to meet with the substantial recognition they merit, he is trimming his sails for slipping over to the enemy, where there is a perpetual demand for pliable politicians, and dirty work at good wages guaranteed constant. The ranks of the Reform party are a bad place for those whose fingers itch for spoils, and influenced by the drift of inclination and the guerdon of grab, the shifty and shallow-scheming David is ready to desert. The Ontario Opposition is such a "ragged band" as to ability, that in the inevitable reconstruction Mr. Blain may see a chance for "placing" his abilities to good and substantial advantage.

Ontario vs. Quebec.

Quebec politics are not running the most smoothly. There is much talk of a coalition of parties, who propose joining forces and playing the role of British Columbia—to demand, and coerce if necessary, "better terms" from the Federal Government. This is not a little selfish of Quebec. That province is not content with virtually governing Ontario as far as as the influence of the Dominion Government may avail, but after having been better treated at the hands of the Federal authorities than any of the other provinces, has now the assurance to ask for "better terms." Quebec has been brought to the verge of ruin by the misrule of the Conservative party, and now Mr. Mousseau, at its head, is at his wits end. One Tory Government after another has added a fresh burden of debt. If Quebec is granted better terms, Ontario has as good if not a greater claim to the same consideration. Of course, Ontario not having been ruled for years by a Tory Government, is not plunged in debt like the sister province, and has not this reason for attempting to get her hands on a portion of the surplus now in the Dominion chest. The demands of Quebec at the present time will likely be embarrassing to Sir John. No doubt, as proven by the past, Sir John has it in his heart to grant the demands of Quebec to the uttermost, but then he has taken in hand interference in Ontario politics, and he will be naturally averse to taking any line of conduct that may tend to alienate this province. If he allows Quebec to dip her hand in the surplus vaults, he will arouse hostility in Ontario. This province is willing to give her sister province all the rights but she will not consent to contribute to a fund to make good the extravagance of Quebec. That would be a little more than we could stand. This province has contributed by far the larger share of the Dominion surplus, and has a right to have a voice in deciding whether the further encroachment on our rights will be permitted. At the dictation of Quebec, Sir John has attempted, and is still attempting, to deprive us of a large portion of our territory, and if he yields to the later demands of that province, he must expect that Ontario will practically object. Ontario has long fought against the dominating efforts of Quebec, expressed in the acts of Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues. The latter still have their grudge against this province, and we are still bound to resent their interference. The Government of Mr. Mowat have fought stubbornly and valiantly against encroachments on provincial rights; they have wisely and economically guided the affairs of the country. Instead of being, as Quebec is, plunged into debt, our finances are on a sound basis, and this province can do no better than to select Mr. Mowat to administer our affairs for another five years. And there is little doubt that the country will be true to its own interests and pronounce its verdict accordingly at the approaching local elections.

Editorial Notes.

Mr. Wm Trout of Hamilton's foundry is in Winnipeg superintending the placing in Craig's saw mill of the machinery sent up by William Hamilton.

IF the Mowat Government were actually as atrociously wicked as Tory journals' midsummer madness attempts to make them, they would have long since been blown up with dynamite, or struck with lightning. "When you have no case, abuse the opposite side."

OUR good Conservative contemporary, has a paragraph respecting the rule of the road, in which it proves that it is wrong to turn to the right. We have had the idea that our contemporary had pretty seriously fallen from grace but we never thought that he would boldly declare his determination to persevere in refusing to turn to the right.

THE Warder man is concerned lest the grabbing tendencies of Mr. Mowat shall prevent him from reaching the goal of ambition upon which he seems to have fixed his eager optics. In his last issue he moans:—"Mr. Mowat has not got the appointment of pound-keepers, but unless something is done to stop it he will have the appointment before this time next year."

THERE are up to August 3rd, thirty-five election protests entered for the whole Dominion. Of this number nineteen are entered against Conservative members elect and sixteen against Reformers. There are five cross petitions, twenty petitions are from Ontario, five from Nova Scotia, four from New Brunswick and four from Quebec. This promises a busy season for the election courts.

PARTIES who desire a change in the license laws are taught that they will be gratified by ousting Mr. Mowat. At London, Sir John declared that the license act was ultra vires of the local Government. What effect then will the substition of Mr. Meredith for Mr. Mowat have upon a matter over which the local government, according to Sir John, can have constitutionally no control?

THE chief distinction between Tory and Reform politicians, is that the latter toil and spin their energies for the benefit of the country and the promotion of the interests of honest government, while the former are inspired as to their zeal with the substantial reward that looms up in the future invitingly. Mr. Joseph Gibson the "champion roarer of the Tory party in the west," and, by the way, a great temperance advocate at other than election times, is to be rewarded with the postmastership of Ingersoll.

"THE trail of the serpent is over them all." The average Tory newspaper cannot allude to the most common-place fact without leaving on it the stain of party politics. The Belleville Intelligencer sneeringly says that of the sixteen wars in which England has been engaged during the last half century, the Liberal—"the pure party" are responsible for thirteen. This is the Tory way of stretching the truth of the simple fact that thirteen wars took place during the term of office of a Liberal Administration.

The Review maintains that the Canada Pacific Railway is not responsible for the excessive freight charges alluded to by us last week. To prove this it publishes the freight rates of the Canada Pacific which are very moderate to look at, and would be all right if adhered to. But the mere publication of such a table does not do away with the fact that the Canada Pacific road collected the exhorbitant rate of over five hundred per car from Toronto to Brandon. Does our contemporary believe that the Canada Pacific would retain fifteen or twenty dollars due, according to its freight rates, and remit the balance to the American railroad company, that according to the Review's logic must have made the overcharge? Not very likely. The Pacific road must take half the blame at any rate, and in such a huge swindle that is a good deal more than an honest corporation would care to assume.

Peterborough Markets.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 30th, 1882.

There is no bing doing in grain none offering. New fall wheat would bring $1.00 to $1.05. Spring $1 05 to $1.10, but owing to no offerings prices are uncertain. New barley will perhaps open from 50 to 55c. As to prices in New York, sales have been made for October delivery, No. 1 Canada, $1.00, which will give one some idea of the views of American millers. Oats are scarce; new ones have been sold at 55c. This figure not likely to hold up.

ON THE MARKET.

Saturday's market was lightly attended. Butter was in demand and brought in rolls, 20c. Eggs were in fair supply, price rather weaker; sold from 16 to 17c. Lamb was rather slow sale, from 8 to 10c. Chickens brought 40 to 50c if in good condition. Apples in fair supply, sold at 25 to 30 per peck; may be quoted now from $1.00 to $1 25 per bag and plentiful. Vegetables of all kinds are plentiful.

Cheese Market.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 30th.—No business done at the cheese fair held here to-day, buyers and sellers being all apart.

INGERSOLL Aug. 29.—Eight factories offered 2 512 boxes of cheese, mostly the first half of August make. Prices have declined and manufacturers being busy with harvest, holders are not pushing sales. Only sixteen factories were present, representing about 5000 boxes more than was offered of August make. 285 boxes sold, August make, at 11c. Seven buyers present.

Omemee.

Fall wheat, $1.20 to $1.25; spring wheat $1.23 to $1.25; goose wheat, $1.12½ to $1.00; flour per cwt., $3.00; Mutton per lb 8c to 10c; potatoes per bag, $ 1.75 to $1 12½; chickens, 40c to 50c per pair; butter per lb, 18c to 00c eggs; per doz., 17c to 17c.

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

The Contented Man,

Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $3.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

STIRLING.

A new lodge of Oddfellows has been started in Stirling. Ten of the charter members went to Belleville on Monday last, and were initiated in Mizpah lodge, of that city. There are several charter members of Oddfellows in Campbellford and they should follow the step of their Stirling brethren and represent the society there.

BOBCAYGEON.

Bobcaygeon enjoyed its civic holiday last Friday.

Already preparations are commencing for the next season's log crop. Several firms have sent men to the woods.

An agreeable hop took place at the Rockland, on Wednesday evening. The participants enjoyed themselves most heartily.

A concert was held on Friday evening last, in the Town Hall, given by the village visitors. The proceeds were handed over to the Park Committee.

A stop log having been taken out of the dam, the water in the upper lake is lowering, though it is still high for this season of the year.

NORWOOD.

Mr. Geo. Hendron has secured a contract for building 22 carts for Messrs. McDonald and Hendrie, Ontario & Quebec R. R. contractors.

Messrs. McDonald and McMahon, says the Register, contractors for the five mile section of the Ontario & Quebec Railway running through this village, commenced work on the 11th inst., with about fifty men. The trees on "Orange Hill" were first laid low, and then the hill itself attacked with pick-axe and shovel. Our blacksmiths and bakers are kept busy night and day. More men are being hired every day. Idle "Hastingsites" would find no difficulty in obtaining work here.

The Messrs. Harpers' have secured the contract of building five or six boarding houses for Mr. Sims—contractor for the five mile section of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, in the vicinity of Havelock.

HASTINGS.

On Monday, says the Star, as Mr. A. B. Gilbert, of 3rd con., Sidney, was threshing at the barn of Mr. R. Vandervot, Sidney crossing, with a new steam thresher, which was just got from the factory on the previous Saturday; a fire arose from the friction of the pulley, and the barn and contents, the machine and two teams were burned up. The fire spread so quickly that those inside had barely time to escape with their lives. The barn and contents were insured.

Last Friday a young son of Mr. Sidney Smith's had a narrow escape from drowning. It fell into the mill pond, and Mr. Wm. Stewart went to the rescue, and not a moment too soon, as the child had sunk twice before he reached it.

On the complaint of David Tullock, of Seymour, Mrs. Pomeroy and Victoria Cowan was arraigned before A. C. Huycke and J. Collins, Esq., J. P's., charged with wantonly and maliciously injuring a cow belonging to complainant. Defendants were heavily fined.

COBOURG.

The blue plum crop in this section says the Sentinel-Star promises to be a failure this season. One gentleman who has several plum trees in his garden says he cannot find enough fruit to swear by.

The World says that on Saturday, a petition against the return of Mr. Geo. Guillet, in the late election, was filed at Osgoode Hall, and the notice was duly served the same evening. The protest alleges the usual offences, of bribery, treating &c., by the candidate and his agents; and is founded upon evidence which has been accumulating since the contest. As the case will come before the Court in due time, (unless we have another premature dissolution,) it is our duty to refrain from anything beyond a mere announcement of the fact. The evidence however, is of such a character as to illustrate the manner in which the election was carried and to render it imperative upon the Reform party in the Riding to take the proceedings now reported.

PORT HOPE.

During the past week Mr. Smith, of Port Hope, shipped from Lindsay to Port Hope 50,000 cubic feet of pine board timber.

The Union Exhibition, East Durham and Hope, offers a silver cup to the winner of a bicycle race, to be contested the day of the Fair, October 4th.

Messrs. Smith and McDougall have just finished shipping from Wanbaushene to Port Hope, a large drive of 2,443 pieces of square and board timber, of 108,300 cubic feet.

By the Wednesday morning express, Mr. P. McCabe, Mr. A. Adams, and Mrs. Chas. Powers left for Manitoba.

Mr. Martin Griffin, the other day threshed from 2½ acres, 140 bushels of good barley. Sixty bushels to the acre is not bad for Ontario.

Jessie, the little daughter of R. N. Corbett, had a fall on Tuesday, which resulted in a double fracture to one of her arms. It is but a short time since the little child suffered from a break in the same place.

The death of Edward son of Mr. Joseph Marshall should be a warning to boys and children not to eat green fruit to excess. Cucumbers are also a dangerous element in producing fatal complaints.

It is rumoured that a connection of one of the wealthiest protestant families in town has announced her intention of seeking seclusion in the cloisters of an American Convent.

LINDSAY.

The plans for the town hall enlargement will be ready next week.

The new line of the Midland along Durham-st. runs through the premises between Mr. Geo. Weese and the corner. At the next lot it cuts off the kitchen from the house fronting on Durham-st.

The grounds around the separate school buildings have been under the care of Father Stafford, carefully gone over and improved. The walks are re-covered with fresh gravel and coal ashes, and the flower beds and grass trimmed.

Messrs. George Johnson and William Hickingbotham of Mariposa have given $15 to Oakwood agricultural society, to be divided in prizes for the three best colts from their Norman-Percheron stallion "Defiance." Prizes to be awarded at their next annual show, open to all by becoming members.

The 45th battalion go to camp at Cobourg for camp of exercise on Tuesday, Sept. 5th. They will remain camp for twelve days. No. 6 company, Lieut. U. Hopkins, Lindsay; No. 5, Fenelon Falls, Capt. McDonald; and No. 3, Omemee, Capt. Evans, are all under orders. Quarter-master Hughes will go the day before to draw supplies and camp equipage. The battalion is under the command of Col. J. Deacon.

Mr. E. Flood, late of the Warder, left on the evening train on Thursday for Toronto, en route for Manitoba. He will spend a few weeks looking up the properties in various localities in the province and in Winnipeg.

The Lindsay Paper Mills use from six to ten tons of straw per day of 24 hours.

Mr. C. D. Barr, of the Post, left Monday to join the press excursion on their trip to the Northwest.

The Lindsay lacrosse club, says the Warder, is practising hard to be ready for the championship of the united counties, which is to be played at Cobourg, on the Central Exhibition grounds, during exhibition week.

The Baptist church congregation are building a large addition at the rear of their church, which will enable them to place a commodious room 28x30 at the disposal of the Sunday school. It is also intended to make provision for vestry rooms. The work is being done by first-class workmen, and when completed will add materially to the appearance of the church.

A new lacrosse club has been started in Town named the "Young Ironclads." The following are the officers: Captain, P. S. Kennedy; secretary, Jos. Kennedy; treasurer, Cornelius Burke.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Mr. Russell is pushing on the brick-work of the Methodist church rapidly. He has the work completed to the plates on three sides of the building, and is now working at the base of the steeple.

The township of Seymour Corporate Seal has been mislaid.

Mrs. Robt. Johnston, who has been away to the land of her nativity, Scotland, renewing the acquaintances of her youthful days, for some weeks past, returned to her home in Campbellford, on Monday last.

The Bible Christian people are preparing for a bazar, which they intend to have about two weeks hence. A harvest dinner will be given in connection with it.

The Herald man is a sort of a pet among its patrons. Things are continually being laid on its table. These include for one week, some fine beets (not the subscriber but the vegetable) 14 inches in circumference, six stalks of spring wheat 5 feet 3 inches high, one potato weighing 14 ounces, and black currants one and three quarter inches in circumference.

ROBBERY.—On Saturday last Mr. Blute proprietor of the Blute House, Campbellford, missed a heavy gold chain and locket, the property of his wife. They were taken from her bedroom. His suspicions rested on two strangers who were stopping at the house, but in the absence of direct evidence he did not like to institute proceedings against them. They left Campbellford and came to Belleville on Monday. Mr. Blute followed them yesterday, and after inquiring at several jewelry shops discovered that they had valued the chain at Muncaster's. He then traced them to Trenton, where they were discovered and arrested, at the Queen's Hotel, on Monday, and taken to Belleville. The names of the two culprits are Thos. Woods and Frank Channel. Woods is from Lindsay, and Channel from Detroit. The former seems to be the real thief. The chain was found on him when he was arrested. Channel says that he met Woods in Detroit in June, and came with him to Toronto. The two came on to Peterborough together, and while there they ran out of funds. Channel wrote home for money, and soon after received it, but the two got on a spree together and spent nearly all that had been received. They came down to Campbellford, and when they arrived there, Channell says he had only $2.50 in his pocket. Woods then conceived the bold plan of purloining the chain and locket, and soon carried it into effect. On arriving in Belleville he detached the locket from the chain and gave it to Channel to keep, but the latter got frightened and hid it in an outhouse of the Dominion Hotel. When the pair were arrested Channel informed the police officers where the locket could be found, and it was recovered with little difficulty. Both the prisoners are young men, between 21 and 24 years of age. Woods bears his imprisonment with cheerfulness, but Channel evidently feels his position keenly.

Thursday afternoon, a little son of Mrs Irwin's aged about 9 years, while bathing in the river just above Mr. Dunk's sawmill, got out of his depth and was drowned. Several of his companions were standing around, but as they were not able to swim, they could not render him any assistance.

THE EGYPTAIN WAR.

The News from day to Day.

THURSDAY.

The Porte has once more changed front. It has removed the embargo upon the exportation of mules for the British service from Syria, in deference to Lord Dufferin's strong protest. It is announced that he has also agreed to England's terms for a Military Convention, which will be formally signed to-day.

The rebels have cut the Fresh Water Canal between Ismailia and Suez, but there is no fear of any serious result. Arabi appears to be still retreating from the Suez Canal, the banks along the whole length now being in the hands of the British. He is again massing his forces at Kafr-el-Dwar, where his entrunchments are being strengthened and at Tel-el-Kebir, where his main body is, and where the great battle of the campaign will be fought.

The absurdity of previous rumours concerning Arabi's intentions are now apparent. The reported rise in the Nile has probably hastened the movements of Sir Garnet's division, which has, already advanced from Ismailia, and a track is being laid as rapidly as possible to facilitate the movement of the troops, nearly all of whom are now landed.

FRIDAY.

Considerable excitement was caused yesterday by the report that Arabi's intrenched position at Tel-el-Kebir had been captured, with 2,000 prisoners. A later despatch, however, states that the position taken was Tel-el-Ma-Huta, a post about ten miles from Ismailia, which was not very strongly fortified. Two hundred prisoners, mostly sick and wounded, were captured. From his tactics, it is quite clear that Arabi does not care about risking a general engagement in the neighbourhood of the Canal. He will retire fighting, and draw the British force from beneath the shelter of their ironclads, when the hordes of Bedouins and irregular cavalry will have a better opportunity to harass their flanks and rear. It is Tel-el-Kebir, strongly entrenched though it is, but will probably await the arrival of the False Prophet and his hordes, when he will make his final stand at or near Zagazig, which he is strongly fortifying. He is also strengthening his lines at Kafr-el-Dwar.

The British force has advanced several miles from Ismailia, and will make a general advance on Sunday. A force from Suez will endeavour to reach Cairo, and save that place and its inhabitants from the fury of Arabi's soldiery.

In deference to Germany's advice the Sultan has adopted a conciliatory attitude towards England.

SATURDAY.

The suspicions of the past few days, that Russia and Turkey were approaching an understanding, have confirmed though that the precise nature of the agreement which has been arrived at between them may be is not known.

The Turkish delegates to the Conference yesterday presented the draft of a new Military Convention to Lord Dufferin, and immediately afterwards the Russian ambassador signified that his Government was desirous signing a Military Convention in regard to the occupation of Egypt upon certain conditions. Lord Dufferin has communicated with the home Government the nature of these demands. Turkey insists upon her troops being allowed to land, and that her officers be given independence of action, and has appointed an Ultra-Moslem to the position of commander of the Turkish forces in Egypt. This appointment could hardly be satisfactory to England.

The operations of the British troops on Thursday and yesterday were marked by an uninterrupted series of brilliant successes. Sir Garnet Wolseley's official report of the battle of Magfar, where with 2,000 British troops he held 10,000 rebels at bay on Thursday is characteristic. He modestly remarks that although opposed by these overwhelming odds he thought it inconsistent with the traditions of the Queen's army to retire before any number of Egyptians, and so decided to hold his ground until reinforcements arrived. Although the Egyptian artillery fire was precise and the small force was flanked, they gallantly held their position until reinforcements arrived. In a later engagement a number of Krupp guns and a train of 75 car-loads of provisions were captured. The advance guard is rapidly moving in the direction of Cairo, and Arab will probably be forced to retire upon Cairo, contesting each foot of ground until his entrenchments near that city are reached.

The request of Prince Ibrahim, son of the ex-Khedive, and nephew of the present Khedive, to be allowed to serve with the British army, has been refused, in order that his presence in Egypt may not lead to complications and unpleasantness.

MONDAY.

The latest news from the seat of war is of a rather unsatisfactory nature. Flushed by his recent successes, obtained with little loss, General Wolseley attacked the Egyptian position at Mahuta again on Saturday. He, however, met with unexpected opposition. Train after train load of Egyptians arrived from Tel-el-Kebir, and the Egyptian cavalry, which was in very strong force, swept around the British flanks. The troops advanced gallantly to the attack, but were driven back by the tremendous fire of the Egyptian artillery and musketry. The troops, after a battle lasting all day, were repulsed with considerable loss. Sir Garnet Wolseley, recognizing the gravity of the occasion, has summoned all his reserves to the front. He has also demanded more troops from the home Government. Locomotives have arrived at Suez from India, and a rapid forward movement of the Indian contingent in the direction of Cairo may be looked for.

The Port has at last signified its intention to proclaim Arabi a rebel and sign the Military Convention offered by England. A small force of Turkish troops has arrived at Port Said, but their plea that they are only the annual relief for the garrison was not accepted. Their movements are watched, and any attempt to disembark will be resisted by force. Lord Dufferin has insisted that if the Turkish contingent be allowed to land at all they must not land at Alexandria, Port Said, or Suez.

In order to disarm the cry that the present is a war against Islam, Lord Dufferin has given a promise that Mahommedan pilgrims may use the canal en route to Mecca.

TUESDAY.

The results of the engagements of Thursday and Friday followed by the severe fighting of Saturday appear to have been more important than was at first anticipated. At our men were roughly used the Egyptians were fairly cut up and their rout was complete. The enemy fled in disorder, throwing away their arms and accoutrements.

The immense value of the Indian contingent in Eastern warfare has been demonstrated by the rapid march of an escort of Bengal Lancers from Suez to Ismailia in two days. Now that locomotives have arrived from India the work of relaying the old railway to Cairo is being pushed forward, and the Indian contingent will then advance upon the capital.

Sir Garnet Wolseley is determined to give the enemy no time to recover from his reverses. He will divide his force, leaving a brigade under General Graham to invest Arabi's stronghold at Tel-el-Kebir, and will himself advance with the main body of his army upon Cairo. This movement will probably be supported by the Indian contingent, which will approach the city from another direction, and cut off retreat to the Upper Nile. Advices from Cairo represent the population quiet, but the military are very much excited. The citadel is held by a few loyal Turkish and Circassian Pashas, assisted by Europeans, who will probably succeed in holding out until Wolseley's arrival.

Arabi is very tenacious of Kafr-el-Dwar, and has sent the flower of his army there. He is strengthening his entrenchments, and appears determined to fight the battle of the campaign there, probably hoping in case of defeat to make good his retreat to Tripoli. The movements of the British troops yesterday included the occupation without resistance of Sinn, three miles from Kassassin.

The vigilance of the outposts and officers has been rewarded by the interception of many despatches to Arabi. His chief engineer and military adviser has been captured and is held a prisoner.

At Constantinople there is a cessation of activity in diplomatic circles noticeable for several days past. Austria has given her support to Russia in the demand that England pledges herself not to seek any exclusive advantage in Egypt.

WEDNESDAY.

Another brilliant achievement has been won by British arms in the East. General Graham with a small force found himself surrounded near Kassassin by a force of Egyptians vastly superior in point of numbers. The enemy advanced bravely and in face of a very heavy fire from the British lines were rapidly gaining ground. The cavalry, which were several miles away, were signalled to for relief, and by a skilful march succeeded in reaching the lines of the Egyptians unobserved. At the critical moment the cavalry made a brilliant charge upon the enemy, riding up to the guns and sabreing the gunners. This gallant exploit turned the fortune of the day, and the Egyptians fled in the wildest disorder, many jumping into the canal to escape the sabres of the cavalry. All the enemy's ammunition was captured.

The new Ministry which has been formed at Alexandria does not meet with much favour, and is generally regarded as weak.

The terms upon which England offered to sign a Military Convention have been accepted by the Porte, and it is announced that the formal documents will be signed in a few days. Whether the Turkish troops will be sent to Egypt in force is, however, still a matter of conjecture.

The trouble which has been brewing for some time past between Greece and Turkey appears to have broken out. Reports from the frontier state that two engagements have taken place, in each of which the Greeks were worsted, and the result of a third conflict is not yet known. Both parties accuse the other of being the aggressor, and Greece has reserved the right of demanding compensation.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO'S
IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR
A NEW DISCOVERY.
For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter, so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.
But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.
It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It
Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made.
And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.
BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.
If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (26)

Farm, Garden and Household.

Another Farmer Swindle.

Some exchanges have unearthed another swindle, and the farmer is the victim. This time a fellow comes along driving a shining rig, and sells carpet by the sample. He offers three-ply ingrain at thirty-seven and one-half cents per yard, and genuine Brussels, at forty-three and one fourth cents. The farmer selects the pattern he wants, the agent writes the number of yards, the price; the farmer signs the order (?) and the next week he has his note in the bank to pay; and he never sees or hears of the carpet man any more,

Canada Thistles.

A run of several hundred miles through numerous counties during the past week shows that the Canada Thistle Act is practically a dead letter. Scarcely any indications are seen that its provisions are ever thought of by Ontario farmers. In every direction thistles are seen growing with seemingly conscious impunity and in native luxuriance. With more than a land-leaguer's pertinacity they dispute with the crops the ownership of the soil. In every county whole miles of Canada thistles remain uncut until the day of harvest. On one occasion in discussing the question of prohibitory legislation, John Bright gave as one objection to such laws the improbability of enforcing them. There is no doubt that a law which is a dead letter is not a benefit but an evil. It brings all law and authority into dispute. If the above principle were applied to the Canada Thistle Act it would be repealed. If the law is impracticable it should be abolished. If it is not its provisions should be enforced, and the duty of Government should be to find machinery by which this can be done.

Hints for Farm and Garden Work for September.

SEPTEMBER is the first month of the Autumn and with it begins again the round of the year's work with the sowing of the Winter grain. This work is of great importance, because it is the first operation in the new round of crops, grass seed being usually sown with the Fall grain and the soil being manured for the next few years. Sowing Fall grain and harvesting corn is the principal work for this month.

FITTING THE SOIL for wheat or rye is of the greatest importance. Good and thorough plowing is indispensible, for not only should the soil be well broken up that the plant food in it may be liberated, but the Fall grain requires a fine mellow bed for its successful germination and future growth. Much damage may occur to the crop in the course of the Winter, by reason of failure or neglect in this respect. The plants may start to grow and look well for a time, but having poor weak roots they are thrown out by the frost and perish when the cold weather arrives.

THE SEED BED must be fine and mellow and it is better that the surface be cloddy and lump rather than the soil just below it.

HARROWING THE SOIL thoroughly produces just the condition required for the seed. This brings the lumps to the surface and works the fine soil down where it is made compact but yet mellow. Repeated and thorough harrowing with a heavy harrow is much more effective for this purpose than plowing and it is better to give three or four extra harrowings in fitting the soil for any crop than one extra plowing, if the first plowing is well done.

ROLLING may often do more harm than good. Its purpose is to crush the clods and make the soil fine and it should be used for none other. When it is merely used to make a smooth surface, at this season it does mischief. Afterwards it may be used to advantage on the growing grain under some conditions, which we shall note when the time for it arrives. But except for breaking down rough cloddy soil it is not advisable to use the roller at this season, and then it should be used immediately after the plow and while the clods are moist and soft and easily crumbled.

IN SOWING ON STUBBLE, a growth of volunteer oats from scattered seed generally appears. Some farmers think this is to be a benefit to the young crop. It would be about the same in this respect as to have a lot of pigs turned in with a flock of sheep to feed and sleep with them expecting the pigs to keep the sheep warm. But the pigs would rob the sheep of some of their food, and the oats would do the same to the wheat and any protection they might afford would be an injury and no benefit whatever. Therefore it should be an object to get rid of all this weedy growth.

MANURE AND LIME.—It is usual to give as much manure as possible to the Winter grain. As a rule this is plowed in and we do not think there is any better plan than this. But it is always beneficial to use lime in this case. The lime exerts an excellent effect upon the manure, helping to decompose it and also upon the soil in several ways. When lime is employed, it is spread upon the plowed ground and harrowed in; being first air slaked until it is a fine powder, From 20 to 50 bushels per acre is the usual quantity.

SUPERPHOSPHATE OF LIME is a valuable fertilizer for wheat or rye and when lime is not used this may be. It is not well to use both together as the lime injuriously affects the superphosphate and renders it insoluble. When the seed is drilled it is quite safe to drill in the fertilizer with the seed, 150 to 250 lbs per acre is a proper quantity.

SELECTION OF SEED.—This is also of great importance and intelligent farmers for thousands of years past have understood its advantage. 2,000 years ago Virgil wrote in respect to this: "I have seen seed culled out and selected with much care, but yet it would degenerate unless the largest was carefully chosen year after year." This is nothing more than what Darwin has called "improvement by selection" and what many persons now-a-days profess to think a new discovery. It should however not be neglected by the farmer who is anixous to improve and to do good work It is a waste of money to pay strangers double of treble prices for seed when one by taking the care required can improve his own seed equally well and so save money. Remember, "a dollar saved is a dollar earned.

RUST AND SMUT are frequently very destructive of wheat and other grain. The wheat especially suffers from them. These are really very small plants, a species of fungi similar to mould which live under the wheat and deprive it of its sap and destroy its substance. These plants are sown by seed as much as the wheat is and the small brown particles of smut are the seed. These adhere to the grains of wheat and are sown with them. They grow and enter into the roots of the plant and are less or more vigorous as the weather is cold and dry or hot and damp. They may be prevented by steeping the seed in strong brine or lime water or both mixed or in a solution of four ounces of blue vitriol to one gallon of water

ROOT CROPS.—Where the roots are crowding each other in the rows, they may be thinned and the surplus given to the cattle. As a rule, however, two five pound roots are better than one twelve pound root because small ones are more solid and nutritious.

CUTTING CORN.—As soon as the corn is glazed we cut the crop. The fodder is injured by longer standing and the growth is not benefitted. The risk of frost too is avoided. A frost which scorches the leaves and kills the plants reduces the feeding value of the fodder one half.

BUCKWHEAT is to be cut also before frost. It is useless waiting until all the grain is ripe, for this plant will keep on growing and blossoming for weeks yet, if frost did not ripen it. As soon as the grain on the lower branches is ripe, the crop should be cut, the rest of the grain will fill and ripen in the stook Cut while damp with dew with a cradle or reaper and rake up and set up in gravels without tying them. And as soon as the grain is ripe haul it in and thrash it as it is hauled. This crop is never to be stacked or put away as it heats and spoils so readily.

LATE POTATOES.—As a measure of precaution every one of the last brood of potato-beetles should be destroyed. If this were done everywhere, there would be an end of this pest. In France there is a law compelling owners of land to echeniller their farms, orchards and gardens; this is, to capture and destroy all the caterpillars, and the result is that there are no such productive orchards and gardens elsewhere. When we have as much common sense our troubles in this way will cease too. But every farmer should feel it his duty to do all he can for himself. Every potato beetle left this Fall will lay more than 1,000 eggs next spring.

LIVE STOCK.—As a general thing it is well at this time to see that all the live stock is well taken care of and prevented from falling back, so that they enter the Winter in the best condition. "An animal well summered is half wintered."

INSURE YOUR BUILDINGS.—It is better to be safe than sorry. One never knows when an accident may happen, and when a farmer knows his buildings are insured he will be apt to sleep more comfortably than when he knows an accident may very seriously embarrass him.

CLEARING UP in the fields, the garden and the orchard should be thoroughly well done. Every thing that will make manure should go to the manure pile; all the rest should be burned.

TREES FOR FALL PLANTING should be ordered at once and the ground where they are to be planted well plowed and harrowed and otherwise prepared. Fall planting will make a difference of a year in the growth of the orchard.

THE FAIRS should be well attended. Every farmer should go and take his wife and children and see, and show them, everything that is to be seen. There will be found plenty worth looking at and studying.

THE BAD AND WORTHLESS

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H.B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H.B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 34-4t

TRANSIT OF VENUS.

On the 6th of December the astronomers of the civilized world will have an opportunity to observe for the last time in their lives Venus crossing the sun's disk. The next time that the transit will be visible will be in the year 2,004. After the coming transit is over the members of the expeditions of astronomers will make their observations, which will occupy them some months. Venus is now growing more brilliant every evening. Through the autumn she will continue to grow more and more brilliant, until she appears as a thin crescent, a silver bow. Then she will disappear as a star, to reappear on the 6th of December as a black dot on the sun. The transit will be observed in Western and Central Europe, North and South America and Australia, and thousands of telescopes will be turned upon the sun from public and private observatories.

THE DOCTOR'S LAST HAPPY RESORT. Evansville, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882. I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to use a remedy that had cured one of my former patients. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—Leading M. D., of Evansville. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store Large size $1.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of MRS. DENOIT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

MRS. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free at the office. 23

CHARLES LAMB AND THE CHEESE.

The late Charles Matthews used to tell, with great glee, a little story of Charles Lamb, which he vouched as authentic, and believed to be unpublished. I am indebted for it to Mr. Henry S. Leigh (the Poet of Cockayne) who had it from the lips of his friend, the famous actor. One evening Mary Lamb took a sudden and violent fancy to have some Stilton cheese for supper, an article of which they had not a scrap in the house. It was very wet and getting rather late; but Charles, with that self-denial which showed itself in a life-long devotion to his sister, at once volunteered to try whether any could be got. He sallied forth, and reached their cheese-monger just as the shutters were being put up. In reply to his demand, he was assured that they had some fine ripe Stilton; and the shopkeeper proceeded to cut off a slice. As it lay on the scales Lamb's attention was forcibly arrested by the lively gambols of a number of maggots, which came to the surface of the "fine ripe Stilton." "Now, Mr. Lamb," said the cheese-monger, "shall I have the pleasure of sending this home for you?" "No, th-th-thank you," said Charles. "If you will give me a bit of twine I cou-cou-could, p'rhaps, l-l-l-lead it home."

TESTIMONY OF AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN.—Proofs which authenticate the claims of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES to be regarded as the finest pulmonic in use, emanate in many instances from physicians of eminence. Dr. J. Corlis, of St. Thomas, writes as follows:—

"During ten years of active practice, I have had occasion to prescribe Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Since your preparation came under my notice I have tried it, and take great pleasure in saying that it has given great satisfaction and it is to be preferred to any I have ever used or recommended. I have used it in my own family during heavy colds, and in every instance a happy result has followed. I cheerfully recommend its use in all cases of debility arising from weakness of the muscular or nervous system."

What can be more convincing than this. Here is a professional man of long practice and high reputation bearing direct and positive testimony to the value of a remedy which he has thoroughly tested. Who can read and doubt? Assuredly no one of common sense.

This matchless specific for throat and lung disease is also most serviceable in scrofulous cases. Purchasers should be careful to observe that each wrapper has a fac simile of the firm's signature upon it. Prepared only by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Can.

The most wonderful curative remedies of the present day, are those that come from Germany, or at least originate there. The most recent preparation placed upon the market in this country, is the GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR, which has never been known to fail in curing a single case of impotency, spermatorrhœa, weakness and all diseases resulting from self-abuse, as nervous debility, inability, mental anxiety, languor, lassitude, depression of spirits and functional derangements of the nervous system. For sale by druggists, or sent free by mail on receipt of the price, $1.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00. Address F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, O., sole agent for the United States. Send for circular. 34-2t

IN IRRITABILITY, restlessness, want of sleep, invalids will profit by contrasting physiological nutritive methods of furnishing the nervous system elements of repair as in DR. WHEELER'S Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, with the practice of exhibiting stimulants and anodynes to spur up the tired nerves. The nutritive method is restorative and permanent, while stimulants and anodynes are temporary in effect, contributing nothing to build up, and are mischievous in inducing a train of habits that may wreck the general health.

SANDERSON'S

OLD LOVE.

I met her, she was thin and old;
She stooped, and trod with tottering feet;
The hair was gray that once was gold,
The voice was harsh that once was sweet;
Her hands were wrinkled, and her eyes,
Robbed of the girlish light of joy,
Were dim; I felt a sad surprise
That I had loved her when a boy.

But yet a something in her air
Restored me to the vanished time;
My heart grew young and seemed to wear
The brightness of my youthful prime.
I took her withered hand in mine,
Its touch recalled a ghost of joy,
I kissed it with a reverend sigh,
For I had loved her when a boy.

A WASTED LIFE.

"I have tickets for the concert to-night, Abba," said James Henley, coming into the sitting-room, where his wife was running a machine with a busy whirl.

"Oh, James, how I wish I could go!"

The light died away from her husband's face in a second.

"Wish you could go, Abba! Why, of course you will go."

I can't, James. I must finish these three dresses before Sunday, and it will take every minute."

"Three dresses!"

"For Jennie, Susie, and Lotta. It is Easter Sunday, you know, and all the spring things are ready but these dresses."

"But this is only Wednesday."

"I know, James, but look at the work. There are overskirts to each, and ruffles on all the waists. Jennie has three flounces."

"I suppose it is useless for me to repeat what I have said so often, Abba: that you are foolish in your choice of work. Little girls do not require the finery you put upon your children."

"But all the children in the congregation are well dressed, James. You cannot afford to put the sewing out, so I must do it."

"Let the children dress more simply, then. Come, Abba, stop that buzz for once and go to this concert. I think we can all survive the disgrace if the children wear some of the dresses they have, on Sunday. It is seldom that any really good music is in our reach at L——, that I hate to miss hearing it."

"Can't you go?"

"And leave you here? I should not enjoy it if I knew that you were stitching here. Come!"

With a heavy sigh, as if James was expecting a sacrifice instead of giving a pleasure, Abba left the room, and went to her own apartment to dress for the concert. While she dressed she was calculating closely the time she must save to make up for her evening of pleasure. By rising an hour earlier and retiring an hour later, she might be able to finish the dainty silks that were to excite the envy of all the mothers of L——on Sunday. All through the evening, while her husband drank in all the sweet sounds in which he delighted, Abba, with her face all polite interest, was thinking of the unfinished work.

"Was it not delightful?" James said, as they walked home in the soft spring moonlight.

"Delightful! I am so glad I went, James. Mrs. Gordon had on her new spring suit, and her dresses all come from New York. The trimming on her basque is quite a new style, and I am sure I can put Jennie's on in the same way."

So the talk went on, and the sewing machine whirred for two hours after James slept, so that Abba might not forget how the trimming was put upon the new basque she had seen.

Sunday morning shone clear and cloudless. Mrs. Henley had put the last stitch into Lotta's dress as the clock struck twelve, and she awakened with a pain in her chest and a headache, but with a feeling of triumph. Her children would wear their new spring suits, that had cost nothing but the material.

Nothing! Mrs. Henley did not estimate the hours spent over the machine, the weariness, the neglect of many little duties. There had been no actual money laid out in dressmaking, so it was clear gain on material.

Very pretty the children looked when they were ready for church. Jennie and Susie, twins of ten years old, were dressed alike in delicate pearl colour, trimmed with blue, and hats of the newest shape with blue ribbons. Lotta wore cerise colour with cerise trimming, for Lotta was a brunette of seven.

The charges at starting for Sunday school were:

"Be sure you lift your overskirts when you sit down, don't lean back upon the streamers of your hats, and walk where you will not soil your light boots. Don't strain your gloves, and lift your flounces when you kneel down."

"It is such a relief that they are all dressed," said Abba, as the children started, their little parasols jauntily held, and their whole air showing their appreciation of their new finery.

"Over-dressed, Abba!" was the reply.

"Your own dresses are not more elaborate."

"It is the fashion now to cut children's dresses like ladies'. But you ought to be proud of your children, James. Everybody compliments me upon the taste with which I dress them.

"Abba!" Mr. Henley said suddenly, leading his wife to the mirror, "look at your own face."

"Well?" she said, wondering what he could mean.

"Your cheeks are white as chalk, there is a heavy line under your eyes, and your whole air is that of a woman worked to death."

"James, what nonsense!"

"It is not nonsense. I wish it was. Five years ago you had the complexion of a child—as clear and rosy as Susie's. Your eyes then were bright—full of animation. You had young children, a house to keep in order, and just half our present income. Yet you could find leisure then for a daily walk, could enjoy an occasional evening of social pleasure, or some entertainment. I had a wife then."

"James! What do you mean?"

"I mean that in place of my happy, healthy wife, I have a sickly, overworked seamstress. These dolls that have just gone out have none of the grace of childhood. They are becoming little pieces of vanity, all absorbed in their finery. Their underclothing would do for signs in an emporium of linen, with embroidery, ruffles, and tucks."

"But I do it all myself, James."

"Exactly. You are stitching your life into the garments of children who would be far happier, healthier, and better in the simple clothing suited to their years."

"You are so old-fashioned, James. You would not have your children look like frights?"

"You know as well as I can tell you that I like to see them neat and clean, but I do not like to see them dressed like fashion plates at the expense of your health."

"Oh, I am well enough. I am pale to-day because I sat up late last night. But I must dress for church, or we will be late."

The glad Easter service passed over Mrs. Henley with but little impression. To her chagrin, the little Godwins, who had all of their dresses direct from New York, had an entirely new style of overskirt, that made Susie and Lotta look quite old-fashioned in the eyes of their mother. While the sermon was read, Mrs. Henley was trying to contrive some way of remodelling the obnoxious skirts. All the triumph of the morning in the really beautiful dresses was gone, gone. The Godwin girls outdressed the Henley girls.

Summer came, and the long spring days were spent in preparing a seaside wardrobe for the children, for Mr. Henley, by the advice of his physician, was going to take his wife to the ocean air.

The pain in the side had become very troublesome, and there was a little cough that meant wakeful nights. The pale cheeks were seldom tinged with a healthy colour, and the eyes were languid and heavy. People spoke pityingly of Mrs. Henley as "quite an invalid," and her husband mourned over the alteration of his wife.

He insisted upon having a physician, who advised fresh air and exercise, and a tonic. Abba obediently swallowed the tonic, took a daily walk, and then made up for lost time by stitching far into the night. For were not the Goodwins, the Wilcoxes, and all the leading fashionables of L——going to the same hotel where Mr. Henley had taken rooms? and could Jennie, Susie, and Lotta have one inch less ruffling than they possessed?

Mr. Henley protested in vain. If he sent a seamstress to help his wife, it only gave an excuse for a dress or two more to be made, and he finally gave up the attempt to bring Abba to a reasonable ambition. He was an affectionate husband, a kind father, liberal in providing for his family, but his salary was not sufficiently large for him to rival the expenditure of the fashionable friends that Abba had made. It was entirely vain to tell him that it was in his wife's favour that she could, upon smaller means, dress herself as well as any in L——. He obstinately maintained that his wife's health, her companionship, her interest in his pursuits, in the books he read, her music, and her sweet voice in singing were far more valuable than twenty-seven flounces upon Jennie's dress, or fifty tucks in Lotta's skirt.

Still he endured as patiently as might be the loss he deplored of Abba's bright interest in what had interested both. He tried to admire the really exquisite specimens of needlework brought for inspection.

He only shrugged his shoulders when his little girls minced along with dainty, fine-lady airs, instead of bounding with the freedom of childhood. He bore the steady whirr of the sewing machine in the evening, instead of the voice or music of his wife.

But when Abba's health began to give way he exerted his authority, and found he had been silent too long. The love of dress had grown stronger, and the ambition that had taken so deplorable a path could not be put aside. Abba submitted to all James' directions while he was away.

But the summer wardrobes completed, the dainty bathing-dresses trimmed, the Saratoga trunks packed, Abba faithfully promised James to rest during their summer sojourn at the seaside. With a sudden consciousness of growing weakness, there came to her an appreciation of her husband's love and patience that had been numbed. She began to realize that she had let her ambition for dress overshadow her love for her husband, and that she had wronged him in depriving him of the companionship he had prized so highly.

"I will rest while I am gone, and when I come back, James, I will give my evenings to you, as I did when we were first married."

This was a parting promise never to be enacted. Only a few days' rest were allowed her, before an acute attack of lung fever prostrated her. James left his business to hurry to the seaside, a nurse was engaged, and medical skill did its utmost. But the constitution was weakened by confinement, and while the summer days were in their full beauty, Mrs. Henley knew she was dying.

It was a bitter thought. Life held so much that was precious; her kind, loving husband, her beautiful children, her happy home—all must be left.

"A mysterious dispensation of Providence," said Mrs. Goodwin; "such a good mother. And those children are just the age when they most need a mother's care."

But Abba Henley, in the dread hour she bade farewell to hope, wound her arms about her husband's neck, and sobbed:

"If I had only listened to you, James, I might have been a guide to our children, a companion to you for many years, and when I died have left loving memories instead of a trunk of fine clothing. I have wasted my life."

And James Henley, in his widower's weeds, with his three little girls in sombre black beside him, wonders mournfully how many of the mothers of the land are wasting their lives in the same struggle for appearances.

"Have you had your ears pierced?" asked a young lady of her chum, who lived next door. "I should think so, hearing you sing every day." There is now a great gulf of coldness between the two.

Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren Co., N.Y., writes:—She has been troubled with asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agent among her neighbors.

It is the common observation that the standard of natural health and mormal activity, among American women, is being lowered by the influence of false ideas and habits of life, engendered by fashionable ignorance and luxurious living. It is a happy circumstance that Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham has come to the front to instruct and cure the sufferers of her sex.

WHAT TORONTO'S WELL-KNOWN GOOD SAMARITAN SAYS:—I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. CLARA E. PORTER.

One of the caravans of American tourists in Europe this summer is composed of seventy-five women and one man. The case is not as bad, however, as it looks. The man is not the husband of the women, but simply their escort. Yet even in that capacity he is entitled to some commiseration.

Polson & Co., druggists, Kingston, express themseives as suprised at the sale of Burdock Blood Bitters in that locality, where patent medicines are hard to introduce, but, say they, "the gross last ordered a few days since, will convince you that the demand is good, and that it is giving satisfaction to our customers. 34-2t

Much serious sickness and suffering might be prevented by promptly correcting those slight derangements that, otherwise, often develop into settled disease. When a cold or other cause checks the operation of the secretive organs, their natural healthy action should be restored, and inflammatory material removed from the system. Ayer's Pills acomplish this quickly, safely and surely.

The nearer we follow nature in the treatment of disease, the more successful we are. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is natures's pecific for Cholera-Morbus, Dysentery, Colic, and all forms of summer complaints. It speedily cures Canker in the stomach or bowels, and is safe for infants as well as adults. 34-2t

Practical young belle to utterly utter young man: "Algernon!" "What is it, my pensive lily?" "You ought to study up the theory of ensilage, my languid one." "Why?" "Oh, it shows how to keep green things green, until the winter's gone, and don't you wish to live till spring, Algy?"

The indications of the approaching season seem to threaten an unusual amount of the various forms of bowel complaints. Our readers would do well to supply themselves with some reliable remedy like Doctor Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as a safeguard against sudden attacks of Cholera-Morbus, Colic, Dysentery, &c., that unless promptly treated are often suddenly fatal. 34-2t

"Do I look good in this suit, darling?" he asked. "Of course you do, George," she murmured. "You look good in anything." "Do you really mean it?" he asked. "Of course she does," said her little brother. "I heard her say yesterday that you would look well in a lunatic asylum."

Scrofula is a depraved condition of the system often hereditary, and characterized by indolent tumours, glandular affections, bad blood and a low condition of vitality that tends towards consumption, which is really scrofula of the lungs. Burdock Blood Bitters cure scrofulous diseases from a pimple to an abscess, by purifying the blood, correcting the secretions and giving a healthy tone to each organ. 34-2t

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

MR. MCFARLANE WILSON, proprietor of China Hall and the Silver Bazaar, George st., corner of Simcoe, sold from his shelves the magnificent silver epergne presented to Dr. H. C. Burritt, on Wednesday night.

KICKED BY A HORSE.—On Thursday last Mr. Edward Brown, of this place, was severely kicked by a horse, in Lakefield. He went into the stable and touched the animal before speaking to it, a severe kick was the result, the caulk of the shoe, striking him on the upper lip, making a severe cut and disturbing the setting of several teeth.

THE READY REVOLVER.—On Monday morning some youngsters were fooling with a revolver, in a Hunter St. back yard of the Oriental Hotel, when it accidentally exploded, the bullet penetrating the dress of one of the female servants who was looking on and inflicting a slight wound. A change of position of the muzzle of the weapon might have resulted fatally.

PROMENADE CONCERT.—Don't forget to note the change of date for the Promenade Concert of the 57th Batallion Band, which takes place on Thursday evening, August 31st. This will be the last opportunity the public will have of hearing the band, for over a fortnight, for they leave on the 5th September, to go into camp, and remain till the 17th.

The Lindsay chief of police named, on the lucus a non lucendo principle, Smart, is peculiar, to say the least of it. Last Friday he telegraphed to the police authorities here to arrest a man, charged with the theft of $75. The arrest was promptly made, but when apprized at it coolly repied that the wrong man had been taken. It is said to be not the first time similar "smart" actions have been indulged in,

TRAFFIC RETURNS. The Traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending August 19, 1882, was as follows: Passengers and mails, $6,062.32; freight, $ 14,483.37; total, $20,545.69 as compared with $17,836.85 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $2,708.84; and the aggregate traffic to date is $628,575.66, being an increase of $156,641.78 over 1881.

THEIR NEW UNIFORMS. Our policemen last Saturday appeared on the street, encased in their new uniforms, for the first time. The uniform consists of a closely buttoned frock coat, of navy blue cloth, with silver buttons bearing the letter P, blue pants of the same material, and black felt helmets. Thus equipped, Messrs. Pidgeon and Adams are as fine appearing specimens of physical manhood as can be found in any police force in the Dominion, and their efficiency is equal to their appearance. The uniforms are from the establishment of Messrs. T. Dolan & Co., and Mr. Pete Simons is the sartorial architect.

A BAD BREAK. On Monday night about ten o'clock some young men were indulging in some pretty rough horse play on George Street in front of the Cluxton Block, and in the scuffle one of the party was thrown against the plate glass window of Muncaster's jewelery store with such force as to smash the glass, a large space at the bottom being pushed clean out. The contents of the window however were not injured by the falling fragments. The parties are not known, but the police have a clue and will likely discover the sportive young savages. Of course the glass was insured and the loss will come out of the insurance company.

LAKE GEORGE REGATTA.—Harper's Weekly of August 26th. has an illustrated article on the recent Lake George Canoe Regatta. Among other points of interest it mentions that the participating canoes were divided into four great classes, one of which is distinguished as "The Peterborough." The Canadians are represented as "clinging to single bladed paddles * * * and as in every case where single and double bladed paddles were brought into competition the victory rested with the former, the question as to which of them is the better seems to be definitely settled," and we might add that therefore the Canadians principally Peterboronians, won every race for which they entered.

HARNESSMAKERS' UNION.—The members of the Peterboro' Harnessmakers' Union, No. 3, met in the Fire Hall on Saturday night for the purpose of organization. The entire membership was present. The following officers were elected: President, R. W. McFadden; Vice-President, R. J. Kidd; Secretary, James Billington; Treasurer, W. Wright. The constitution and by-laws of the Toronto union were substantially adopted, and a committee composed of Messrs. McFadden, Most, Boyce, Billington and Kidd appointed to draft a schedule of prices for piece work to be adopted by the union. The secretary was instructed to communicate with the craft in neighbouring towns with a view of inducing them to form similar unions. So far as can be learned the "bosses" and the union are working harmoniously. The nights of meeting will be the first Wednesday in each month.

THE REGULAR MEETING of the School Board takes place next Tuesday night.

READY FOR BUSINESS.—We note that Mr. Richard Hall has had his flour mill thoroughly overhauled, and put in first-class condition. He will be ready to make a good run when the grain begins to move, and the N. P. cools off a little.

THE POLICE have no clue to the idiotic party that took $50 from the safe of Darcy's hotel on Saturday and left $175 behind. Burglarizing by instalments is something new in the "crooked" line. [Since the above was in type we learn that a person or persons are suspected, but that for reasons sufficient to parties interested, there will be no prosecution.]

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION. The public are reminded of the exhibition of the County of Peterborough Horticultural Society, which takes place in Bradburn's Hall, on Thursday, Sept. 7th. There are a large number of prizes offered, and it is to be hoped that the public will give the exhibition the encouragement which it deserves. Admission, ten cents. Doors open from 3 till 5 p.m., and from 7 till 9 p.m.

HAMILTON'S WINNIPEG ENGINE.—Last Friday the last of the four car loads of the furnishings for the Craig saw mill, at Winnipeg, were shipped from the Midland station. The engine is eighty horse-power, the cylinder 18x24 inches, the frame 18x24 feet, the fly wheel 24 inches in width and 12 feet in diameter. This establishment is at work on a similar engine for the Midland and North Shore Lumbering Co.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—On Thursday last, Mr. James Montgomery, who resides on Charlotte street, but was superintending the construction of a building in Campbellford, met with an accident that will give him a summer's holiday from work. A scaffold on which a large number of bricks had been placed, fell on him. The result was that his thigh bone was fractured, and other injuries more or less serious were inflicted.

LACROSSE.—A match game of lacrosse for the championship of Central Ontario and the Association gold medal will be played on the grounds in Ashburnham, on Friday next, between the Peterborough and Orillia clubs. The ball will be faced at three o'clock, and a good, sharp series of games may be expected. The stake being so important both teams will be on their mettle, and make corresponding exertions for victory. Admission, 15 cents. The grand stand free to ladies.

FORESTER'S ANNUAL EXCURSION. The annual excursion of Court Peterborough, No. 29 Canadian Order of Foresters on Thursday last was a delightful success. There were about 150 on board the Golden Eye, which steamed down the river to Idyl Wild. The presence of Martin's Quadrille Band meant music for dancing, and the pic-nic part of the programme was a very enjoyable feature. The excursionists returned in good season, feeling that the Forester's as excursionists had scored another signal success.

SAW MILL ACCIDENT. Last Thursday a singular accident happened at Irwin's saw mill, Nassau. A large knot on the last slab of a log fell between the saw and the frame, wedging in the saw so completely that one end of the mandril sprang out. The saw kept revolving in this diagonal position till it met the head block of the carriage, which shivered it into a thousand pieces, but not before it had whittled the huge driving belt into strings, utterly ruining it. The seven-foot saw was worth $200 and the belt $400. The loss, including the loss of time, etc., will amount to nearly a thousand dollars. The repairs are being made at Wm. Hamilton's foundry.

A FLOURISHING FIRM.—The parlour frame business of McKee Bros., on the canal, is booming and has so boomed all summer. There has not been a single night this summer, except Saturday and Sunday nights, but that their factory has been running after hours. Their business has a national character; their orders coming from all parts of the Dominion, from Brandon to Cape Breton. Recently they have filled large orders—orders when coming from so great a distance are always considerable—from Halifax, St. John and Truro. The other day they received an order, accompanied by a post office order to cover the face of the invoice, from a Montreal firm for parlour frames, with the warning that the firm should hold itself in readiness to duplicate the order before long. The demand for their work from Peterborough alone would not keep the factory running two weeks. Over thirty hands are employed, and to avoid the necessity of night work the staff will have to be considerably increased.

THE SUNFLOWER MANIA. "The evil that men do lives after them," quoth the bard of Avon. Long after Oscar Wilde's visit to this continent there has broken out another eruption of the limp, lily, sunflower and cracked crockery craze, and so conspicious is the sunflower mania that it strikes us the prosaic scientific name for the plant that Oscar has made famous, should out of compliment to him, be changed from Helianthus annus to Sillyanthus Oscaragretis. The young people of Peterborough, have gone wild positively no pun intended after the delicate-petaled, dinner-platish sunflower, and the wearing of it has become almost universal. It doesn't look bad to see young ladies with the dwarf cart wheel spreading half way over their swelling bosoms, like a mustard plaster trimmed with green lace, or wobbling wearily at their girdles, for we expect just such delightful nonsense from them. But for a young man—bah! It would be just as becoming for him to affix to his coat tails, an article that fashion is trying hard to force into use, the comical little conical bustle that looks so like a big boil in full dress bandages, as to trick himself out with sunflowers et al. The general use of this flower makes it kind to mention that there are two kinds, with very different meanings, in the language of flowers. The dwarf variety means passionate adoration, and the cart-wheel kind, pride; so that if a lover gives his sweetheart one of the former, he declares that he loves her to distraction, and if he thinks to express the extent of his love by giving her a "big sunflower" he "puts his foot in it," for he simply says "you're a proud minx." Verily Oscar Wilde has not lived in vain; his noble advocacy has stimulated the cultivation of the sunflower, and if the fashion of wearing it fails, he hasn't lived in vain—the seed makes excellent food for fowls.

"OFF TO THE WARS."

Mobilization of the Gallant Fifty-Seventh.

The Companies and Officers—The Day and Mode of Departure—The Strength of the Brigade—The Camp.

As the wonted season for the annual drill of our volunteer force approached, there could be noted by an acute observer vague stirrings of military enthusiasm; and the breaking out of the Egyptian war, almost simultaneously with the promulgation of the general order, stirred deeply the martial spirit of our gallant volunteers, and figuratively, "there was mounting in hot haste," and brisk preparations for at Cobourg, were begun. The telegraph poles and hoardings around town were blazoned with bills calling together the members of the several companies, which calls, we are proud to say, were diligently responded to. The difficulty in mobilizing a small force, even for so brief a march as that to Cobourg, proved to be not inconsiderable. The trappings of war were found to be scattered here and there, with rather unmilitary promiscuousness. Forage caps were discovered in skirmishing order, in cobwebby garrets, tunics were found ambushed in the loft over the woodshed, and trousers, that had erst enclosed valiant legs, warranted not to run, had ignominiously submitted to the invasion of the martial wasps, that had entrenched themselves strongly therein. By dint of vigorous foraging these stray vestments of veterans were discovered and dislodged. A frequent figure on the streets was the brisk volunteer, looking at a distance like a thriving and well-clad "old clo'" man, striding along with war-like pace towards the rendezvous, his pockets stuffed with forage caps, a tunic under one arm, and a pair of the regulation blue pantaloons banging limply over the other, and a far-away, off-to-Egypt, death-to-Arabi-Bey gleam in his eye. The preliminary drills were well attended, and military exercises were entered into with rare ardor, from the complicated evolutions in which the raw recruit is initiated into the mysteries of "the goose-step," to the loftiest combinations of company manœuvre.

Now, that Egypt, the newspapers, and the very air are full of war, a few particulars respecting the

as the 57th is otherwise designated, may be of interest. The battalion was gazetted on the third of May, 1867. The device adn motto of the battalion are:

"A Beaver, under which are the numerals, LVII, encircled by a scroll or garter, clasped by a buckle, and bearing the declaration "Peterborough Rangers." The whole surrounded by a wreath of maple leaves, entwined with the Rose, the Thistle and the Shamrock, and surmounted by the Imperial Crown. Underneath all, this motto. "Quis Separabit."

The Battalion will go into camp on the fifth of September, composed as follows:

LIEUT.-COLONEL. James Zaccheus Roges.
MAJOR. Thomas Maitland Grover.
PAYMASTER. John Burnham.
ADJUTANT. Robert William Bell.
QUARTERMASTER. Samuel Robert Price.
SURGEON. Robert Kincaid, M. D.

ARTILLERY SQUAD.

A detachment of the Durham field battery, enrolled in this county, commanded by Lieutenant Edward Sanderson, and consisting of about twenty men, will compose a part of the Peterborough contingent to the brigade camp.

THE 57TH BAND, composed of about twenty members, will also join the force, and complete the military contributions of this county for this season.

CAVALRY TROOP.

No. 3, commanded by Captain Rogers, having put in their twelve days last year, will rest on their laurels this season, and will not join their comrades in arms at Cobourg.

THE EMBARKATION

of the troops from this district has been arranged for and will take place as follows: A special train will take on the Hastings and Norwood companies at Hastings, leaving that place at 7 o'clock, will pick up the Keene company at Keene, and proceeding to Peterborough will await the three Peterborough companies, which, after parading at the drill shed, will march to the Midland station, the band accompanying them, and embark. The entire battalion will then proceed to Cobourg via Port Hope.

THE CAMP

is situated north-west of Cobourg, and is said to be very pleasantly located and admirably adapted to its purpose.

THE BRIGADE CAMP

will consist of portions of the three arms of the service in the third military district and would comprise, if all were called out, some three regiments of cavalry, two field batteries, four batteries of garrison artillery and ten battalions of light infantry. Lieutenant Col. Villiers, is district deputy adjutant. Lieut. Col. H. C. Rogers, Asistant Brigade Major, and Hon. Major King, district paymaster.

This year the canteen will be an improvement, as no intoxicating liquors will be allowed to be sold.

BRIGADE INSPECTION.

It is likely Major-Gen. Luard will inspect the brigade on or about the 15th, a day or two before the camp will "break off." The "campaign" will last twelve days, from the fifth to the seventeenth inclusive.

CINGALESE. A name well known in connection with the HAIR RENEWER, which restores grey hair to its natural color by a few weeks use per bottle by all druggists. Sold at 75c 33-5t

ANOTHER BRAKEMAN KILLED.

FROM ROBUST HEALTH TO MANGLED DEATH IN A MOMENT.

On Monday the death of John Bell Read, a brakeman on the Midland Railway, was added to the long list of this summer's casualties of the kind in this vicinity. While on the up way freight to Midland on Monday, Read met his death. On the arrival at Omemee he was missed from the train, and on search his body was found near Franklin, horribly mutilated, the head being crushed to a jelly, as were also the feet, his gaiter boots were torn from his feet, and his vest from his body. His watch guard was cut into two or three pieces, but his watch was found at some distance from the body still running. Death was instant and was likely caused by the head of deceased striking the overhead bridge in the vicinity, being knocked to the track and crushed by the cruel wheels.

Deceased was a young Englishman about 22 years of age. He was not long out from England, where his father, a large land owner, resides. He was an excellent scholar, and was for some time employed as book-keeper in the offices of Gilmour, Trenton, and Rathbun & Sons, Deseronto. He came to Peterborough about five weeks since, and lived at Crevier's (late Daly's) hotel, Brock street. He could easily have got lighter employment, but he had a fancy for the exciting life of a railroad hand and was on his third week as brakeman. He was regular and steady in his habits, his roving disposition only keeping him from a comfortable home in England, to which he might have gone at any time, his father keeping him well supplied with money. Indeed, $35 of the last remittance was in his pocket when he was found dead on the railway track.

A coroner's inquest was held on Tuesday, at Millbrook, and on the same day the body was brought to town and the funeral, decently appointed in all respects, proceeded to Little Lake Cemetery, where rests the body of John Bell Read.

PERSONAL.

Rev. H. Edmison, M. A., of Rothsay, preached in St. Andrews' Church, on Sunday evening last.

Rev. J. W. Foster, curate of Cavan, conducted services in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw taking the duties of the rector of Cavan on that day.

At the recent Law examinations, held at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, Peterborough students made a most successful record, Mr. C. J. Leonard passed with great credit both the solicitor and barrister examinations for which he "went up". Mr. W. A. Stratton took a foremost place among the successful candidates who passed the second intermediate examinations, Mr. D. J. Lynch, passed as solicitor and will pursue the practise of the legal profession in Campbellford.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Regular Monthly Meeting.

A Light Programme Lightly Carried Out.

The Peterborough Town Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Sept. 4th, 1882. His Worship Mayor Smith in the chair.

MEMBERS PRESENT.

Councillors Kelly, Patterson, Wilson, Rutherford, Menzies, Denne, McNaughton, Richardson, Cahill, Poussette and Douglass.

After routine, the following

were dealt with:—From the Hon. the Provincial Secretary, in answer to the communication of the License Commissioners, in reference to the power of commissioners to withhold a license on conditions; stating that the License Commissioners had such power. The communication was received.

From the board of managers of St. Andrew's church, asking for a walk to be built on Rubidge street.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Enos Dunsford, asking for a rebate on livery license, on account of four horses added since his license was taken out.—Granted.

From C. W. Sawers, in reference to the defective drainage on McDonnell street, between Harvey and Dickson streets.

Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid when properly vouched for:

J. R. Strattion	$119 90
T. Parrington	2 00
Times Printing Co	68 25
W. Yelland	0 50

FINANCE.

Mr. Patterson, chairman, presented the report of the Finance Committee, which was, on motion of Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Menzies, adopted.

The report recommended the payment of the following accounts:

E. B. Edwards	$67 56
H. Best	8 76
J. Bertram	1 25
A. Hall	1 88
G. Stothem	2 60
Gas Company	19 50
Toker & Co	45 47

That Jas. M. Irwin's account be paid when certified, and that the accounts of Geo. Barrie, $5, and A. Davidson, $5, be not paid.

BUILDING COMMITTEE.

Mr. Menzies, chairman, presented the report of the Building Committee, which recommended that the petition of Michael Fawcett, requesting permission to build a wooden addition to his livery stables, be not granted.

In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Menzies said the by-law had been repeatedly broken and a stop should be put to it.

Mr. McNaughton agreed with him, and added that wealthy men had agreed to brick up wooden structures they had been allowed to erect and had not kept their promise, then they blackguard the Council for not enforcing the by-laws. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Patterson moved, seconded by Mr. Denne, That the report be amended so as to allow Mr. Fawcett to put up a wooden addition, on condition that he brick it as required by the by-law and on condition that he furnish proper security to do so by Jan. 1st, 1883.

Mr. Poussette said that some guarantee should be given.

Mr. Rutherford said the Council had no right to agree to the breaking of the by-law. If the favor was granted to one, why might not Brown, Jones or Smith—His Worship—Don't take my name in vain—(laughter)—or any other man be allowed to do the same? The thing should be stopped.

Mr. Cahill accused Mr. Rutherford of inconsistency in now opposing what he had never before opposed. Even some of the councillors were violating the by-law. Mr. Fawcett should have the same privilege as others.

Mr. Richardson opposed the violation of the by-law.

Mr. Douglass quoted instances in which leave had been granted, and there should be uniform treatment.

The resolution to amend the report was adopted.

FINAL GAME OF "PIGEON-HOLE."

Mr. Kelly moved, seconded by Mr. Patterson,—That a pro rata share of Mr. Bell's license of $40 for a pigeon-hole table be refunded—$40 less $30.

In reference to the matter, Mr. McClelland was heard. He said that Mr. Bell's had been reported to the Commissioners as disorderly on account of the presence of the pigeon-hole table, and the latter had insisted on its removal as a condition of granting him a license, and Mr. Bell was he (Mr. Mc.) thought entitled to the refund. Since the removal of the obnoxious table the house has greatly improved.

THE COLLECTOR'S ROLL.

The Clerk, in reply to Mr. Rutherford, said the roll for 1881 had not yet been returned.

COW BY-LAW.

Mr. Poussette moved, seconded by Mr. Patterson, the third reading of the by-law to prohibit cows, geese, horses, swine, etc., from enjoying the freedom of the town. By-law to take effect the 1st day of January, 1883.

The by-law passed its third reading, nem. con.

THE MORTUARY PARK.

Mr. McNaughton enquired if the "old graveyard" was open to the public, and why ratepayers were refused entrance, and cattle pastured in it at night?

His Worship said there was an Act of Parliament making it a town park, and that according to this Act it would have to be put in shape next year.

THE ROLL.

Mr. Rutherford moved seconded by Mr. Menzies, that the clerk be instructed to demand the return of the roll of 1881 forthwith. Carried.

RUBIDGE STREET.

Mr. McNaughton inquired what had been done about opening Rubidge Street.

Street Inspector Johnston stated that he had served a notice on Mrs. Bradburn, Mr. Bradburn being absent, and unless that was complied with before Friday morning he would have the fence taken down.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Mr. Cahill moved seconded by Mr. Patterson that the treasurer be authorized to pay progress estimates on Smith Street bridge on the certificate of Mr. Belcher engineer.

A member asked how much it would cost?

Mr. Richardson thought about $300, and Mr. Cahill thought it could not be built for that sum.

BUILDING INSPECTOR.

Mr. Patterson moved seconded by Mr. Kelly that police constable Pidgeon and Adams be appointed inspectors of building and that the clerk be instructed to prepare a by-law to confirm their appointment.

Mr. Rutherford asked if a by-law was not necessary to confirm their appointment as constables?

Mr. Patterson said the appointment was only temporary.

Mr. Cahill said they had been appointed subject to their approval by by-law, but it was understood that they are permanent subject to their filling the place efficiently which it was admitted they had done and do. He would ask is they visited the outskirts of the town? They should should not confine themselves to the centre of the town: The outskirts needed police protection sometimes more than the business portion.

The Chief answered that they were everywhere.

Mr. McNaughton tesified that to his knowledge they were seen in the vicinity of the South Ward School as late as 2 o'clock a.m.

STREET WATERING.

Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. Menzies, That Michael O'Donnell be paid $20 on account of street watering.

Motions to grant sums of money, to be expended on Park, London and Antrim streets, were, after provoking considerable talk, ruled out of order by the chair, but by consent, they were referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Another motion to grant $100 to purchase wood for charity, was ruled out of order.

Mr. Paterson's motion for a sum of $10 to be appropriated to bury dead animals, cats, dogs, &c., drew forth Messrs. Denne and Rutherford in efforts on the the subject so eloquent, that

Mr. Poussette felt constrained to remark that after the cat-egorical statements of Mr. Rutherford, and the a-mews-ing remarks of Mr. Menzies, the matter had better not be purr-sued any fur-ther.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That the Finance Committee be allowed to spend a sum not exceeding $100 to purchase wood for the use of the town.—Agreed to.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

RAILWAY PIC-NIC.

THE MIDLAND EMPLOYEES HAVE JOLLIFICATION AND ENJOYMENT AT THE SUMMIT.

The annual employees' pic-nic is now fully recognized as one of the features of our Great Railway Corporations, and being not one whit behind the other companies, the annual pic-nic of the Midland employees is always looked forward to with pleasure, by those fortunate enough to receive invitations. This year, the pic-nic, which took place on Saturday last, was held at the Summit, a grove between Port Hope and Millbrook, and was in all respects a grand success, although the attendance was not as large as on former occasions. However, some 3,500 persons were present, sufficient for the limited extent of the grounds, and all appeared perfectly satisfied with the day's enjoyment. Of those present, fully two-thirds were from Port Hope and vicinity, the remainder coming from all points along the line. Peterborough was fully represented, principally by the officials and fair sex, Saturday, the day selected, being one that kept many, who had received invitations, at home.

About nine o'clock the vanguard arrived and from that hour until two or three trains came puffing up each discharging their living cargo, "on pleasure, not on business bent." The Committee of Management had everything prepared for the comfort of their guests and had provided amusements and games suitable for all ages. From an elevated band stand the dulcet strains of the 46th band of Port Hope were to be heard, while a little further on Harris' Orchestra of Lindsay discoursed music in front of a large platform, which was occupied continuously by those who delight in the "mazy." For others croquet, quoits, swings, etc., had charms, while a large number more particularly of the younger persons present, appeared to greatly enjoy strolling through the woods.

After the matter of dinner had been disposed of most of these present repaired to the vicinity of the band stand, whereon were Messrs. L. Ross, Geo. A. Cox, A. White, W. B. Ferguson, H Read and other officials of the Road, P. R. Randall, Mayor of Port Hope, H. V. Sanders, Town Clerk, — Stewart, Port Hope, and other prominent gentlemen from different places. The assemblage having been called to order by Mr. Ross, Mr. Wm. Gothwaite stepped forward and read the following address:—

To Geo A. Cox, Esq., President Midland Railway of Canada:—

RESPECTED SIR, We the employees of the Midland Railway, take this opportunity to express to you the pleasure your presence affords us at this our second annual gathering under your presidency.

A year ago you kindly invited us to join you in a day of recreation, which action on your part had the happy effect of encouraging that good feeling which should at all times characterize the relations existing between the manager and employees, and we assure you, sir it affords us much pleasure to know that on this, as on the former occasion, you have laid aside the distinction which your position naturally would, and generally assisted us to make this day's proceedings enjoyable to all present.

In consequence of your absence in Europe, and anticipating the pleasure of your company, we concluded to defer taking action until your return, and we assure you that amongst your numerous friends there are none to wish you a heartier welcome home, than the employees of the Midland Railway.

(Signed) WM. GOTHWAITE,
Chairman of Committee.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, on rising to reply was received with loud applause. He said that it afforded him much pleasure to meet so many apparently happy and contented faces. He thanked them sincerely for the address and for the many kind sentiments expressed therein. None were more anxious than himself to encourage and maintain the good feeling that should exist, and which he rejoiced to know did exist, between the management and employees of the Midland Railway. It was just four years ago yesterday since he assumed the duties of his present position. They were years not altogether free from labor and responsibility, but the labor had been made more effectual and the responsibility very much lessened by the loyal and cordial support that the employees had given to him. It was not to his own efforts alone, but to the support and assistance that the employees have rendered him, that enabled all to rejoice together over the growing prosperity and importance of the Midland Railway. Four years ago our line was but 106 miles long and it now exceeds 450 miles. The trains are already running unto the Provincial capital and he hoped that before another two years that they shall be running into the Dominion capital. The greatly increasing traffic makes the duties of employees more onerous and he felt confident that they would exercise their usual care and diligence. He assured all of his willingness to do all in his power to ensure the comfort and safety of the employees. He took this, the first opportunity that he had, of returning thanks for the very handsome present that the employees sent to his daughter on the occasion of her marriage, and he assured them that it was highly prized by himself and family. After wishing all a pleasant day he resumed his seat amidst applause.

Mrs. Cox was here called on the platform and was presented in a very graceful manner with a handsome bouquet of choice flowers, by littly Emily Walton, a daughter of the foreman blacksmith at the Port Hope shops. For the present the little maiden received a kiss.

Mr. Cox acknowledged the gift in a few words.

Mr. J. R. Dundas, of Lindsay, one of the Directors, was the next speaker. He spoke of the great pleasure he had at being present, and looked with great pride to the past three years that he had been associated on the Board with Mr. Cox, and during that time he had noted the amount of work performed by Mr. Cox, and he could say that but few fully understood the amount of labor he accomplished. Two years ago he had said that the Midland was just entering on a new era and his words are now fully verified. Things were fairly moving now and in twenty years from date no person could say what the Midland would be. He referred to the good feeling existing between officials and employees, and resumed his seat amidst cheers.

The games, races and dancing contests for valuable prizes followed and occupied the rest of the day. All the events were closely contested and created considerable excitement.

Throughout the day the best of good feeling prevailed, and not a single thing occurred to disturb the harmony of the occasion.

The following gentlemen composed the committee, who deserve credit for the manner in which they discharged their duties:—Messrs. Wm. Gothwaite, T. Walton, Wm. Woods, J. A. Cheer, Wm. Boyd, T. Pratt, H. Rosevear, Geo. Henderson, A. J. Thrapp, J. McMullen, S. Laidlaw, W. Pilling, J. Mahar, Geo. S. Perks, H. Hamly, F. Grimison, C. Kemp, R. Lethbridge, Geo. Stephens, F. Hobbs, J. H. Rowland.

The following gentlemen acted as judges:—P. R. Randall, W. Reynolds, J. R. Dundas, T. B. Tate, A. Hugel, W J. Foster, L. Ross, Capt. Janes, W. Gaudrie, M. Geddes.

The first train left for home about 5.30 and the last about 7, after which the grounds resumed their wonted stillness, and the Midland Railway pic-nic of 1882 was only a delightful memory.—Com.

PERSONAL.

Miss Addie Culhane and Miss Annie O'Connor of Rochester, N.Y., are guests of Miss M. A. Sullivan, of Peterborough.

J. F. Denistoun, Esq., arrived home on Tuesday night, from his European tour. We are glad to see him much improved in health.

Mr. H. Dobson formerly of Ashburnham, in in town spending a few days. We are glad to see him looking so well.

The Gazette contains the appointment of sergeant Morgan as Lieutenant of No. 1 Company, Vice Lieutenant Shaw resigned; and of Dr. O'Gorman, as Assistant Surgeon, vice Dr. Miller left the limits.

The name of Mr. J. W. Bennet, of the Law Office of Messrs. Poussette & Roger, should be added to the list of successful candidates (in his first examination) in the Law Society examinations.

The Perry Weekly Gazette published, in Missouri, says: "Mr. William Wood, at the earnest solicitation of his friends, has consented to become a candidate for the office of County Court Justice subject to primary election. If we are competent to judge, Mr. Wood if elected will make just such a County Judge as Ralls County badly needs." The Mr. Wood referred to is a brother of Mr. R. E. Wood of this town. His many friends in South Monaghan will be glad to hear of his popularity in the west.

Terrible Tragedy.

Two Extremes.

In all things the golden mean is the safer way. Extremes in any direction are not wise. The difference in the modes of administration of justice under the British Government and under that of the United States furnishes serious subject for thought. The case of Dwyer Gray, the editor of the Dublin Freeman is still fresh in the public mind, and exemplifies the sometimes, perhaps, over-alert zeal, with with which the distinguishing "fair play" principle of a British Court of justice is sought to be preserved. Gray, for the simple offence of publishing a communication which accused the jury that convicted one Hynes of an agrarian outrage, of being drunk at the time of considering their verdict, was for this, to ordinary thinking, not very heinous offence, without any opportunity of defence, sentenced to confinement in Dublin jail for three months, and to pay a fine of $2,500. The extreme rigor of the sentence is astounding, and while it may be argued that Judge Lawson's object was good, he seems to have gone to an injudicious extreme, which public opinion strongly resents, and which will, no doubt, lead to the mitigation of this extraordinary sentence.

In almost startling contrast is the indulgence extended by a court of the United States to the Chicago Inter-Ocean. Everybody has read or heard of the "Star Route Frauds," a gigantic swindling scheme, with the object of robbing the United States treasury of about half a million dollars annually by the manipulation of mail contracts.

The seven parties implicated, after having their trial delayed two or three years, have at last been subjected to the form of a trial. The comments of the Chicago Inter-Ocean on the conduct of the jury, might, without undue leaning to severity, be considered as much graver cause of contempt of court than the offence of Dwyer Gray. Our Chicago contemporary accuses the jury of being drunk on the streets during the course of the trial. That the accused and their lawyers, during the recess of the court inveigled jurors into a private room of a low saloon they frequented, and this journal, from these facts, indites the augury that all the defendents with perhaps one exception, will be acquitted.

This, it seems to us, is stronger language than that employed by the Dublin Freeman, and as valid ground as that for which he was so heavily punished. Yet no attention is paid to it by the Court of Uncle Sam.

The difference between the two judicial systems is not at all creditable to the American. Judge Lawson was right in principle but he erred on the side of unreasonable severity in the application of it. The American Court, on the other hand, ignored a complaint in a newspaper, that certainly, in the interests of justice, should not have been slighted, but rigidly investigated. However much Judge Lawson's severe sentence is to be reprobated, it is doubtless in the interests of justice, law and order, and more defensible than the extreme judicial laxity, almost license, that too generally characterizes American courts of justice.

Notes of the Day.

THE MONTREAL Star advocates the introduction into Canada of the Tonic Sol Fa system of teaching music. It very truly says that it has many advantages over the ordinary method. Its introduction, the Star says "has done more than anything to popularize music among the masses in England and Wales, notwithstanding that it is so persistently frowned down by the old notationists. It is easy to learn; the music published in the Sol Fa notation is extremely cheap, and further, the easiest way to learn the old notation is by studying the Sol Fa system first." We agree that the establishment of Sol Fa Societies would do much to make Canadians a musical people, and to popularise the study of the "divine art."

THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY, has commended to the clergy in his jurisdiction the following prayer for the soldiers and sailors engaged in the war in Egypt:—

"Oh Almighty God, whose power no creature is able to resist; keep, we beseech Thee, our soldiers and sailors who have now gone forth to the war, that they, being armed with Thy defence, may be preserved evermore from all perils to glorify Thee, who art the giver of all victory, through the merits of Thy only Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

THE FOLLOWING are Mr. Vennor's predictions respecting the weather, from to-day until the 14th. Our readers can easily verify them for themselves, that is, if the game is worth the candle:—

"Second week, (7th to 14th) cooler and pleasant weather. Days varying from warm to sultry. Evenings and nights generally cool. A favourable week in the majority of sections. Cold in mountainous regions. Probably a good deal of rain in the Province of Quebec and lower provices. Stormy on Newfoundland coast."

These prophecies are so vague, general and non-committal that Vennor is not to be caught napping on this occasion. In fact such predictious would do for about any fall month.

THE PARCELS POST BILL was about the only Bill saved from the general wreck of domestic legislation during the recent session of the British Parliament. It is certainly a very excellent measure, designed to be of immense advantage to the general public, and is entirely due to Mr. Fawcett's practical, wise and ingenious habits. The proposed arrangements are thus described: A parcel not exceeding one pound in weight may be sent anywhere throughout Great Britain by post for three pence. For every additional weight of two pounds an additional threepence will be charged. Thus a parcel of three pounds weight will cost sixpence, one of five pounds ninepence, and one of seven pounds a shilling. No heavier weight than this will be allowed. The dimensions of the parcel are not yet fixed. The greatest difficulty in carrying out the provisions of the Bill was in coming to an understanding with the railway companies. Belonging not to the Government but to powerful and independent companies, it must have been no easy task to arrange the details of such a scheme with the railways who are of course the main carriers. But this Mr. Fawcett accomplished by an agreement to pay over to the railway companies rather more than one half of the gross receipts. It is calculated that in Germany one parcel is sent for every twenty letters. This proportion would yield for England an average annual circulation of seventy million parcels. To provide post offices, clerks, and postmen for such an enormous accession of new business will certainly require some time. No doubt Mr. Fawcett has considered all these details, and is prepared to successfully complete the project he has initiated. Such a scheme, if it could be projected on the main lines of travel in Canada, would prove of immense service.

HERBERT SPENCER, now on a visit to America, is a native of Derby, and is about sixty years of age. He learned the business of an engineer, and in early life showed much inventive genius, constructing many articles of domestic and industrial use. In 1843 he first attempted literary work, and was his own publisher, but his efforts received no encouragement for many years. His "Social States" was printed in 1850, and it took fourteen years to sell seven hundred and fifty copies. Mr. Spencer is a Liberal in politics and an Agnostic in religion. He is a strong believer in the doctrine of evolution in its widest sense and considers it applicable to all the processes of nature. As a distinguished writer and teacher of a philosophical system based on evolution, he occupies a leading position in the scientific world. His works seem to have been best appreciated at the beginning in the United States, but now his reputation is world-wide. His books are written in clear, lucid language, and are as interesting, many of them, as a philosophic romance. His "Ceremonial Institutions" is particularly readable, and has been very widely circulated. He is now in somewhat delicate health, and it is not likely that he will deliver lectures here on these subjects on which he is an original and profound thinker. He is described as a man with a calm, pale face, rather large features, a high, partially bald forehead, thin, dark-brown hair, streaked with grey, and slight figure, somewhat bent." That his visit is cordialy welcomed by American scientists is certain, and we hope it will restore him to improved health and vigour.

THE WESLEYAN CONFERENCE of Great Britain met recently. The statistics presented show a total membership for Great Britain of 393,754, being an apparent net increase of 12,798 upon the past year. The increase in the junior society classes had grown from 21,431 to 32,417. The total number of new members admitted during the year was 55,382, but as the net increase was only 12,798 the Society must have lost over 40,000 members by leakage of various sorts. The Conference seems to have too many preachers and this caused much anxiety and earnest discussion. Thirty surplus men, when all vacancies had been supplied was too much of a good thing, and these "brethren" were recommended to go, not to Botany Bay exactly, but to New South Wales, where it seems the supply of ministers is limited. The new baptism service, which has been before the conference for some time past evoked much heated discussion. The alterations from the office as found in the book of Common Prayer, are very few and unimportant, except that it was proposed to eliminate the doctrine of baptismal regeneration as much as possible throughout the service. After much debating and the display of a great deal of acrimonious feeling on the subject, the following greatly modified preamble to the baptismal service was adopted, instead of the one orginally proposed. It shows the changes made throughout. The revised form reads as follows: "Beloved, Forasmuch as our Lord Jesus Christ gave commandment to His Church to make disciples of all nations, baptising them in the name of the Father Son and Holy Ghost, and whereas these persons here present do bring this child, and do now present him for Holy Baptism, let us, being gathered together in the name of Christ, and in obedience to His command, hear for our instruction and encouragement, the teaching of His Holy Word concerning this Sacrament."

THE ENGLISH LAND COMPANY.

(From the Bobcaygeon Independent.)

It is very satisfactory to find that the English Land Company, after twenty-five years of idiotic experiments, and ridiculous caprices, have adopted the commonsense policy of selling their land at its marketable value, and have abandoned the idea of holding it for fancy prices in the distant future. This happy change in the policy of the company has been brought about, it is generally understood, by the advice of Major Evans and Mr. Osler, two gentleman whom the Company has appointed to represent them in this colony. Major Evans was recently in Haliburton, and there publicly announced in the future the policy of the Company would be to sell their lands. This caused at once great astonishment, as for a long period the Company has been asking such prohibitive prices that only about a dozen lots have been sold in as many years. When Major Evans further stated that the Company were prepared to sell land in Dysart at $1 per acre, and in all the other eight townships at fifty cents an acre, there was actual and visible rejoicing. In this rejoicing every one who has the interests of the back country at heart, will share, for the probability is strong as to the townships becoming settled up. Of course we all know that the Company's townships are surrounded by land in which the government are making Free Grants. But a Free Grant involves, not only settlement duties, but a five year's delay in obtaining a title deed, whilst the Company give a clear deed, without any settlement duties, on payment of the half dollar an acre. Those terms will be considered by many preferable to the Free Grants offered by the Crown, and settlement, it may safely be predicted, will therefore now make sure progress. The Company is to be congratulated on its restoration to a sane condition,—a condition which we sincerely hope may not prove to be a mere temporary gleam of reason and intelligence.

THE PROTECTIONISTS OUTDONE.

(Witness.)

The American Tariff Commission is composed almost altogether of Protectionists, and, of course, the work of gathering evidence in favor of Protection from interested manufacturers goes merrily on with little interruption. Now and again the Commission runs, however, against a stumbling block, which being totally unexpected, of course, causes them a surprising and disagreeable tumble. On Tuesday a hardware manufacturer told them that the country was being protected to death, that Protection was not only preventing foreign trade, but was restricting the home consumption of goods by making prices so high, and was, therefore, injuring the industry in which he was interested. He said that so long as the tariff existed as it was at present, the only exports would be, as at present, agricultural. The Commissioners told this "conscientious 'manufacturer' that his opinions were "radical." Whereupon an American journal remarks, "But when an absurd little "brick enameller appears to ask that the "duty on his product be doubled nobody "suggests to him that the changes he "suggested were radical. It is only when "a proposition to diminish a duty is "made that the proposition becomes radical." The prominent American papers which are nearly all in favor of a revenue tariff or at least of reduced protection, are "chuckling over a protection chicken "that came home to the Tariff Com-"missioners to roost the other day." This chicken was a protectionist who went in heart and soul for protection on home manufactures, to the great edification of the Commission, but what was their horror when their champion went on to advocate even more eloquently and quite as forcibly the claims of home labor to be protected against foreign labor. This chicken is right; it is only fair and logical that labor should be protected directly if manufacturing capital is protected, and all that labor has to eat, wear and use is made dearer by protection.

A POWER IN THE HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT.

Conspicuous among the influential men of the Dominion is Mr. J. H. Metcalf, Member of Parliament of the city of Kingston. Commencing life as a school teacher, he has steadfastly worked his way upward to the honored position in business and politics he now holds. Coming to a personal matter we would mention that Mr. Metcalf was formerly subject to extreme soreness of the chest, for which as he himself says "I could find no remedy but St Jacobs Oil, the Great German Remedy." In the following letter Mr. Metcalf gives evidence of his appreciation. "I take great pleasure in stating that I used St. Jacobs Oil for extreme soreness of the chest, and found it to be an excellent remedy. I would not be without it for ten times its selling price; as a family remedy it certainly has no equal."

Kidney Complaint.

The secretion from the Kidneys is often loaded with foreign and poisonous matter, a thick brickdust-like sediment or a mucous collection forms. The Kidneys are often inflammed and congested, causing pain and weakness in the back and many distressing symptoms. Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Dropsy, and all Urinary Complaints are promptly cured by that grand combination of diuretics, alterative tonics, &c., Burdock Blood Bitters. 36-2t

THE COMING CONTEST.

LIBERAL LEADERS SOUND THE KEY NOTE.

Extracts from the Speeches of Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie and Blake at Victoria Park.

At the East York Liberal Demonstration, held at Victoria Park last Wednesday, to celebrate the election of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, a deserved tribute was paid to a distinguished Canadian statesman. The East York Liberals, in congratulating Mr. Mackenzie upon his success in that constituency, during the recent electoral contest, despite indefensible gerrymandering and unblushing corruption, gave utterance to the sentiments of Liberals throughout the Dominion. The victory was important one, even though viewed in the light of the constituency's past history. The speeches by the Liberal leaders possess potent interest for every elector who is sincerely interested in the well being and good government of his Province; and they rang the key note of Liberal success in the coming Provincial elections, when the electors will be asked to pronounce upon two points, in addition to the Provincial Government's general policy—namely, the Territorial rights of Ontario, and the Legislative rights of Ontario. Mr. Mackenzie's speech dealing largely as it did with the question of Provincial rights, was robust and unmistakable in its tone. The speech delivered by Mr. Mousseau, the new Premier of Quebec, in which he let the cat out of the bag, in regard to the Bleu hostility to the ratification of the disputed Boundary Award, came in for caustic criticism, and the cheers with which Mr. Mackenzie's remarks were greeted are scarcely calculated to confort the one-man Opposition in the Ontario Legislature.

In the course of his speech, Mr. Mackenzie said: I have no doubt in my own mind that the time will come before long when the policy of the Liberal party throughout the country. (Cheers.) I see no reason why we should despair because we were defeated. We were defeated, having taken high ground; we were not defeated because of any mal-administration on our part, but because we objected to the course that was being pursued by the present Administration. There are events passing in the Dominion at present of startling importance as regards the political welfare of this country. I have on former occasions accused Sir John Macdonald to his face, when opportunity offered, of having sold his country for the sake of power. When he scandalously dismissed Lieut.-Governor Letellier in the Province of Quebec he knew he was doing wrong, and that he would not dare as a publicist, as the able constitutional lawyer he is, to uphold the course he pursued in that case as the right one. When Lieutenant-Governor Letellier dismissed his Ministers in the discharge of his duty, and when that policy was sustained at a general election in Quebec, there was no questioning, in a constitutional sense, the Lieutenant-Governor's right to act as he did. But, sir, the kept moving steadily on. The Quebec phalanx supporting the Tory Administration closed around Sir John, and he was compelled by their threats to carry out their wishes, and dismiss Lieut.-Governor Letellier. The highest constitutional authority in this country, Mr. Todd, the librarian at Ottawa, declared that the dismissal of Lieut.-Governor Letellier was wholly unconstitutional. But then it served Sir John's purpose. Well, sir, what is the present position? That very ordinary French gentleman, Mr. Mousseau, of whom I do not wish to speak disrespectfully, has at least one merit, that of extreme candour. He has rendered a great service to the Liberal party in Canada, for which I thank him. In a speech delivered in Quebec the other day he made the statement that he and the Hon. Mr. Masson had determined that the boundaries of Ontario should be restricted to those which the Dominion Government held to be the right boundaries, and that until he and his colleague, Mr. Masson, had forced this upon Sir John Macdonald, there was a probability that Ontario would be extended by the area included in the Boundary Award. He tells us in effect that he (Mr. Mousseau) and the Bleu phalanx in Quebec had complete control over Sir John Macdonald, and compelled him a second time within the last three years to retain power, if he retained it at all, at the expense of selling and betraying his own Province, and at the expense of perpetrating a great public immorality. (Hear, hear.) But what cares Sir John, his colleagues, or confreres for public morality? We know their record in that respect for many years past. It is, perhaps, the most humiliating moment of Sir John Macdonald's life when an inferior member of his own Administration, the moment he leaves it, goes and tells the country in an open speech that he (Mr. Mousseau) compelled him to yield to the demands of Quebec. So it comes about that this Province is to be ruled by a Tory faction in the Province of Quebec. (Cries of "never.") We may well say "never," but this is not all. The French gentlemen in Quebec are entitled to their rights, but they have no right to go beyond what is just and fair, and make demands that cannot be acceded to without creating sectional difficulties and controversies, which will seriously impair the prosperity of this country. Not only do they wish to deprive Ontario of her rights under the award, but we are told that the object in keeping Quebec supreme in power is to demand and obtain for her

WILL BE TRIUMPHANT

BETTER FINANCIAL TERMS

than those of which she is in possession at this moment. We find this idea put forward prominently of late by the Quebec press, particularly the French portion of it, within the last two or three weeks. So we are now to have another constitutional agitation on this point. Mr. Mousseau tells us very frankly that he has has good reason for this demand, because, he says, Quebec gave up a larger portion of her money rights than any other Province when she entered Confederetion. This is news to us, for we know that the people of Ontario pay, man for man, about two dollars to one paid by Quebec. We are pointed to the large amount of revenue derived from the port of Montreal, and the statement is made that it is all paid by the people of Quebec, while we know as a matter of fact that more than one-half of the whole amount collected there is paid by Ontario. We may depend upon it that the time has come when it will be necessary for every man in Ontario to buckle on his armour, and fight for the maintenance of the present constitutional relations between the Provinces. (Hear, hear.) If we have to begin to patch up these relations again we will infallibly weaken that national bond which has given us prestige as a nation and has enabled us in some measure to assume national responsibilities and a national tone in our transactions. You may say that Sir John Macdonald will not allow the Union to be interfered with, but I tell you you will be utterly mistaken if you place any reliance upon this hope. There is no revolution I can think of, whether independence or anything else, to which Sir John would not bend his head, provided it keeps Sir John in power. (Hear, hear.) We are told, too, that Sir John is going to interfere actively in our local politics, and one Tory newspaper, in justification of the anndouncement, says that he has been driven to it, that

HE IS BUT A MAN,

and has at last succumbed to human nature. (Loud laughter.) Well, this is no new step for Sir John. If we look back to 1879 not only do we find him interfering with our local affairs, but we find him actually sending Tilley and Tupper, Ministers who represent the Lower Provinces, to speak at stump meetings throughout the whole of this Province, one of the things that was never done by the Liberal party when in power. None of us ever went to interfere in the local elections in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, or Prince Edward Island. The Tories mean to be upon us in force. It is not merely a reconnaissance, but it is to be an attack with the whole army. A meeting of the faithful is to be held in Toronto in a few days for the purpose of devising ways and means for defeating the most just, and honest and capable Administrations that this country has ever had. (Cheers.) Sir, I am mistaken in the feeling of the people of Ontario, and even in the feeling of many respectable Conservatives, if they will submit to the combined pressure of Sir Johu Macdonald and Mr. Mousseau; and if we do as a people submit to be dragooned in such a way, then we are not worthy the freedom and constitutional liberties we possess. (Applause.) I will not take up much more of your time. I hope to have an opportunity during the local elections coming on to say something in more counties than one, and I hope by that time I shall have nursing enough to restore me to my usual strength, and to enable me to take that part which every patriot is called upon to take in a struggle so pregnant with the liberties of this country—(loud cheers)—and I can have no doubt of the result if every county has as zealous a local member as East York has. I esteem Mr. Mowat as a man, but it is not so much for the sake of him and his colleagues as for the interests of the country that I feel called upon to exercise my utmost strength in preventing this calamity to the whole Dominion. There is one thing that I can speak upon with tolerable certainty, and that is that Sir John Macdonald has stretched himself a little too far when he has allowed that very indiscreet personage, Mr. Mousseau, the moment he got loose from Ottawa, to make the statements he did concerning the boundary question. It was the most indiscreet speech that has been made in Canada since Mr. Galt made that famous one four years ago in Montreal. The people of this country, Conservatives and Reformers alike, look with undisguised dismay upon the determination of Sir John to refuse to acknowledge the just rights of Ontario in reference to its boundaries and its local legislation. These are the

TWO GREAT QUESTIONS

before the country, so great that they overshadow all others. I speak for myself and myself alone, but I believe I have voiced the sentiments of the people of Ontario in what I have said here to-day. I am quite sure I speak those of the Riding of East York, one of the oldest and most intelligent constituencies in the Dominion. (Cheers.)

Mr. Blake's references to the vote cast in Ontario at the Dominion Elections are well worthy of careful persual and study. Touching on the recent Dominion Electoral contest, the Hon. gentleman said the.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CONTEST,

so far as this Province is concerned, was not what the return to Parliament was, but what the voice of the people was. It is the defect in our system of representation that we should have to separate these two things, and to show you that they may be, and in this case are, widely different, and that the result of this election as demonstrated by the number of the votes cast on the one side and on the other, should vary from the demonstrated by those returns to Parliament which have been made in the majority of cases according to the election, and in some according to the views of the returning-officer. (Hear, hear.) I say that these returns to Parliament differ very widely from the real strength of popular opinion as developed at the polls. Popular opinion, as developed by the returns, stands in this Province in the proportion of 37 to 55, and the Conservatives boast—and if their boast had a just foundation it would be a great one—that they have taken three-fifths of the Province, and to the Reformers is left only two-fifths. Their boast, so far as it goes, is a just one; but gentlemen, you and I, as electors, have a right to look behind this and see what the

was as developed at the polls. There was a very large vote polled at the recent elections in this Province. Making reasonable allowance for a couple of elections by acclamation, there were polled a total of about 269,000 votes. As nearly as I can make out it was divided between the two parties in the proportion of three-fifths to the Conservatives and two-fifths to the Reformers, or somewhat more than 133,000 votes to the former and rather more than 133,000 votes to the latter. This is, out of a total of 269,000 votes there a majority of about 2,400 on the one side over the other. This represents a popular strength equal to about one member out of 92, so that if we had a return in Parliament commensurate with the strength which we developed instead of having 37 members to 55 we would have 45½ to 46½. That would be the true expression of the popular feeling as developed at the polls—not its real, true expression, because, as I have said there were practices pursued and arts employed which undoubtedly altered that to a considerable extent. Thus, while our opponents were about one per. cent stronger on the vote, they are about twenty per cent. stronger on the return to Parliament; and this is the approximation to a true accurate representation of the Parliamentary opinion of this Province which has been made by the operation of laws passed by the present Administration. Mark you, on that majority of one per cent. is based a majority of twenty per cent, in the halls of Parliament. Now we say that this is

A STOLEN MAJORITY.

(Applause.) We say it is a majority obtained by the theft and robbery of the political rights of those who are not represented on the floor of Parliament, though their voices were given at the polls. I will prove it to you. Notwithstanding all our difficulties there were still eight constituencies, which if they had been left ungerrymandered, would, as the returns show, have gone Reform, but which under the operation of the nefarious Redistribution Act, returned Conservatives. In the old north riding of Lanark we obtained a majority of I think 255, but were gerrymandered into a minority of 55. In the old riding of Brockville we had a majority of about 80; we were gerrymandered into a minority of four or five. In the old riding of Muskoka of 117 or thereabouts; we were gerrymandered into a minority of 3. In the old county of Monck, though the Conservatives had held it ever since they gerrymandered it in 1872, they found they would have to repeat the process a second time, and the consequence was, we were placed in a minority, and Mr. McCallum still holds the seat he has held by Tory Acts of Parliament for ten years past. (Hear, hear.) The north riding of Middlesex we would have carried, but for the Gerrymander, by a majority of 200, and as a result of that operation we lost it by 100. North Bruce, by a fair arrangement, would have included the township of Saugeen, and we would have carried the Riding, but the alteration was such that we lost it by 80. This result can be accounted for to some extent at least, by the expenditure of money which unloubtedly took place in the Indian peninsula in that county. East Huron, that unfortunate constituency, was arranged and re-arranged, until the result was reached that it was lost to us by 60 majority. Bothwell, which had a majority of 300 or 400, turned by the gerrymander into a minority of about 200, we carried at the polls, but notwithstanding that fact we are deprived of it, because the returning officer has elected the member for Bothwell and not the people of that county. I have given you the story of eight gerrymandered constituencies, and if you add 8 to the 37 we carried, you will have 45, which would have been a near approximation to the popular vote. Was I not right then in saying that the expression of the people of Ontario at the polls is not the expression of the people of Ontario in Parliament, because the votes of a large number of electors have been stolen from them by those who abused the power entrusted to them for party and partizan purposes, and to stifle and strangle the strength of those who happened to be in a minority in Parliament at the time. (Applause.) I do not need to go far from where I stand to point you out gerrmandered constituencies. East York, North York, North Ontario, were they not all passed through the process? But notwithstanding all our difficulties and discouragements we did our duty, and did it well, and in a manner that on the whole answered expectation. Therefore it is that I am entitled to say that the Reformers of Ontario, called out a year and a half before the legitimate time going into the fight with their hands tied behind their back, worked with a spirit, with a unanimity, with a zeal and a determination that wrought great things in many places, that developed large strength at the polls, and that ought to be an encouraging omen to us for the future, and ought to prevent any feeling of discouragement or of despondency in regard to the admittedly adverse results in the returns to Parliament. (Cheers.) If we showed that we possessed such great popular strength, I should like to know why we cannot fairly hope in the contest soon to came off under more disadvantageous circumstances to our opponents to turn the slight minority of one per cent, into a majority at the polls, and a still more decided majority in Parliament? (Applause.) I have no doubt if we decide to do our full duty from this until the end of the election, I have no doubt from the issues that will be presented to us, from the record of administrative and legislative progress which will be presented to us by the Local Government, that we shall be able

TO ACHIEVE A VICTORY,

and one to which Mr. Mowat is entitled at our hands, and shall not disgrace the Province of Ontario or diminish the confidence which honest men expect by changing a Government like his for the men whom it will be proposed to exchange for the present Administration. I am not going to enter into those issues. We will have an opportunity of discussing them at a future time, but I agree with my friend, Mr. Mackenzie, that this is the time, if ever there was a time, when the Reformers of Ontario in view of the general principles of autonomy and local government which have been dear to them in the past, in view of the material issues so far as their resources and territory are concerned, ought to stand together, and

STANDING TOGETHER PREVAIL.

(Cheers.) I do not wish to detain you longer, but I will ask you to remember that for us who lay it down as our platform that we depend upon fair reasons and arguments as the grounds upon which we ask for public support, for us it is essential that every man should do his part in that sowing of the seed, in that preparation of the public mind which is necessary if we are to succeed, and that it is the privilege of each of us, man or woman, to influence some other or other of our fellow countrymen. (Applause.) I say to you, as I have often said to assemblages, that you cannot in politics any more than in any other honourable pursuit divorce power from responsibility. Some of you may have ten talents, some of you may have only one, but there is none so low or humble that his conduct or example cannot influence some one of those by whom he is surrounded. It is necessary that we should make a

BUSINESS OF POLITICS,

a business to the extent of understanding and realizing that everyone having as a citizen his share of control, has got to do his duty. Without entrenching upon the time necessary for our everyday vocations it is very easy for us to perform our part in this particular sphere of duty. I call upon you, then each man and woman among you, to be active, to be zealous. I have pointed out in times past that organization is also essential. Zeal and enthusiasm are great things, but we want.

DISCIPLINED ENTHUSIASM, and systematized energy. I want to see you organize your polling subdivions and get them into a high state of efficiency. I want to see between polling subdivisions a friendly spirit of rivalry as to which shall do the most work and do it in the best way. Another thing; be careful, where you have willing horses, not to ride them to death. Let every man try to lighten the labours of the local secretary or local executive, and remember that "many hands make light work."

Fear Not.

All kidney and urinary complaints, especially Bright's Disease, Diabetes and Liver troubles, Hop Bitters will surely and lastingly cure. Cases exactly like yours have been cured in your own neighbourhood, and you can find reliable proof at home of what Hop Bitters has and can do. 36-2t

NEWCOMBE PIANOS

BOSTON, 14th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co., Toronto.

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

OTTO BENDIX.

Letter from Dr. G. W. Strathy, so long known in Toronto as a most thorough and accomplished musician:

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN,—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,
Your obedient humble servant,
GEO. W. STRATHY, Mus. Doc.,
Professor of the Chair of Music of the University of Trinity College, Toronto, &c.

NEWMARKET, March 21, 1882.

Messrs. LOWDEN & CO., Toronto.

GENTS, I have taken one bottle of Dr. Austin's Phosphatine, recommended by Dr. Bentley, of this place, and have received received great benefit from it. I believe that after taking five or six bottles I shall be quite free from a nervous tremour which has troubled me since I was 16, and now I am (61) sixty-one years of age.

Yours truly,

PETERBOROUGH, SEPT. 7, 1882.

Mr. Mowat's Chances.

The Provincial elections will inevitably come on, either at the time set by our penetrating and astute Conservative friends, or, which is a trifle more probable, at a time which Mr. Mowat may select. In view of this fact, it may not be out of place to enquire a little as to the Premier's chances of success.

Mr. Blake is a careful and accurate calculator, and the result of his calculations as presented by him at the Mackenzie banquet, at Victoria Park, are entitled to considerable respect. The hon. gentleman says that at the recent Dominion elections, the total vote recorded in Ontario was 269,000, of which number the Conservatives received over 135,000 votes, and the Reform candidates a little above 133,000, thus giving the Conservatives a majority of of about 2,400 of the popular vote. This, Mr. Blake points out, represents a popular strength equal to about one member out of 92, so that if the Reformers had a return in parliament commensurate with the strength they have developed, instead of having 37 members to 55, they would have 45½ to 46½. When we bear in mind that this result was brought about under conditions most favorable in all respects to the Conservative party; the possession of the prestige resulting legitimately from their possession of power and the unscrupulous and illegitimate manner in which this power was exercised, the wholesale bribery practised, the lavish employment of means to debauch the electorate individually, the handicapping of the Reform party by practically disfranchising constituencies, the wholesale promise of place and preferment and if to this he added the nonchalant attitude of the average elector in relation to political matters, arising from the existence of one of the statedly recurring periods of "good times." When it is recollected, therefore, that the Conservative party numerically narrowly escaped defeat, although favoured with all the assistance of the above cited conditions, it is only reasonable, that with the conditions changed in our favour, or absent, the result will undergo a corresponding change. The Ontario government will have the ninefold advantage proverbially attributed to possession. They will have a record of pure and beneficial legislation, and a flattering financial record to recommend them to the public confidence. The people will feel that under Reform rule the affairs of the Province are being wisely and economically administered. They will feel that it would be unwise to exchange faithful and capable trustees who have been tried and found able and willing for the discharge of the duties entrusted to them by the people, for those who are not only not tried, but have beforehand startlingly exhibited their incapacity, their treachery towards Ontario, and their willingness to yield to the dictation of Ottawa politicians or Quebec aggressiveness and greed. Under Reform rule Ontario is prosperous, and her finances healthy and sound. Under Tory rule Quebec is drifting into bankruptcy, or direct taxation, and is clamouring for aid from Ontario—she being the largest contributor to the Dominion funds in the shape of an increased subsidy. The electors who have a desire to assist in promoting the interests of Ontario, combining with those who without any marked political sympathies, are in favor of letting well enough alone, will certainly contribute to make a handsome majority in favor of the present government over the few pachydermatic politicians who see no good except in the triumph of their party, and obedience to the behests of Sir John Macdonald. As elements in the late Conservative success, the gerrymandered constitutencies will not count, and the monopolists of all grades cannot be expected to be as liberal in disbursing for the sake of a sentimental victory, as for one that secured to them a renewal of substantial and solid advantages. Thus cursorily glancing at the field, and for brevity's sake only enumerating a portion of the conditions and factors that argue a Reform success, it is evident that Mr. Mowat's chances of a renewal of his lease of power are as good as the most sanguine advocate of good government could covet.

Clamoring for the Spoils.

The leading organ of the political sore heads and dirt-distributor-in-chief, the Mail, possesses what the charitable would call candor, but the rigidly truthful would call unblushing cheek. Its chief and only ground of appeal for the dismissal of Mr. Mowat is the desire for the spoils of office. This is the modest way in which it expresses itself on this point: "All that our friends have to do to send Mr. Mowat, and his Hardys and Pardees, his Frasers and Baliffs, his inspectors and informers, his bummers and bullies, to the right about, and to control all the extensive patronage now controlled by his gang, is to go to the polls." Will the intelligent electors think that the itch of a band of marauding politicians to get at the strong box of the province and fatten on the spoils of office, a valid excuse for discharging a competent man like Mr. Mowat under whom the province has flourished and is still thriving, and supplying his place by Mr. Milk-and-water Meredith, a political whirligig who one year shows symptoms of a desire to see Ontario get justice and presto! at the wink of his political master, Sir John Macdonald, "goes back" on his province and allies himself with the Quebec Bleus, who are the past, present and permanent bitter foes of Ontario. Mr. Milk-and-water Meredith may have been originally an honestly inclined politician, but he has shown himself unstable as water and completely under the control of Sir John, who is in turn the bond-slave of the Bleus of Quebec. As such, no honest and conscienscious elector be he Conservative or Reformer, who wishes the perpetuation of the prosperity or the preservation of the territorial integrity of Ontario can desire to see him at the head of affairs, especially when the chief organ of Mr. Meredith's party bases the claim of the party to the power now possessed by Mr. Mowat on the sordid grounds of greed for the spoils of office. Yet the Mail is not altogether to blame; this is the only line it can take. To attack from all other points the present government is invulnerable, and it shows strongly the weakness of the cause of the opposition, that they can advance no other reasons why "Mr. Mowat must go" than the one that he possesses the patronage of a place that all good Tories, born in the purple, consider themselves by prescriptive right entitled to.

Ontario's Enemies.

THE Montreal Star says that people are growing "tired of this cry of Quebec domination, and that if Ontario "persists in keeping up the strain," she will do more to destroy Canadian harmony and unity than all the discontent in the Maritime provinces in past time." In the first place the Star must allow us as the party of the first part to know what we are about. As to "people growing tired of the cry of Quebec domination," we can assure the Star and its Quebec constituency that they will become still more tired of it so long as we are subjected to the attempted domination that evokes it. We do not take any pleasure in the abstract in protesting against the attempts to deprive us of our rights, and if our so doing imperil the integrity of the confederation it is not ourselves, but it is Quebec and the Quebec-ridden ministry of Sir John Macdonald that will be to blame. The robber "grows tired" of the cry of "stop thief," and that is a reason why, according to the argument of the Star, justice should cease its quest of the culprit.

But to show the necessity of our objecting to the adverse influence of our sister Province, it is only necessary to mention that Mr. Mousseau, the newly transplanted Dominion minister into the premier of Quebec's chair, has made so plain and brutal a threat that Ontario would be criminally indifferent if she ignored its significance.

The language is so plain that it cannot be misunderstood. In a speech uttered a few days ago, Mr. Mousseau, late colleague of Sir John Macdonald, and present premier of Quebec, made the statement that he and Mr. Masson had determined that the boundaries of Ontario should be restricted to those which the Dominion Government field (at the suggestion of Quebec members, of course) to be the right boundaries, and that unless he and Mr. Masson had forced this upon Sir John, the award of the arbitrators, giving Ontario an additional 100,000 square miles of valuable territory, would have been confirmed. This liberates the cat from the bag and shows that Sir John Macdonald is so completely under the thumb of "Quebec domination, that he has to purchase his place by yielding to the command of Mr. Mousseau et al even though he robs his own Province of her rights most shamefully. This betrayal of the secret by Mr. Mousseau, gives color to the suspicion that it is also at the bidding of his Quebec masters that Sir John presumes to assume the control of the Ontario elections, as shown by his calling a Tory convention in Toronto, for next Wednesday, Sept. 13th, at which, as agent of Messrs. Mousseau, Masson & Co., he will concoct, in conjunction with Mr. Meredith, completer schemes for the humiliation and spoilation of Ontario. This is what it really amounts to. Sir John is not interfering for the benefit of Ontario, for he has systematically sacrificed this Province when not to suit his own plans at the bid and nod of his Quebec masters. Is it likely then that we shall at the command of a Montreal journal cease this cry of "Quebec domination," when we know it is the power behind the throne that is prompting a systematic series of assaults against the rights, the territory and the very autonomy of Ontario?

Sudden Death.

As we go to press we learn of the sudden death of Mr. Wm. Cameron, brother of Messrs. John and Charles Cameron, which melancholy event took place on last Tuesday under very distressing circumstances. Last May, after exhausting the resources of the best Canadian medical skill for the cure of a brain affection, he, accompanied by Mrs. Cameron, went to the old country to consult other medical men. Their treatment failed to cure, and his case having been pronounced hopeless, his solo anxiety seemed to be to get home to see his family once more. On the way over he became worse and on his arrival at Quebec he was unconscious and could not be landed, and between Quebec and Montreal, death asserted its claim. Deceased leaves three brothers, eminent ministers, in Scotland, two in this town, a wife and four sons. The body will arrive here by noon train to-day (Thursday), and the funeral will leave the family residence, Brock street at 4 p. m. and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery.

Personal and Political.

Hon. Mr. Bowell and the Hon. A. P. Caron will, it is understood, make another trip to the North-West this fall

Goldwin Smith has gone to Saratoga, to attend the meeting of the Social Science Congress.

THE ceremony of the coronation of the Czar of Russia has been again postponed—on account of a Nihilistic entertainment having been fixed for the same date as the crowning.

The Government has decided to no longer send the mails on the Prince Edward county railway. The real reason for this decision is believed to be that the Messrs. McMullen, the proprietors of the railway, opposed the election of Mr. McQuaig, the Tory condidate for Prince Edward.

Hon. Mr. Flynn, formerly a member of the Quebec Government, disputes the constitutionality of the action of the Lieutenant-Governor, in calling on Mr. Mousseau to form a Government, when that gentleman was not one of the elect of the people. The call to Mr. Mousseau may have been unconstitutional, but it was not unprecedented. Hon. Mr. Mowat was not a member of the Legislature when he became Premier of Ontario.

THE Montreal Star, a journal as independent as it can be with its largely preponderating Tory sympathies, truthfully enough remarks that the very worst charge that can be made against Mr. Meredith and his followers, is that they are forced to look to Sir John with his large majority and personal support for assistance, "afraid to ask for the suffrages of the electors of Ontario on their own merits." Perhaps the fact that Mr. Meredith is prepared to sell his province at the beck of Sir John, is as black a count as any in the indictment.

How it Works.

The purifying and healing properties of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry impart a healthy tone to the diseased mucous surface of the Stomach and Bowels. Its cooling, soothing properties counteract pain, its antiseptic properties correct canker and foul humour, and its tonic astringent nature corrects all exhaustive discharges—such as Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, and Summer Complaints generally. 36-2t

The Contented Man,

Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $2.00 on a purchase of 20 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

OMEMEE.

Omemee celebrated her civic holiday to-day—Thursday.

Samuel English will exhibit grain cradles and barley forks at the Industrial Exhibition, Toronto.

Dr. Higenbotham has built and launched a fine pleasure Yacht, the Omemee Belle.

An Omemee sportsman, while shooting on Pigeon River at ducks, demonstrated his skill by shooting (instead of the duck aimed at) a hole in the bottom of his canoe. He was rescued from drowning.

MILLBROOK.

On Monday night, several attempts were made at burglary in the village. A raid was first made on Sargent's waggon shop, where they obtained some of the necessary tools. An entrance was then made in the post-office, and they got off with some cash and registered mail matter. In the attempt on J. Cosgrove's safe evidence was shown of ability in drilling, but the explosion was a failure, and after unsuccessful efforts were made to pry the door with pickaxes, they were forced to retire, without having obtained their object. The till was, however, relieved of a small amount of cash.

HASTINGS.

The Hastings Star suspends two issues, for the sake of loyalty. The editor and all the employees are members of the Volunteer Army, and go into camp in Cobourg.

Mr. Michael Walsh, of Asphodel, brought in the first load of grain (oats) for the season, and which he sold to Mr. Tierney, for 60 cents per bushel.

On Wednesday night, the Grand Junction freight house, at this place, was broken open, and the contents of several packing cases were stolen, as well as the station master's boots.

NORWOOD.

Never in the history of our High School, says the Register, did it give such a gratifying account of itself as it has given at the late examination.

While a farmer of Otonabee, named Sargent, was helping to place a threshing machine in a barn, he accidentally got his hand caught in a wagon-wheel, thereby having his thumb almost, if not completely, torn off.

On Saturday night last Mr. Jas. Greenbanks, who resides about one mile south of this village, had eight sheep killed by ravenous dogs. Owners of plundering dogs should keep them chained at night, otherwise it may cost them something.

BOBCAYGEON.

Twenty-five dollars were added to the park funds, by a concert the other night.

The Independent says that the latest addition to Mr. Boyd's Big Island Stock Farm, is a thoroughbred Clydesdale horse, recently imported. It is an exceedingly fine animal, and is just the class of horse for crossing with the stock of the neighborhood, and raising beasts suitable for the export market.

Operations are now being carried on in the quarries, and it is probable that a large amount of stone will be taken away during this and next season. At present there are three gangs at work, comprising about thirty men, and next week the force will be doubled. One gang is working for the Lindsay Gas Works, the other two are taking stone for the Ontario and Quebec Railway.

The demand for accommodation is so great this season, that requests for rooms at the Hotels have to be frequently declined. Summer rooms will have to be added to the hotels next season, and cottages built by the water would be sure of occupants. The tendency to cottage life, in connection with hotels, is growing in favor.

EMILY.

The Lindsay Post burdens its conscience with the responsibility for the following items:

On the farm of Mr. J. McGee, Emily, James Fleming and John Magee bound wheat after a reaper which cut 8½ acres from 1 o'clock p. m. till sundown and could repeat the same work next day. One of the binders cradled around the field before the reaper, which was driven by James Mackie. The crop was an average one.

On Tuesday of last week on "Clover Valley Farm," 2nd con., lot 2, Emily, the following remarkable work was done and is vouched for by several disinterested parties. Messrs. Geo. Fee, W. Bannan and Ed. Bannan bound twenty-five acres of wheat in eleven hours. It was an average crop of not more than 15 bushels to the acre. The remarkable part of this tough story is that Master John Bannan, aged fourteen years did the stooking and kept up with the binders.

COBOURG.

The harvesting in this section is near to a close, and we believe the yield is a very good one.

Advices from Ottawa state that Mr. J. A. Wilkinson, Ex-Deputy Measurer of yard sticks, &c., and "champion" of the Conservative party of West Northumberland, has been appointed to purchase the right of way, for the Murray Canal.

The vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr Byington, English Master in the Collegiate Institute, has been filled by the appointment of Mr. J. H. Long, M. A., L. L. B., Gold Medallist in Modern Languages, Toronto University. Mr Long brings with him an excellent reputation as a teacher. He was for some years Modern Language Master in Brantford Collegiate Institute, and previously on the staff of the Institute in Hamilton.

Lieut. Col. Graveley received a letter from Col. Villiers, D. A. G., Kingston advising him that the Militia Department had accepted the following Cobourg tenders for Camp Supplies:—Straw, A. Pratt. Forage, A. Pratt. Meat, G. Mitchell. Groceries, Sutherland & Co. Bread, D. Wright.

The Cobourg town council has sensibly enacted that no person shall advertise any sale of merchandise, furniture, or any other article, or any matter by the ringing of any bell, blowing of any horn, crying, hallooing, or creating any other discordant noise, in any of the streets of the said town, or on the steps of any house or other premises open to the public street, whereby the public are liable to be subjected to inconvenience and annoyance."

PORT HOPE.

A return game of lacrosse was played in Penryn Park on Wednesday, between the "Penryn's" and a Millbrook team. The latter were too much for the former.

The repairs and painting of St. John's Church having been completed, it was re-opened on Sunday last. The Rev. Dr. O'Meara preached in the morning, and the Rev. Canon O'Meara in the evening. Special musicial services were presented.

William Frederick Bye, son of Mr. Wm Bye, Morrish tool gate, a young man of promise, 17 years old, has come to an untimely end. On the morning of the 21st, he went to the pasture of Mr. Henry Gray, 4th Con. Hope, for the purpose of bringing a horse therefrom. Without any bridle, he got on the horse's back, and the animal stumbled over a cow, rolling over, and carrying young Bye with him. The injury caused by being crushed affected the brain, and consciousness never returned. He lingered till the following Friday at 4 o'clock, when death ended his sufferings.

Sixty-three snakes, varying in length from 3 feet to 7 inches, were discovered in a nest under a fence, on the farm of Mr. Routledge, a few days ago. Messrs. Jas. Bye, W. Caldwell and W. Barrett, as they were harvesting, came across them.

The Midland Banking Company have filed their Statutory declaration of partnership. It was dated and filed on the 28th instant, at the Registry office in Port Hope. The persons composing the company are Stanley Paterson and John Paterson. The company is to continue for a period of ten years, from the first day of March last.

On Monday last, strong rumors became general that an old lady named Connors, who had died, had come to her death through the ill-usage of her son. There seemed so much of truth in what could be gathered from these reports, that it was deemed advisable to hold an inquest. Accordingly a jury was summoned, and took evidence on the evening of that day, but as no post mortem examination had at that time taken place, the further inquiry into the matter was adjourned till Wednesday evening, when the facts brought out were of so damaging a nature to the man accused, that he was committed to take his trial for manslaughter.

LINDSAY.

Mr. Thos. Williamson and his men left on Monday for Peterboro', to do the brick work on Mr. Matthews' large pork packing house. They will likely be gone some time.

The return cricket match—Lindsay and Bobcaygeon, was played here on Tuesday, and resulted in an easy victory for Lindsay by an innings and 21 runs.

On Tuesday night a fire broke out in a barn owned by Mr. M. Penrose, lot 8, con. 6, Ops, supposed to be from the spontaneous combustion of damp barley. The flames spread so rapidly that all efforts by the neighbors could not prevent it from extending to a new barn recently erected close by, and in a short time the two were totally destroyed.

And still another lacrosse team has been formed here for the championship of the Midland district. This one is the junior "Invincibles," and as their name implies are very hard to beat. The officers are: Capt., Wm. Lukey; secretary, S. Smith; T. Samplar, treasurer. A meeting was held, we believe, to organize still another club yesterday evening, composed of the younger members of our crack lacrosse team.

The Presbytery of Lindsay held its regular meeting in St. Andrew's church here, on Tuesday. The adjourned meeting which was appointed to be held at Woodville, on Tuesday, 12th Sept., at 11 a.m.

Messrs. Needler & Saddler will shortly shut down their flour and grist mill for a short time for the purpose of putting in more rollers for the manufacture of their new process flour. At the present time they turn out regularly 120 barrels a day but so popular has the flour become that they are wholly unable to supply the demand with their present capacity. They have consequently decided to increase their machinery so as to be able to turn out 200 barrels per day, and for that purpose the necessary changes will be made at once.

 "Help yourself, and others will help you." But don't fail to use Kidney-Wort for all liver, kidney, and bowel complaints, piles, costiveness, etc. The demand of the people for an easier method of preparing Kidney-Wort has induced the proprietors, the well-known wholesale druggists, Wells, Richardson & Co., of Burlington, Vt., to prepare it for sale in liquid form as well as in dry form.

R. C. Bruce, druggist, Tara, says: I have no medicine on my shelves that sells faster or gives better satisfaction than Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and the sale is constantly increasing, the past year being the largest I have ever had. One of my customers was cured of catarrh by using three bottles. Another was raised out of bed, where he had been laid up for a long time with a lame back, by using two bottles. I have lots of customers, who would not be without it over night.

THE EGYPTIAN BROIL.

The News from day to Day.

FRIDAY.

Yesterday's despatches from the seat of war mention a rumour that Arabi has sued through the Governor of Zagazig for an armistice of eight days, and that Sir Garnet Wolseley had refused to grant a cessation of hostilities for a longer term than twenty-four hours. It is worthy of notice, however, that the official despatches are silent upon this matter.

At Kassassin our troops are enjoying a well earned rest, and no forward movement is probable for a few days. General Lowe is concentrating his cavalry in preparation for the advance. A wounded Egyptian officer has informed his captors that the Egyptians are much discouraged as the attack upon his rear having thrown his plans into confusion, it was absolutely necessary to defeat the British. This accounts for the determination show in the attack which ended so disastrously for them. The enemy's position was reconnoitred yesterday and valuable information gained. It is now thought that his entrenchments are not so strong as it was supposed.

From Cairo comes the news that the Chamber of Notables declared for Arabi as the sole ruler in Egypt. The Prefect of Police, who remains faithful to the Khedive, has ordered the arrest of those who spoke in favour of Arabi.

At Alexandria matters have assumed a more cheerful aspect. The enemy has retired for about a thousand yards from Mahalleh Junction. The fears of a water famine have been relieved by the discovery of an abundant supply in some old wells. Several of Arabi's spies, have been arrested and handed over to the native tribunal.

The Porte still continues its endeavour to procure England's consent to a landing of troops at Alexandria, but Lord Dufferin has insisted that the Port shall adhere to the final draft of the Convention.

Greece is assuming a warlike demanour, and is massing troops rapidly. Another outbreak upon the Turco-Greece frontier is looked for hourly, and it is rumoured has broken out already. Official accounts received at Athens state that the Turks were worsted in the recent engagement and now ask for an armistice.

SATURDAY.

The opposing forces appear to have mutually abandoned the aggressive for a few days, and are devoting their energies to the preparations for a great battle, which appears probable shortly. The transport service, which has been defective, is much improved now, and our troops will be better supplied than has been the case heretofore. The rolling stock of the railway having been increased, the artillery, from the want of which branch of the service the troops in front have suffered, will be rapidly passed to the front, and in the next engagement its superiority over that of the enemy will tell effectually. A reconnoissance yesterday developed new earth works which Arabi has been erecting near Tel-el-Kebir. They do not appear, however, to have impressed our officers with their strength. From his movements Arabi would seem to have made up his mind to make his stand at Tel-el-Kebir, as he his withdrawing a large portion of his troops from Kafr-el-Dwar. Our position has been strengthened at Ramleh by contracting the lines and concentrating the garrison in order to be better able to resist an attack. The troubles upon the Turco-Greco frontier have not yet been settled, the two powers being unable to agree upon the terms of an armistice which both make a show of desiring to agree to.

MONDAY.

Arabi appears to have regained confidence, and has advanced boldly from his stronghold at Tel-el-Kebir, threatening Wolseley's flank and also the Suez Canal. This movement has caused a serious disarrangement of Sir Garnet's plans, and will necessarily delay the projected attack for some days. The delay will afford additional opportunities for gathering all the troops to enable them to strike a decisive blow at the rebels.

Yesterday General Graham's advance guard occupied Karani, a position in the direction of Cairo. This movement was rendered necessary by Arabi's new strategaic movement.

News from Cairo represents the situation there to be very critical in consequence of the fanatical hatred of the natives, which threatens to burst out at any moment. The arrival of an Indian regiment there is anxiously looked for.

At Alexandria a quantity of arms and ammunition has been discovered in a mosque. This would indicate the existence of a plot for a native rising. It is hoped, however, that in a few days reinforcements will arrive. The necessity for a short and vigorous campaign is manifest in view of the news that 30,000 men are marching from Tripoli to Arabi's assistance.

Turkey's troubles has been added by the insurrection of the Sheikh Abdoullah, who is reported to be threatening Erzeroum. This new danger has probably had its weight in influencing the Porte to come to an amicable arrangement with Greece upon the frontier question. It is reported that each side suffered a loss of about four hundred in the recent hostilities.

TUESDAY.

Reports from the seat of war as to the position and general condition of our troops are conflicting, and much comment in England is the result. Sir Garnet Wolseley is reported to be in good spirits and confident that Arabi will be unable to hold Tel-el-Kebir. Profiting by the experience of the Ashantee and Zulu wars, and preferring not to underrate his opponent, the British Commander appears to be making his preparations and maturing his plans with a cool deliberation which imbues his men with confidence in their success. The bane of the English army, the transport service, though not so utterly inefficient as it has shown itself on former occasions, has almost broken down, and greatly retarded the movements of the troops. Now that an ample supply of locomotives has been secured, this branch of the service will be much improved, and the result of the great struggle when once a vigorous advance is made is looked upon with confidence.

In the meantime the inactivity of our troops has emboldened Arabi, who must have considerably weakened his position attempting to outflank the British. This operation will probably afford General Wolseley the golden opportunity for attack upon an attenuated line of defence which will be easily carried and the enemy's force cut in two.

The discovery of a large quantity of arms and ammunition secreted in Alexandria has caused much uneasiness in that city. Many vague rumours find credence, among them that a combined attack upon the British outposts will be supported by a rising in Alexandria.

The difficulties upon the Turco-Greek frontier appear to be virtually settled, for the present at least. Turkey has expressed a willingness to concede Greece's terms excepting the small district surrounding Lake Zenos.

Lord Dufferin has communicated to the Porte the British Government's assent to the landing of a small force of Turkish troops at Port Said.

WEDNESDAY.

The efforts of Lord Dufferin have been crowned by the most complete success. After much vacilation and procrastination and the practice of every intrigue which the Porte could devise, it has submitted to the demands of the British Ambassador. The irade proclaiming Arabi a rebel was signed by the Porte yesterday, and will be immediately promulgated. Following closely upon this announcement come the news of the signing by the Porte for the Military Convention. This submission of the porte to the pressure of her demands cannot but greatly increase England's prestige in the eyes of the Mohammedan world.

At the seat of war there is nothing important going on. Both armies are passive but on the watch.

A. Maybee, Merchant, Warkworth, writes: I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public "one of the best medicines they have ever used;" it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, &c., and is worthy of the greatest confidence.

THE REV. DR. RIPLEY, of the Buffalo Christian Advocate, says: We wish to call the attention of all persons suffering from throat and lung disease to a medicine which we have personally tried to our satisfaction, and greatly to the benefit of our health. Having suffered for some time past from bronchitis, and more or less trouble with the lungs, we commenced taking Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya in February last, and steadily improved through the spring, the worst season of the year for such diseases.

SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE.—Mrs. Helen Pharviz, No. 331 Drayton St., Chicago, Ill., is now in her sixty-eighth year, and states that she has suffered with Consumption for about ten years, was treated by nine physicians, all of them pronouncing her case hopeless. She had given up all hopes of ever recovering. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal and satisfy yourselves Trial bottles free at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store. Large size, $1.00.

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers, who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

WHY THE COWS CAME LATE.

Crimson sunset burning,
O'er the tree-fringed hills;
Golden are the meadows,
Ruby flashed the rills.
Quiet is the farmhouse,
Home the farmer hies;
But his wife is watching,
Shading anxious eyes
While she lingers with her pail beside the barnyard gate,
Wondering why her Jenny and the cows come home so late.

Jenny, brown-eyed maiden,
Wandering down the lane;
That was ere the daylight
Had begun to wane.
Deeper grow the shadows;
Circling swallows cheep;
Kine-bell tones are calling;
Mists o'er meadows creep.
Still the mother shades her eyes beside the barnyard gate,
And wonders why her Jenny and the cows can be so late.

Lowing sounds are falling,
Homeward now at last,
Speckle, Bess, and Brindle
Through the gates have passed.
Jenny, sweetly blushing,
Jaunty, grave and shy,
Takes the the pail from mother,
Who fondly kissed her by
Not one word is spoken as that mother shuts the gate,
But now she knows why Jenny and the cows came home so late!

Making "Gilt-edged Butter" at a Modern Creamery.

WRITTEN FOR THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE BY X. A. WILLARD.

I visited a creamery a few days ago where the finest kind of butter was made, butter that is eagerly sought after, and commands an extra price in market. A description of the process may perhaps be suggestive to the butter-makers in Canada, who find it difficult to make a fine grade of butter during hot weather.

At the creamery in question the water, though sweet and fresh, is too warm to cool the milk properly, and ice was required in its manipulation. The milk is set in a large vat, the outward appearance and size being similar to a common cheese vat. Its interior, however, was divided up into two milk compartments, the division running lengthwise of the vat. An ice trough was on the outside of each compartment, and a movable or adjustable ice trough hung in the centre of each milk compartment. They were deep enough to extend below the cream line when the compartments are filled with milk. Ice was broken up and placed in these ice troughs, which speedily cooled the milk, and caused all the cream to rise in twelve hours. There was an arrangement by which the skimmed milk could be drawn through a faucet at the lower part of the vat. I tested the temperature of this milk as it was drawn after setting 12 hours, and it marked on the thermometer 48 degrees Fahr. The morning's milk sets 24 hours, and the evening's milk 12 hours. Under this arrangement 26 pounds of milk, from the "common cows of the country," yield one pound of butter, which is considered a good average for the fore part of August. The cream is allowed to turn slightly acid before going to the churn; its temperature for churning is about 56 to 58 degrees Fahr. When it goes into the churn one ounce of Hansen's butter color is added to every 168 quarts of cream. The churn is the common box churn, rectangular in shape, and revolving on its smaller diameter. It has no inside fixtures, nothing but a plain, smooth surface on the four sides and ends. This style of churn is popular in the West among the makers of fancy butter in Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin, as it brings the butter in a nice granular shape, in the best condition for washing and freeing it from buttermilk. It is a very plain, simple affair, and no churn among the thousands of patent devices for churning can make better butter. It may be remarked here, in passing, that the elaborate and complicated churns of the past are now discarded by the advanced buttermaker. He now prefers the simplest kind of arrangement, like that of the box churn, with no inside paddles or fixtures to beat the cream and injure the grain of the butter. The time consumed in churning, in the box churn, ranges from half hour to one hour and a quarter. Just before the butter begins to granulate ice is broken up and added to the mass in the churn, and when it has largely come in granules like shot the buttermilk is drawn, then water at a temperature of 50 degrees Fahr. is thrown into the churn, which is revolved several times, when the water is drawn off. This process is repeated two or three times, until the water comes off clear, and the buttermilk is thus expelled. The butter is now taken out and weighed in 12½ pound lumps. These lumps go immediately to the butter worker, are flattened out, and each lump is sprinkled with 10 ounces of the best fine English salt. A word may be noted here, in passing, that the makers of fancy butter are very particular as to the quality and character of salt used—it must be of the best description and of reliable and well-known brands.

At Hansen's power butter-worker is used at the creamery. This is said to be the best [illegible] of the butter-workers where [illegible] of butter are churned per day. It has a circular and revolving [illegible], upon which at one point [illegible] revolving and cone-like shafts are placed. One of the rollers is fluted and the other plain. Each roller runs parallel with the table, the corrugated roller bears the butter to an even thickness [illegible] smoothes one does the working. The machine makes from 12 to 18 revolutions per minute. Owing to the revolving cone and fluted roller, there is no glutinous rubbing of the butter, and the grain is not injured. Its work is so uniform that the butter needs less working [illegible] ordinary methods. It is needless to say here that a great deal of butter is spoiled in the working, but we do not think it out of place to give a description of a first-class butter worker. As each salted lump of [illegible] under the rollers [illegible] a heap with a [illegible] under the rollers [illegible] have been thus [illegible] the rollers [illegible] evenly mingled through the mass, and the butter is then taken off in tubs and placed in a cool room until next morning; it is then put upon the butter-worker and run under the rollers three or four times in the same way as at the first working; sometimes only once or twice passing under the rollers will suffice, so that it shows no streaks, but is of a uniform and even color. The butter is then immediately packed in white oak firkins or in ash tubs that have been well soaked in brine to deodorize the wood. Care is taken to have good tight tubs, well hooped so as to allow no leakage, and to exclude as far as possible the admission of air. A clean, white muslin cloth goes on top of the tubs, and is sprinkled with salt when the cover is adjusted, and the butter is ready for market or may be stored in a cool place, say at a temperature of 50° Fahr. Such is briefly the process of manufacturing "gilt edged" butter in one of the modern creameries of New York. And in conclusion it may be remarked that the most scrupulous cleanliness is observed and maintained in all departments of the establishment. Everything is sweet and clean, and there are no disagreeable odors floating in and about the premises to taint the milk or product. The butter is of that delicious aroma flavor, and fine texture, that delights consumers and for which they are willing to pay a high price.

Small Farms.

Few persons have thought it worth while to cultivate for profit small patches of land containing less than ten acres. The cultivation of the many pieces of waste land within easy excess of our market towns would give healthy and profitable employment to many of the struggling men and women that abound in our cities. Not many think of the great profit that can be made out of only a single acre of land if suitable crops are grown; take for instance cucumbers; from 80,000 to 90,000 can be grown to the acre; these can readily be sold at $2.00 per thousand, but there are other crops that can be grown with greater profit, such as small fruits, herbs, and vegetables. A quick wit will soon find out new paths in this as in any other business, The first man that grew mushrooms in a cellar for the New York market made a fortune.

Bee-keeping is another exceedingly profitable one on a small farm which our people are just finding out. The report of the Bee-Keepers' Association shows that during the seven years ending with 1879 the average yield per hive was 90 pounds weight. Twenty-five hives are allowed to each acre. Our readers, who well know the average price of honey in the nearest market, can estimate the probable profit. Poultry raising is a business which on a few acres can be made to pay well. One woman we heard of who, beginning with ten dollars worth of eggs, in eight years possessed forty yards of the finest stock in the country, which yield her a competency.

Women as well as men could attend to this sort of work. Many of our small farmers are too desirous to enlarge their farms and frequently keep themselves and families poor by purchasing more land, and saddling themselves with debts that perhaps they are unable to wipe off during their lifetime, instead of devoting their time to growing crops that could be suitably and profitably raised on small farms.

Small Savings.

The man who saves somethings every year is on the road to prosperity. It may not be possible to save much. If not, save a little. Do not think that a dollar or a dime is too small a sum to lay by. Everybody knows how little expenditures get away with large sums. But few seem to know that the rule is one that works both ways. If a dime spent here and a dollar there soon makes a large hole in a man's income, so do dimes and dollars laid away soon become a visible and respectable accumulation. In this country, any man may make himself independent, or keep himself under the harrow of life, according as he wastes or spends his small change. How many things do individuals and families buy, that they do not need, or cannot afford. Think twice before you spend that small coin. Do not be stingy or mean, but also do not be foolishly self-indulgent. The self-indulgent person is far more likely to become ungenerous than the self-denying one. The money wasted on hurtful things alone—the medicines and drugs we mingle with our diet, in the shape of tea, tobacco, alcohol, and the like—stand on the very threshold of prosperity, and bar the way of thousands to a home in their old age.

Stray Animals.

It appears the law now requires that every person who takes in a stray animal must notify the township clerk of the fact, in addition to advertising it, giving as minute a description as possible of the animal. The clerk is required to keep a list of all such animals. Persons failing to comply with this provision of the law, lay themselves subject to a heavy penalty, and besides, cannot collect expenses of keeping.

THE BAD AND WORTHLESS

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H.B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H.B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 34-4t

Dyspepsia

is the most common of all diseases, and under ordinary drug treatment the most difficult to cure, it is a chronic weakness of the stomach with indigestion. The sensitive mucous membrane coating the stomach becomes irritated, and nearly all that enters the stomach continues to add fuel to the fire. Heartburn and Sour Eructions, Belching of Wind, Nauseau, Headache, Variable Appetite, Costive Bowels, etc., are its prominent symptoms. Burdock Blood Bitters is a positive cure for this miserable disease. 36-2t

Don't Die in the House.

"Rough on Rats," clears out rats, mice, roaches, bed-bugs, flies, ants, moles, chipmunks, gophers. 15c.

Household Hints.

JELLY CAKE.—Large tea cup of white sugar, one teaspoonful butter; one cup of butter; one cup of cream; two teaspoonsful cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of soda; white of two eggs.

GLOSS ON LINEN.—Mix a little powdered borax in hot water and let it cool; then pour it, with a few drops of turpentine, into the water. Put the starched things through a machine or mangle, and iron immediately.

TOMATO SOUP.—Six tomatoes peeled and sliced; pour over them one quart of boiling water, half tablespoonful of soda; when it stops foaming, add one pint of sweet milk and season as for oysters, with butter, pepper, salt, and a little rolled cracker. Serve as soon as it boils.

TO BOIL SALT BEEF.—Put it over the fire in cold water, and let it come to a boil slowly. Skim it well. If very salt, turn off this water and add fresh; then let it simmer or boil slowly for about four hours, if a large piece. That which is not eaten hot should have a weight put upon it, to press it while cooling; this will make it cut smooth when cold.

RYDE CHICKEN PIE.—Cover the bottom of a pudding-dish with slices of boiled ham; cut up broiled chickens, and nearly fill the dish; pour in gravy or melted butter to fill the dish; add chopped onions if you like, or a little curry powder, which is better; then add boiled rice to fill all the interstices and to cover the top thick. Bake it for one-half or three-quarters of an hour.

CRANBERRY ROLL.—Stew a quart of cranberries in just water enough to keep them from burning. Make very sweet, strain and cool. Make a paste, and when the cranberry is cold spread it on the paste, an inch thick. Roll it, tie it close in a flannel cloth, boil two hours and serve with a sweet sauce. Stewed apples or other fruit may be used in the same way.

A DANISH PUDDING.—Squeeze three quarts of currants through a cloth, and add water until it makes four quarts of juice. Put this over the fire, with two pounds of sugar; cinnamon and lemon to the taste; skim it well, and, when boiling, add a scant pound of the finest sago. As soon as the latter is transparent and jellies, pour it into moulds. When cold serve with cream.

POTATO PUFF.—Potato puff may be made with yesterday's cold mashed potatoes. Take three cups of potatoes, two tablespoonsful of butter, six tablespoonsful of cream. Melt the butter, add the cream and then the potatoes. Turn the mixture into a bowl, and beat till very light. Add the yolks of two eggs, then the beaten whites. Put in a baking dish and set in an over hot enough to brown it quickly. Or you may drop the mixture on a sheet of iron in spoonfuls, and get more brown crust.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. The original cause is, however, thoroughly eradicated from the system by NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in its use to cure dyspepsia and the many ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness, it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes, and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney complaints, scrofulous and all diseases of the blood, female weakness, &c., &c. Price, $1.00. Sample bottles 10 cents. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

(Written for the EXAMINER.)

There is nothing so little understood, in its true sense, and so little practised, as charity. Ministers preach about it, and people talk about its goodness and virtues, but they fail to put their words into practice, or if any thing is done, it is done with so much affectation and display as to rob the act of all its charms. We are told not to let the left hand know what the right hand doeth; which simply means that when we do good it must be done without ostentation, and to be known only by the giver and receiver, and it must be the outcome of benevolence and kindness and must be given freely and to the glory of our Heavenly Father, who knoweth all things, and who has said that whosoever giveth even a cup of water in His name, giveth it to Him. Here is the story of the man who gave, not from his heart, but only to deceive, and I am sorry there are to many like him in this word.

A poor little girl in a tattered gown,
Wondering along through the crowded town
All weary and worn, on the curb sat down,
By the side of the way to rest.
Bedimmed with tears were her eyes of brown,
Her hands on her bosom pressed.

The night was approaching, and winter's chill blast
That fell on the child as it hurried past,
Congealed the tears that were falling fast
From the poor little maiden's eyes.
The blinding snow on her pale cheek cast,
Unheeding her plaintive cries.

Now, hurriedly passing along the street,
She catches the sound of approaching feet,
And she wearily rises, as if to intreat
Some aid from the passer by,
But slowly and sadly resumes her seat,
Repelled by the glance of his eye.

He saw the wild tempest resistless here,
The gathering snowflakes with many a whirl,
Upon her bare head, where each soft, shining curl
Was swept up by the breath of the storm;
But what did he care for the poor little girl,
His raiment was ample and warm.

He went to a charity meeting that night,
And spoke to the listener's great delight,
Of how 'twas the duty of all to assist
The suffering poor to relieve,
And held up his cheek for a thousand at sight,
So all of the crowd could perceive.

He handed the check to the treasurer, when
The audience applauded again and again;
But the angel who holds the recording pen,
This sentence, methinks, did reverse;
"He doeth his alms to be seen of men,
"Their praise is his only reward."

The papers next morning had much to say
Of how the "good gentleman" did display
His generous spirit in giving away
So much to the poor man's cause,
He smiled as he read his own praise that day,
And thought of the night's applause.

Near by, the same paper went on to report
A story they'd heard, of how, out in the street,
A watchman, at dawning of morn, on his beat,
A poor little child had found,
With only the snow as a winding sheet,
Frozen to death on the ground.

Ah, who can declare that, when God shall unfold
Eternity's records, He will not hold
Him guilty of murder, who seeks with his gold,
In charity's name, to buy
The praises of men, while out in the cold
He leaves a poor child to die.

The above is only one case out of thousands which happens every day, but these instances are so common that they pass unnoticed among men, though they are not unheeded by God. Lazarus was refused the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table, and the dogs came and licked his sores, and the dogs had more charity than the rich man. But the time comes when poor Lazarus was provided for and the rich man begged of him even one drop of water to cool his burning thirst.

One cold, stormy night a poor, half clad mother with her little babe, knocked at the door of a well-to-do man. He and his family were taking comfort by the warm fireside, and when he opened the door and saw only the poor woman and her child, he refused them admittance and bade them be gone. The snow lay deep upon the ground, and she had not proceeded far before she sank down and must soon have perished, but a poor but good Samaritan came that way, and seeing the half frozen woman and child, took them in and proceeded on his way, and when he reached his humble home he had them conveyed in and there they were cared for and restored and made comfortable, and when they were ready to depart he helped them on their way and they left him rejoicing. Who can realize the joy that filled that good man's heart for the good that he had done, and who can tell the gratitude of that poor mother for the safety of herself and child. A little, ragged boy was one night wandering the streets of a large town. He was cold and hungry and knew not where to go. As he passed the houses and saw the lights and heard the merry voices within, his heart sank within him at his own desolation and misery. Finally he sank down upon the cold ground, and as his tears fell fast and thick he thought of his dear mother and his once happy home. Gradually he was dying of cold and hunger. People passed him by but heeded him not, when at length a kind, good man came and stopped and looked upon the dying child, he took him up in his arms and carried him to his home, placed him in bed and by a warm fire, where he was nursed and fed. These are only a few examples of the heartlessness on the one hand and of the kindness on the other hand of the world. Prosperity makes friends, but adversity tries them; but when misfortune comes how soon these pretended friends disappear. We are all too much influenced by feelings of selfishness in our every day life, and we are all apt to persuade ourselves of the worthlessness of the claims upon our benevolence and too often pass them by with the reflection that they are all bad because some few happened to turn out so. But it is said that it is better that ninety and nine sinners should escape than that one innocent person should be punished, so we have no right to refuse help merely because we have been, in other cases, deceived, and it is always more humane to give in doubtful cases lest we might unintentionally do injustice. In proof of this I will mention a case in point, and which will show how the giver received his reward. One day a woman, apparently very poor and in great distress, and carrying wearily her little girl, stopped at the door of a kind farmer's house. He invited her in and gave her rest and the best that his home could afford. He made her remain all night and the next day helped her on her way, and just as he was parting from her he slipped a ten dollar bill into her hand. She went on her way, and as her little girl grew up she told and retold to her the story of this good man's kindness. In time the daughter married a wealthy man, who lived not far from the good farmer, upon whom heavy pecuniary trouble had lately fallen. It so happened that this daughter's husband was his principal creditor, holding his note for many thousands of dollars. One day the farmer called upon his creditor and while telling him of his inability to pay the claim and of the ruin which its enforced payment would bring upon him, the wife discovered who the man was, and asked her husband to show her the note, and when he did so she immediately destroyed it, and then she told her husband the story of her past life, and how this good farmer had saved herself and her mother and she begged her husband to forgive him the debt. The husband consented, and then the wife spoke to the farmer, and reminded him of his past charity and mercy, and told him he was now free. He then felt how much better it was to give than to receive, and how bread cast on the waters returns in blessings after many a long day. True charity does not show itself. True charity is forgiving and kind. It searches out the poor and needy. It speaks words of encouragement and hope. It raises up the sick and the fallen. It knows the effect of a kindness done in time, and done with a full and free heart. It feels it is better to give than to receive. It does not, as I have often heard done, proclaim its benefits to the public ear, but rather seeks to avoid publicity. It detests boasting. I have heard men, in the church and out of it, boast of the money which they bestow in charity, and I could point to one, who counts his annual income by tens of thousands, who tells how very benevolent he is, but whose charity consists in directing the poor applicants to go to the poor house as the fittest place for them. Those men, boasting of their charity, are like the men who boast of their religion, the one has as much charity as the other has religion, which is just none at all. No, no, there is very little true charity in this world. The rich man hugs his gold closer and lets the poor pass by unheeded. Even those who are entrused with means to help the needy do it grudgingly and often in anger. They must be approached with hat in hand, and in humble supplication else there is no help given. It is a fact that those who flatter the most are favoured the most, and often the more deserving are turned away because they cannot, in their poverty, forget their own self-respect, and will not bow down and worship. This is not mere imagination, and some poor mothers there are who could tell this sad tale, and could tell how, when turned away, their little helpless children were crying with hunger and cold. And yet their haughty patrons will go about with the most sanctimonious pretences and claim to be examples of benevolence and charity. Honest poverty is a hard thing to bear. Honest poverty is seldom appreciated. Its victims are made to feel their humility and dependendence. Their wants and their troubles are often unknown, and oftener unheeded. And no kind act or word comes to soothe or relieve their sorrow, the poor mother bowed down with grief, carrying her dead child alone to the grave, is passed by unnoticed, and none comes near her humble home to speak words of comfort, or to uphold and cheer her desolate heart. Thus it ever is with the poor and the forsaken. Their bodily and their spiritual wants are both neglected, and their only consolation consists in looking forward to that other and better home where sorrow never comes.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of Mrs. DENOTT, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

Mrs. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free at the office. 25

THE ROMANCE.

A crimson sea of passion, Love,
And a bark with a golden sail,
And a silken flag at the mast above,
And an ivory lute, and a white-winged dove
With an arrow in his breast,
And a crushed red rose, and a fair face pale
With weeping and unrest.

THE REALITY.

A yellow sea of bad ice cream,
And a man with a haggard air,
And a ghastly look to the gaslight's gleam,
And a driver stern with a two-horse team,
With cloud banks in the west,
And a crushed young man in an ice-cream lair—
Twelve shillings in his vest.

After many years of patient investigation, DR. VAN BUREN, of Germany, finally succeeded in perfecting a Kidney Cure that would permanently relieve all cases of Kidney Disease. Be sure and ask your Druggist for DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 33-8t

"I wish I was worth a hundred thousand pounds," said a gentleman. "What good would it do you?—for you don't spend your present income," rejoined a friend. "Oh, I could be economical on a large scale."

An article so favourably known as Hall's Hair Renewer needs no words of praise from us. It has won its way to the highest favor in the public mind, and multitudes who have vainly used other preparations, have, on trying this, been made glad by the speedy restoration of abundant locks, as in the days of youth.

I tried a bottle of it after suffering for some ten years, and the results are certainly beyond my expectations. It assists digestion wonderfully. I digest my food with no apparent effort, and am now entirely free from that sensation, which every dyspeptic well knows, of unpleasant fulness after each meal."

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Local News Record.

PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH.—Next Tuesday week, the 19th inst., the Presbytery of Peterborough will meet in Port Hope.

THE EFFECTIVE STRENGTH.—The fighting strength of the army encamped at Cobourg, is 111 officers, 1,400 men and 222 horses.

COST OF THE CAMPAIGN.—The certified expenses of Mr. John Burnham, the successful candidate in the Commons election in the East Riding, are $473.88.

REMOVAL.—Mr. J. Beatty, Veterinary Surgeon, has removed his office from Hunter Street to Dr. Dann's old stand, Simcoe Street. Opposite Phelan's Hotel.

CHURCH PARADE.—No 3 company, the strongest company in the 57th, attended the St. Luke's Church on Monday morning as a corps and Rev. Mr. Bradshaw preached a suitable and eloquent sermon.

LIFE, LOVE, AND DEATH. During the month of August, the number of births registered with the Town Clerk was 13, of marriages, 15, and deaths, 7. It will be noted that our population is increasing both actually and prospectively.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.—There was no meeting of the School board on Tuesday night as called. The nearest approach to it was the presence of the reporters (of course), the janitor and the secretary's minute book—sent by a messenger.

OBITUARY.—We regret to notice in the Port Hope papers, the record of the death of Mrs. Wm. Stevenson, sr., of Port Hope. Deceased was mother of Mr. Jas. Stevenson and Mrs. Graham, of Peterborough. Her death took place on Sunday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL EXCURSION. -The annual excursion of the Charlotte Street Methodist Sunday School to Hastings, on Wednesday of last week, was numerously attended, requiring six coaches for the accommodation of excursionists. The picnic sojourn at Hastings was everything enjoyable.

NOT INSURED. We are sorry to be corrected in our statement that the broken plate glass window in Muncaster's jewelery store was insured. It was not, and Mr. M. will have to bear the loss. We assumed that the precaution of insurance so generally taken in respect to plate glass, had been observed in this case.

DRAUGHTS CHALLENGE.—Mr Robert McLaurin, of this town, has issued a challenge for twenty match games at Checkers, for $100—$50 a side. If Mr. McL. meets anything like his match, it will be a tough struggle, for though he is an unassuming quiet gentleman, he is great on the "move."

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The Traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada, for the week ending, Aug. 26th, 1882, was as follows: Passengers and mails $5,352.64; freight, $13,718.83; Total, $19,071.47, as compared with $18,019.42, for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of 10,52.-05; and the aggregate traffic to date is $847,647.13; being an increase of $157,-693.83 over 1881.

NEEDLESS ALARM.—Last Thursday evening some parties were considerably exercised over the appearance of a blaze in the north-western part of the town, apparently. The glow was only that from a fire in a swamp some distance from the town. If the weather had been as dry as last year at the same time, it is likely that the fire would have been burning yet.

ASHBURNHAM VOTERS' LIST.—It hurts the feelings of the average Tory journal more to tell an unpalatable truth in political matters than it lacerates the conscience to tell an agreeable untruth. In its report of the hearing of the appeals from the Ashburnham voters' list. The Review states that six Conservative voters were added to the list, whereas the fact is that the omission of the names was merely a clerical error caused in copying from the wrong list, and no great party triumph either.

ALLEGED SPORT. Guns and gunners of the peaceful variety are a frequent sight in our streets. They go forth in the morning jaunty and full of hope, and return in the evening, full of hunger, and laden with a gun that has gained fifty pounds in weight since they started out, and a despondent looking bird or two. There has been a great increase in the accidental deaths- not to the sportsmen, but their prey record since the opening of the sporting season. A muskrat was laid low by one on Friday, at Goose Island.

THE BAND CONCERT As to attendance last Friday night, it was a flat failure. There were about as many ticket holders present as members of the band. In spite of this, the boys played in good style, making a most enjoyable musical hour. The thinness of the attendance can not be on account of lack of appreciation of good music. It must be the bad ventilation of the drill shed, or the disinclination for in-door confinement, for when the band performs on the market square on Friday nights, there are hundreds of charmed and happy listeners, therefore, the responsibility falls also on the 25th cent ticket, which appears to be chiefly to blame.

The Fifty-Seventh to the Fore.

Their Departure for Cobourg.

On Tuesday, the Peterborough contingent to the Cobourg camp of instruction made their departure. The local detachment of the Durham Field Battery went on the seven o'clock regular train. The Peterborough and Ashburnham companies assembled in the drill shed, and had a rather wearisome wait, as they were on hand sharp, and there was some delay in the arrival of the special train, that did not leave Hastings till ten o'clock, the time it should have left Peterborough. At about 11.15 the company command of "fall in" was given, and column of companies was formed, and the force inspected by Major Grover.

The men were in heavy marching order and had a highly neat appearance and soldiery bearing. The detachment, preceded by the Battalion Band, who looked exceedingly nobby in their regimentals, marched in column of fours, down George to Simcoe and Aylmer streets to the station, under command of Major Grover, Dr. Bell, Adjutant. The marching of the companies was very steady, and if the twelve days drill has its expected effect, we may welcome back a band of regulars, as to drill.

There was considerable delay at the station. The Hastings, Norwood and Keene companies arrived by special train a little after twelve, but it was one o'clock before the transport steamed out of the station, to the battalion band's air of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and there were many left standing on the platform, some with silly little tears in the corners of their eyes for the departing soldier boys. The strength of the 57th, all told, is about 230, No. 3 Company, Ashburnham, having the largest roster.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY. — To-day, (Thursday) the annual exhibition of the County of Peterborough Horticultural Society, takes place in Bradburn's Opera House, at which time the doors will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 7 till 10 p.m. There will be a lively competition for the $200 distributed in prizes in the different departments. The display will be, from what we have learned of the number and intentions of exhibitors, something superb. Especially in the floral department, will the display be really magnificent. The season—warm and showery—has been particularly favorable to the growth and development of flowers, and the floral exhibit may be expected, and undoubtedly will be correspondingly extensive and exquisite. There will be also a luscious show of fruits and vegetables, while in the fine arts and ladies' departments, the attractions will be numerous and tempting. All who have an eye for the beautiful, and who wish to encourage the development of a taste for the cultivation and production of it, should not miss this opportunity of feasting the senses on the delights which Bradburn's Hall will contain on Thursday afternoon and evening. Admission only ten cents.

For the home team, Burritt and Rogers, at the bat, secured creditable double figures—31 and eighteen. In bowling, Rutherford secured three wickets in the first innings, and two in the second, and Connolly captured four stumps in the first innings, and four in the second. Logan, for Lindsay, took nine wickets in the first innings, but after a little practice, his balls, as seen by the second score of the home team, were collared.

SWIMMING. This is a valuable accomplishment for women as well as men, in fact it is more important for the latter. As a rule in case of danger of accident, ladies, from a consciousness of their utter helplessness in the event of falling into the water, become nervous, flustered, squealing, and fainting, and contribute to the loss of other lives besides their own, by requiring the assistance that they would not need if they had known how to swim. The indispensible accomplishment of the natatorial art is becoming yearly more and more in vogue. Like all reforms that conflict with the seated customs of social life it is slow to secure adoption. The opening of the Wiman baths in Toronto discovered a great reluctance on the part of ladies to promiscuous bathing, but the feeling wore off when it was made manifest that ladies' bathing dresses could be made nobby and beautiful, and that a female acquaintance could be turned green, as well with envy of a dream of a bathing dress as of a duck of a bonnet. The advantage and desirability of swimming baths being conceded, it might be suggested that it is time that Peterborough fell in line with the march of fashion and progress. The skating rink is so situated that it could be converted during the summer into magnificent swimming baths with little expense. The over-flow of Dickson's race would give abundant water-supply, and the few details of internal arrangement of the rink for the purpose mooted, would be but a matter of trifling expenditure, and after the baths got nicely into operation, and the recreation became, as it would be certain to do, popular, the stockholders of the company would receive a return for their investment greater, perhaps, in summer than winter. By the establishment of swimming baths here, the health of the town would not only be improved, but our citizens would learn an art, which, in the range of easy probability, might prove to be worth, at some time, their lives. It is too late in this season to hope for anything practical to come from the suggestions we have made, but all things like this require the help of time and talk; but given six or eight months for talking the thing over and next summer may see a swimming bath an accomplished fact. Peterborough is approaching the size and should, therefore, begin to adopt the institutions of a city. We are too wide awake a town to be behind hand in any respect.

LACROSSE.

PETERBOROUGH VS. ORILLIA A WALK-OVER FOR THE HOME BOYS.

On Friday last, a match game of Lacrosse took place on the Ashburnham grounds, between twelves of Peterborough and Orillia, for the championship of the midland district, and the Association Gold Medal. The following was the composition of the respective teams:—

PETERBOROUGHS.		ORILLIAS.
W. A. Sanderson	Goal	D. Breckon.
J. Joyal	Point	G. Armstrong
P. Rudkins	Cover Point	J. Henderson.
M. Halpin	Field	H. McCaul.
Geo. Giroux		J. Weeks.
J. Sheehey		C. Cameron.
A. Yelland		L. French.
W. Morrow		G. Thompson.
G. Fortye.		L.G. Bingham
C. Rutherford	Home	J. T. Tudhope
W. Rudkins		Geo. Tudhope
J. Hayes		R. H. Jupp
H. Lebrun	Field Captain	R. H. Jupp.

Umpires, D. Fitzgerald and A. Hector; Referee, W. Breaky, Millbrook.

At five minutes to three the ball was faced, and lively play at once began. It was apparent that the home team had picked up some important and valuable "wrinkles" on their "foreign tour," for they made the pace so hot as to daze and demoralize the visitors.

After eleven minutes, sharp play, Geo. Fortye netted the sphere and sent it through, wining first game.

Play was at once resumed, and this innings was a rather longer one, the Orillias playing strictly on the defensive, the ball almost constantly threatening their position. The play was lively and exciting throughout one continuous skirmish. When 27 minutes had elapsed, the north country boys were pretty well winded, and Sheehey, taking advantage of this, captured the caoutchouc two thirds way up field, and ran it down opppsite the enemy's gaol, and tipped it neatly to Rudkins, who passed it to Hayes, from whom it sped through the stakes, scoring second game.

The third and last game lasted only a minute and a half. Sheehey got the ball, dropped it in front of the gaol, and it got through, thus giving the third game and the match to the home team.

The game was played as gentlemen should play together; not a rough play, dispute, or foul, marred the pleasure of one of the pleasantest matches ever contested on the grounds. There was a large attendance of spectators, and betting on the result, which was lively on its start, was soon robbed of the element of chance.

OBITUARY AND FUNEREAL.

On Friday last, in the death of Mr. Samuel White, Peterborough lost one of the most widely known and oldest citizens. Death came as the end of a rather protracted illness. Mr. White was, for some time, engaged in mercantile pursuits. He was a member of the school board, and belonged to several society orders, the Masons, Oddfellows, and Ancient Order of United Workmen, and at the time of his death, was one of the Grand Stewards of the Grand Lodge of Free Masons. In politics, he was a Conservative. The funeral, which took place from his residence on Charlotte Street, was conducted with society honors, the masonic ceremonial being observed. After the splendid burial casket—supplied by Bro. D. Belleghem—covered with masonic emblems, was placed in the hearse, the procession formed in the following order:—

57 Battallion Band.
Masonic Brethern (75) with Officers and Official Insignia.
The Hearse.
Oddfellow Brethern (25.)
Ancient Order of United Workmen.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. J. Lundy, Hall, Rogers, Boucher, Morrow, and Rush.

FIFTY-TWO CARRIAGES.

The procession advanced slowly to the Little Lake Cemetery, the Band with muffled drums, playing the "Dead March in Saul." The solemn and impressive ceremonial of the Masonic burial rite was performed at the grave.

THOROUGHFARE.—Rubidge Street, from Macdonald to London, is to be opened next Friday.

HYDRANTS.—The hydrants for fire purposes have been placed on George street at the corners of Hunter and Simcoe.

FOOT BALL.—This club is now putting its best foot forward, and organizing for the fall campaign—against Kingston and Taronto clubs, probably.

THE ALBION—ASHBURNHAM.—This new and stylish little hotel, Mr. Thomas Kenneally, proprietor, is as clean and bright inside as a new coined copper and as neat outside as a pretty girl in a clean calico wrapper.

GRANT TO THE BAND.—At the council meeting on Monday night the Treasurer was authorized to issue his cheque for $200, to aid the band in purchasing a $700 set of instruments, which have been ordered from England and will arrive in about ten days.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—We are obliged to Mr. J. Braden, Public School headmaster, for the following statement of the attendance at the different schools, at the opening of the September term. In the Central Schools, there are 506 pupils, distributed as follows:

Miss Dowling	53 Pupils.
Miss Mathews	47 "
Miss Johnston	54 "
Miss Perry	48 "
Miss Preston	44 "
Miss Jenkins	49 "
Miss Graham	80 "
J. Braden	34 "

TRAIN AND TRACK.

LOCAL RAILWAY NOTES.

All the cars of the Midland line are being painted at the shops in Port Hope.

The Midland Railway shops now employ seventy-five men.

The Port Hope Times, in speaking of the amalgamation of the Midland repair shops, says that of the claimants to the site of the shops that Peterborough will likely be selected.

The entire mileage of the Midland is 470 miles.

There are, according to the Port Hope Times, 52 engines now in use on the Midland; 40 broad guage and 12 narrow guage. Of these there are 21 on the Midland division; on the Nipissing 6; on the Whitby and Port Perry 7; on the Grand Junction 8. There are 40 coaches, 25 common cars and 25 vans. Box cars number as high as 5,409 and flats 961.

Fate seems to have a particular grudge against Midland Railway brakemen. On Saturday, George Terry, of Camphellford, while waiting for his train to be loaded with ties, at Moira Lake, near Madoc, went in bathing and was drowned.

Liver, Kidney and Bright's Disease.

A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Complaints, and has power to root them out of the system, is above all price. A TRIP TO WINNIPEG.

Wonderful Winnipeg—Its History—Its Position—Its Growth—Its Mud—Its Society—Progress and Prospects.

(Special Correspondence of the EXAMINER.)

WINNIPEG, August, 1882.

My last letter landed me at Winnipeg, after having a delightful trip. I propose now giving a few particulars about the city and the great country around it, trusting to afford those who have never been there some idea of what the people are doing and thinking of in this far west land—the land of the setting sun and broad expanse. I may, I suppose, begin with Winnipeg, the wonderful, as it has, not without reason, been termed, for in many respects it is indeed, wonderful—wonderful in its origin, its history, its position, and its growth. As old as the time of the "merrie monarch," it remained almost completely unknown to the world until recent years. Its very name was associated with the mythical unknown regions of frost and storm; even the best informed looked upon it as a desolate and isolated spot in a country of perpetual winter, uninhabitable, save by the wolf, the bear and the bison.

But time works wonders, and in recent years the trading post that had remained stationery for centuries is suddenly transformed into teeming with thousands of people of all nations, creeds and color. On the streets may be seen the sturdy and self-reliant farmer and plucky speculator from Ontario and the Maritime Provinces, the French habitan from Quebec, the cute Yankee, the burly western bull-whacker, Texan cow-boys, and Mexican rangers, who talk gleefully of the glorious times "down south," when they used their "45's" around from their "knickers." There is the ubiquitous negro, the "Heathen Chinee," and the full blooded Indian, the Jew, the Russian, and the Icelander, the English lord, and the Irish tenant, the Mennonite, and the "breeds," all hurrying and bustling—jostling each other good naturedly on the crowded streets. Yes, a Winnipeg crowd is heterogeneous, cosmopolitan and good natured. Every one is hopeful, buoyant and cheerful. No one is angry, no one scolds, no one fights. A more peaceful, law-abiding and apparently happy crowd could not be found in any other city under the sun, nor, I might say, a finer looking crowd. The men are mostly young and healthy; they have a manly determined bearing that tells you, as plain as words can say, that they have come here to fight their way to fortune or to fame. Strangers are often heard to remark the large number of fine looking, manly young men to be met on the streets. It is a mistaken notion down east that there is a great dearth of the opposite sex here. Any one walking up Main street on a fine afternoon would be speedily disabused of that idea, and, if of the sterner sex, he would be charmed by the bright glances of he would see many a lithesome form that would satisfy even his critical taste, and "heaps of style," on which to air his aesthetic and culture notions.

If he had occasion to cross broad Main street (as wide as two ordinary streets) he must have his wits about him, for he will have to run the gauntlet among vehicles of all sorts and sizes, dashing along like a flash or crawling at a snail pace. Pianfortes, buggies, dog carts, drays, waggons, cabs and carriages, all passing by helter-skelter, for the mud, however hard, permits vehicles to pass silently. I should not say all are noiseless, express waggons have bells, and the occasional Red River cart seen on the street proclaims its presence by its screeching protest against marauding civilization. But the Red River cart, in spite of its querulous groanings, does no harm otherwise—it throws no mud; poor "Jo," who stolidly sits in the mud-e of it, never has the satisfaction of knowing that he has turned the speck and spatter suit of a timid pedestrian, puzzled among several crossing vehicles, into second mourning with a shower of mud.

This reminds me to say something of though, I suppose, it is known wherever the name of Winnipeg is heard. It is the most powerful agent here, and when its energies are thoroughly aroused by a smart shower, it is capable of any atrocity. Its tenacity is wonderful, equalled only by its deceitfulness. On the street, drivers have been terrified at beholding the whole street roll up behind them, clinging like death to their waggon wheels. On the sidewalks, one sometimes is enabled and forced to move with wonderful celerity; but, as he does not know in which way the spirit of evil is going to move him, he compromises, by placing his feet, so as to move in all directions, when they do very often, in the most unexpected and undignified manner. It is very difficult, on such occasions, for the prostrate owner of the flying feet, after catching a glimpse of them among a myriad of dancing stars in mid air, to get them under him again in proper subjection, and waddle on as if he didn't mind it, or as if it were his business to fall.

I have now said enough of the people and the mud; let me tell about the city itself. I must, however, apologize to the mud in self-defence, for it is a dangerous thing to "go back on," and yet, although it has frequently been "sat upon" in the most public manner, by some of Winnipeg's most prominent citizens, it adheres most lovingly to the author of this "sitting down." It is very amusing to see some of the visitors to the city perform an involuntary pantomime, while making their first attack on the invincible mud. Confident of victory, and despising the power of the enemy, they march boldly forth, to trample the placid, innocent looking mixture. All goes well, and the stranger begins to look triumphantly around at the angular and unmanly attitudes, assumed by the crowd slipping past him—when, whack! Was it an earthquake or a comet? No one tells him. He hears nothing but a series of original and well-adjusted many-syllabled Western profanities from the enraged pedestrians, whom he so unexpectedly tripped up, by his sudden flank movement. But he rises, slowly and deliberately; making sure of his base of operations, he is now up once more. Independent? Why, the proverbial pig on ice is nowhere! He sails majestically towards the street, he flounders diagonally across the planks, he sounds a general advance along the line, which is rapidly executed, by the right wing charging straight on the guns; but like Prince Rupert, it goes too far, while the left doubles to the rear, to secure the retreat. This sudden change of base is done, no doubt, to outwit the enemy, but it leaves the bewildered stranger tottering with arms a-kimbo, fingers palmated like a fan, and feet as wide apart as is consistent with ordinary principles of gymnastics, while the familiar bobbing and bowing of his head and body at some imaginary acquaintance across the street, calls forth many a return bow from people, who "thought they had seen the old cove before." Finally, he abandons the struggle, and takes refuge in a friendly shop for an hour or two, when on again starting forth he finds, to his infinite delight, that all is dry, clean, and firm, for such is the habit of this famous mud. It is "terrible as an army with banners" when aroused by a passing shower, but it wraps itself in a solid gluey mass, under the benign influence of the hot sun, for a few hours.

Well, I was proceeding to tell the readers of the EXAMINER something about the city. Shall I attempt to describe? The city has just been entertaining the Canadian Press Association, who have come and gone, and have wondrous tales to tell of this great land. Like every new people, the citizens here are anxious to impress visitors favourably, with the progress and future of this city and Province. What the different members of the Association will individually think of the city and country, I know not, but I will endeavor to anticipate them, and picture to you what they and I have seen.

THE SITE OF THE CITY

is flat and unromantic, it is true, situated at the confluence of two long rivers, and it separates the wood region on the east, from the prairie on the west; thus, to the east of the city lie the wood stretches, cut here and there with roads; in some places the trees are the common white poplar, that springs up after a bush fire; in other places the lordly elm predominates in all, the glory of more southern climes. The city itself is long and narrow, following the windings of the Red River, and extending up the Assiniboine. It is intersected from north to south by Main St., a fine wide street; but unfortunately it follows the bends of the river to some extent, thereby impairing the splendid appearance it would otherwise have. Its great length and width make it the centre of all the business of the city, so that it is the scene of great bustle. It is filled at all hours of the day with a hurrying jostling crowd, all intent on some business. To a stranger, perhaps the most striking feature of it is the long series of piles of lumber, brick, stone, and sand, extending from one end of it to the other, on both sides. These are the materials for the buildings, that are going up along the street. Not infrequently, half the street is taken up by some old house, travelling from its ancient site to a less prominent locality.

This great thoroughfare will soon be built up throughout its entire length, with as as can be seen in any Canadian city, some of them containing stores and shops equal to any in the same line in Toronto. Apart from Main Street, the city is divided into several districts, each with its distinctive feature; thus the banks of the Assiniboine and Hudson Bay reserve are mostly occupied with a fine class of residences. It is in this portion of the city that Mr. F. H. Scobell, formerly of Peterborough, has recently erected a very handsome residence, fitted up with all the most modern improvements, costing in the neighborhood of $15,000. It is beautifully situated, and Mrs. Scobell does not forget the Peterborough people when they arrive in the city. Everything she can do for their enjoyment is done with that good nature, for which she was noted when living in Peterborough. Across the Red River is St. Boniface, the French quarter; in the north is the more thickly peopled residences of the workmen and railway employees; and on Point Douglass is the manufacturing, milling and lumbering district.

On arriving to the suburbs of the city, visitors are surprised at the vast quantity of unoccupied prairie land—most of it unfenced virgin prairie. The single word, speculators, however, will explain this state of affairs. It is all owned by speculators, and much of it is actually divided into lots, that will not be sold too cheap, by any means. It is, however, put to some use; large herds of cattle are grazing here and there on it, herded by cow-boys on Indian ponies, who have a rather picturesque appearance, as they gallop over the green plains.

As I said before, the city is flat and unromantic itself, and the vicinity affords few spots attractive for their beauty of scenery, although some are to be found along the banks of the rivers, that might be utilized as pleasure grounds for picnics, etc., but the people of Winnipeg have not yet given any serious attention to that species of enjoyment.

Indeed, the amenities of social intercourse are here yet in their infancy; men have fine horses and dogs, and ladies have expensive dresses and heavy jewelry, but general society yet lacks tone, not probably so much from the absence of refinement and culture, as from the want of recognized leaders, for the heterogeneous mass of society people from all parts of the world. As it is, as far as I can observe, society here partakes more of the American style, and less of the English than is the case in Ontario. But there is really little society here yet.

PEOPLE ARE TOO BUSY

to devote much attention to such matters and at anyrate are too numerous to receive any attention, such as would be dictated by hospitality. Few people entertain, and even these few confine their hospitality to their more intimate acquaintances. This is said to be, perhaps, the greatest objection to life in the city; it is particularly felt by young unmarried gentlemen, of whom the city boasts very many, who have adorned drawing-rooms in their distant homes, and who occasionally have longings for the good old times, and the good old friends, of yore.

In default of amusements and the pleasures of ladies' companionship, young men have recourse to such manly amusements for their evenings as they can find, and I need not say that the bar rooms and billiard halls are numerous and well patronized; the inevitable result of which is, that drinking is very prevalent. Absolute drunkenness, however, is not frequently seen on the streets, probably, because the majority of the drinking men are yet young, and have not become the slaves of intoxicating liquor.

Quarrelling is rare; it would be difficult to find a more well behaved crowd of men than is seen at any public gathering in the city. All is quiet and good natured, as at an agricultural fair in any of the towns in the east. This, I look upon as a splendid triumph for English law and English citizens.

WHEREVER A BRITON GOES

he brings his respect for law and order. Our North-West is as safe as a private garden. The traveller can go unarmed and unmolested over all the broad prairies. His tent, his baggage, his implements and his cattle are quite as safe from molestation as is his person. Nor is this safety gained by the terror of a police system; but is solely the product of three factors, viz: The fair dealing of the Government with the Indians and half-breeds; the absence of liquor and the respect for the law; and the fine class of settlers coming into the country, determined to lift themselves to positions of affluence and respectability.

Now, let me return to its

PROGRESS AND PROSPECT.

Ten years ago Winnipeg consisted of a few thatched shanties surrounding the Hudson's Bay fort, in the midst of a vast unknown prairie, generally supposed to be barren and almost continually frozen; to-day it is a city of over 20,000 people. In 1871 Winnipeg had only 241 citizens; in 1881 the population had increased to 7,983, and at present is 25,000. When we remember that its property and business have increased at a very much faster rate, we cannot but be pleased with the development. Indeed, the story of its rapid advance reads like a story of magic. Known only as an Arctic hamlet but yesterday, as it were, it is to-day a busy city full of the bustle of the trade of half a continent. There are more doctors, lawyers, and University men; more banks, monied institutions and wholesale houses, than can be found in any Ontario city outside of Toronto.

Some idea of the increase in the value of city property may be had from the increase of the assessed value. Three years ago the assessment was $3,000,000, a sum equal to that of the city of St. Thomas, in Ontario. To-day the assessment is $30,452,270, more than half as large as the assessment of Toronto, and exceeding that of any other Ontario city. In other words the city property has increased one thousand per cent in three years. I question if this record has ever been equalled.

INCREASE OF POPULATION.

The population during the same time has doubled twice over, and in ten years it has increased a hundred fold. This, estimated in per centage as the increase of other cities is estimated, would give the fabulous rate of 10,000 per cent. increase in eleven years, since 1871. A similar rate of increase would give before the close of the century a population equal to that of London, England; but modesty will not permit the prediction of such an astonishing future as that. Yet I am persuaded that the future increase in wealth, business and population will surpass anything at present known, even among the mushroom cities of the United States. But suppose it increases only as fast as the fastest of these, let us see what we may expect the position to be at the next census. Saint Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago bear the closest resemblance to Winnipeg in their surroundings and their rapid growth.

A few years ago St. Paul was a mere trading-post on the western frontier. In 1870 it had 20,000 people; in 1880 its census was 41,473, or an increase of 100 per cent. in ten years. Minneapolis had, in 1860, 5,000 people; in 1870 it had 13,066, and in 1880, 46,857, while its directory gives for 1882, 75,000, and its people estimate the actual present population at 80,000, an increase of six-fold in about twelve years. Chicago has just completed her half century. In 1832 the homesteads of part of the city were taken and occupied by men, some of whom live in the city yet. In those days the population was about 200, mostly French half-breeds. But in 1840 it had 4,000; in 1850, 29,000; in 1860, 109,000; in 1870, 279,000; and in 1880, 503,000, in round numbers. Thus the great city's increase has been very rapid. From 1840, in the first decade, it increased seven fold, in the second almost four fold, in the third almost three fold, and in the last decade it has nearly doubled.

Now, if Winnipeg increase only as rapidly as St. Paul, in ten years it will have between forty and fifty thousand people; if it keep pace with Minneapolis it will, in twelve years, have about 130,000 of a population; while if it follow Chicago's early spurts, it will have, in ten years, 56,000, and at the end of the century, 220,000.

There are many things in Winnipeg's favor, as compared with any of these three cities, which justify the prediction of a more rapid increase for some years to come, than even Chicago showed. Thus I might allude to:—

1. The greater tide of immigration setting in from Europe. It is increasing every year.

2. The prominence of the country before the world, and the wonder at its recent discovery, as it might be called.

3. The whole energies of three powerful agents are at work in its favor, viz: The Dominion Government, the Hudson's Bay, and the C. P. R. Company—a combination, stronger than any American district had in its favor.

4. It has the advantage of a railway system and boat navigation to begin with. It will not have to spend long years in a state of isolation.

5. Its situation with regard to the west is superior to that of Chicago. Is is the only exit to the whole west and north-west, and consequently must be the main distributing centre for all the country to the rockies! There can be no other large competing point.

6. Finally, Winnipeg must be a winter centre for the large farmer, the cattle-ranchers and the miners; both east and west, resembling, in this respect, San Francisco.

When one takes all these circumstances into consideration, he shall probably be not far astray in predicting a population of 75,000 for Winnipeg at the next decennial census.

A glance at the city would convince, even a casual observer, that the foundation of a large city is being laid. On every hand is the appearance of solid wealth and confident energy. Large public buildings and palatial business blocks and dwelling houses are springing up everywhere. It has all the ordinary comforts and appliances of larger cities—free postal delivery, daily papers, telephone, electric light, water-works and gas. Houses are springing up like magic. The number already finished this year and under way would probably reach nearly 4,000, ranging from the small cabin to the large Pacific Hotel, to cost about $250,000, those already finished amounting to $2,500,000. Evidently her citizens have confidence in the future of Winnipeg, and that future will not disappoint them.

They see a new nation springing up before their eyes—a mighty domain of fertile land extends far and wide around the city, that is being rapidly filled with the finest class of people in the world. Probably no other new country had the advantage of having such an intelligent, educated, and energetic class of pioneers.

A RAMBLE ALONG DICKSON'S RACE.

THIS SEASON'S IMPROVEMENTS.

The site of this tremendous water power that furnishes the aqueous vim to so large a share of our manufactories has this year been the busy scene of extensive improvements. Without further preface may first receive consideration. It is situated at the extreme northern end of Dickson's dam. The building proper is 40x60 feet and counting the basement, three stories in height. The outer foundation walls are built on piers that rise from the water about ten feet. To make room for this and the flume 6 by there have been excavated about five or six hundred cubic yards of rock, all under water—enough to build the foundation walls of the present building, and also for another similar large building that will be put up next season. The flume is fourteen feet wide and twenty-four feet long, and contains not only space for the accomodation of the four 56-inch Leffel turbine wheels that furnish 240 horse-power, but provision is made for extending it to accomodate other wheels to furnish power for next season's extension of business. The Pulp Mills will be in operation about the beginning of next month. All the machinery has been ordered and will be on hand by the 20th inst, in fact it is all on hand now except what is making in town.

There is a gang of men now employed in cutting the raw material for the paper pulp on the property of Frank Hollin, at the head of Rice Lake, Hope township. Eight cords of spruce and poplar will be used daily, in making paper pulp by the mechanical process. The mills will employ sixty adults. Messrs. Usborne & Co. consider the site for the mills first class. The water power is unsurpassed, the railway facilities all that can be desired and the surrounding country contains an inexhaustible supply of raw material.

Crossing the bridge we come to the GANG SAW MILL.

This has been generally repaired this year and provision made for putting in a large circular saw on the northern side. The mill now employs 53 hands and turns out about 75 thousand feet of merchantable lumber per day besides an immense amount of laths, etc. It began cutting about the first of June and runs from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. It contains four gangs and other subsidiary machinery.

THE SMALLER MILL

or "circular" mill, as it is called for distinction, has been built entirely anew from below except the sides and roof. All new and improved machinery including edgers, a jointer and cutter have been added. This mill with its nearly 40 employees is kept busy on bill stuff and custom work. The season's drive to be worked up by these mills included about 100,000 logs. Next south a new building has been erected for

MACKEY BROS. PARLOUR FRAME FACTORY.

35x75 feet and three stories in height and supplied with Leffel turbine wheels and shafting. Next down the river is the building for which is also 35x75 feet and three stories in height, with wheels and shafting as in the other building. Both wheels are 30 inch wheels under 15 feet head. Still further on are the buildings for the Messrs. Brodie's

OTONABEE WOOLLEN MILLS.

The main building has been thoroughly rebuilt internally and a new building for a dye house 40x60 and 2½ stories in height, erected. These include the chief improvements made along Dickson's race this summer. Next season Mr. A. Clegg's grist mill will be renovated. The flume and wheels will be replaced by new ones and the building entirely remodeled. A party is negotiating with Mr. Hazlitt for the erection of a new building with water wheels and shafting and it will be done if the party can wait till next season, Mr. Hazlitt being prevented by pressure of business from putting up any more new buildings this year.

THE SPRINGS DID NO GOOD.

The following item is given for the consideration of those of our readers who are in search of just such an article as that referred to in the following statement of Mrs. Geo. A. Clark, a well known lady of St. Catherines: "I cannot refrain," says Mrs. C., "from bearing testimony to the wonderful effects produced by the use of the very best remedy in the world, St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism. I had rheumatism and dropsy and did not walk a step for fifteen years. I tried nearly everything our most skillful physicians prescribed,—Clifton Springs, etc., residing with a celebrated German doctor who pronounced my case incurable. Thinking everything of no use I was induced to try St. Jacobs Oil, and it has certainly done wonders for me. I heartily recommend it to any who may be suffering as I did. I have not had any use of my right arm for more than a year; now, however I can raise it very nearly to my head."

Flies and Bugs

Flies, roaches, ants, bed-bugs, rats, mice, gophers, chipmunks, cleared out by "Rough on Rats." 15c.

Everybody is at the seashore or mountains, and hundreds of houses in the city are deserted of their owners, while the only moving creatures left behind are the rats and the ever-registering gas-meter.

It is a remarkable fact that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is as good for internal as external use. For diseases of the lungs and throat, and for rheumatism, neuralgia, crick in the back, wounds and sores, it is the best known remedy, and much trouble is saved by having it always on hand.

Jacob Lockman, Buffalo, says he has been using it for rheumatism. He had such a lame back that he could do nothing; but one bottle entirely cured him.

PETEBBOROUGH, SEPT. 14, 1882

Egypt's Future.

What England will do with Egypt, when the war is over, is a question which naturally attracts some attention at present. One newspaper has boldly affirmed that the tendency of events is towards the annexation of the country by England. This is hardly possible. Such an arrangement would meet with strong objection from Europe, and England could scarcely in this matter advance alone. Besides the English people have, we are sure no desire to see Egypt a British dependency. To make this unhappy country which has produced Arabi and this unfortunate conflict, an independent state; to foster the growth of free institutions and to aim at Egypt being as far as possible self-governed, is well worthy of a trial and seems more in accord with the genius of Britain and her statesmen's plans hitherto. There is no doubt whatever that British influence and power will be enhanced by the struggle which has taken place in the land of the Pharoahs, and naturally the voice of England will make itself clearly and decidedly heard in the affairs of this state in future. But her policy will, we are certain, be to guard her own interests in the country and to benefit the natives, without exciting the hostility or even the jealousy of her many powerful rivals.

The Rule of Success.

The biography of Robert Chambers, written by his brother, is a most interesting book and will well repay careful attention. It is the retrospect of a clever and successful man, and describes in a most readable way his early difficulties and his subsequent prosperity. Speaking on the subject of recreation, Mr. Chambers makes a characteristic statement. He moralizes on the advantage of blending with professional pursuits that amount of leisure which will enable us to cultivate the higher class of feelings. By neglect in this way he declares that, life in the long-run will only be looked back upon as a disappointing dream. But many will naturally ask in these hurrying days, how can we find time for such desired leisure? Granted that recreation is essential, how shall it be obtained, and what methods shall we pursue to make it advantageous as well as probable? Mr. Chambers says that the too common practice of hurrying into one project after another is a certain bar to any such thing as leisure. To procure it at all times, and to be free from hurrying anxiety, he lays down three rules which should be he declares inflexibly maintained by every public man. They are as follows, and the EXAMINER deserves a meed of praise for presenting them to the general public, as maxims worth their weight in gold:

1. Never take credit, but pay for all the great elements of trade in ready money.
2. Never give a bill and never discount one.
3. Never undertake any enterprise for which you are not fully prepared.

Notes of the Day.

CHICAGO HAS A POPULATION of over five hundred and fifty thousand. No city on the continent has made such gigantic strides since the terrible fire of 1871. Miles of streets which were then left a mass of smouldering ruins have been rebuilt with fine mercantile palaces, six, eight and even ten stories high. The greatest precautions are taken against fire and the water supply is very extensive. There are no less than thirty-two steam fire-engines and four chemical engines, besides numerous hook and ladder trucks. To work these there is a staff of 374 men and 185 horses. There is a total of one hundred and eighty-eight churches in the city, in addition to numerous mission stations, yet, with all these checks against evil, the Sabbath desecration is something shocking. Mechanics work just the same as on other days. Stores are nearly all open. Gin palaces and lager beer saloons are in full blast. The theatres do a roaring trade, in fact Sunday is their harvest. The streets are filled with newsboys and hawkers plying their trade and their cries blend with the groaning hum of the barrel organ and the rumbling noise of the street cars. We hope it may never fall to the lot of any journalist to chronicle such a state of affairs in Canada. Yet something of this sort is being quietly and persistently agitated to-day by not a few persons in the city of Toronto.

THE LIVERPOOL WATERWORKS are it is said the largest for water supply in Europe. The river Vyrnwy (pronounced Verniew,) a tributary of the Severn, is the source of supply. The water-shed of the reservoir is 272 square miles. A dam of solid masonry, 84 feet high above the surface and 17 feet wide at the top, with a foundation 40 feet below the natural surface is built in the Browyn Mountains. The storage reservoir will be 780 feet above the sea. The water is conducted into Liverpool by a conduit 57 miles long, though the air line distance is not more than 46 miles. The conduit starts from the lake by a tunnel 7 feet in diameter and 2¼ miles long. Inverted syphons of iron pipe and tunnels are used for the remainder of the distance. The cost of the works was six millions of dollars.

THE AVERAGE ANNUAL RATE of taxation in New South Wales is less than $9 per head, in New Zealand $16.08 and in the other antipodean colonies about $11. The total debt of these colonies ranges from $63 per head in the case of Western Australia, to $200 in Queensland and $300 in New Zealand. In our own Dominion, which is thought to have been extravagant enough in the matter of public expenditure, the debt per capita is only $45. These southern colonies have plunged into debt with terrible rapidity. This is apparent when it is remembered that the National debt of Great Britain, the growth of centuries and the o tcome of gigantic war expenditures in almost every corner of the globe, only reaches $113 per head. Canada at any rate shows well in this comparison, though her foreign trade is only one-third of that in the Australian colonies.

Personal and Political.

Mr. Chapleau's return for Terrebonne is gazetted.

"Shabby imbeciles" is the term the Winnipeg Sun applies to the Conservative Opposition in Ontario.

A protest has been filed against the return of Mr. O'Brien, the Conservative member for Muskoka. The protests now stand: Against Conservatives, 17; against Reformers, 15.

Sir William Ritchie, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, was on Wednesday last, sworn in as Deputy-Governor, during the absence in British Columbia, of His Excellency the Governor-General.

Sir Hector Langevin has distributed the work of repairing the Quebec fortifications and military buildings between thirteen differ at contractors. Tenders it is said, in no case have been called for.

Mr. Mousseau deserves a vote of thanks for having exposed the true inwardness of Quebec politics, in relation to Toronto. We know the source of the Mail's inspiration, and can govern ourselves accordingly.

Before the tariff commission at Detroit, Richard Hawley argued to show that the United States prospered in a much higher degree from 1850 to 1860, under the reciprocity treaty and under the revenue tariff, than from 1875 to 1880.

The Ottawa Free Press wants to learn to write after the style of the Mail. It says:—"Let us try: Sir John, with his Tuppers and his scuppers, his Tilleys and his sillies, his Carlings and his snarlings, his Bowells and his Powells, his Griffins and sniffings "must go" How's that for a beginning? After a few more efforts, patience and perseverence, we hope to reach the standard of literary excellence, set up by the chief organ."

AT Father Campbell's pic-nic at Orillia last week there was a competition for an Election cane as between Hon. Mr. Mowat and Mr. Meredith. The state of the polls at the close of the voting was as follows: Mowat 2 157—Meredith 1,430 majority for Mowat, 727. While this is no datum for forecasting the issue of the coming elections, it is very likely a fair indication of the probable general result.

How to gerrymander the Mowat Government out of office, is the chief concern of the Tory wire-pullers and their organs just now, and it seems the faithful are summoned to a conventicle in Toronto next month to sanction the ways and means devised by the chief juggler. Referring to the call to the clans the Hamilton Times remarks:—The call is padded out with the usual amount of Tory bluster, and, of course, it winds up with a prophecy that the convention will be a success and Conservative victory at the polls a certainty. It may set some people to wondering, when they read the name Sir John Macdonald along with that of Mr. Meredith, in connection with a provincial party convention. Are these Conservatives, who are called, the same who a few short months ago, were so virtuously indignant at Hon. Mr. Mowat's alleged interference in the Dominion elections? Was it all wrong for the Premier of Ontario to meddle with a Dominion election, and is it all right for the Premier of the Dominion to manage a provincial campaign? The public has grown used to Tory inconsistency, so that this fresh illustration of it counts but little.

THE WEEK'S NEWS NARRATIVE.

Told without Waste of Words.

Rev. Dr. Rice was elected President of the Methodist General Conference.

A severe earthquake committed great damage at Panama on the 7th.

A fatal case of what is alleged to be Asiatic cholera is reported from Newport, R. I.

Three professional thieves escaped from the Montreal gaol, on Tuesday night of last week.

The run by rail between Boston and Montreal, 333 miles, is made in ten hours.

The citizens of San Francisco have tendered a public reception to the Governor General and Princess Louise.

Blondin, who once walked a tight rope across Niagara, is now delighting Berlin, though fifty-eight years old.

There were one hundred and seventy-five deaths from cholera at Manilla U. S. on Wednesday.

The official report places the number of agrarian outrages in Ireland during August at 165.

The feeling between Montenegrins and Albanians on the border is very strained, and a conflict is avoided with difficulty.

Ten of the prisoners arrested for the murder of the Joyce family near Cong, Ireland, have been committed for trial

Rev George Hallen, for 38 years incumbent of St. James' Church Penetanguishene, died on Sunday morning, aged 88.

The rope with which a Kansas murderer was hanged has been woven into bookmarks and given to the convicting jury as keepsakes.

The Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland has intimated that all the dismissed Dublin police, with the exception of seventeen, will be reinstated.

The Scott Act re-count at St. John, N. B., was completed on Saturday and resulted in a majority of two against the Act. An appeal is talked of.

Mr. A. Dingman has retired from the Strathroy Dispatch, having been appointed Inspector of Indian Agencies in the Northwest.

Six imprisoned Irish suspects, three of them connected with the Brahazon street seizure of arms in Dublin, were on the 7th. ordered to be released.

Twenty young Oka Indians, who have just come of age, are about to enter suits against the Seminary of St. Sulpice, for allotments of land in the reserve.

The first day's experience in the free postal delivery in Kingston, is satisfactory. Some 416 letters and 421 newspapers were distributed. Only four letters and three newspapers were returned to the post office.

During the month ending August 31st, the total number of immigrants arrived in Ottawa was 237. This number shows a slight decrease compared with that of the arrivals for the preceding month. The arrivals for the season number 1,092, or about 600 in excess of the total immigration for the season of 1881.

The shipping trade of Montreal, during August last, was the best and largest for several years past. The revenue exceeded that of the corresponding month last year, by over three thousand dollars. The prospects now are very favorable for the harbor dues, this year's exceeding those of 1881, notwithstanding the vast decrease in the arrivals of vessels in the spring.

On Saturday night a fine team of young horses, belonging to Chas. Hyson, of Pittsburg, Frontenac county, entered a neighbor's field. In the morning the animals were found bleeding profusely from a number of shot wounds in their bodies. One had 70 shots in it, and was marked from ear to tail; the other had its hams literally riddled with shots, and would have bled to death, had not its wounds been attended to in time. The person who did the deed was seen during the night, by two men, with a gun in his hand. The matter will go into court.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

A BROTHER-IN-LAW'S BLOODY WORK FOR LUCRE—A WHOLE FAMILY ARRESTED.

KENSICO, N.Y., Sept. 6.—Albert Montfort, who was murdered in his store on Sunday night, intended to visit New York on Monday, to purchase goods. Montfort was found with his forehead split open, the gash eight inches in length. The left ear was cut in two, and the gash extended nearly to the back of the neck, while another blow, with an axe or hatchet, had cut a gash from a point about an inch from the second cut, to within a short distance of the right ear, thus nearly severing the back part of the head from the body. A blow had also been struck on the top of the head, with a blunt portion of the axe. Montfort's pockets were turned inside out, and not a cent of money could be found anywhere. The room was spotted with blood. Mrs. Montfort went to Tarryton on Saturday, to visit her sister. Her brother, Charles Reynolds, has been in the penitentiary, and on Saturday the Sheriff of Tarrytown was looking for him at Kensico, having tracked him there from Tarrytown, on account of a new charge against him. A quarter of a mile from the house an axe was found covered with blood and gray hairs. A shirt, spotted with blood, was also found in the house of Montfort's father-in-law, near White Plain. Near the barn, on this farm, another shirt was found, torn and covered with blood. The Coroner ordered the arrest of Mrs. Montfort, her mother, Mrs. Stillson, her father-in-law, and sister Mary Reynolds.

THE LICENSE LAW.

A CLEAR STATEMENT OF THE CASE, PUT FORWARD BY HON. MR. HARDY.

Mr. Hardy, in his speech at the Mackenzie banquet, said: The Mail says that "Mr. Mowat must go" because he has been hostile to temperance, and Sir John Macdonald has been called on by them to conduct the campaign, so as to put that question right. (Laughter.)

An Elector—As he did at St. Thomas. (Much laughter.)

Mr. Hardy—Another reason given by the organ that Mr. Mowat must go is that he is not a sufficiently able man, and that his colleagues are not able for the positions they fill. Hon. John Carling, of London, has lately joined the Dominion Cabinet. He, no doubt, is a great statesman—a very great statesman. (Laughter.) I venture to think I could put him down at this table with a pen, ink and paper, and ask him to write a license bill of three pages, and that he could not accomplish it even if you gave him his own time to do it in. (Cheers and laughter.) Yet, Mr. Carling has been in Parliament twenty-five years. Insignificant as Mr. Mowat or his colleagues may be, I am satisfied that but few men will be found, even in the Conservative ranks, who will expect them to learn much from Sir John's contingent in the Cabinet from Ontario. Then there is the Hon. Frank Smith, according to the organs, another great statesman. (Laughter.) He has been in the Senate ten or fifteen years. I ask any admirer of Sir John's talented Government to point out a single public measure bearing Frank Smith's name, or to name a single speech dealing with public questions of the slightest moment which he has offered to the nation from his senatorial seat. We should not have to hunt long in any township in the Province without finding plenty of men with greater claims to statesmanship than Sir John's Upper Canada colleagues. Yet the organ speaks of "Sir John's able colleagues," and in the same breath declaims against Mr. Mowat and his colleagues for inefficiency. (Laughter.) I need not refer further to the great and brilliant statesmen, Bowell and Aikens, nor to add the name of John Costigan. The people of this Province would have just reason to complain if Mr. Mowat had surrounded himself with men of their calibre, yet they are held up to us by the organs as shining lights and examples, and the Cabinet as one of illustrious talents! (Laughter.) Mr. Carling said in one of his speeches, that we were appointing license commissioners, and he pointed out the heinousness of that offence, and said the municipalities should have that power, and that our action would greatly retard the cause of temperance. Now, Mr. Carling is a big brewer, and we will pause before accepting his opinion as the best means of controlling the liquor traffic, just as we would decline to adopt Sir John Macdonald's ideas on the temperance question. (Laughter.) Sir John Macdonald wants to have the law brought back to what it was before the passage of the Crooks Act. He desires that the power to issue licenses should be returned to the municipalities. What friend of temperance wants that? What municipal councillor having his own peace of mind at heart, having a regard for the true interests of his township or village, wants that? (A voice—"Nobody.") So long as licenses were issued to everyone who paid the fee, municipal councils could issue the licenses without serious embarassment, but when the law requires the number issued to be limited, some other authority, which does not have to return to the people every year for election, becomes an absolute necessity. If the number is limited then some must be refused, and that number would be greater or less in every locality. For every one so refused, the councillors would make enemies for themselves of the man refused and his friends. This would tell in elections, and councillors, who now are elected from two to ten years in succession, would find their opponents strengthened by every license refused. It would be impossible for him to hold his seat as he now does. I believe that the hotel-keepers do not wish to go back to the old state of matters. They are now able to make a living. They wanted protection against the groggeries. These have been suppressed, and legitimate hotel-keepers are now able to do well. Look around you. Compare the condition of the ordinary hotel-keeper of to-day with that of ten years ago. Compare the ordinary hotel with that of ten years ago. Then there were nearly twice as many as now. They were poorly kept. Business was slack, and groggeries were to be found at every corner in competition with the legitimate hotel. These groggeries have been suppressed. No more licenses have been issued than those demanded for the accommodation of the public. The suppressing law, therefore, has been the greatest protection to the honest and legitimate hotel business. Without having that object in view it has answered that end, and we see its effects to-day in the hotels being well kept, well furnished, business good, and the landlords prosperous in nineteen cases out of twenty. Much of this is owing to the operation of the Crooks Act. A return to the old system might have one result; it might (but I do not pretend to pronounce dogmatically upon this point) cause such a feeling to arise in the community that the people would unite upon the passage of the Scott Act in every section of the Province. John A. Macdonald, the newly arisen advocate of temperance, Carling, the brewer, Hon. Frank Smith, the dealer in liquors, say that the Crooks Act does not promote temperance. (Laughter.) They are not precisely the best authorities on the subject, nor the ones whom we would examine as experts for testimony upon that question. (Laughter.) Let me state to you a few results of the Crooks Act. In 1874, before the

CROOKS ACT CAME INTO FORCE,

there were issued 4,793 tavern licenses in Ontario. In 1881, although the population had increased nearly a quarter of a million, the number of taverns was reduced to 3,336, or 1,400 less than in 1874. Further, if we had gone on in the old way, if the authorities had continued to issue licenses to every man who sought one, whether for a hotel or for a mere shanty in which to sell liquor, we should have had, taking into account the increase in population, 5,339 public houses, instead of 3,336—a difference of 2,003. (Cheers.) These figures pretty conclusively show you that the Crooks Act has advanced the respectability of the hotels, and that under it the people have been better served; low groggeries have been suppressed, while at the same time respectable hotel-keepers have made a better living. While it is in the interest of the respectable hotel-keeper to maintain the present law, on the other hand, the friends of temperance will never tolerate a Government professing the reactionary measure suggested by Sir John Macdonald and urged by his brewer colleague, Mr. Carling. Even had they the constitutional power to do what Sir John promised at Yorkville, which I deny, it would largely tend to undo the great moral work which the advocates of temperance have accomplished during the past ten years. It would open up the flood-gates and sluice-ways of intemperance, groggeries would multiply, and the youth of the country, in the sons and daughters who are now the pride and joy of our homes, would be again open to the temptations and the seductions which existed prior to the reform of the liquor law.

THE LESSON OF THE GOULBURN TRAGEDY.

(Toronto Globe.)

The melancholy Goulburn tragedy, near Ottawa, by which a young man has lost his life at the hands of the girl whom he betrayed under promise of marriage, is an additional evidence of the necessity of such a law, as that introduced by Mr. Charlton, last session of the Dominion Parliament, making seduction a criminal offence. It is not necessary to repeat the details of a story, which, alas! is but too common in its general features. Every development of the case, so far, points to the substantial correctness of the story, told by the girl, Maria Spearman, who has confessed to a deed of blood, for which no other motive than that assigned presents itself. In the desperation, consequent upon finding herself betrayed and abandoned, her former love turned to a deadly hatred and a wild longing for vengeance, and the life of the wrong-doer paid the penalty. The terrible deed was the natural result of a defective legal system, which leaves the foulest wrong that a man can inflict upon the weaker sex, without punishment and without redress. Far be it from us to say anything calculated to weaken the popular abhorrence of murder, and impair the sanctity of human life. But as it is obvious that the abolition of any penalty for murder would result in a frequent resort to the "wild justice of revenge" in a great many cases, where the parties concerned are now content to abide the actions of the law, it is equally manifest that such crimes as that of Maria Spearman, are the legitimate fruit of unredressed wrongs, such as that which preceded it. The popular sense of justice—usually more keen than that of law givers, embarrassed by precedents—fully recognizes this. No jury will convict the slayer of the seducer of his wife or sister, or the wronged woman who kills her betrayer, provided a single loop-hole can be found for a verdict of "not guilty." And no government will put in execution the extreme penalty of the law in such a case, no matter how clearly the crime is brought home to the homicide. If the law punished the seducer, there would be no such reluctance in treating those who undertook a private revenge as murderers. If the sacredness of human life is to be maintained, the sacredness of woman's purity must be equally guarded. So long as seduction is a permitted crime, the shooting of seducers will be an unpunishable one.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

WEATHER NOTES.—August, the farmers' busy month has not had a repetition of '81 as regards bush fires, although the temperture has been high averaging 63-16 degrees, still the continued gentle showers and the five days of thunder storms early in the month have had the effect of keeping fires under control. The hottest days were on the 6th and 7th, with the thermometer standing at 96 degrees at 1 o'clock in the shade. The coldest were on the morning of the 19th being only 36° or 4° above the freezing point. Rain fell on 15 days to the depth of 2-13 inches while in August of '81 it only fell on 4 days. We had white frost on the mornings of the 13th and 19th and thunder storms on 9 days. The harvest is mostly secured; only a few fields of grain remaining out. The threshing machine following in its wake whose din and boom is heard in every direction. Spring wheat is not yielding what many thought by appearance before harvesting. A large quantity of the barley is badly colored by the rains and having to stand after ripe waiting for settled weather.

HARVEY.

The Harvey Council met at Lark Hill, 31st August. Members all present. Minutes read and confirmed. A by-law was passed to provide for levying and collecting the rates and taxes in the Township of Harvey, for the year 1882. County purposes, $779.01; for township purposes, $501.73; school sections No. 1, $180; No. 2, $249; No. 3, $245; No. 4, $217; No. 5, none; No. 6, $135; No. 7, $209. A committee was appointed to go to Deer Bay settlement and ascertain the probability of getting a road out for the settlers. Mr. Boyd was allowed four days of statute labour on next year's work for timber taken for a crossing. The following orders were drawn on the Treasurer: J. H. Thompson, for election blanks, etc., $4.81; Wm. H. Taylor, $20, in full payment for land taken for road off his lot 26, concessions 8 and 9, and fencing the same; Wm. Bennett, $1.00 for land taken for road through his lots in the 9th concession, and fencing the same when required. The Council adjourned, to meet at Town Hall, on the 6th November.

BALLIEBORO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The corner stone of the new Methodist Church, Ballieboro (South Monaghan circuit) was laid on the 1st inst., by Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M.P. for West Peterborough. A profitable time was enjoyed. The service was connected in the Baptist Church by Rev. J. Shaw, Chairman of District, who preached a very suggestive, suitable, and profitable sermon, after which the audience repaired to the new building, to witness the laying of the stone. The Chairman, assisted by Rev. T. Weldon, of Colborne, read the ceremony, after which the Pastor, Rev. F. Johnston, read the usual documents, which were placed in a bottle beneath the stone, and then, in behalf of the trustees, presented Mr. Hilliard with a suitably inscribed silver trowel, with which he laid the stone, placing on it the handsome subscription of $100.00, to aid the building committee. A telegram was received at the time from Mr. Guillett, M.P., Cobourg, expressing regret at his not being able to be present, and promising to cheerfully contribute his mite. The building is of brick, 50 x 40, with alcove for choir, behind the pulpit. Tower in front, and is progressing rapidly. —Com.

THE MURRAY CANAL.

TURNING OF THE FIRST SOD—A LARGE NUMBER PRESENT.

Trenton, Ont., August 31.—The turning of the first sod was celebrated at Trenton last Thursday by a grand picnic held at a point on the line of the canal about half-a-mile from the western terminus, on the farm of Mr. Chas. Clendinneng. Before 2 o'clock about 5,000 people had assembled on the grounds, and after dinner had been disposed of, the ceremonies at once commenced, the invited guests and members of the press having assembled inside of a large enclosure, which had been roped off for the occasion. Mr. Thomas Webb, Reeve of Brighton, after reading a very appropriate address, presented Mrs. Keeler, widow of the late Joseph Keeler, M.P., with a beautiful silver spade, suitably engraved, with which the Lady gracefully turned over the first sod, the bands meanwhile playing the National Anthem.

The company now adjourned to the grand stand in the centre of the grounds, when Mr. Webb being called to the chair, called on the Hon. M. Bowell, Minister of Customs, who, after expressing his regret at the inability of Sir John Macdonald to be present, said he hoped that the estimable lady to whom had been assigned the honor of turning the first sod would live to see the day when the Canal would be completed. The Canal had been referred to on the floor of Parliament for upwards of half a century, and it would now be completed within three years, and he hoped that when finished it would never be found necessary to use it for military purposes as the Suez Canal was now being used.

Hon. Senator Read, John White, M.P. for East Hasting, Alex. Robertson, M.P. for West Hasting, Wm. Keer, Esq., H. W. Day, M.P., (Mayor of Trenton), and a number of other gentlemen then spoke in turn, after which cheers were given for the Queen, the Chairman and Sir John Macdonald, and the assembly then dispersed.

The contract for the canal has been awarded to Messrs. Silcox & Mowrey, who have already hired a large number of men, who commenced work at once after the ceremony. The canal begins at a point known as Twelve o'clock Point, on the shore of the Bay of Quinte, and will be constructed in almost a straight line to Weese's Creek which empties into Presq'ile Habor. The entire length will be a fraction over five miles, the width eighty feet at the bottom and 150 at the top, and the depth twenty feet. The object of the canal is to connect the head waters of the Bay of Quinte with Lake Ontario and thus insure a perfectly safe passage for all the shipping going from the West to Kingston and Montreal, which instead of going down Lake Ontario to the St Lawrence, as formerly, will pass through the canal and down the Bay of Quinte, thus avoiding the dangerous storms which so frequently occur on Lake Ontario, besides reaching their destination a few hours sooner.

BRITAIN'S PROMPTNESS OF ACTION

It may be fairly claimed for the expedition to Egypt that the punctual ease with which it is rolling away, complete cap-a-pie in all arms to its destination, and also the settlement of the commands are unprecedented in English history. In the former respect it may be contrasted to great advantage with the strain of the French expedition to Tunis on their War Office; in the latter with what we all remember of the principal appointments at the time of the Crimean War. When one compares the names of the noble lords and the effete meritorious veterans who accompanied Lord Fitzroy Somerset to the East, with the group of active, vigorous and distinguished officers who follow Sir Garnet Wolseley now, we begin to see what abolition of purchase and the reforms of Lord Cardwell and Mr. Childers have done for our military power. The names of Wolseley, Adye, Willis, Huntley, Graham, Allison, and Evelyn Wood, only suggest merit, capacity, valor, and hard services. To one of them, at least, Huntley, Germany has got nothing to teach on the science of war. England owes much to the Minister who has risen so readily to the height of such an occasion, and who certainly is paying in his own person—for two of his sons have gone to the front, and the whole personal staff of the Secretary of State, without, we believe, an exception, has gallantly deserted, and is on its way to Egypt.

THE MEDICAL FACULTY were among the first to recognise the value of Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as a remedy for throat and lung affections, premature decline and general debility. Physicians not only recommend it for incipient consumption, bronchitis, asthma, and minor pulmonary and bronchial troubles, but speak in the highest terms of it as a means of enriching the blood and counteracting a hereditary tendency to consumption. In every part of the Dominion and throughout the United States it has attained a popularity as wide-spread as it is deserved, and the evidence attending its efficacy is voluminous and convincing. The Cod Liver Oil, which is its palmonic constituent, is absolutely pure and does not nauseate the stomach; while the Hypophosphites, superadded to and chemically blended with this ingredient, possess invigorating properties which render it most desirable in diseases involving such a tremendous waste of tissue and loss of bodily substance as incipient consumption, which it checks with a promptitude truly marvellous. In addition to its pulmonic effects, it imparts tone to the whole system, and being a fine blood depurent, counteracts a tendency to scrofula. Moreover, it is sold at a reasonable price, the cost of the smaller bottles (the contents of one often sufficient to break up a bad cold) being 50 cents, and of the larger, $1.00. "The Man in the Moon."

From the earliest period of history many people have believed that a man really inhabitated the moon; some thought he was made of green cheese, while others had their doubts about it—be that as it may, whether there is a man in the moon or not, there is no doubt in the solid fact that

PETERBOROUGH, SEPT. 14, 1882.

Enlargement of the Examiner.

Owing to unforeseen and uncontrollable circumstances, we have been obliged to defer the date, which we indicated for the enlargement of this journal. But we mean to keep faith with our readers, and the enlargement will take place at an early day. It would have been accomplished with this issue, but owing to the absence of some of our staff, at the Volunteer Camp at Cobourg, and other derangements of business routine, incident to the holiday season, it is unavoidably postponed. Our mechanical appliances are about completed, and all other arrangements are well under way, to enable us to give our readers a large, live and reliable local newspaper, worthy of the wide and rapidly extending constituency of readers of the EXAMINER.

Petty Revenge.

The intense unpopularity of the petty spirit of spite—it is not worthy the more dignified title of revenge—shown by the Dominion Government in depriving the Prince Edward Railway of the privilege of carrying the mails, is demonstrated by the alienation of old supporters. Simply to punish the Messrs. McMullen, the owners of the road, who dared in the exercise of their franchise to vote against the "stereotyped supporter," J. F. McCuaig, we see the government of a country like Canada stoop to a return to semi-barbarism, by removing the dispatch of Her Majesty's mails from the universally employed—where possible—means of transport, a railway and employing small boats and one horse conveyances. Elisha Sills, erstwhile one of the rankest Tories in the county, a man who always heretofore swore by "The Chieftain," now swears at him. He condemns the act which in the indulgence of a petty spite against one or two individuals, militates against the general interests of the public, and his indignation thereat knows no bounds. Any body personally acquainted with Mr. Sills, would as soon have expected, to see the Mail write a dozen decent words of an opponent as to see him taking ground against Sir John Macdonald, under the greatest provocation. It is plain that the government, having purchased power for another five years mean to get the worth of the expenditure out of the people that dared to oppose their return to power, no matter whether it is in depriving a railway at the expense of the public interests of a mail contract or whether, the power is exercised to insult and injure the workingman by an attempt to crush out trades unions. No doubt the Prince Edward Railway affair is intended to serve a double purpose. Not only are the proprietors punished but a terrorism is thereby flaunted in the face of other railway corporations to keep or bring them into the traces against another election. Like Macbeth, the government are steeped so far in crime that they cannot now draw back. Securing power by corrupt practices they must continue them to maintain power. Some day the people of Canada will awaken, and it is to be hoped they will do so before it is too late.

It works wonders upon the Digestive apparatus. Zopess, from Brazil, acts as a gentle purgative, cures Dyspepsia, removes langnor and low spirits, gives energy and capacity for work. 35-4t Always Abusive.

It is "an hard saying" and we dislike to use it respecting a local contemporary, but for abusive and unjournalistic language the Review is almost as bad as the Mail. In a recent issue the former journal accuses the EXAMINER of stating a "deliberate and wicked falsehood" in saying that Mr. Mousseau had declared in effect that he had determined that the boundaries of Ontario, "should be restricted to those which the Dominion government held to be the right boundaries." There is no necessity for our contemporary's intemperate language simply because the shoe pinches, nor for glibly giving the lie—unless the force of habit is too strong to be overcome—in a matter, in which, at the worst, there is simply involved a difference of opinion. As a friend to Ontario and owning no allegiance to a party that has allied itself with the enemies of this province, it is only natural that we should put an interpretation different from that of the Review upon the bullying bluster of Mr. Mousseau. Events have shown that this moderate-minded gentleman has done just as he said he would do and his actions are in complete accord with the language, used by him as interpreted by the EXAMINER, which the local organ, with its accustomed elegance of diction calls a "deliberate and wicked falsehood." We do not expect the Review to agree with us on this question; being a party to an attempt to compromise the national honor, to repudiate the award of a solemn and legally constituted board of arbitrators; being bound to support its party, even at the expense of sacrificing immense material rights of this province, it cannot be expected that it would act otherwise than it does. As to the correct interpretation of Mr. Mousseau's meaning let the Review publish his remarks in reference to the Boundaries of Ontario, and the public can then judge how far we have been guilty of "deliberate and wicked falsehood;" they will see that we have only done as we had a right to do, drawn our own conclusions, leaving the Review the same liberty.

Editorial Notes.

THE HOLLOWNESS of the charges, or at least insinuations, against Mr. Mowat are cleverly "taken off" by Grip. This ornithological solon represents Mr. Mowat as a prisoner at the dock, with Sir John the magistrate on the bench. The magistrate inquires of Mr. Meredith the prosecuting counsel: "What's the charge against this man?" Lawyer Meredith naively replies, "I'm here to prosecute, your honor; but, hang me if I know, what charge there there is against him." The answer of the magistrate is characteristic; Sir John says, "In that case I will assist you to trump something up. We must administrate justice you know!" And the charge was trumped up of course at the great Conservative conspiracy, presided over by the conspirator-in-chief—Sir John, held in Toronto yesterday, (Wednesday.)

THE great conservative conspiracy meets in Toronto on Saturday and the local wire pullers have contributed. After the two or three local tacticians had everything cut and dried the meeting was held, the preconcerted programme was adopted and the delegates nominated. The occasion was a very tame one and that it was not representative, is shown by the fact that, there do not appear in the list the names of many prominent Conservatives, who from their respectability and services on behalf of the party and position in it would be justly entitled to be representatives at a bonafide convention and not a conspiracy. There are two reasons for these omissions; these parties are too honest to become confederates, in a scheme for despoiling Ontario, or to recognize a court where Sir John intrudes himself as the counsel of Quebec, our bitterest enemy. Again the influence of these men is to be dreaded. Their talents point to their attaining, with the chance given, a leading place in local politics, and their places are supplied with more pliant material or by parties who, desiring a cheap trip to Toronto, have figured to get themselves appointed as delegates.

THE DOMINION government with its paternal policy of "protection," protects some classes to opulence, it taxes the raw material of others, but with all its cry of protection one of the most important factors in the community—labor—is neglected. There is no protection for labor, in fact, the present government is hostile to the working man. Sir Charles Tupper has forbidden the employment on the Intercolonial Railway of drivers who belong to the brotherhood of locomotive engineers. The avowed object of this prohibition is to deal a blow at the trades unions principle, in so far as the ability of the government can avail to do it. Having no legislative protection of their rights, workmen combine in trades unions, and in England trades unions are recognized as legitimate organizations and special legislative enactments are made in their favor. But in Canada under a blatantly protective government, the "heathen Chinee" in the west, swamp the labor market, and in the east the paternal Dominion government 'protects' the working-man by refusing to employ a union man. The workingman is a fine fellow at election times to be patted on the back and fed unlimited taffy, but after elections—he has served his purpose and can be of no use for another four or five years. Promises at election times; insults afterward.

The Toronto Globe on the 5th of September completed its fortieth year of existence. The wonderful progress made by this journal and the position it has achieved as, by all odds, the foremost newspaper, in all respects, in the Dominion, and with no equal, considering its constituency, on the continent is a direct result of its intelligently directed enterprise, its independence and its fearless championship of the right and only of what tends to the public good. Through the troublous times Canada has known during the past forty years—through evil and good report; against grand discouragements; against the combined powers of political darkness, the Globe has upheld the principles of liberalism and fought the battle of the people's rights, and no small share of the political rights we now enjoy and the material prosperity resulting therefrom, are due with other causes, to the able and unflinching advocacy of this journal. As a collector and disseminator of news, the Globe is unapproachably ahead of all competition; as a commercial journal its political tenets are no bar to its being a preferred authority in the counting house, the hotel reading room or the bank parlour. In fact, in enterprise; in the journalistic skill, so to speak, that comes only of long experience; in the thorough organization of its literary forces; in mechanical equipment and material resources and, in fact, in every respect the Globe effectively distances all competition.

THE LATE FIRES.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—In reading reports of the late fires, it is very generally asserted that they were the work of incendiaries. Whatever basis the public may have for this view of the matter, I am inclined to think differently. Mr. Fitzgerald's premises were open, all round. What more likely place for any one to enter to sleep off a drinking-bout? and the proverbial pipe about, one o'clock would be resorted to to warm up again. The result of which would as likely end in the fire there, as that a being disposed to destroy the property wilfully placed the match to it.

The fire behind the "Sullivan House," on Hunter street, could be caused in the same manner. There are six places within a few yards of it where enough of the ambrosial could be secured to induce a disposition to a quiet snooze.

But it will be said that the burning of the car on the railway track proves that there was a design in the matter. Now, an open box car would be a very reasonable place for two to enter with sinister motives; not with a view of burning the car, if you will allow me to mildly suggest other intentions, which not unfrequently are induced by the "barley bree." And as almost every act from breakfast in the morning to undressing for bed at midnight is followed by the pipe, we need not draw much on imagination to suppose that this symbol of peace was again brought into requisition. Whether right or wrong in my opinions, I am inclined to attribute all the fires to the causes referred to, and not to compel myself to believe that we have persons amongst us so disposed as to burn down our beautiful town through innate wickedness. Let us investigate before hasty conclusions.

I am, Yours, &c.,
DEATER.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PIC-NIC.

The Sunday Schools of North Monaghan, held a Union Pic-Nic in Wallace's Grove on Thursday last, which was a grand success. There was a large number of the children, Sabbath School teachers, parents of the children, visitors from town, and those from a distance present. The Rev. Mr. Bell was also present, and added much to the enjoyment of all. Great praise is due to the ladies for the most excellent tea that they provided for the children and friends. All enjoyed themselves, and it was often remarked that it was the best of the season. After a couple of recitations, and singing by the members of the Sunday School, they dismissed with greater determination that Monaghan will soon have an increased staff of Sunday School workers, and send delegates to the Sunday School Convention.—COM.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of failing of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this Compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

The Contented Man,

Who is he?

The discussion of this question by an able lecturer was listened to a few evenings ago with interest by a large audience.

We venture to think that one of this class may be represented by the head of a family, who has been instructed to purchase a supply of that essential commodity for the table—TEA.

He has an indefinite idea that the article ought to be cheaper on account of the removal of the duty, but when he finds that he can save 10 cents per lb., instead of 5 he is jubilant.

THE CONTENTED MAN is he who gets the full benefit of the reduction of the duty on his tea for this year by making a saving of, say $4.00 on a purchase of 30 lbs.

Prove it by inspecting my stock of JAPANS AND YOUNG HYSONS.

A leading line of sweet and good drawing JAPAN offering at 35 cents, formerly sold at 45 cents.

NEWCOMBE PIANOS

BOSTON, 14th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & CO., Toronto.

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

Letter from Dr. G. W. Strathy, so long known in Toronto as a most thorough and accomplished musician:

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & CO.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,
Your obedient humble servant,

Horticultural Exhibition.

Third Annual Display—A Successful Exhibition—The Quality exceeds the Quantity—List of Prize-Winners.

The third Annual Exhibition of the County of Peterborough Horticultural Society took place on Thursday September 7th in Bradburn's Hall and was not only a success, but an improvement in nearly every respect over former exhibitions. In proof of the increasing interest taken in the society, the total number of entries this year were 350 as against 243 last year, an increase of 107 entries.

The disposition of the exhibits in the hall whether the result of accident or arrangement, was exceedingly effective in giving the room a beautiful and festal appearance.

The seats were removed from the floor as far back as the ticket office and a cordon of benches extended along the south and west sides of the space.

These forms were snored to the address pumpkin, some of them most respectable rotundity the succulent squash, the turnelled potato, the fragrant onion, the stately cabbage, the bloated beet and all the race of terrestrial and subterranean vegetables, making altogether a very fine display.

The show of fruit was not at all equal, it is said, to that of last year. The season has been very unfavorable and is about a fortnight later, in bringing fruits to maturity consequently there were many kinds absent from not being ripe enough for exhibition; what were shown had an immature and forlorn appearance generally.

The department of ladies' work was better in sample than variety. The display was not large but there were some exquisite specimens. Among the many others worthy of special mention was a toilet set hand painted on satin.

The fine arts department was sparingly filled. There were samples in oil, crayon, plain and colored, and pencil drawings. One of the latter was conspicious for much delicate and artistic treatment.

The floral department was really very fine and almost monopolized attention. The show of cut flowers was beautiful. The balsams, late in the season, though "lagging superfluous on the stage," made a brave display. Collections of phlox Drummondi and asters were much admired, and a magnificent mound of cut flowers was worthy of all the praise and admiration it elicited. The table containing the table and hand bouquets was a brilliant bank of odorous bloom, and suggested a possibility of the reality of the muse of Byron:—

"The light wings of zephyr, oppressed with perfume, Wax faint o'er the gardens of Gul in their bloom"

There were also fine collections of hot-house plants, begonias, foliage plants, etc. There were very many other articles too numerous to particularize, but worthy of admiration. A further idea of the display made may be gathered from the appended

Liver, Kidney and Bright's Disease

A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Complaints, and has power to root them out of the system, is above all price. Such a medicine is Hop Bitters, and positive proof of this can be found by one trial, or by asking your neighbors, who have been cured by it. 36-2t

A Word of Caution.

Beware of Opiates and powerful astringent drugs in the treatment of Bowel Complaints, they may lull the pain and check Diarrhœa, etc., but are liable to produce inflammation. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is guaranteed safe and reliable, even for infants, and is a specific for Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Colic, Acute or Chronic Diarrhœa and Summer Complaints generally. 36-2t

London is complaining of homeless cats left to wander about the streets, while their owners are out of the city. Shades of Dick Whittington, can such things be?

A REWARD—Of one dozen "Tealberry" to any one sending the best four line rhyme on "Tealberry," the remarkable little gem for the Teeth and Breath. Ask your druggist for address. 35-4t

Another large fire occured in Quebec on the morning of the 7th, the block bounded by St. Joseph's Church, on Des Fosses and Crown streets, being devastated. Loss over $150,000.

SAMSON lost his strength with his hair. Thousands of men and women loose their beauty with theirs, and very large numbers restore the ravages of time by using the famous Cingalese Hair Restorer. Sold at 50c per bottle by all druggists. 33-3t

Julia Ward Howe says that falling in love has entirely gone out of fashion. A woman generally makes this discovery when she reaches the age of Mrs. Howe. And there is nothing very marvelous about it either.

Mr. H. McCaw, Custom House, Toronto, writes:—"My wife was troubled with Dyspepsia and Rheumatism for a long time; she tried many different medicines, but did not get any relief until she used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. She has taken two bottles of it, and now finds herself in better health than she has been for years."

THE EGYPTIAN BROIL.

The News from day to Day.

The news from the seat of war for the past few days, have been void of interest, the two armies merely watching one another. But the excitement arising from a sharp battle infused more interest into the news of

MONDAY.

Drawing courage from the continued inactivity of Sir Garnet Wolseley's army, Arabi sallied forth from his entrenchments at Tel-el-Kebir on Friday and with a strong force of all arms attacked the British lines. The troops were quickly in motion and an admirable defence was made. At the same time the Tel-el-Kebir division attacked in the front a second force advanced from Salihiye and attempted to outflank the British line. The movement of the enemy was detected and his object defeated. After heavy firing the enemy was forced to retreat, closely pressed by General Wolseley's forces, who drove him into his entrenchments. Our troops were within range of the strong entrenchments and could doubtless have carried them, but as there was not sufficient man available to hold the position after it was captured it was deemed best to retire and await the arrival of the Highland Brigade, now en route from Ismailia. The British position was at one moment critical, but the steady and well-directed fire to the troops turned what might have been a reverse into a decisive victory. Five of the enemy's guns were captured and great loss inflicted. The foot guards have now arrived at the front, and when the Highlanders have also joined the main body the decisive battle of the campaign may be looked for. For two days rifle and artillery firing has been heard in Arabi's lines at Kafr-el-Dwar. Prisoners who have been captured state that a large body of recruits mutinied and refused to drill, and were fired upon by the regulars. The truth of this report is doubted in some quarters. The Military Convention between England and Turkey still remains unsigned, much to the annoyance of the Port, who accuses England of purposely delaying negotiations in order to prevent the Turkish troops from operating in Egypt.

TUESDAY.

There was no purpose to be served by Arabi's advance and attack unless for the purpose of drawing General Wolseley from his present position, which the latter did not allow him to do. All the British troops are now concentrated at Kassassin, and the troops are ready and anxious for an advance. At Alexandria there is not much stirring. The reports of the deserters from Arabi's lines are received with many grains of salt, and there is reason to believe that they are concocted for the purpose of misleading the British. The military convention has not been signed yet. The latest stumbling block appears to be Turkish duplicity. In the copy of the draft convention, which had been consented to by Lord Dufferin, several words were inserted which entirely altered the sense of the document, in the hopes that the alteration would pass unnoticed.

WEDNESDAY.

Despatches from the seat of war this morning announce the commencement of what is generally looked on as the decisive battle of the campaign. General Wolseley has taken time to complete his preparations, and carefully plan his line of attack. Yesterday he made a final reconnaissance, and satisfied himself of the enemy's position and strength. In the afternoon the welcome news was received that a general advance would take place. At six o'clock the tents were struck, and the troops began to get into position. At midnight the whole army was in motion. In order not to alarm the enemy no bugles sounded, and at 3.30 this morning the battle had commenced.

TEL-EL KEBIR FALLEN.

The latest news is that the battle has resulted in the disastrous defeat and rout of Arabi Bey. The British are in possession of Tel-el Kebir the enemy's stronghold. There were 2,500 Egyptians killed, 3,000 prisoners and 40 guns taken. The victory was celebrated on Wednesday night in Alexandria.

REPLENISH YOUR LIBRARIES.

The popular "World Publishing Company," of Guelph, is being represented by Mr. Geo. S. Wilson, general agent for Northern Ontario, who is introducing the following works: "Professor Macoun's Work on Manitoba," "Treasury of Song," Royal Path of Life." Dr. Manning's Stock Encyclopaedia and Family Bibles. He has been the recipient of a great list of testimonials, some of which we here append:

From Prof. W. F. Sherwin, of Cincinnati, well known as a popular composer and leader, and as Director of the famous Chautauqua School of Music:—

"TREASURY OF SONG is in all respects, a most enticing book for the home circle. Its exhaustive show of richest love and excellent thoughts, while the variety is wonderful in seeking away from the simple drawing room ballad to the 'Anvil Chorus' and 'Viking Song.' Its contents will bring genial sunshine and refreshment to the home."

Rev. J. H. Jacques, D.D., P.H.D., President of Alma College and University, Belleville, says:—

"The Royal Path of Life sparkles with gems. Every page attracts the eye and refreshes the mind. No one can well estimate the value of such a book in the home."

"We have pleasure in certifying that we have examined the new work entitled 'Treasury of Song,' and that we are highly pleased with it in every respect.

"The very large collection of Ideal Gems, both Classical and popular, its beautiful typography, the portraits and biographical sketches of eminent musicians and singers make it eminently suitable to promote happiness in every home.

"We cordially commend it to the music loving people of Belleville."

Signed,—Herbert Oldham, Professor of music, Organist St. Thomas' Church; J. A. Sutherland, Organist St. Andrew's Church; Prof. Hamilton Albert University; James Smith, Professor of music, Organist St. E. Tabernacle; J. S. McMurray, Baritone soloist and composer, Organist, Hathaway Street Methodist Church; J. W. Featherstone, Prof. of music, Organist, Carlton Church; Minnie Jones, Organist Bridge Street Methodist Church; Basso Carrello Teacher of Music, Choirleader St. Michael's Church; Miss Vogelsang, teacher of music.

"We have pleasure in certifying that we have examined the recent work entitled 'The Treasury of Song,' and that we are pleased with it throughout. It embodies a very large collection of Classical and popular pieces which have been collected from the repertoire of American, English, Scotch, Irish, French, Swiss, Italian, German, etc., etc., singers and composers; these, together with the biographical sketches and portraits of the most eminent musicians, will tend to make every home into which it is introduced, happy and attractive. We cordially commend it to all lovers of music in Peterborough."

The Busy End

Of our Store is found in every part of it—in every Department, and on all sides of it.

We are not disposed to say as much about it as are our customers who remark the activity in every direction, of what they are pleased to compliment as a well ordered business.

All details of our trade have responsible supervision, and everything connected with each department is being, if possible, more carefully looked after than heretofore.

In the Existing

Circumstances of increased cost of living, everybody who wishes to be economical, should ask themselves "where and how they can spend their money to best advantage."

A great many people have the habit of dealing in certain stores, and buying large quantities of goods and paying for them too, without ever asking themselves "could I have done any better elsewhere?"

If they would only take a little trouble and look around and call on us, they would be generally surprised in a six months how much to their advantage it is to trade with us.

Equally So

In all particulars is it with the stranger or transient visitor—whether great or small—whose custom is as much a matter of consideration to us as those of longer standing.

Hence as far as our business obligations can go, all are on the same basis, and equally the recipient of our best work. And everything we have shall equal the expectation of those who pay their money for it.

LARDINE MACHINE OIL.

Farmers, Threshers and Mill Men generally, should try the Celebrated Lardine Machine Oil, it does not Gum or Clog Machinery, and wears equal to Castor Oil.

In fact it will prolong the life of a machine if used exclusively, as it contains no Grit or other injurious substance which is found in the majority of oils made now-a-days.

It is made solely by McCOLL BROS. & Co., of Toronto. No one else wholesales it.

PET'S PUNISHMENT.

Oh! if my love offended me.
And we had words together,
To show her I would master be,
I'd whip her with a feather.

If then she, like a naughty girl,
Would tyranny declare it,
I'd give my love a cross of pearl,
And make her always bear it.

If still she tried to sulk and sigh,
And throw away my posies,
I'd catch my darling on the sly,
And smother her with roses.

But should she clench her dimpled fists,
Or contr. dict her betters,
I'd manacle her tiny wrists
With dainty golden fetters.

And if she dared her lips to pout,
Like many pert young misses,
I'd wind my arm her waist about,
And punish her with kisses.

Farm, Garden and Household.

Winter Wheat.

At a recent meeting of the Central New York Farmers' Club, a member said: I believe that wheat can be raised on any fair ground, and with proper cultivation, so as to be a paying crop. Several years ago I met a man from Canada who was a professional wheat-grower. I asked him how much he raised to the acre? He replied that he had ten acres, and that his crop that year was 546 bushels from the 10 acres. I cross-questioned him. I said, "but you can't control the elements." "Oh yes," he replied, "we do that every day. Suppose you turn your horses out into the field and keep them there for a year without shelter, what would they be good for? Now I raise a crop which may get winter killed and die from exposure. What must I do? Why, simply protect it from exposure as you would your horse. I blanket my wheat." Mr. Jenks continued: I begin by plowing in clover for a fertilizing material, and alternate each succeeding year with wheat and clover. I plow the clover six inches under, and harrow the ground six or seven times. In planting, I drill in 1½ bushels of seed to the acre. Am very careful about my seed, and run a hundred bushels through the mill to get seed enough to plant 12 acres. Always use the very largest kernels, as they have more material in them to fertilize the germ. After the grain is in leave it till the last moment. If there is any part exposed where it is likely to get winter killed, I mulch it with straw, and thus blanket and protect it. When spring comes I sow my clover seed, and go over the ground lengthways with the harrow, which makes me sure of a good crop of clover. Then again I bury the clover six inches under ground. Probably I don't get many more heads of wheat than other people, but my object is to get long heads, and this I do by fertilizing the soil with the clover. There is one advantage in raising wheat; after the seed is in, it almost takes care of itself until harvest time. Now if 15 bushels to the acre will pay expenses, the man who gets 25 bushels will make some money, and he who gets 35 bushels will make still more. My wheat yields 50 to the acre, and that is a possible yield for almost any farmer who will work for it. We farmers deal with the most subtle elements in the world. As farmers let us be thinking men, noble men, and if by any method we can increase the product of our farms let us spare no labor to accomplish it.

Benefit of Burning Straw.

A Wayne County, Pa., correspondent of the Tribune writes:—"I suggest that the recently recorded instance of wonderful improvement on the next year's wheat crop, which followed the burning of straw spread on the ground was without doubt due to the destruction of insects which pervade the soil. They arise and nest immediately under the straw in a very few days, when burning kills them effectually. A neighbour invariably secured a crop of cabbage by thus covering the patch with straw or some litter that was combustible, and after a few days burning it off. Others of us who did not take this precaution failed on account of some insect working at the roots.

Don't Pasture Meadowlands.

The best farmers never feed their meadowlands, no matter if the feed be short in the pastures. One thing may be set down as sure, that anyone who does will be gradually but surely running his farm out so that in the course of a few years it will produce very little. We have seen this thing done. When once a farm gets into this run-out condition, it is no easy task to get it back again. Some farmers think it pays to crop their grass-lands in this way, and thus cheat nature a little; but, if they will keep debt and credit, they will find that they have not succeeded. During these times of drought the farmer may be sorely tempted, on the ground of mercy to the animals; but there should be some other way to bridge over the spell. Do not pasture the meadowfields, if it can be avoided.

Feeding Horses.

It is not good policy to let work horses get thin. It costs more to put on flesh than it does to keep it on. Flesh that becomes hardened by exercise will be kept on with less food under the same work, than it took to put it on. From 15 to 30 lbs. of food will about supply the daily consumption of horses, large and small.

The English cavalry horses are fed 10 quarts of oats and 12 lbs. of hay three times a day. The American cavalry horses have had the English rations increased to 13 or 14 quarts of oats and an equal amount of hay three times a day. The hunter, in the season, is allowed from 16 to 18 quarts of oats, and about 8 lbs. of hay, fed five times a day. The race-horse is allowed from 18 to 20 quarts of oats per day, and nearly as much hay as the hunter, being usually fed five times a day.

Dealing with a Kicking Horse.

I once worked a vicious kicking horse on my farm without much difficulty by having a loop formed at the end of his tail, by turning up the hair at the end and tying with wax thread. A piece of stout, small string was tied to the evener or whiffletree: at the end was a small piece of stick four inches long. The string was just long enough to allow the evener to work; no more. By this means she could not switch her tail, urinate and kick, as she invariably did without it. I had no inconvenience by this method, as the loop and string were fixtures and always ready when she had to work. Another remedy is docking and pricking; I have cured many violent kickers thus. The tail would seem to be indispensible to every kicker. In positions where the string could not well be used I have tied the end of the tail to a strap put around the leg, above the hock.

A Ferocious Bull.

On Wednesday forenoon last, Mr. James Brown, York Road, let a young bull out to pasture in a field adjoining the Desjardins Canal. Yesterday morning early he went out to bring the animal in, taking a pitchfork with him. On going into the field the bull made a rush for him and tuck him in the back, tossing him high in the air. Mr. Brown did his best to keep the brute off with his pitchfork, breaking one of the tines in its side, but the animal was too much infuriated, and tossed him again and again, literally grinding him against the ground at times, while the unfortunate man clung to its horns to save himself from being trampled to death. The affair was seen by the Messrs. Walker, who were wooking in the field, and they gave the alarm at the house, when Mr. Alex. Brown and one of the hands hurried down to the field and succeeded in rescuing Mr. Brown, but not any too soon, as he was completely exhausted. He was carried home and Dr. Walker sent for, who found that he was terribly bruised and may have also sustained severe internal injuries. The animal, which so nearly occasioned a fatal accident, is not two years old and has never been considered anything but quiet.

Domestic and Useful.

To keep butter as hard as if on ice, take a new flower-pot, wash it clean, wrap in a wet cloth, and set it over the butter.

Milk, if put into an earthen can, or even a tin one, will keep sweet for a long time, if the can is well wrapped in a wet cloth.

Mix a little carbonate of soda with the water in which flowers are immersed, and it will preserve them for a fortnight. Common saltpetre is also a very good preservative.

MINT SAUCE FOR ROAST LAMB.—Two tablespoonsful of green mint, one tablespoonful of powdered sugar, and a quarter pint of vinegar. Pick and wash the green mint very clean; chop it fine, mix the sugar and vinegar in a sauce tureen; put in the mint; let it stand.

By using syrup or molasses for mustard plaster, it will keep soft and flexible and not dry up and become hard as when mixed with water. A thin paper or fine cloth should come between the plaster and the skin. The strength of the plaster is varied by the addition of more or less flour.

MORMON WOMEN'S WAYS.

A correspondent of the New York World writes from Lake City, where he was sent to picture the pleasures and conveniences of polygamy, that a Mormon friend enumerated at his request the following anomolies that he knew of in recent polygamous marriages:—A young and very pretty girl, in "the upper ten" of Mormonism, married a young man of her own class, but stipulated before marriage that he should marry a second wife as soon as he could afford to do so. Against his will she has now kept him to his promise. A young couple were engaged, but quarrelled, and the lover, out of pique, married another lady. Two years later his first love, having refused other offers in the meantime, married him as a second wife. A man having married a second wife to please himself; married a third to please his first. A couple about to be married made an agreement between themselves that the husband's second wife should be one of the relatives of the first wife. The lady who was selected refused, and the husband remained true to his promise for ten years. At the end of this time his wife voluntarily chose another mate for him. The belle of the settlement, a Gentile, refused monoganist offers of marriage, and married a Mormon who had two wives already. A girl, distracted between her love for her suitor and her love for her mother, compromised in her affections by stipulating that he should marry both her mother and herself, which he did. A girl, a Gentile, bitterly opposed at first to polygamy, married a polygamist at the solicitation of his first wife, her great friend. Two girls were good friends, and one of them getting engaged to a man by no means of prepossessing appearance, persuaded her friend to get engaged to him, too, and he married them both on the same day.

A NEW PLAN FOR CHURCH COLLECTIONS.

A new method adopted in the Central Presbyterian Church of Buffalo, seems to be in some respects a return of the apostolic idea: "Small boxes with a slit in the top and glass in the sides are fastened to the back of the pews. Before the sermon, the pastor steps up to the desk, and after repeating I. Cor. 16, 2: 'Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come,' says, 'let us further worship God by contributing to his service.' Then is heard all over the house the dropping of the change into the boxes. It requires but a minute of time." We are not informed as to the effect upon the collection; but the saving of the deacons' shoe leather, the exemption of the congregation from its official and ominous squeak, the saving in time, the ease with which the button-giver may be detected, and the certainty that the omissions of the chronic miser will find him out, all commend this new method to the patronage of generous congregations. But, whatever the method adopted, let it be taught in the pulpit and remembered in the pew that religion and benevolence cost money: that a religion that is worth living for and dying for is worth paying for; that "the Lord loveth a cheerful giver"; and that it is the duty of every one to lay by him in store as God hath prospered him.

 Unbidden guests are often welcomest when they are gone." Disease is an unwelcome guest which Kidney-Wort almost invariably "shows the door." Here is a case in point: "Mother has recovered," wrote an Illinois girl to her Eastern relatives. "She took bitters for a long time but without any good. So when she heard of the virtues of Kidney-Wort she got a box and it completely cured her, so that she can do as much work now as she could before we moved West. Since she got well every one about here is taking it."

Mr. W. Maguire, merchant, Franklin, writes: I was afflicted with pain in my shoulder for eight years—almost helpless at times—have tried many remedies, but with no relief, until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. After a few applications the pain left me entirely, and I have had no pains since.

FOREST PRESERVATION.

The North American people are gradually waking up to a recognition of the importance of carefully conserving such timber limits as have escaped destruction by lumbermen. The business of the latter in various districts has been carried on with the most reckless extravagance and with little or no regard to the preservation of the forests whence the supply comes. So long as the average lumberman is able to obtain any quantity of his staple commodity he cares little about the effects on the forest. What with these and other causes, some of the greatest American and Canadian limits have been completely thinned down. Thirty years ago the pine forests of Maine were considered inexhaustible and that state was by far the greatest source of supply on the continent. According to the New York Nation those forests are to-day not worth consideration as factors in the country's supply of lumber. A great deal of the pine consumed in Maine comes now from Canada and Michigan.

With regard to Canadian limits more particularly the pineries, it cannot be said that they are inexhaustible. The most extensive pine limits in Canada are evidently those lying north of Lake Superior and Huron, extending eastward, towards the Ottawa district. The New Brunswick limits and that of the Upper Ottawa, have been pretty well decimated, although they still yield a certain quantity at the present enormous rate of consumption and exportation, two or three dealers will probably find our supply of first-class timber well exhausted, unless steps are taken to check immediate waste, and preserve what forests are left us. The Lake Superior forests will be to a great extent required to supply the enormous demand from the treeless regions of the west; and the trade with the States and Great Britain, is also becoming a considerable drain, so that it will soon become an imperative duty to take strong measures in this direction, if we are to maintain our prestige, as one of the greatest timber producing countries in the world.

THE BAD AND WORTHLESS

are never imitated or counterfeited. This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H.B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H.B., with variously devised names in which the word "Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with the word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green hops on the white label. Trust nothing else. Druggists and dealers are warned against dealing in imitations or counterfeits. 36-4t

OLD COUNTRY CROPS.

The Mark Lane Expres reviews the English crop reports, and says:—With regard to the wheat crop of 1882 the returns represent it to be above the mean average of the past seven years in 146 advices out of 251; 53 advices represent it as being equal to the average of the past seven years. It will be seen from the figures in the returns, however, that the mean average yield of the previous seven years comes out at 24¾ bushels per acre for England, which is a much lower standard than the old "average" of 28 or 29 bushels per acre for England. Thus, according to the returns the wheat crop is under the "average" as usually reckoned, but over the average of the last 7 years. Of the samples which have hitherto been placed on the market the larger proportion have been scarcely hard enough for grinding, but harvest season, so far, has been highly favorable to the crop being secured in good condition.

Kidney Complaint.

The secretion from the Kidneys is often loaded with foreign and poisonous matter, a thick brickdust-like sediment or a mucous collection forms. The Kidneys are often inflammed and congested, causing pain and weakness in the back and many distressing symptoms. Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Dropsy, and all Urinary Complaints are promptly cured by that grand combination of diuretics, alterative tonics, &c., Burdock Blood Bitters. 36-2t

A picture memory brings to me:
I look across the years and see
Myself beside my mother's knee.

I feel her gentle hand restrain
My selfish moods, and know again
A child's blind sense of wrong and pain.

But wiser now, a man gray grown,
My childish needs are better known.
My mother's chastening love I own.

Gray grown, but in our Father's sight
A child—still groping for the light
To read his works and ways aright.

I bow myself beneath His hand;
That pain itself for good was planned
I trust, but cannot understand.

I fondly dream it needs must be
That, as my mother dealt with me,
So with His children dealeth he.

I wait, and trust the end will prove
That here and there, below, above,
The chastening heals, the pain is love!

JOE AND THE QUEEN.

Joe Bently was a boy who had been brought up on a cattle farm in the interior of England, but who had left home for the more congenial life on board a man-of-war. His first voyage took him to Lisbon, where to his great delight he learned that there was to be during the following Easter week a great bull fight. The wildest bulls had been brought from Andalusia, a large number of horses from the royal stables were in the ring, the queen herself would preside and distribute the favors, and, in short, it was to be the grandest bull fight seen in Portugal for many years.

All this had a peculiar fascination for Joe. In all his allusions to Portugal and Spain, he had declared to the boys that the only thing he cared to see in those countries was a real bull-fight.

The bull-fights of Portugal are different from those of Spain in several important particulars. At every such fight in Spain, where the cruel sport is conducted in the most barbarous manner, many horses are killed, and sometimes men too, fall victims, and at the close of the fight the bull is dispatched by a matador, or bull killer. The law of Portugal does not allow the bull to be killed, and his horns are always padded or tipped with brass, so that he cannot gore the horses. Once in a while, however, a man is killed, in spite of this precaution. The excitement is intense, as the object is to drive or drag the bull from the enclosure.

Accordingly, having obtained permission to go ashore on the day of the fight, Joe made his way at an early hour to the bull ring, and obtained one of the best seats. He thought that all Lisbon must be there. All waited in suspense for the queen to enter the royal box. Presently she appeared, and was greeted with repeated cries of applause. Then the sport began, and Joe watched with enthusiasm the mad rush of the bull into the ring, and admired the agility of his tormentors in evading his onslaughts. Finally, however, the superb animal had driven all his opponents from the encl sure.

For an instant the bull was master of the ring.

The most perilous feat of the bull-ring was now attempted. A young man, covered with silver lace hung all over with silver bells, undertook to throw himself between the bull's horns and cling to them till the bull was sufficiently overpowered to be taken from the ring. He courageously made the attempt, but unhappily missed his aim and fell directly in front of the enraged animal.

At this moment of terrible suspense, moreover, Joe suddenly saw what had not yet been discovered by any one else—that the bull had lost the padding from one of his horns. He stood over the young man, his eyes glaring, and his whole attitude one of furious anger. He refused to be diverted by the colors glancing all around him, and no seemed to be considering whether he should trample on the victim or pierce him with his naked horn. The young man did not dare to move, for he was aware that the bull had every advantage. The excitement of the audience was at its highest point and the overwrought feelings of our young hero would allow him to retain his seat no longer.

With the sprightliness of a sailor-boy, he leaped the paling. Everybody was astonished at his temerity. An Englishman present, fearing the life of the unpractised lad, cried out, "come back!" Several Americans shouted out for him to leave the ring. But Joe had made the venture and he was not going to be frightened from the ring. On the farm at home he had captured many a steer quite as mad and powerful as even this maddened bull.

He was conscious that thousands of eyes were watching him with eager interest; but without hesitation he advanced toward the bull, coolly placing himself so that with one hand he could grasp the bull's horn, while with the other he could seize his shaggy mane. The young man, meanwhile, had leaped to his feet and retired to a safe position, leaving Joe to fight the bull alone. Joe's mode of attack had never been seen in Portugal, and it appeared the extreme of folly. A murmur of remonstrance was heard in every part of the audience. Many cried out for the champions to rush in and rescue the reckless youth. The bull did not seem to appreciate the turn events had taken, and for a moment stood motionless. A strange silence, almost ominous of defeat of our hero, settled upon the pavillion. It was a thrilling scene—the brave sailor boy apparently at the mercy of the furious animal, and thousands of spectators looking on with breathless interest.

Suddenly the bull recovered himself, and, with an angry flaunt of his head, renewed hostilities. Joe quickly found that clinging to a yard arm in a tempest was less difficult than to the bull's slippery horn, but he was determined to be captain of this lively craft. Somehow he felt that the honor of his country depended upon his victory.

As a good seaman favors his ship in a hurricane, so Joe resolved to humor the bull. He realized that he must take care of his strength, for he would need it all before he got through with his antagonist. Now the bull began to exhibit his wrath. He writhed, and hooked, and stamped. One instant the audience expected to see poor Joe dangling from his horns, and the next trampled beneath his feet. But Joe clung as he would cling to a life-line in a fearful surf. During the intervals of the bull's violence, as in the water in its ebb, he struck gallantly upon his feet. Each time he did so cries of "bravo! bravo!" rent the air. The bull continued to put forth greater power. He plunged and tore around the ring. Alternately he jerked and swung Joe from his feet and fairly spun him through the air. The pavillion tossed, reeled and whirled before Joe's giddy sight. Round and round flew the bull as in a race for life. Several times he completed the circuit of the ring; a cloud of dust rose over his track and hung over it like a wreath of smoke.

Joe held on. He feared he could not endure the shock and strain for a minute longer, and he dreaded to let go. He began to lament his rashness. But all at once the bull's speed was slackened. Joe felt a thrill of gratitude as his feet once more touched the ground. He was tired of flying and was very glad to run. The bull, convinced that he could not liberate his horn from Joe's unyielding grasp, came to a halt, and with disappointed anger began to paw the ground. Joe had longed for this advantage, which a bull seldom gives till towards the close of a fight, and he sprang in front of him and firmly grasped both his horns. "Bravo! bravo!" rent the air. Joe braced himself and waited, and when the bull threw his foot high in the air with its cloud of dust, by a quick, powerful movement, Joe twisted his head to one side so strongly that the fierce animal was thrown off his balance, and fell very heavily on his side.

A score of men rushed in to hold him down till he could be secured, then he was rolled and taken triumphantly from the ring. Joe was almost deafened by the applause. He suddenly found himself a hero in the estimation of the audience, and was overwhelmed by the outbursts of enthusiasm. He was not allowed to leave the ring until he had been led to the royal box, where the queen, with her own hand, passed him a beautiful bouquet. She also extended to him an invitation to come to the palace, where she herself would receive the brave boy.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE DOMINION OF CANDA ARE CONCERNED.

Here are some more of the many hundreds of the leading people of the Dominion of Canada who have been cured of Catarrah, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer and instrument, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the seat of disease. Read and judge for yourself:

Several of my family and friends have been cured of bronchitis, asthma and catarrh by using the Spirometer. JOHN P. WHELAN, Manager POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal. Mr. C. HILL, Montreal, catarrh and bronchitis. MR. DEBOUCHERVILLE, of the Indian Department, Ottawa, catarrh of many years; now cured. MR. GEO. AGER, Ottawa, catarrh and lung disease; cured. MRS. SMITH, London, wife of Medical Detective, cured of catarrh. GEO. MAGUIRE, Toronto, 482 Adelaide Street West; daughter cured of asthma. GEORGE WILLIS, Exeter, Ont., catarrh and bronchitis. J. D. ARMSTRONG, 186 Young street, Toronto, catarrh and catarrhal deafness. THOMAS TELFER, 12 Melinda street, Toronto, asthma; cured. MR. BENJ. A. DRAKE, St. Urbain Street, Montreal, for many years suffering from bronchitis and asthma, is now cured.

Also, the no less surprising cure of Mrs. DENOFF, 114 Cathedral Street, daughter of Mrs. David Parrault, who suffered from asthma and bronchitis for over eight years, and who is now perfectly cured.

Mrs. ADAMSON, of Belleville, cured of bronchitis, and her sister cured of bronchitis and lung disease.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Souvielle's Spirometer will cure catarrh and bronchitis, JOHN C. FLEMING, Editor of POST and TRUE WITNESS, Montreal.

The above is sufficient to convince the public of the merits of the Spirometer. The instrument will be expressed to any address.

Call or write, inclosing stamp for reply, to the International Throat and Lung Institute, 75 Young Street, Toronto, Dr. M. Souvielle and a competent body of English and French physicians always in attendance. Every information given. Physicians and sufferers can try the Spirometer free at the office. 25

HOW TO MEET A LIAR.

The only way to deal with a liar is to beat him at his own game. That is, of course, unless he is the editor of a pious newspaper. What started this item was reading about an American who had been to Europe and who was telling a friend who knew he was a liar, about his trip across the Atlantic, and how, on the 25th of month they encountered a "swarm of locusts and the locusts carried away every stitch of canvass off the ship." The listener looked thoughtful a moment and then said hesitatingly: "Yes, I guess we met the same swarm of locusts the next day, the 26th. Every locust had on a pair of canvas pants." The first liar went around a corner and kicked himself.

Dyspepsia

is the most common of all diseases, and under ordinary drug treatment the most difficult to cure, it is a chronic weakness of the stomach with indigestion. The sensitive mucous membrane coating the stomach becomes irritated, and nearly all that enters the stomach continues to add fuel to the fire. Heartburn and Sour Eructions, Belching of Wind, Nauseau, Headache, Variable Appetite, Costive Bowels, etc., are its prominent symptoms. Burdock Blood Bitters is a positive cure for this miserable disease. 36-2t

"Twenty-four years' experience," says an eminent Physician, convinces me that the only cure for "Nervous Exhaustion" and weakness of the generative organs is to repair the waste by giving Brain and Nerve Foods, and of all the remedies I have used Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. This remedy is now sold by all our Druggists at 50 cents per box, or 6 for $2.50, and on receipt of an order for 12 boxes, accompanied with $5.00, addressed to Mack's Magnetic Medicine Co., Windsor, Ont., they will forward the goods free by mail, and send their "written guarantee" to refund the money, if the treatment does not effect a cure. See advertisement in another column. 34-4t

CINGALESE.—A name well known in connection with the HAIR RENEWER, which restores grey hair to its natural color by a few weeks use. Sold at 50c per bottle by all druggists. 33-8t

One hundred women are on trial in Hungary, for poisoning their husbands. They probably gave them fried beefsteak.

Thousands are being cured of Catarrh every year, with Hall's Catarrh Cure, that the doctors had given up and said could not be cured. 75c a bottle. Sold by John McKee, Druggist, Peterborough. 36-2in

When a boy gets a hole torn in his pants, he may weep over it, but the average mother is not the person to kiss away the tear.

After many years of patient investigation, DR. VAN BUREN, of Germany, finally succeeded in perfecting a Kidney Cure that would permanently relieve all cases of Kidney Disease. Be sure and ask your Druggist for DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Sold by J. McKee, Peterborough. 33-8t

"How to Travel," is the title of a little book just out. How to get the money to travel with, is the question of the flitting season.

J. R. Bond, Druggist, &c., Schomberg, writes: "I have sold medicines for over twenty years, and no medicine could give better satisfaction than your Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry." This medicine in the old reliable cure for Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, and all Summer Complaints. 36-2t

Bismarck says he wants to secure the peace of Europe, but it looks very much as if the piece of Europe he wants to secure is the Baltic Provinces of Russia, the inhabitants of which are Germans.

A simple herb found on the sunny plains of a Southern clime, has, under the skill ul manipulation of DR. VAN BUREN, proved one of the greatest blessings ever sent to suffering humanity. DR. VAN BUREN'S KIDNEY CURE is acknowledged all the world over as the only perfect remedy for Kidney troubles. Your Druggist has it. J. McKee, Peterboro. 33-8t

Jack, (aged four, taking a walk)—"What becomes of people when they die?" Mamma—"They turn into dust, dear." Jack—"What a lot of people there must be on this road."

Robert A. Wilson, Dispensing Chemist, Brockville, says, under date of June 5th, '82: "I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has given my customers more satisfaction than any medicine in my store for the cure of Summer Complaints; Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Piles, etc. You can use my name, etc." 36-2t

A little girl seeing two doves billing and cooing was told they were making love. "Why don't they marry," she asked, "then they would not make love any more."

A WORD OF CAUTION.—As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world-wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an unsuspecting public to purchase their fraudulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others. Sold by Taylor & MacDonald at 50c.

An East End girl said she could make a quart of ice cream "look sick." She tried the experiment and it wasn't the ice cream that looked sick, either—but that girl got terribly left.

Thousands bear witness to the positive curative powers of the GREAT GERMAN INVIGORATOR, the only remedy that has proved itself a SPECIFIC for general debility seminal weakness, impotency, etc., and all diseases that arise from self-abuse or overtaxed brain, finally ending in consumption, insanity and a premature grave. Sold by all druggists, or will be sent on receipt of $1.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00. Address F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, Ohio, sole agent for the United States. Send for circular and testimonials of genuine cures. 36-2t

A Chicago man, who was sleeping with a brace of revolvers under his pillow, was robbed the other night. He has thrown the weapons down a well, and married a wife who snores.

THE ONLY SOURCE OF Nerve force in the system is the phosphorus in our food combined with lime and iron as phosphates. When there is a deficient supply of these elements, owing to feeble digestion and assimilation, there is a falling off of vital energy and a failure of the nutrition of the tissues. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya continues these agents in a very acceptable form, which speedily secures the balance of supply and waste, and restores the machinery of the body to its normal working power.

A New York paper says: "The ice pitcher is more fatal than alcohol." That depends. An ice pitcher is a harmless thing in itself; but if a man were to swallow one, he would no doubt wish he had taken a pint of alcohol instead.

THE DOCTOR'S SECRET.—Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the success of certain leading physicians. When they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own direction and name attached. The patient is cured, and they get the credit.—Tribune. Trial bottles free at Taylor & MacDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced a remedy so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates the vital functions, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

Local News Record.

THE GOLDEN EYE.—This steamer returned on Wednesday night to be ready for her excursion trip on Thursday.

STREET EXPENDITURE.—The pay-list of Street Inspector Johnston, for the fortnight, ending Sept. 7th, was $378.75.

JUDICIAL.—The Autumn sittings of the Queens Bench Division of the High Court of justice, for the county of Peterborough, will begin on Monday, October 9th, the Hon. Mr. Justice Osler presiding.

RUBIDGE STREET.—On Thursday afternoon Mr. Bradburn's possession of Rubidge Street was given over to the town, and the enclosed portion made a thoroughfare. The public have now an unlimited opportunity of indulging in Alpine climbing on a small scale. But justice has been done, and the rights of the ratepayers respected.

OBTRUSIVE.—We have but one sewer in Peterborough, and that one isn't inclined to bury its talents in a napkin, for a horrible stench rises from it, wherever an opening permits the "rank compound of villainous smells" to offend the nostrils of passengers. A few addled eggs should be broken at the sewer gratings, to improve the odor.

THE BOUNDARY CROSSING.—The council of Smith has appointed Messrs. M. Sanderson, the reeve, and Middleton, a deputation to confer with the town council of Peterborough to settle what action should be taken to insure a safe crossing at the point where the Midland Railway intersects the boundary between Peterborough and Smith.

A WELCOME HOME.—The employees of the Auburn Woolen Mills signalized the home-coming of the President, Mr. James F. Dennistoun, by presenting him with a warm-worded address of welcome and congratulation, on his safe return from Europe. Mr. Dennistoun replied in grateful terms, being deeply moved by the evidence of thoughtful kindness, on the part of the employees of the Mills.

TRAFFIC RETURNS.—The traffic of the Midland Railway of Canada for the week ending September 2nd 1882, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $7,988.40 freight, $13,622.58; total, $21,610.98 as compared with $18,963.40 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $2,647.58; and the aggregate traffic to date is $669,258.11, being an increase of $160,341.41 over 1881.

RUNAWAY.—On Tuesday a spirited team of horses, belonging to Messrs. McDermid & Hendrie, Ontario & Quebec Railway contractors, ran away, while coming out of the stable yards, on Simcoe Street. Early in the race the driver was dispensed with, and a rattling steeple chase, including several streets, ended by the animals coming back to the starting point, with only the front wheels, the rest of the vehicle being distributed over the course. Neither driver or horses hurt to speak of.

WEDDING BELLS.—In the usual place in this issue will be found the "official notice" of the marriage of Dr. Shaw, of Keene, to Miss Dennis of Weston. The Doctor is a son of Rev. John Shaw and professionaly and personally he is a skilful physician and a popular and estimable young gentleman with many warm friends in Peterborough. We offer our warmest congratulations on the occasion and wish the newly wedded a realization of the roseate anticipations of happiness, the honeymoon invariably suggests.

NARROW ESCAPES.—During the fire on Friday night both Octave (Mis) and Aylmer Beauvais had narrow escapes from death or at least severe injury The two sons unassisted removed the portion of the furniture saved, from the large boarding house of Octave Beauvais (pere), on Pig Lane. When Octave was making his last trip, carrying on his back a load of furniture "as Æneas did from the walls of Troy the old Archives bear," a portion of the burning building fell upon him, throwing him down, but by the utmost exertion of his strength, he freed himself from the blazing burden, his load protecting him from the fire. While Aylmer was similarly employed the chimney gave way and rained the red hot mass of bricks down within a few inches of his person. Both were blinded with smoke and fatigued with work and their escape from a terrible death was providential.

MATRIMONIAL.—We find in the Huron Signal, the record of an interesting social event (to be found among the marriage notices) that will be of especial interest, the parties mentioned having been former residents of Otonabee. Miss Kate Jamieson, who for many years has been an active member of the Methodist Church Choir, Goderich, was married a few days ago, to Rev. Dr. McCamus, of Bethany On Monday evening previous, the members of the choir met at the residence of the leader, Mr. Hall, and presented Miss Jamieson with a handsome silver bouquet holder, containing an exquisite bouquet and a most complimentary address, eulogizing her services, in connection with the choir. Miss Jamieson was also made the recipient of an address, accompanied with a pretty silver fruit dish, from the teachers of the Sunday School, in which she has been a teacher for six years, and a primary superintendent for three years. The wedding presents were numerous and handsome, and the happy pair were accompanied to the station, by a large number of friends.

BLINDED.—While playing lacrosse, George Heap, an Ashburnham school boy, received an injury that destroyed the sight of one eye.

COMPLIMENTARY.—The Cobourg World, in noticing the arrival of troops to the Volunteer Camp, says of the 57th Battalion: "Their really fine band caused much interest, and created much favorable comment."

THE FIFTY-SEVENTH.—The Globe's correspondent from Cobourg Camp, in alluding to the first brigade drill, says that the marching of the Peterborough Rangers was especially noticeable for its excellence.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.—On Wednesday afternoon Messrs. Jaffray, Bailey, Ferris and Bremner, went over the "missing link" line on a tour of inspection, to note the progress of the work. To-day (Thursday) a meeting of the Board of Directors will be held here at 2 o'clock, p.m.

A COLLOSSAL COLT.—Mr. James Jackson of Otonabee is the proud possessor of a Clydesdale colt, which at the age of one year and a quarter kicked the beam at the enormous weight of 1,120 lbs, over half a ton. This elephantine equine will draw tears of sympathy from many an old maid—it will, like them, hardly ever find a mate.

CRICKET.—The Cricket Match in Toronto, on Friday last, between Toronto and Peterborough, resulted in a drawn game. Toronto scored 24 in the first, and 138 in the second innings. Peterborough in the first innings, made 59, and two wickets down for 13 runs in the second, when time was called and stumps drawn. The double figures belonged to Rogers, 18, Rutherford, 10, and Logan, 10.

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED.—Nobody in Peterborough will be surprised to learn that the "Maid of Hope," a threshing machine, manufactured by Mr. Peter Hamilton, Peterborough, made such a record as that mentioned by the Port Hope Times, as follows:—"On the first day of September, Mr. Wm. Gayner, with a Peterborough Mill, "The Maid of Hope," threshed for Wm. Turney, of Hope, con. 9, lot 8, seventy-two and a half bushels of barley, grown on one acre of land, in thirty-eight minutes."

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.—At the meeting of the Separate School Board on Thursday evening last, after routine business the reports of attendance in July were read, showing at the Central school 114 pupils on the register and an average attendance of 68. Lake street school number on the roll 55, average attendance 53, that proving thus the strength of Lake St. ward is pretty fully and regularly polled. The secretary was instructed to make a requisition on the Town Treasurer for the sum of $1,350 for school purposes.

DR. WILD'S LECTURE.—Rev. Dr. Wild, of Toronto, the Bond Street seer, will, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, deliver his celebrated lecture on "The Prophet Jeremiah's Visit to Ireland." The simple announcement is enough to fill Bradburn's Hall, where the lecture will be delivered on Tuesday evening, October 3rd, with J. Frith Jeffers, President of the Association, in the chair. Dr. Wild's head has the credit of being full of eccentricities, but it is also full of brains and a good many hard facts. His lecture will no doubt be entertaining and instructive. Tickets 25 cents, reserved seats, 35 cents, to be secured at the bookstore of A. L. Davis & Co.

A FREE SHOW.—On Monday night there was a gorgeous display of the aurora borralis. The aurroral radiance flashed far and frequent over the northern sky, alternately glowing and paling. One moment its scintillating shafts of luminous opalescence shot high up the azure slopes of the hyperborean heavens in delicate spires of tremulous light; the next the shifting panorama of iridescent radiance faded and died out like—like a—"flash in the pan," leaving Wilson's woolen factory Hamilton's foundry and the Protestant home, which its weird fingers had touched into unearthly beauty with the chastened glory of its silvery sheen, standing just where they were The weather wise say, the "Northern Lights" are prophetic of frosts and woolen shirts socks and drawers.

PERSONALS.

We had the pleasure of a call, on Tuesday, from Mr. P. R. Randall, Mayor of Port Hope.

Dr. O'Sullivan is spending a few days with friends in Kingston, the guest of his father, the City Clerk.

Mr. Jas Saulter, has been spending his holidays at Detroit and returned home on Wednesday.

Rev. Dr. McVicar of Macmaster's Hall, Toronto, preached in the Aylmer Street Baptist Church on last Sunday night.

Mr. W. A. Morrow and Rev. John Shaw, are in Hamilton attending the general conference of the Canada Methodist Church.

Rev. Mr. Howard of Millbrook, formerly pastor in Peterborough, preached in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Sunday night last.

Last Sunday night, Rev. Mr. Clementi conducted services and preached in St. Luke's Church Ashburnham, the incumbent, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw being absent in Toronto.

Mr. Maxwell Hall of Longford, formerly of Peterboro', has been visiting in town during the past week. Max is looking well, and apparently progressing like all Peterborough boys abroad.

Mr. D. S. Macdonald, late of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co., here, has gone to Port Hope to fill a position in the office of the assistant Superintendent of the Midland R R at that place.

Mr. Charles W. Ewing late of St. Peter's Church Cobourg, and formerly of London, England, has received the appointment of organist to Saint John's Church Peterborough. He has the reputation of of standing in the first rank of his profession.

While on a recent trip to the Northwest we met at St. Vincent Mr. J. P. Carberry, a warm-hearted and obliging gentleman to whom we were indebted for many timely and gracefully rendered kindnesses. We are pleased to learn that he has to some extent been rewarded. A few days ago on the occasion of his leaving for Winnipeg, where he has received a lucrative appointment, he was entertained at a banquet given in his honor.

Daily Round of Duty—The Gallant 57th and their Excellent Band.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Arma virumque cano; but I will have to sing short, for I find my country demands more of my time than I thought it would do when I promised the EXAMINER a letter. The 57th will demand the most of my attention. We arrived here after a slow journey, and found two battalion's here before us with their tents pitched. We followed their example speedily.

THE SITE OF THE CAMP

is a level plateau of land hardly as smooth as a cricket crease, but well adapted for military exercises. There are in camp four battalion's of infantry, the 57th, 40th, 45th and 47th; the Kingston and Durham field batteries, and the 4th regiment of cavalry.

THE DAILY ROUND

of duty begins at "5 o'clock in the morning," when the bugle rings out the reveille; at 6, morning parade, followed by two hours' company drill, then breakfast, supplies having been secured by a fatigue party in the meantime from the quartermaster; at 10 o'clock, batallion drill, then dinner and then two hours' drill and then tea is taken, and the weary recruit has from that till bedtime to himself; "lights out" being the order at 10 o'clock. Camp life, and especially battalion or brigade drill, makes the warrior's muscles weary.

We had our first

on Friday, when the Rangers covered themselves with glory, everybody remarking the steadiness of their marching and their general proficiency. We all knew this day was preliminary to the visit of the dreaded martinet, Major-General Luard, but he has come and gone, and like a certain gentleman is not so black as he is painted. The inspection passed off without any arrests, and some of us privates thought without any rest. The 57th acquitted themselves nobly and won warm words of praise. I omitted to say before that on Sunday, the 57th attended divine service in camp, the rest of the army marching into town for their worship.

THE BAND

Is simply immense, and without "blowing"—my blowing I mean—they are the best by long odds on the grounds They had the honor of an invitation to a garden party, given by Major Gravely on his grounds, on Saturday afternoon, and their fine playing won hearty praise.

There is—but the "lights out" is sounding, and I must drop pencil and betake myself to my luxurious blanket, and beg you to accept for the present, this brief letter, and the good-night of

PIPECLAY.

THE CHARLOTTE STREET FIRE.

THE MIDNIGHT MATCH OF THE MERCHANT.

About 12.30 on Saturday morning, one of the most destructive fires that has ever visited the town, broke out in a shed in rear of Mr. Tobias Fitzgerald's carriage factory, Charlotte street, corner of Aylmer. The fire must have been burning some time undiscovered, for it was so far advanced that before the Fire Brigade were ready for work—and their appearance was promptly after the alarm—the carriage shop, as well as the blacksmith shop, was a mass of flames. From the blacksmith shop [illegible] seized on the two-story double tenement house of T. Bradburn, occupied by Messrs. T. Laplante and G. Elliott. Meanwhile a brick dwelling to the south of the carriage shop, belonging to to Mr. Fitzgerald, and occupied by Joseph Batton, became a prey to the flames. After demolishing Bradburn's building, the fire met a check at the fire wall of Mrs. Henry's two-story brick house, which, with the exertions of the firemen, stayed the spread of the flames in this direction. But they had been busy in the rear, sweeping eastward to a lane, and seizing on and destroying in turn the cottage of Michael O'Meara, occupied by the widow Fady, the large boarding house of Mr. Octave Beauvais, sr., and the home of Michael Levecque, at which point the fire was got under control.

The loss is great. A good part of the contents of the carriage factory was removed, but a great deal was also burned. The furniture of the other houses was nearly all saved, except a portion of Mr Beauvais' and Messrs. Elliott's and Laplante's, a greater part of whose belongings were destroyed.

Mr. Fitzgerald's loss is altogether about $10,000 or $12,000; with $6,000 insurance. Mr. Beauvais puts his loss at $1,500; with no insurance, and Mr. Levecque, at $800; no insurance.

The origin of the fire was, it appears, incendiary. When first seen, Fitzgerald's shed was on fire in two places. Almost at the same time a Midland box car, standing on the siding near Simcoe sstreet, was burned to the wheels, and a fire, positively the work of an incendiary, was found and put out in a shed in rear of Sullivan's hotel, Hunter street.

How it Works.

The purifying and healing properties of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry impart a healthy tone to the diseased mucous surface of the Stomach and Bowels. Its cooling, soothing properties counteract pain, its antiseptic properties correct canker and foul humour, and its tonic astringent nature corrects all exhaustive discharges—such as Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, and Summer Complaints generally. 36-2t

Microscopical Discovery.

The manufacturer of the Orange Butter Color separated the color from Natural June Butter, carefully examined it with one of Beck's Fine London Microscopes, discovered its class and order, and by the aid of the great magnifying power of this instrument found the exact substance in several native plants. He now offers a Butter Color prepared from them that is so perfect in shade that three experts, all butter dealers, and the best judges in the state, who were selected to test it, finally decided that Winter Butter containing this Color could not be told from that made on grass by its shade. It does not color the buttermilk, and it will satisfy every consumer. It is now for sale in Twenty-five States and in Canada. It is put up in 12c. trial and 30c. and 60c. bottles, for dairymen's use, and in 1 and 10 gal. cans, Creameries. Send your name and address for the highest testimony on earth. Testimony from prominent men known all over the United States and Canada. Every recommend is warranted to be guanine. H. D. THATCHER, Manufacturing Chemist, Potsdam, N. Y.
